TORONTO CATTLE.

TORONTO, July 6.—With the light runs for Wednesday and yesterday, making a comparatively light offering for the total week's run, the market yesterday closed good and strong at from 25c to 40c higher than last week for choicest butcher cattle. There were so few fresh cattle in yesterday morning that buyers were almost afraid to touch them. A few very choice butcher sold strong from $7.65 to $8.25, and a small bunch of baby beeves sold at $9. The balance was easily cleaned up at firm prices, according to quality.

The present strength of the market is due to the light offerings, and it must be understood that these prices would not hold under pressure of a too heavy run of common and unfinished grass cattle.

Export trade was quiet, being for the present between seasons.

In the small meats the light runs of calves and lambs firmed up the market from 50c to $1. A few choice lambs sold at 16¼ to 16½c.

Hogs steady at $7.75 f.o.b., and $8.35 fed and watered.

Dunn & Levack sold: 45 butchers, 1035, $7.80; 3 do 1080, $7.25; 17 do 835, $6.75; 6 do 840, $6.75; 8 do 965, $5.50; 2 do 815, $5.25; 8 do 770, $4.50; 1 do 740, $4.50; 1 do 760, $4.50; 2 cows 1140, $5.65; 2 do 1155, $5.50; 1 do 1320, $5.25; 7 do 1150, $5.25; 1 do 1220, $5.25; 1 do 1250, $5.25; 2 do 1000, $5.25; 1 do 830, $5.25; 3 do 1030, $5; 1 do 1150, $4.75; 1 do 1070, $4.75; 1 do 1110, $4.25; 1 do 940, $3; 1 bull, 960, $3; 9 sheep, 1170, $5.50; 5 do 730, $5; 9 lambs, 690, $16.35; 3 do 100, 16.35; 6 do 510, $16.35; 14 do 860, $15.50; 8 do 690, $16; 2 calves, 360, $9.

CHICAGO WHEAT

CHICAGO, July 6. —(Canadian Grain went down in price yesterday owing more or less to the increased movment of the new wheat crop and as a result of the favorable weather for the growth of corn and oats.

December corn and all futures in oats touched new low records for the season. Wheat closed heavy, 3-4 to 1 1-4 net lower with July and September both $1.02 1-4 to $1.02 3-8 and December $1.05 1-4 to $1.05 3-8. Corn finished at 1 1-4c decline to a shade advance, and oats, 1 3-8 and 1 1-2 and 1 5-8c off. In provisions the outcome was 10 and 12c to 27c advance.

CASH GRAIN

MONTREAL, July 6.—(Canadian Press).—A feature of the local cash grain market yesterday was the steady demand from exporters for Canadian western oats. The volume of business in flour showed no improvement. The condition of the mill feed market was unchanged but demand for rolled oats was steady. Trade in baled hay was fair. Prices for eggs show no further change. Trade in potatoes was quiet. Butter business was quiet but there was an active market with a steady undertone in cheese.

WINNIPEG CATTLE

WINNIPEG, July 6.—(Canadian Press). — Receipts 450 cattle and calves, 395 hogs and two sheep.

Offerings on the cattle market lacked quality yesterday and were in poor demand, ranging 25c to 50c lower from the opening of the week. Desirable offerings sold at firm prices.

Bidding on the hog market maintained a steady price, thick smooths weighing up at $8.16 and select bacon at $8.96 1-2.

The sheep and lamb market was inactive.

EGG MARKETS

OTTAWA July 6.—(Canadian Press).—Western markets are easier with prices lower. Some eggs are still going into storage in Manitoba. On eastern markets the better grades continue firm and under grades weak.

WILL RESUME NEGOTIATIONS RUHR TROUBLE

No Fresh Developments Are Expected From the Franco-British Situation Before Next Week.

DEBT PAYMENT.

LONDON, July 6. Canadian Press. —No fresh development in the Franco-British Ruhr imbroglio, is expected before next week; the negotiations are supposed to be at a temporary standstill, but will likely be resumed at the week-end, and it is still hoped that the French Government will acquiesce in Lord Curzon's desire and give some sort of written reply to the British question naire. There is no hope however that the reply will be satisfactory to Great Britain, the utmost expected being that an actual rupture of negotiations will be avoided. In the meantime some amelioration of the situation may be achieved by the mediatory tactics of the Italian government and the Vatican.

Because of the composition of the British Cabinet, Premier Baldwin, even if he so desired, would find it difficult to initiate any separate action aimed against France. Nevertheless the Premier's view is believed to be that the problem so far as Great Britain is concerned turns largely on the question of Inter-Allied debt and the necessity of securing through a reparation agreement such payment from Germany as would cover the amount of Great Britain's yearly payments to the United States.

In this connection importance is attached to Mr. Baldwin's statement in the House of Commons on Wednesday, indicating that he still regards Great Britain as free to propose some settlement of the allied indebtedness, which would be based upon some reparations settlement whereby Germany would agree to pay a sum sufficient to pay Great Britain's indebtedness to the United States, or in other words, to trade French indebtedness to England against part of the German indebtedness to France.

This supposed predilection on the part of the Prime Minister is said to be shared by Reginald McKenna who it is generally supposed, will shortly enter the British Cabinet as Chancellor of the Exchequer. But it is quite certain that Mr. Baldwin would meet with strong opposition among his own colleagues, such as Lord Derby, should he propose to negotiate directly with Germany.

CAME 4500 MILES TO VISIT OMEMEE

FRENCH SOLD RUSSIAN FLEET

Reports Say Jugo Slavia Bought the Ships Which Russian Soviet Mission Claims Were Stolen.

ROME, July 6 (United Press). — Reports that the French Government has sold Jugo-Slavia the old Russian Monarchist fleet now concentrated at Bizerta, has caused a tremendous sensation here.

M. Straujan, head of the Russian Soviet Mission to Rome, declared in an interview on Thursday that "while Italy, Great Britain, and the United States would not stoop so low as purchase a stolen fleet, a smaller Power might do so."

The newspaper Vocere Publicana states that the fleet is composed of twenty-nine units, including battleships, torpedo-boats, and submarines, and will at first be sold privately, ostensibly for scrapping, but that it will later be sold to Jugo-Slavia.

It adds that the report must be linked with the fact that the French Parliament recently voted a credit of three hundred million francs to Jugo-Slavia, and that a French General, Leonard, has just completed an inspection of the coastal defences of the country, recommending reinforcements.

The paper concludes that the ultimate home of Wrangel's Fleet will be at Cattaro.

NEWS OF INTEREST IN NORTH MONAGHAN

NORTH MONAGHAN, July 5.—About thirteen neighbours and friends of the Orpington Road district had a pleasant motor trip to Cobourg on Monday, 2nd July. The party motored through Cobourg, viewing the principal buildings, and arrived at the wharf in time to meet the incoming boat. After a bountiful lunch, the party returned home, arriving about 7.30 p.m. The day was pleasant, despite the early indications of rain, and one and all voted the outing successful.

Mr. and Mrs. Cunieau, of Peterborough, were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E Feeley, Cameron Street, on Sunday

Miss L Nicholson, of Madoc, is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. Sutherland, Orpington Road.

Mrs. E. Cookman, with two children Olive and Vincent, left on Wednesday for Toronto, where she will visit her brother, Mr. H. Barnes (formerly of Peterborough).

Miss E. Nicholson, of Toronto, has returned home after a pleasant visit with Mrs. H. C. Barnes and Mrs. E. Cookman.

The farmers are busy cutting sweet clover. If the weather keeps fair, the hay will soon be ready. The hay crop is a bountiful one this year, and so far, no shortage of pasture has been reported, as is usually the case in July.

BETHANY CHURCH HAD LAWN SOCIAL

Trinity Church Choir Provided Musical Entertainment—Ball Game.

BETHANY, July 6.—The Methodist church held the annual lawn social on Wednesday evening on the spacious lawn of Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Brown's residence. The catering arrangements were excellent, two long tables being laden with good things. After the luncheon the party went to the athletic field, where a ball game between Mackey's Peterboro team and Bethany was played. The Bethany boys had the edge on the visitors throughout, beating them 17 to 3. The Mackey team took its beating in good form, smiling and playing the game.

An entertainment was provided by the choir of Trinity Methodist church, Peterboro. Several solos, duets and quartettes, with instrumental items, were given by members of the choir. Rev. Mr. Beckel acted as chairman for the occasion, and took the opportunity of announcing that the gate receipts amounted to $140. He tendered a vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Brown for the use of their lawn; to Mr. King, leader of the choir, and to the Mackey ball team for assisting so much in the entertainment. The evening's programme was brought to a close by a selection from the Bethany band and the singing of the national anthem.

Ask Province to Build Railways.

SASKATOON, July 6.— (Canadian Press.)— That the Saskatchewan government should immediately call a special session of the legislature to authorize construction of branch railways at the expense of the province was the opinion expressed here yesterday by D. S. McDonald, M.L.A., for South Qu'Appelle.

The Senate's refusal to authorize branch line building was a grievous disappointment. "This coming on top of the failure to secure a wheat board was especially disastrous to the farmers," he said. The matter, however, need not end there, as it might be possible for the Saskatchewan government to take things into its own hands, he said.

"In the 1917 election they pledged themselves to build the required railway lines if the railway companies failed to do so. This is important enough to warrant calling a special session to fulfill the promises they made."

PAISLEY PATTERN.

Handkerchiefs of very fine linen are dyed in Paisley patterns and finished about the edge with a ruffle of fine net edging.

In Putting Away Winter Woolens Save By Washing This Way

Put away your winter woolens, this spring, clean and soft—without harmed colors or fabrics in washing. It will save a lot of money, you'll find, by giving longer wear.

In thousands of homes this is being done. Careful housekeepers now use PALMOLIVE PRINCESS SOAP FLAKES for laundering all valuable fabrics.

Woolens, silks, satins, crepes, and expensive cottons; all come from washing with beauty renewed—and fabric uninjured.

Purest, unadulterated soap, these white, crinkly flakes save money two ways: By giving longer fabric wear; and by cutting down soap cost—because they last longer.

They give richest, stiffest suds — in washing machine, tub, or bowl. It dissolves all dirt speedily but gently. Splendid for all household use.

Order one or more handy one-pound packages or bags today. Start saving next time you wash.

The Best Preserves You Ever Made

INSTEAD of using all sugar for your Preserving, use half sugar and half LILY WHITE Corn Syrup. There is even a saving in cost, but the real economy is in the results that will follow—your preserves will be a success.

LILY WHITE brings out the full flavor of the fruit; it prevents "sugaring" and keeps the preserves in perfect condition.

Half sugar and half LILY WHITE. Anyone who tries the half syrup way of Preserving will never go back to all-sugar.

Want Ad Tips
by John T. Bartlett

A WANT AD TEASER CAMPAIGN.

In advertising men's parlance, a "'teaser" is a mysterious advertisement, usually concealing the advertiser's name and his product, which is used to arouse maximum curiosity and interest in an announcement to be made later. Several small mysterious messages appear. What are they all about? People wonder and speculate. When the denouement comes, they are "all ears" for it.

A far greater number read the announcement, and read it with real attention, than were it published without the preliminary curiosity arousers.

A classified advertiser who used the same idea produced fancy hennery eggs. He was getting ready to advertise them regularly on the Want Ad page. When he made his initial announcement of the same he had adopted, and details of delivery, he wished a lot of people to be "all ears" for what he had to say. This is how he brought about that result.

For three days he scattered the same one-line message through the classiifcations open to him. This line ran, "The best eggs ever sold." Who offers them? Read Friday's paper."

Finally, in Friday's paper, the advertiser inserted a long Want Ad—fifteen lines—telling about his eggs and the delivery service he gave to ensure absolute freshness. Thereafter, he ran his advertising, varying the copy somewhat, regularly twice a week.

Th bump of curiosity is large. Nearly any mysterious Want Ad will arouse general curiosity, a condition which makes easy the composition of effective "teaser" Want Ads. A week is a sufficiently long period for the teasers to appear. They should be brief. Several used in each issue of the newspaper is good presentation.

Gains Five Pounds and Feels Fine

Dreco a big help to Henry Titus, of 275 Jarvis Street, Toronto, who now finds work a pleasure. His wife also taking it.

Another Toronto citizen has found that Dreco amply lives up to all claims made for it as a reliable corrective for digestive complaints. Let him tell you how this famous remedy helped restore his health and strength.

"My kidneys had troubled me for a long time," says Mr. Titus. "I had terrible pains across my back at times and could hardly stay at my work. My stomach was in bad shape too. Everything I ate seemed to sour and form gas, causing pains in my stomach, and headaches. My joints and muscles ached with rheumatism and my head, nose and throat were stopped with catarrh, which, however, is now clearing away. I felt weak and tired in the mornings and by night was all worn out.

"Now, however, things are different. My bowels are regular and I eat and sleep much better and feel much stronger and am not tired out when night comes. Have gained five pounds and don't mind a good hard day's work.

"My wife is also taking Dreco, as she has been in poor health for some time and I have recommened it to many of my friends who have attained good results. Dreco is the best medicine I have ever taken."

Dreco acts on stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels in a natural way. The juices of herbs, roots, bark and leaves from which it is scientifically prepared, speedily restore these vital organs to proper functioning and the whole system benefits. Dreco is safe and reliable and contains no mercury, potash, habit forming drugs, or any other harmful ingredient.

Dreco is being specially introduced in Peterboro by Bond's Drug Store. It is also sold in Lakefield by E. H. Northey, and by a good druggist everywhere.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir: A great many people are most anxious that the Sunday night band concerts should be resumed. Personally, it is nothing to me, but if those people who are engaged in suppressing others just as decent as themselves, to say the least, keep up their work, they will nourish a spirit of rebellion that will one day surprise them. It takes, as a ru', but a straw to break the patience of a long suffering and hitherto free people, and this ban v on the people's concerts just about provides it.

IRISH GOVERNORS HAVE DISAGREED

Timothy Healy Stirred Ire of Northern Party by Criticisms,

LONDON, July 6 (Canadian Press). — Criticisms which Timothy Healy, Governor-General of the Irish Free State, made of the Northern Government in a recent newspaper interview, have stirred the indignation of the Unionists, who asset that it is unprecedented for the Governor-General of one of the British Dominions to issue such a statement.

Mr. Healy, in his statement, pointed to the continued refusal of Ulster to appoint a boundary commissioner to co-operate with the Free State and Britain in determining the line between the north and the south.

Sir James Craig, the Ulster Premier, who is staying in England, questioned by a representative of The Daily Express, said it would be improper for him to take notice of utterances of the King's representative in the Free State.

The Premier asserted that Ulster wassenjoying peace and prosperity.

"Woe betide any man," he added, "who stirs up trouble or creates chaos in this part of the Empire, which desires to remain under the King's constitution."

The Belfast correspondent of The Daily Express says that Premier Craig with the majority of the Ulster Government behind him, was not a party to the Boundary Commission arrangement.

WOMEN SHOULD ACT QUICKLY

When a woman finds herself afflicted with backache, headaches, nervousness, dragging-down pains, pain in her side, irregularities and irritability, dark circles appear under the eyes and her complexion gets sallow, she may be sure the underlying cause is some ailment peculiar to her sex. Such women should act quickly and take the great American remedy for such conditions, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and they may be saved years of suffering. For generations this old-fashioned root and herb medicine has been restoring ailing women to health and it may be relied upon with perfect confidence.

Calvin Gray arrives in Dallas and calls at the office of Colonel Henry Nelson. Gray tells Nelson that he means to break him financially. Nelson defies Gray. Gray meets Barbara Parker, who buys land for the colonel, and he falls in love with her. Gus Briskow strikes oil and asks Gray to help the family over the rough spots. Allie, the daughter, loves Gray. Bud, the son, runs away from school and Gray follows to bring him home. Mallow, an associate of Gray, tells Gray that Bud is in the hands of an adventuress and that he knows her son.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY

"She divorced him. Mind you, Margie was square, like most of those 'come-ons.' She'd 'how dare' a guy that so much as looked at her. You know the kind I mean."

"And the child? Where do you suppose she keeps it?"

Mallow reflected. "The last time I saw the little cherub he was singing bass in a bellboys' quartette at Hot Springs."

"Could you get hold of this—this boy basso and bring him here without letting him or his mother know?"

"I can if he's still at Hot Springs, and I saw him there the last time I was up. The little darling got me into a crap game and ran in some shaped dice. Of course, it would cost something to get him."

"There is a thousand dollars in it if you can produce him within the next forty-eight hours."

That night was a repetition of the one before, but with variations and with trimmings, for Buddy wore his "two-pint trousers" again, and this time they were loaded, hence Gray had a chance to observe him at his best—or worst.

On the whole, it was a horrible night.

Buddy sought Gray out in the lobby, early the next afternoon, and after a colorless greeting, said, queerly, "Would you mind comin' up to my room for a minute?"

"Certainly not. I'd have looked in on you before this if I'd thought you were up."

Once inside his spacious suite, Buddy flung himself into a chair and with trembling fingers lit a cigaret.

He cleared his throat several times before he managed to say, "You don't want me to marry Arline, do you, Mr. Gray?"

"Frankly, my boy, I do not."

Briskow stirred. "Is that why you—went an' got that di'mon' ring I hade made?" When this query met with a nod the young Texan's face flamed and his eyes glowed. "What in hell—" He swallowed his anger, rose to his feet and made a nervous circuit of the room before coming to a pause at Gray's side. His lips were working; there was a tragic, a piteous appeal in his eyes; his voice shook as he stammered: "I didn't mean to break out at you, Mr. Gray. I like you. Gee! I— You're kinda like God to me. I'd rather be like you than—well, there ain't nobody I like like I like you— You could get her away from me if you wanted to, but—you wouldn't do a trick like that, would you? I was mighty happy till you came— You—got that ring with you?"

"I have it in my pocket."

"I want it." Buddy extended a quivering hand.

"Why?"

"I'm goin' to ask her to marry me, today. If she won't I'm goin' to—"

"Will you wait forty-eight hours?"

"No."

"Twenty-four?"

"Gimme that ring!" When Gray made no move the speaker ran on, excitedly: "I'm a man. I'm of age. It's none of your business what I do—nor Pa's or Ma's, either. It won't do no good for them to come."

Gray went to the door, locked it and pocketed the key. "Buddy"—his voice was firm, his face was set—"you are a man, yes, although you were only a boy a few weeks ago. You are going to act like a man, now."

"You goin' to try an' hold me here?" The inquiry was one of mingled astonishment and anger, for young Briskow could scarcely believe his eyes. "Don't do that, Mr. Gray. I— Nobody can't make me do anything. Please don't! That's plumb foolish."

"One of us is going to remain in this room, and I think it will be you." As Gray spoke he jerked off his coat and flung it aside. "Better strip, Buddy, if you mean to try it."

Buddy recoiled a step. Incredulously he exclaimed. "You—you wouldn't try that! This is my room. You must be crazy."

"I think I am, indeed, to endure what I have endured these last two days; to make myself ridiculous; to be humiliated; to risk my business ruin just to save a young fool from his folly." Impatience, resentment, anger were in the speaker's tone.

Ozark Briskow, too, had reached the limit of his endurance; he exploded. Momentarily he lost his head and cursed Gray vilely. For answer the latter moved close and slapped him across the mouth, saying:

"Fight, you idiot!"

Buddy's low, gasping cry had the effect of a roar; it left the room echoing, then savagely he lunged at his assailant. He was blind, in him was a sudden maniacal impulse to destroy; he had no thought of consequences. Gray knocked him down.

As Buddy Briskow rose to his knees he groped for the nearest weapon, the nearest missile, something—anything with which to slay. His hand fell upon a heavy metal vase, and with this he struck wickedly as Gray closed with him. This time they went down together and rolled across the floor. The legs of a desk crashed and a litter of writing materials was spilled over them.

Gray was the first to regain his feet, but his shirt had been torn half off and he tasted blood upon his lips. He had met strong men in his time, but never had he felt such a rock-like mass of bone and muscle as now.

He dodged an awkward swinging blow from the giant and sent him reeling. Buddy fetched up against the solid wall with a crash, for Gray had centered every pound of his weight behind the punch, but the countryman rebounded like a thing of rubber and again they clinched.

Straining with each other they ricocheted against tables and chairs, and only the fact that much of the furniture was padded, and the floor thickly carpeted, prevented the sound of their struggle from alarming the occupants of the halls and the lobby.

Buddy's face had been hammered to a pulp, but Gray was groaning; he could breathe only from the top of his lungs, and the bones of his left hand had been telescoped. Agonizing pains ran clear to his shoulder, and the hand itself was well-nigh useless.

It was an extraordinary combat; certainly the walls of this luxurious suito had never looked down upon a scene so strange as this fight between friends. How long it continued, neither man knew—not a great while, surely, measured by the clock; but an interminable time as they gauged it. Nor could Calvin Gray afterward recall just how it came to an end. He vaguely remembered Buddy Briskow weaving loosely, rocking forward upon uncertain legs, blindly groping for him—the memory was like that of a figure seen dimly through a mist of dreams—then he remembered calling up his last reserve of failing vigor. Even as he launched the blow he knew it was a knockout. The colossus fell, lay motionless.

It was a moment or two before Gray could summon strength to lend succor, then he righted an armchair and dragged Buddy into it. He reeled as he made for the bathroom, for he was desperately sick; as he wet a towel, meanwhile clinging dizzily to the faucet, his reflection leered forth from the mirror—a battered, repulsive countenance, shockingly unlike his own.

He was gently mopping young Briskow's face when the latter revived. Buddy's eyes were wild, he did not recognize this unpleasant stranger until a familiar voice issued from the shapeless lips.

"You'll be all right in a few minutes, my lad."

Briskow lifted his head; he tried to rise, but fell back limply, for as yet his body refused to obey his will.

"You—licked me," he declared, faintly. "Licked me good, didn't you?"

"Buddy! Oh, Buddy—" It was a yearning cry; Gray's streaked, swollen features were grotesquely contorted. "You won't be mad with me, will you?"

"Want to fight any more?"

The victor groaned. "My God, no! You nearly killed me."

This time Buddy managed to gain his feet. "Then I reckon I'll—go to bed. I feel purty rotten."

Gray laughed aloud, in his deep relief. "Right! And after I've phoned for a doctor, if you don't mind, I'll crawl in with you."

CHAPTER XXII
Margie Fulton's Son

ON the morning after the fight Mallow knocked at Gray's door, then in answer to an indistinct and irritable command to be gone, he made himself known.

"It's me, Governor. And I've got Exhibit A."

"Really?" came the startled query. There was a stir from within, the lock snapped and the door opened.

"I've got a little friend here that I want you to—" Mallow paused inside the threshold, his mouth fell open, he stared in frank amazement. "Sweet spirits of niter!" he gasped. "What happened to you?"

"I was playing tag in the hall with some other old men, and one of them struck me."

"You've been hit with a safe, or something," Mallow declared. "Evidences of some blunt instrument, as the newspapers say; maybe a pair of chain tongs."

"Blunt and heavy, yes. Buddy Briskow and I had an argument—"

"That big bum? Did he lay it on you like that? Say, he's got the makings of a champ!"

"Pride impels me to state that he got the worst of it. He is scarcely presentable, while—"

"Your side won?"

"It did. Now, where is the boy?"

"He's outside." Without shifting his astonished gaze, Mallow raised his voice and cried, "Hey, Bennie!" The door opened, a trim, diminutive figure entered. "Bennie, mit my friend Colonel Gray."

Canadian Stock Exchange — And Mines — | New York Stock Exchange — And Curb Prices —

To-Day's Quotations and Opinions and Reviews of the Markets.

New York, July 6. — (Special.)— The opening of the Stock market to-day was fairly active and irregular with fractional changes for the most part in the leading issues. Early trading in rails showed firmness.

Street sentiment underwent some change due to the rallying power shown by stocks in the late trading Thursday and bearish advices were not as general as recently.

The report of the Federal Reserve Bank showed a drop of 2.45 points in the combined radio was considered by the analysts a reflection of mid-year financing. Little change occurred in the first hours trading with the turn over of moderate size.

Rails and coppers showed firmness the latter still being bought by outsiders who have been accumulating leading copper shares for some weeks. Delaware a l Hudson which has been under fire for some days was fractionally higher.

Industrial alcohol was up ½ at 46 as a further reflection of strength in the commodity and good earnings.

The street is watching the activities of Corn Products. It was bullish and up ¼ at 117½. The market sponsors stated that there is a substantial short account in this issue which might lead to rather expensive experience for some of the bears.

Trading showed more active after 10.30 with a number of specialties showing good gains and some of the leaders decided strength.

The short interest in corn Products made its presence felt and sovereign couple with buying for inside account soon put the stock to 119, nearly two points above the opening and close to five points above Thursday's low.

National Biscuit recovered to 39 7-8, a fraction under the pre-holiday close. Rails were firm, Canadian Pacific selling at 143 up 2½ points from yesterday's low. The better price and the inactivity indicated the absence of foreign selling which has been hanging over the market for some days past.

Southern Railway is better at 33, while Atch touched 99, continuing the firmness it has displayed in recent days of weakness. Opening prices included Beth B 44, Baldwin 117 3-8 off 3-8; American Can 87, up ¼; General Electric 171½, Baltimore and Ohio, 43 5-8, off 1-8; American B 53½ up 1-2; Texas Co 42¾; Amer Telephone and Telegraph 120 5-8 off 1-8; Southern Pacific 86 7-8 up 1-8; New Haven 10 1-8 up 1-8; Consolidated Gas 58 3-4, up ¼; South Railway 32½; United States Steel 90 1-2 off 1-8.

Are Good Standard Stocks Worth Buying

That question is in many persons' minds just now, and the opinion of RELIABLE Brokers is that stocks are really CHEAP, judging from the condition of industrial business. However financial markets have been heavy and traders are discouraged. Is not this the time to buy? Certainly good DIVIDEND PAYERS are remarkably cheap. Phone us or call and we will discuss the many questions with you to our mutual benefit.

OVERCOME BY GAS IN SEWER TRENCH

Laborer Collapsed From Effects of Leakage From Gas Main Across Trench

L. Campanaro, 553 Elm street, an employee of the Board of Works department, was overcome by gas this morning while digging a sewer trench on Simcoe street, just east of Rubidge street. About two feet down where was digging his shovel fetched up against a gas main. He continued to work in spite of the warning odour that floated even to other men, but suddenuly became ill and collapsed. He had to be removed to his home, but it was reported by the foreman, John Thirnbeck, that Campanaro was not seriously affected by his experience.

BELGIAN CHAMBER GAVE VOTE OF CONFIDENCE

BRUSSELS July 6—United Press—The Belgian Chamber of Deputies gave Premier Theunis a 94 to 63 vote of confidence Thursday twelve members abstaining from voting.

The vote renders obvious that despite the internal dissensions over the Flemish question the greater part of the Chamber is behind Theunis' stand of backing France in the Ruhr.

RIVERDALE G.W.V.A. PRESIDENT QUITS

Capt. A. E. Brittain Formerly of Peterborough in Disagreement Over Policy.

TORONTO, July 5. — Captain Alfred E. Brittain last night resigned as president of the Riverdale branch of the Great War Veterans' Association, corner of Broadview Avenue and Langley Avenue, following an incident that occurred in the club rooms, and which did not meet with the approval of Captain Brittain.

Captain Brittain to-day visited the Police Department, where he proposed swearing out a summons for assault against one of the members of the Association, but after thoroughly discussing the incident, he decided to withdraw his complaint, and the incident, so far as the police are concerned, is closed.

Captain Brittain stated to-day that he did not know whether his resignation had been accepted, but it is now in the hands of the executive of the Association.

"Why did you resign?" he was asked.

"I came to the conclusion that some of the policies of the Association were not in accord with my views, and I think my usefulness ended there."

Question of Policy.

"Was it over something you saw in the club?" he was asked.

"Well, that is getting a little too pressing. I do not want anything personal mentioned about it. I appealed to some of the members about a certain matter which was going on in the Association, a policy which I did not approve of. We had words over certain matters of internal policy, and I concluded I had better resign. There are no charges laid of any kind against any one personally. I resigned on a quesion of policy."

No Personal Complaint.

"Did your resignaion follow an assault which was made upon you by another member of the Association over this question of policy?"

"I don't want anything said of any one."

Police Court officials declare that Brittain visited the office this morning, bent on swearing out a summons against a man well known in Labour circles, who is declared to have complained of in the Police Court Clerk's office. No marks were noticeable on Brittain.

Captain Brittain is an original of the P.P.C.L.I., and also served in South Africa.

He was formerly sergeant-major of the 57th Battalion, Peterborough.

TWO WEEKS OUTING FOR GRAFTON GIRLS

Girls From the Grafton Circuit of Stores Guests of the Firm in Muskoka

The ladies on the staffs of the seven Grafton Stores, are the guests of the firm on a two weeks' vacation to Ferndale, Muskoka. A few from each store make up the first party, which is changed as the two weeks expire and the next lot arrives. The company are taking care of all expenses, including transportation, and entertainment is also being provided in the way of sight-seeing trips. Colonel Grafton's yacht is at the disposal of the ladies and the members of the first party write that everything is lovely.

This looks like an act of appreciation of the service given by the ladies, and will certainly act as an incentive to still greater devotion to the interests of such a generous firm.

CROP REPORTS

TORONTO, July 6.—The following is a summary of returns made by the Agricultural Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

Fall wheat was headed out evenly, and on the whole looks wells as to condition, but is very uneven in stand in some districts. The straw is also more or less short. A number of fields were knocked down by the rain storm of the 25th of June, and some have not yet fully recovered. A few complaints have also come in of injury by the Hessian fly.

Haying is general, and a number of farmers are preparing fallow land for buckwheat. Several representatives complain of lack of labor, and some express the opinion that some farmers will find it hard to get their grain harvested for lack of help. Experienced Canadian help is much preferred to that which is being imported. Lambton says that thirty capable men could be placed for the harvesting period at good wages.

Lambton: If red clover, second crop does well there should be a large red clover seed harvest. The acreage this year is far in advance of the acreage during the past seven years.

Peel: A very large area of alfalfa is being reserved for seed this year. This is partially due to the activities of the newly organized Seed Growers' Association which has arranged for field inspection and has two men examining stands now. Over one hundred fields were investigated this week and advice given to their owners.

Brant: There is quite a general complaint now that apples, especially Northern Spys, have suffered a heavy drop with the smaller fruits even where sprayed. Unsprayed fruit show very large drop owing to the ravages of the Plum curculio.

Bruce: Owing to excellent growth of pastures, cattle which are being grassed will be turned over to market earlier than expected.

Halton: Many farmers have heavy cattle which they will export during the month of July to Britain. Cattle are in excellent condition due to good pastures.

South Simcoe: Somewhat higher prices were paid for the live stock at point of shipment during the fore part of the week than the condition of the market warranted. A heavier than the average shipment of hogs was made for which $8 per cwt was paid on the thick smooth basis. Seven dollars per cwt was paid for good quality butcher cattle and $2 per cwt for the better quality calves. Some excellent lambs were shipped out weighing between 70 and 90 lbs. and brought twelve to fourteen cents to the farmer.

Lambton: Live stock in general are in good shape owing to excellent condition of pastures. A number of sales have been made of good butcher cattle at 7½c per lb.

Frontenac: The flow of milk is keeping up very well. Cheese sold on Board at 15¾c per lb for colored. This price for cheese would allow payment of $1.10 to $1.20 for milk at factory. Local creamery paid 33c per lb butterfat for first half of June.

Grey: A large number of colts are being raised this year. Stallion owners report fair seasons.

Oxford: Interest is on the increase in hog grading in this county. The Ingersoll Packing Plant has for some time been paying for hogs of the fed and watered basis at Toronto.

Leeds: About the same number of hogs and cattle being marketed as usual. Good grade Dairy cattle in fair flesh and fresh are bringing around $75 each.

Oxford: The Co-operative Egg Circles were able to pay 23c a ton for firts and extras, and 18c for seconds and cracks this week, an average of about $22 to the members, while the Maple Leaf Circle was able to pay 20c straight run to its members, who have not yet seen the wisdom of joining the co-operative movement.

STRIKE VOTE TAKEN BY GERMAN WORKERS' UNION

BERLIN July 6.—(United Press) — The German male workers union overwhelmingly voted to strike begin ning this morning. Union headquarters informed the United News that ninety per cent of the Unions total strength of three hundred thousand members are for the strike. The decision is fraught with danger as it may become a nation-wide test of labors agitation for quicker adjustment af wages to the slump in German mark.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Superstitions.

Many ideas about the mother and baby have been surrounded with mystery. Old tales are repeated and seemingly the more senseless they are the easier it is for the new mother to believe them. She is harassed by the fear that if she doesn't follow out these beliefs she may do the baby some unknown injury and feel herself forever at fault.

There is the idea (before the baby is born) that if she touches any part of her body when frightened the mark will appear on the body of the baby. Every mother who reads knows that such "stuff" is absolutely and perniciously false—but some continue in the depths of their hearts to believe it.

The idea that cutting the baby's finger nails instead of biting them will make the baby a thief is another one that is spread by ignorant people. The idea is presented constantly—even to-day—that babies must be weaned when the "sign" is right. To those who consider any and all superstitions as being relics of the dark ages these things are only absurdly funny — but one would be surprised at the vast numbers of mothers who still adhere to such notions and pass them on to future mothers.

Whenever anyone tells the mother anything which is in the nature of a superstition, and which her common sense can find no reason for —discard it. The rules for taking care of babies are not mysterious, they are plain, easy to follow, and what is more, easy to understand. There is a good reason for everything we do and reason and superstition never travel together.

How to Give the Baby His Food

There is a right and wrong way to everything, and feeding the baby has a technique, also.

The baby who cannot be nursed should not be put into his crib and have a bottle balanced perilously above him. He should be placed on the mother's lap, held slightly erect, and the bottle managed for him. In this way there is no danger that he will get it too fast; that the swift coming milk will squirt in his eye, or that he will be bothered by horrid gas pains brought on by too fast a meal.

During the operation the baby should be tilted over the mother's shoulder several times to raise the offending gas. There is no sense in teaching the baby to be a laggard at his meal but it should be joyful and comfortable occasion for him, and the few minutes devoted to it by mother should not begrudged while she feeds the baby. It gives her a few minutes rest period and can be made easier for the baby. Place a pillow under the baby's head and compress the breast away from his small nose Stop him frequently so that he will not be too greedy, and pat up the gas occassionally. Six or eight minutes at each breast has been found to be sufficient for the healthy child who is a strong nurser. He should not be allowed to sleep at the breast; this is a bad habit and wears the mother out as well as making it impossible to tell if the child has had enough to last him until the next feeding period.

THE COMPETITION FOR POSTER WORK

VOICE OF PEOPLE

PROPERTY RIGHTS.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir: I see it is suggested in your columns that because I am a prohibitionist I should therefore have no property rights. It is not so stated, but I think I am justified in arguing that if this be so the converse must also be true, namely, that if I were not a prohibitionist I would be entitled to own all the property there is, and to do and say everything I please, no matter how much my conduct might injure my neighbors. Now, so long as such ideas are only suggestions on paper, they will not likely do any harm. But if anyone should contemplate putting those ideas into practice, I may say that I am the happy possessor of a very competent solicitor who is well versed in all laws pertaining to property, and that before the "sean-e" with my solicitor was over there certainly be wigs on the green, and none of them would be mine, because I do not wear them, and neither does my solicitor. And I have complete confidence that my solicitor would make it abundantly clear that even a despised Prohibitionist has property rights which must be respected.

J. C. SMITH.

WOLFE LEADING PETES HITTERS BY BIG MARGIN

Centre Fielder Clouted Pill For a .475 Mark in First Half With Ansaldo Second.

OFFICIAL AVERAGES

The official record for the twelve games played in the first half of the Central Ontario League race show taht Herb Wolfe, the Petes' centre fielder is leading the homesters by a wide margin with the willow, having a total of nineteen hits in forty times at bat in eleven games, with an average of .475. Altogether Wolfe has hit for twenty-nine bases, his string including a home run, a triple and five doubles Charlie Ansaldo the local shortstop is second among the regulars with the fine mark of .345 in twelve games, with nineteen hits in fifty-five trips to the plate, including six doubles and a triple for a total of twenty-seven bases.

The leading run-getters are Ansaldo with 12 an average of one counter a game and Red Legon with 9 in eleven games. Wolfe is third in this department of the game, having crossed the plate 8 times.

Ansaldo and Legon also lead in stolen bases during the first half, Ansaldo having swiped nine sacks in twelve games while the left fielder has pilfered succssfully six times.

Max Swanston has a big margin in sacrifice hits having obliterated himself seven times to advance a comrade along the base paths. Johnston, Comolli and Helson are tied for second with three sacrifices each.

Heckman was the most successful of the squad in reaching first base by the charity route. The Petes' pitcher either drew a walk or was hit on nine occasion. Wolfe and Comolli were tied for second in this department being walked or hit seven times each.

Legon has fanned more often than any of the regulars, having been whiffed eleven times for an average of once a game. Johnston has been struck out ten time and Wolfe has also failed to connect on ten occasions.

The fielding averages show Legon leading the regular with a clean sheet, having accepted seventeen chancs without an error.

Here are the figures for the first twelve games. They do not of course include Monday afternoon's fixture.

NEW AUTO RECORD.

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif., July 6.—(Canadian Press.)— What were declared to be new automobile records for dirt tracks were established here Wednesday, when Jess Coe covered 15 miles in 11 minutes, 37 3-5 seconds, and Fred Frame, in a non-competitive event, covered a mile in 43 2-5 seconds.

The 15 mile dirt track record formerly held by Joe Birman, who on January 3, 1915, travelled the distance in 12 minutes, 23.20 seconds at Bakersfield, Calif.

The mile dirt track record was 45 seconds and was made by Barney Oldfield at St Louis, August 9, 1917.

PONIES AND PETES TO MEET HERE TOMORROW BOTH ARE CONFIDENT

Gallagher and Heckman Will Likely Be Called Upon to Oppose Each Other in Important Fixture.

Nosed out of the first half through dropping last Saturday's game to Belleville the Petes are going out after the championship of the second section of the Big Four race with keen determination and having started well by taking the first game from Cobourg, will endeavor to keep up the good work tomorrow by taking a fall out of Kingston at Riverside Park. The Limestone city crew have not been easy picking for the Petes although they managed to break even with them in the first half by winning both of their home games from the Ponies. Neither contest was a setup, however, for Moore who pitched for Kingston in the first game allowed only one earned run and Gallagher in the second battle here should have had a shutout had it not been for a passed ball.

The Ponies beat Belleville to start the second half and they realize that if they can pull off a win here tomorrow they'll have a great start for the honors. Nothing would please Batstone and Co. better than to wallop the Petes on their own lot and they will have their whole crew along tomorrow with Gallagher, Moore and Cherry all anxious to unlimber against the Solomon outfit. Gallagher in view of his great performances against the Petes in the last two games is likely to get the call, although Cherry who beat the Petes in Kingston or Moore who did so well here in the first game may be selected by Batstone.

Manager Solomon has not announced his lineup for tomorrow but Heckman will get the pitching assignment and "Hap" Harrison is expected to be at first base. The Petes are billed to practice tonight and should be in good shape for tomorrow's fixture.

The game is called for 3 o'clock sharp and the biggest crowd of the season is expected.

ST. LOUIS WON A FARCICAL GAME

LAKEVIEWS WON A SHUT-OUT GAME

C.G.E. Juniors Put Up a Good Scrap But Went Under By a Score of 3 to 0.

The Lakeviews maintained their position as league leaders in the Junior City League race last evening by defeating the C.G.E. nine by a score of 3 to 0. Whitehouse did the hurling for the winners and while he was not quite up to his usual form he deserved the shut out that he registered. He fanned fourteen and issued but one pass. He was touched for four hits but kept them scattered through four innings and the only time he was in difficulty bonehead base running on the part of the C.G.E. players allowed a double play to relieve the tension.

MacPherson was on the mound for the Electricians and though he allowed eight hits the innings in which the hits were bunched were not productive of runs. On two occasions double plays relieved the situation for him. The two errors checked against his team mates as well as the one walk that he issued figured in the run getting and the numerous stolen bases helped his opponents after they once get on the runways.

The game was featured by four double plays. Each team had two and each had one of the bonehead variety. F. Edgar, the C.G.E. shortstop pulled the star fielding stunt of the game with a snappy unassisted double play in the sixth frame to retire the side. Moore, Collins and Wilson divided the battings honours of the game with two hits each in three time up. No one was able to kiss the old pill for more than one base and several of the hits registered could have been cut off by a little faster fielding.

Jim Jeffries Will Not Referee Willard Bout.

TRENTON, N.J., July 6.—(Canadian Press)— Jim Jeffries, former world's heavyweight boxing champion, will not be permitted by the laws of this State to referee the Willard-Firpo contest, at Boyle's Thirty Acres, on July 12, State Controller Newton Bugbee, New Jersey Boxing Commissioner, announced yesterday

Jeffries is barred from being the third man in the ring by an amendment to the Boxing Act of 1922, which, said Bugbee, provides that a referee must have lived in the State three years before he is appointed to preside at a fight.

HENLEY WINNER WILL BE BRITISH

Last of the Foreign Entrants For the Famous Diamond Sculls Was Eliminated Yesterday.

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, July 6. —Canadian Press. — Finishing with a magnificent burst of speed that thrilled the spectators, Hilton Belyea, St. John, N.B., the Canadian sculling champion, yesterday eliminated Dr. Rudolph Bossard, of the Grasshopper Club, Zurich, Switzerland, in the competition for the Diamond Sculls at the Henley Regatta.

Belyea, the experts agree, gave the finest display of oarsmanship seen at Henley this year. Many experts before the race had predicted that the Canadian's 33 years would be a handicap, and would cause him to crack under the strain of the Henley mile and a quarter sprinting course, Brossard was leading Belyea by nearly three lengths towards the finish of the race when Belyea displayed a burst of speed and very quickly overtook his opponent, and passed into a two length lead at the finish.

To-day Belyea races D. H. L. Gollan, the deaf and dumb British sculler, who has already set and defeated Walter Hoover of Duluth, the former holder of the Diamond Sculls trophy, and Russell Codman, Jr., of Boston.

Codman yesterday proved to be no match for the British oarsman, who led from the start and won by two length. His time as 8 minutes., 30 seconds.

The winner of the Belyea-Gollan race to-day will meet J.Beresford, Jr of the Thames Rowing Club, Saturday, in the finals for the Diamond Sculls.

Yesterday saw the elimination of the last of the foreign entrants in the Diamond Sculls event, and whatever the outcome of to-day's races, the final will be all British.

Besesford won yesterday from K. E. B. Wilson by two lengths.

WON EXHIBITION GAME.

PITTSBURGH, July 6 (Canadian Press). — Two home runs in the ninth inning won yesterday's exhibition game for the New York Americans over Pittsburgh, 9 to 8. Two runs behind in the ninth, Ruth came to bat with a runner on first and poled the ball over the right field wall. Following a single, Hendricks hit for four bases.

SPECIAL SESSION BOARD EDUCATION

Campbellford High School to Be Discussed — By-Law Proposed.

CAMPBELLFORD, July 6.—A special session of the Board of Education will be held to draw up a formal request to the Town Council to submit to the taxpayers a bylaw to raise an additional $28,800 to complete the High School. The council will deal with the matter at the regular meeting Monday night.

Pastor Appreciated.

Previous to their leaving Belleville for Campbellford Rev. Wesley and Mrs. Elliott were presented by the congregation of the Tabernacle church of which church Mr. Elliott has been pastor for the past four years, with two handsome wicker chairs and Mrs. Elliott also received a wicker work basket.

Personals.

Miss Cherrie Turner spent the week-end with relatives at Picton.

Miss Helen Dunn is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Latta at Dartford.

Major H. K. Clifton, electrical inspector, Peterboro, was in town on Wednesday.

Mr. Willie King of Peterboro is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Peckett.

Mr. George Clark of Rochester, N. Y., spent the week-end with his brother, Mr. William Clark, Meyersburg, who was injured recently, when thrown from his buggy.

Gift To Teacher.

After the examinations in Connelly's school, S.S. No. 3, Seymour, were over on Thursday, June 28, the pupils were dismissed for the day. In a very few minutes, however, to the surprise of their teacher, Miss Vera Squire, they returned to the room followed by their parents and friends. One of the visitors then called school and after a short program an address was read by one of the senior pupils.

During the reading of the address a leather club bag and ivory tray were presented by Neil Hooper and little Magdalen Connelly.

Miss Squire though completely taken by surprise made a suitable reply thanking them for their gifts and for the kindness shown to her during the year she had spent among them.

Ice cream and lunch were then served and a social hour spent.

The Address.

Dear Teacher:

We have met this afternoon to say good-bye to you as we have heave heard you were going to leave us. I am sure we as children have not been all we should have been to you, but we are sorry to part with our teacher for we with all our faults feel you have a great love for us and as we part we hope when you receive this club bag and ivory tray you will feel that we were more than friends. Signed on behalf of the school.

ENDORSED WHEAT POOL.

WINNIPEG, July 6.— (Canadian Press.)—Endorsation of the proposed establishment of a voluntary pool for the marketing of the grain of the western provinces was given and the opinion was expressed that such a pool would prove of value in obtaining greater returns to the farmer for his crop, yesterday afternoon, by the western members of the Canadian Council of Agriculture, who have been in conference here since Wednesday morning. Doubt is expressed by the Council that it will be possible to organize a "comprehensive pool for this year's crop."

LENGLEN HAS LOST ONE TENNIS TITLE

Was Defeated in Two Straight Sets in Semi-Finals For the World's Mixed Doubles Title.

WIMBLEDON, July 6. Canadian Press. — Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen has at last lost one of her many championships in tennis. She was forced yesterday afternoon to give up her claim on the title to the mixed doubles championship of the world, and what is worse, she lost the honor in two straight sets. She and her partner, Jean Washer, the Belgian champion, were defeated 7-5, 6-3, in the semi-finals by the old tennis team, Randolph Lycett and Miss Elizabeth Ryan, veterans of many a four racket contest.

It has been so long since Suzanne stepped off the court a loser that her defeat with Washer came as a shock and a sensation to thousands in the stadium, many of whom doubtless had been awaiting that moment when the "unbeatable queen" of the court would be beaten.

Somewhere to-night no doubt the staticians are trying to remember when if ever Mlle. Lenglen had previously dropped two sets. It has never happened in the singles, at least since the French girl became a person of renown. She was gracious in defeat this afternoon, first shaking hands with her partner and then with her opponents, with whom she walked off the court chatting gaily.

RICKARD AFTER DEMPSEY BOUT

Has Started Negotiations to Have the Champion Meet the Winner of the Willard-Firpo Bout.

NEW YORK, July 6.—(Canadian Press.)—Tex Rickard has announced that he will start negotiations at once to match Jack Dempsey with the winner of the Luis Firpo-Jess Willard bout, for a wrold's title fight probably at Boyle's Thirty Acres in September or October. Willard and Firpo, who will battle at the Jersey City Arena on July 12, have signed an agreement under the terms of which the winner will be matched with Dempsey, Rickard said.

Willard and Firpo are closing to their fighting edge .Both plan but a few days more of strenuous work before tapering off, Willard in his gymnasium at Yonkers and the South American in his camp at Long Branch, N.J.

Willard has lost six pounds in the past two weeks of training, tipping the scales at 240 after eleven rounds of fast ring work.

Firpo, though in fighting trim at the start of his training at Long Branch as a result of a trip to Cuba and Mexico, has not slackened his programme of conditioning. He faces the stiffest test of his rapid ring climb in Willard and his veteran trainer, Jimmy Deforrest, has devoted hours daily to improving the big South American's scientific skill and generalship. Yesterday, after a road run and private workout under Deforrest's direction, Firpo went four rounds each with Jack McAuliffe and Bill Tate, his sparring mates.

TRAP SHOOTING TO-NIGHT.

The Peterborough Gun Club will hold its weekly shoot to-night at 6.30.

Rain falling from a clear sky, a meteorological phenomenon, was reported on March 21 near Grantham; the shower lasted only a minute.

25 COUNTED OUT IN FIRST ROUND

Gibbons' Feat of Staying Fifteen Rounds With Dempsey Establishes a Record.

A perusal of Dempsey's fighting record reveals the fact that of the forty-six knockouts credited to him twenty-five of the fights have lasted less than one round. Joe Bond in 1916 and Bill Brennan in 1920 are the only two fighters to last the tne rounds before getting the K.O. Several have gone ten or more rounds and lost the decision but if a knockout was coming Jack almost invariably got it in before the bell rang to sta t the tenth. In fact, in addition to the two fighters already mention Joe Lyons, in 1915, was the only other man to go past the seventh and he got his in the ninth. Incidentally the only time Dempsey was knocked out was when Jim Flynn did the trick in the first round. That was back in 1917, two years before he became the champion, and in 1918 Jack sent Flynn to the canvas in just as short a time as Flynn had sent him.

Only one other man has ever stayed in the ring with Dempsey as long as Gibbons did at Shelby. In 1916 Andy Malloy went 20 rounds to a draw. But he was fighting a very different Dempsey than the Dempsey that Gibbons fought. The twenty-round mill was fought long before Dempsey was even considered as being of championship calibre and long before he had developed into the terrific fighting machine that he is to-day.

Gibbons feat of staying the full fifteen rounds was a surprise in itself. The defensive tactics of the challenger must have been well nigh perfect against the slashing attacks of the champion. Gibbons came out of the fray, weakened perhaps by his terrific exertions, but unmarked by the pounding which the fight fans had confidently expected him to get. The punishment that he received could not have been very lasting for he was able, after a rub down at his home, to be out on the streets of Shelby within a few hours of the finish of the fight after which he spent the evening shooting off fire works for his kids.

Gibbons greatest accomplishment is prehaps the fact that he has met Dempsey, gone the full fight with him and has not yet been knocked off his feet in the ring. While he lost the decision he won a moral victory which will make him one of the greatest drawing cards in the pugilistic world of today.

BOXING CONDEMNED IN A STRONG RESOLUTION

WINONA LAKE, Indiana, July 6. —(Canadian Press.)—Characterizing Dempsey-Gibbons fight at Shelby, Montana as "demoralizing pugilistic contest," International Christian Citizenship Conference went on record as opposed to prize fighting.

Resolution opposing bout, adopted by convention, said that boxing should be classed with "gambling, prostitution and saloon."

Approximately two thousand delegates, representing practically every nation, approved the resolution.

CURLERS LEAD MIDGET RACE

Start Early and Defeat the Maple Leafs 9 to 5

Maple Leafs spotted Curlers five runs in the first innings at King Edward School grounds last evening and Curlers won the contest by a count of 9 to 5. Alex. Kay's youths are now out in front in the Midget series with two wins and no losses.

Carl Woods disposed of seventeen Leafs on strikes and Art Amstrong fanned thirteen Curlers. The pitchers yielded six hits a piece, a three bagger by Fleming in the first, doing a lot of damage to the Leafs. Dave Grant playing first for the losers, accepted nine out of the chances and poled out a pair of doubles. Archibald Baker Barrie and Fleming were the extra base hitters for Curlers.

Armstrong hit the first batter to face him and his teammates, fielded poorly behind him. Five runs were across before the Leafs had settled down. Curlers added another run in the second and had a seven run lead at the third. With Frank Carroll behind the bat, Armstrong did better work and a batting rally in their half of the third, a wild pitch and an infield error, gave the Leafs three runs.

Curlers got two more in the sixth after two were out doubles by Barrie and Archibald and a passed ball accounting for the tallies.

Armstrong retired the side in order in the seventh and in an attempt to come from behind, the Leafs sent two runners across.

MORE EASY MONEY FOR JACK DEMPSEY

GREAT FALLS, Mont., July 6.—(Canadian Press).—Jack Kearns, manager of Jack Dempsey, stated to-day that the champion's next opponent would very probably be Harry Wills, negro champion, if for nothing more than to convince the public that Dempsey does not draw the color line and that he has no fear of Wills. In the opinion of Kearns, the Dempsey-Wills bout would draw better than the Dempsey-Willard match. He thought the big Kansan would be again easily defeated by the champion.

BRITISH SHIPS DELAY SAILINGS

NEW YORK, July 6.—(Canadian Press).—British and other foreign ships are experiencing costly delays in sailing from this port because of desertions of their men, who are attracted by high wages paid by the United States Shipping Board.

The Canopic, of the White Star Line, was delayed more than four hours in sailing yesterday for Bremen because of desertions in her fire-room.

The Homeric was forty men short in her crew on her last trip from New York, and many other ships reported the same difficulty.

Officials of one line declared yesterday that the Shipping Board is "black-jacking" competitive lines by increasing wages far above the figures which foreign vessels can pay.

"Overhead charges means nothing to the Shipping Board," he declared.

BAY QUINTE SUMMER SCHOOL

Last evening's session of the Summer School of the Bay of Quinte Conference was marked by a striking address, made by Rev. G. I. Campbell, of Toronto, field secretary of the Department of Evangelism and Social Service. Mr. Campbell is the type of speaker whose eloquent and well-worded utterances are marked by a degree of conviction and sincerity which holds the attention of his hearers to the last minute, with a magnetic style of delivery and diction which is compelling and interest-holding.

Taking as a basis the story of the young man who refused to listen to the command of the Master, "Go thou and do likewise," Rev. Mr. Campbell made a forceful plea for the work of redeeming the fallen and the outcast, the "one who has gone over the precipice of life and sees no hope down there."

"The summer school," he said, "is for the purpose of bringing to young people a definite conclusion in their religious life. It helps us to action, and the important thing to-day is to lead people to act. God has given us all gifts, perhaps to some in small parcels, but when they are consecrated to a great purpose, and put into action with a determined spirit, the results may be some marvellous changes in the communities in which you live. I believe that the big work of the Church to-day is to try and change conditions in the communities in which we live, and I believe all communities are in need of change in their constitution and make up. It was Joseph Cooke who said, "The nineteenth century made this world into a neighborhood. It remained for the twentieth century to make it into a brotherhood." What this century needs is brotherhood."

Relating the parable of the Good Samaritan, Mr. Campbell asserted that "there are a whole lot of respectable church-goers to-day who are too nice and respectable to serve the Lord Jesus Christ by washing the blood and mud from some poor soul that has fallen by the way. It is a sorry day for the Church when its respectable members are too refined to do these things. I am afraid of that respectability. It is barring many people from service."

"To-day we are trying to shift the emphasis: to do the work of prevention rather than of cure. If we will not do the work of prevention, and carry on the educational work, if the Church fails to do the work at the top, then we must do the work at the bottom. We must organize an ambulance corps and go down to the bottom, like the Good Samaritan. It is really the religious conditions that exist to-day that are making the ambulance corps necessary. If we allow conditions as they are, then there is no possible alternative but a strong ambulance corps to work at the bottom and to go down where the need is.

"We are hoping that you young people will help to build a strong wall of protection that will give some education and real interest in life, such as will prevent your fellow-creatures from going over. For I am convinced to-day that there are a great many people whose business it is to set traps for unwary feet. The devil is put out of a job by some of the people who are busy in the world to-day. The work of the Church is to spring those traps, to loosen the prisoner and set free the life. In every district, too, there are those who are held tight to-night, perhaps not from sin, but from many different causes, who are not occupied as God intended they should be."

"Don't get your eye on someone else. Get your eye on Jesus and say, "He will help me. With His help, I am going back to try and make some little contribution to the field I may find there."

"The old basis was for the ambulance corps. The new basis is for policing the road and building fences, and clearing the way of those who would destroy the soul. God has given us a great opportunity in this country. I am at the bottom, and the best thing I can do for my Lord and Master is to try and help some of these poor unfortunates. I can't do my own job and help in the educational work of the Church also. And I want to say right here that I am not getting the backing I deserve, any more than this Summer School of yours is getting the backing it deserves."

"You young people want to go back and see about making your church's programme effective; to help some poor fellow in the trap, who is beyond your educational work. I remember the time when we paid our pastoral visits, and we used to pass by the hotels. What respectable minister would think of dropping in on a man who sold liquor? Well, we started in and we put the poor chaps out of business. They said, well, all right, our time will come. They waited, and they are waiting still. And let me tell you, most of the hotelkeepers in our prohibition campaign played the game fair and square. One of them said to me recently, 'I remember when you used to pass my hotel. I used to drop into your church sometimes, to hear you preach, but I thought often I would like to have you drop in and speak to me.' And there I was, picking out my little flock, and chasing around sometimes after my quarterly board, old sheep in the fold, trying to keep them in (it's an awful job for any man), and there was a poor black sheep outside the fold, and I wasn't trying to help him in. Our religion must mean more than that. If you happen to pass by the man who is carrying on a business that you don't like or that you think is wrong, or that you think is injuring society, then your ministry doesn't mean much."

Mr. Campbell compared the life of Cardinal Newman and John Bright of England. These men were both brought up in the same environment, and educated at the same schools. When the time for decision came, one turned his mind to the Church, the other to politics. In the Church, one man kept narrowing down his vision until it meant only to him the spectacle of the streets of gold, while the other laid his life on the altar of service to his fellow-men, doing many things for the uplift of England and his poor, down-trodden fellowmen of the slums.

"There is no building on the imagination these days. It is real life we talk about. Men's hearts are breaking and women are fainting and children are helpless, and some have gone over the precipice broken-hearted. Down there, they say, 'What is the use? Life isn't worth while.'"

"If we link up with the Master and offer to serve Him, we cannot pass by those who have slipped over the precipice. When Jesus told the young man that he must do the same thing, respectability balked. He said, 'I must consider my family and my social position and my future.' But I say to you that we must answer need's call, no matter what it is, and if we do that, our family and social position and future will not suffer. On the contrary, they will be enhanced. I ask you to put your life right square up against the need of the community in which you live; whether it is against the life of some poor child that is not getting a chance, or some girl who is going to destruction by way of vanity and the dance hall. You must say, 'I want to be a sister to you. I want to keep you from hell, and to lead you to a better life.' If you happen to fail, you may be simply making a job for me and for my ambulance corps down there, and, God knows, we don't want any more. The city and the town and the country in making too much work now for the ambulance corps. The only protection is the effort you put in at the top. Jesus Christ said, 'Go thou and do likewise'."

"If the men and women who are standing around and carping and criticizing would start in to find one soul for Jesus Christ and to make conditions better, what a change there would be. I am not concerned with the good people who are in the church, or the good people who are attending other churches outside of our own. I am concerned with that fifty per cent. of the population who are outside of the churches altogether. For every person in your church, there are two outside in the Protestant communities to-night."

"Perhaps one of the biggest problems that faces us to-day is the dead wood in the church." Mr. Campbell referred to the minister who, in the course of a funeral oration, said, "This corpse has been a member of this church for thirty years." "Think of it, preaching to a dead man for thirty years. I know that God must have touched your hearts to bring you here to this Summer School, but some of you, when you go home, will have to associate with corpses, and that is an empty, lonely place to be. The trouble is to-day, we have so many corpses in our leagues and Sunday schools and membership and official boards that you cannot wonder when we say harsh things sometimes. So, while I am working down here with my ambulance corps, some of you are working the cemetery. But we must go back with our minds made up that these dead bones shall live. There is one thing that hurts me, that my Christ has power to put life and power into these dead men and women, and they refuse. The young man in the Gospel went away sorrowful, because he preferred a dead life to a living one, and the cemetery to the actual places where men live."

"God is sending you back to link yourselves close to these other members of your group, and try and lead them, step by step, into a fellowship with Jesus, and then lead them up in personal work to extend the work of Jesus, and to extend His kingdom. I pray that we may be willing to pay the price and to consecrate ourselves to Jesus Christ, our Lord."

There was a good attendance at last night's meeting, which was presided over by Rev. Mr. Richards, who paid, in his opening remarks, a tribute to the work of Rev. Mr. McCutcheon, in his conduct of the Bible study periods. Mr. Richards also voiced the sentiment of the audience in a few well-chosen words of praise, after Mr. Campbell's stirring address.

Rev. A. J. Langford had charge of the twilight service, and, during the intermission, Rev. Roy Rickard, of Bowmanville, sang very pleasingly, Bishop Matheson's hymn, "O love, that will not let me go."

Constable Cookman made this statement this morning, following complaints that citizens returning from the Chemong dances are afraid to travel on the Chemong road, and are going around by the Lakefield road. On investigation by Cookman last night he found the information to be correct, and took several numbers. Summonses will be served on these and future offenders. Some cars were travelling so fast that the constable was unable to see the numbers.

INCE RENTS BIG S. F. HOTEL FOR FEATURE

One of the biggest hotels in San Francisco was "rented" by Thomas H. Ince for the filming of scenes in "Bell Boy 13," a sparkling comedy farce now showing at the Royal Theatre.

To get the proper "atmosphere" for this hilariously funny story of modern hotel life, told from the novel perspective of the Bell hop, arrangements were made whereby the Ince company had the entire run of the hotel for a month, the only reservation being that the film work should not interfere with the ordinary routine of the hotel.

For a month the company was "on location" in the hotel working in such unobtrusive fashion that many of the hotel patrons were none the wiser. Masking cameras behind screens of palms and plants, interesting shots of the imposing lobby, the famous peacock alley with its strolling crowds of smart women and distinguished men, were made.

The picture is said to be one of the cleverest farces of the season.

Capitol Entertainment

Action and pep and vigor, through reels of stirring picture drama, are the characteristics of "Sure Fire Flint," starring Johnny Hines in his latest release. With speed, thrills and plenty of fun, the versatile and smiling Johnny winds his way through a medley of entertaining nonsense. He gets fired for fighting at a wedding celebration, where he is supposed to act as a waiter, and then gets mixed up in the stealing of valuable securities. Again his exuberant spirits gets him into trouble with a new employer and he does some tall work to save further entanglements. He rescues a little boy from drowning and races after the train he has left to do this, wrecking a car in his mad rush. A mix up in identity gets another man a rifle ball meant for the hero, and the close-up is a thrilling emotional climax, with the hero claiming his very best girl.

For action, and fun and romance, "Sure Fire Flint," who comes into first view with the shells of war bursting over his head, would be hard to beat. It is entertaining and a welcome change from the usual run of somewhat sentimental pictures that appear to be screen favorites with the majority of the producers. "Sure Fire Flint" is a hero that an adult, as well as a child, will enjoy, and remember, as an attractive screen character.

The usual run of short reels provide plenty of amusement and some have a distinct educational value in their delineations of people and places far away and obscure.

OBITUARY

WILLIAM JAMES KELLY.

NORTH BAY, July 6. —One of North Bay's best known men, in the person of William James Kelly, died at 4:30 Saturday morning, June 30, at his residence, 132 Main street, west, after an illness of four weeks' duration from kidney trouble. For the past seventeen years he has been connected with the Telephone and Telegraph department of the T. and N.O. Railway, for ten years of which he had been superintendent He was born 46 years ago in Renfrew.

Coming here in 1905, when the government railroad was in the process of building, he was given charge of building the telegraph line from North Bay to Cochrane. He learned the telegraph key in the G.N.W. office in Renfrew, of which his father was manager previous to his death. In his young manhood, he was a prominent athlete in sporting circles in Renfrew, playing on regular teams of hockey, lacrosse and baseball.

He was the only son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William James Kelly of Renfrew and leaves to mourn their loss a wife and one son Joseph, six years old. His wife was formerly Miss Loretto Devlin, formerly of Peterborough, whom he married in Toronto in 1916. The funeral service was held at 7 o'clock on Sunday evening at St Mary's Cathedral and the remains were shipped on the 8:35 p.m. C.P.R. train to Renfrew, where interment took place the following morning. The pall bearers in North Bay were Messrs. T. H. Mulligan, L. Lamb, E. Mitchell, A. Parr D. Kennedy and Wm. Hough.

News Paragraphs of Warsaw and District.

WARSAW, July 6.—Mr. Ed. Hawthorne has gone to his cottage at the lake for three months.

Miss Millicent Biddell is visiting Mrs. Rufus Payne.

Mrs. MacMilan, Lakefield, spent a few days last week with Mrs. Rufus Payne.

Mr. Wm. C. Lloyd has rented Mr. Mark Edward's house for a year.

Mr. J. H. Burnham spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs Thos. Miller.

Mrs. Thos. Cullen, Smith, spent Sunday with Miss Miller.

Mr Webster, Lakefield, was in the village last Tuesday.

Miss Burry spent the week-end and holiday with Rev. and Mrs. Weir.

Bethel picnic on Monday afternoon was largely attended. Tea was served on the church grounds.

Richard Batten and M. McIvor lost cattle in the storm on the ranches near White Lake. D. Miller and J. A. Crowe have lost one each and no trace can be found.

Harvesting Alfalfa.

Heavy crops of alfalfa and of sweet clover are being harvested. The rains are making these crops especially hard to properly cure.

In the Churches.

Pastor Chorley occupied the Baptist pulpit on Sunday. Next Sunday at 11 o'clock a.m. Mr. Chorley will preach to the Orangemen.

Rev. Atkinson preached morning and evening in the Presbyterian church and at Cotessloe in the afternoon.

Rev. F. G. Weir occupied the Methodist pulpits on Sunday.

In Warsaw he continued his sermons on methods of meeting trials. He has already shown that neither the way of the Epicurean, nor of the Stoic was a right way. On Sunday he showed that the right way is that of the Christain.

Examinations.

A large number of pipls, including five from Warsaw, wrote on the entrance examinations in Warsaw school.

UNIQUE RECORD LATE J. PEARCE

Prominent in Public, Civic and Business Life in Norwood—Died on Tuesday.

NORWOOD, July 6. — Joseph Burgess Pearce, who died in Norwood on Tuesday, July 3rd, had a public record seldom equalled, and a place in the life of the village that will be difficult to fill. Born in the village of Norwood on March 16, 1840, he was 83 years of age when he died. His father was the late Peter Pearce, J.P., first warden of the county of Peterborough, after the setting up of the county municipal government in 1858.

Mr. Joseph Pearce had a limited public school education, having attended only a few months. To this he added by assiduous application and evening study, which was supplemented by an intelligent use of the knowledge gained in the school of experience. At the age of 21 he was appointed Bailiff of the Second Division Court, filling the office for 15 years. In 1886 he was appointed Postmaster in Norwood, which position he held for 35 consecutive years.

Mr. Pearce was the first Reeve elected in Norwood in 1878, and for 26 years he represented Norwood in the County Council. In 1895, and again in 1898 he was elected Warden. He was Census Commissioner for East Peterborough in 1870-1871 and in 1880-1881; Trustee of the Norwood High and Public Schools, 1877-1879, and for fifty years on the Board of Directors of the East Peterborough Agricultural Society, at the time of his death being Honorary Director. He was president of the East Peterborough Liberal Conservative Association for twenty years, and declined three unanimous nominations as Conservative candidate for the House of Commons. In 1882, on his father's death, Joseph Pearce was made Justice of the Peace.

During the war, Mr. Pearce took a deep interest in patriotic work being honorary local treasurer of the Norwood Branch of the Patriotic fund in 1914 and 1915. He also assisted in Army and Navy League Work, Red Cross and other efforts.

Mr. Pearce was a delegate to Ottawa on many occasions when he urged the construction of the Trent Canal. He was also identified with the Good Roads movement.

Business Life.

Mr. Pearce operated the Norwood Foundry and aMchine Shop successfully for several years. In 1867 he purchased the general store business of the late J. A. Butterfield, which he sold in 1874, when he entered the square timber and lumber business. In 1886 he again entered the general store business. He was president for more than 30 years of the Pearce Company of Marmora, manufacturing sawn timber, shingles and lath; also a roller flour mill and a small woollen mill. It was Mr Pearce's boast that no single action at law had ever resulted from his work in conveyencing. He did a considerable amount of legal work, in drawing deeds of land, wills and mortgages.

Son Killed Overseas.

In 1862 Mr. Pearce married Lois Ann Dafoe of Richmond, Lennox County, who survives him. He is also survived by three daughters, Mrs. W. A. F. Campbell, of Port Hope, and the Misses Blanche and Helen, at home. Two sons survive, J. F., of Norwood, and Charles P., of British Columbia, while his youngest son, Russell Sperry, was killed in action in France, on Dec. 27th, 1915.

ADJUTANT BUNTON IS REMOVED TO WINDSOR

Adjutant Wallace Buntin and Mrs. Buntin of the Salvation Army have been removed to Windsor, according to a report from London, Ont., of the transfer of officers in that district. After their work in Peterborough Adjt. Buntin and his wife were sent to Ottawa.

WEDDING BELLS

SMITH—BRAUND.

A quiet wedding was solemnized in Yonge street Methodist church, Toronto, on Tuesday, July 3, when Elva May, eldest daughter of W. J. Braund, of Peterborough, was united to Arthur Benjamin Smith, eldest son of Adjutant and Mrs. A. J. Smith, also of Peterborough. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. J. Paul. Mr and Mrs. Smith will reside in Peterborough.

Earrings are worn in increasing numbers as the season advances. Women do not seem to wear them on the street as generally as they did at the beginning of the season, but they are extremely popular for evening wear. The pendant type is the preferred type used for dressy occasions and tassels of seed pearls are particularly popular.

PEACE PREVAILS

LONDON, July 7.— (United Press.)—Woe betide any man who stirs up trouble and creates once more a state of chaos in any part of the British Empire which desires to remain under the King's constitution, declared Sir James Craig, Prime Minister of the Northern Irish Government at Streatley on Thames in response to Governor-General Timothy Healy's censure today of the detention of three or four hundred Free State sympathizers by the Ulster government and its refusal to appoint one Ulster member of the boundary commission.

I am extremely sorry that the Governor-General of the Free State should make this statement, said Sir James. I don't think it proper on my part to enter into a controversy on the matters referred to, but to say this, Ulster has now reached a stage of peace and prosperity and woe betide any man no matter what his position who directly or indirectly, by recrimination or by calling to mind old disputes, stirs up any trouble and creates once more a state of chaos.

A Conference

The Free State Ministers for external affairs with a full staff has come to London to consult quietly with the British Government regarding the attitude of Britain in the forthcoming imperial conference. I learn that Ireland will not raise any questions about the position of the Dominions within the Empire but will await Canada's lead in this matter. Where Canada goes Ireland will go is the sentiment generally expressed by Irish officialdom.

The Free State believes that Canada has the foremost right to claim rights and privilges of independent action which is ingrained in the Irish people. The people of Ulster on the other hand feel that the Free States representaton at the conference is the worst blow to proverbial cluster pride since the partician of 1920 for they realize that while the Free State representatives are sitting in the Empire Council mighty Ulster will not be directly represented except through England. The result of this will probably be a firmer determination on the part of Ulster to resist alyl efforts to establish a boundary commission and to widen the breach between Ulster and the Free State.

ANNUAL BUDGET IS COMING UP TODAY

VANCOUVER, July 7. Canadian Press. — The last day's session of the Great War Veterans' Associations convention here will see the presentation of the annual budget, which has been considered in camera for the last couple of days, and some changes in the system of administration of the business of the association. It is planned that duties and nomenclature of the officers shall be rearranged to bring about a much greater measure of efficiency in their administration.

This reorganization aimed especially to affect system of national and community service, probably will be the chief business of the day

The executive also will announce some changes in the system of issuing credentials cards to the members. The new system was aimed to augment the finances of the Dominion command. It will be pointed out that the per capita demand due to Dominion command is not always in proportion to membership of the District command. In some cases it is said districts with 3000 members are paying into Dominion treasury per capita demand adequate for only 600 members.

FRANCE COMPROMISED ON BRITISH REQUEST

PARIS, July 7. — (Canadian Press).—France has compromised with Great Britain on the latter's desire for a written answer to the British questionnaire on reparations and the Ruhr occupation, it was learned in official quarters to-day.

A NEW CAMP

WIMBLEDON, July 7. Canadian Press. — William M. Johnston, the United States star, is the new world champion on the grass courts. The diminutive San Franciscan defeated Frances T. Hunter of New Rochelle N. Y., in the final of Wimbledon tournament to-day, 6-0, 6-3, 6-1.

AN EIGHTEEN-YEAR-OLD BOY PLUNGED INTO THE TORRENT

Untimely End of Boy Who Crept Across Girders at Niagara Falls Bridge

EDMONTON, July 7. Canadian Press. — Leo Castle, the 18 year old boy who won notoriety some months ago by creeping across the girders at Niagara Falls bridge to beat the immigration authorities, and get into the United States, met an untimely end here last night.

He was detected stealing soft drinks from a delivery truck, and when chased by the driver ran along the river bank. Suddenly his footing gave away and he plunged into the swirling stream. No further trace was seen of him and dragging operations on the river bank have failed to secure any trace of the body.

WAR VETERANS TO HONOR THEIR DEAD

Rev. W. R. Courage Will Conduct Decoration Day Services Tomorrow

Rev. W. R Courage, rector of St. George's Church, will have charge of the services incident to the Decoration Day parade of the G.W.V.A. to-morrow afternoon.

The parade to-morrow will be held to Little Lake Cemetery, and next Sunday to St. Peter's Cemetery.

The members of the G.W.V.A., as well as all other returned men in the city, are urged to attend this ceremony. The parade will fall in in front of the G.W.V.A. Rooms at 2 o'clock. The flag will be lowered to half-mast in honour of the fallen, after which the Cenotaph will be decorated, and the men will march to Captain Brown's monument in Central Park. A wreath will be placed on the monument by the president of the GW.V.A., and the parade will then move off to Little Lake Cemetery. Here the graves of former service men will be decorated and a short service held.

KNOX CHURCH CALL MEETS ACCEPTANCE

Rev. M. C. Mackinnon, M.A., B.D., Will Be Inducted in September.

Rev. M. C. Mackinnon, M.A., B.D., who was called by Knox Presbyterian Church a few weeks ago, has accepted the invitation, according to word received by Mr. Malcolm Clark to-day.

Mr. Mackinnon was called to fill the vacancy made by the departure of Rev. J. A. MacKenzie to Guelph. The call was extended at one of the largest congregational meetings in the history of the church.

The induction ceremonies, it is expected, will take place during the first week in September.

PETERBORO CADET CORPS WON SHIELD

Camp at Barriefield Broke Up This Morning—Local Boys Successful.

KINGSTON, Ont., July 7.—(Special.)— The Cadet camp at Barriefield broke up this morning. The presentation of prizes and a tatoo were interesting features Friday night. The Laura Secord Shield for efficiency in shooting was presented to Peterborough High School by C. H. Ellston, secretary-treasurer of the Laura Secord Company, Toronto. Lindsay and Perth were tied for third prize in the contest for the best bugle bands.

VETERANS WILLING FOR AMALGAMATION

VANCOUVER, July 7. — (Canadian Press).—The almost unanimous approval of the proposal to amalgamate ex-service men's associations throughout the Dominion and the election of Dr. W. D. Sharpe, of Brampton, Ont., who has been acting president since the resignation of Robert Maxwell, featured yesterday's session of the Great War Veterans' Association convention. The issues raised in Thursday's discussion regarding the demands of the Grand Army Veterans as the price of amalgamation were covered in a clause of the resolution passed, stating that all were agreed on the necessity for a national policy, yet they believed the determination of a mutually acceptable policy should not precede but follow amalgamation.

French Troops Are Still on the Move

LONDON. July 7.—(United Press).—French troops Friday occupied outlying houses of the City of Frankfort in the Ruhr Valley according to a Central News Despatch from Brussels. Territory adjacent to the city also was occupied by the French as they extended their lives.

RESUME WORK STEEL PLANT

Out of Action for Week —Strikers to Protest Arrest of Leaders in Mass Meeting.

MONTREAL, July 7. Canadian Press. — A despatch from Sydney, N.S., says:

John L. Lewis, the head of the International Mine Workers Union has sent a wire to heads of the miners now on strike telling them that they had no justification for going out on strike in the first place and that they had better return to work.

SYDNEY. N.S., July 7 —(Canadian Press).—F. W. Gray, assistant to vice president of British Empire Steel Corporation announced this morning that blooming mill, one of the units closed down week ago last Wednesday when steel workers walk ed out would resume operations today. Gray stated that at present twelve hundred men in all were employed about the plant.

Dan Livingstone President and James B. MacLachlan Secretary of United Workers arrested last night told Canadian Press this morning that they had spent very comfortable night, thanks to the chief of police. Prisoners were astir early this morning and were permitted to breakfast in one of city restaurants and later to visit barber.

Night passed quietly throughout strike area. Alex. S. McIntyre, district vice president of United Mine Workers, who is carrying on in the absence of Livingstone and MacLachlan to-day appealed to various locals to arrange for mass meetings for purpose of protesting against arrest of two leaders.

ROAD IMPROVEMENT IN NORTH COUNTRY

Persons Travelling to Burleigh Falls Find a Big Change.

Persons travelling to the northern part of the county over the Burleigh Road are glad to note that at last this much-travelled highway is receiving attention. It is the only road leading to the north part of the county from Lakefield and Peterborough, and has a heavy traffic all the year around.

When trying to describe how bad a thing is, it has been the custom as far back as people can remember to use the expression, "As bad as the Burleigh Road"; but a change is taking place now that the County Council have taken over the road from Young's Point to Burleigh Falls as one of their county roads.

At the present time Mr. Duncan Macfarlane, superintendent of the County roads, has a number of men and teams at work, and in the course of another few weeks the road to Burleigh Falls will be better than it has ever been in the history of the present generation.

DOCK STRIKES WILL BE BLOW FOR SHIPPING

Labor Leaders Do Not Approve of the High-Handed Attitude of the Men.

SHIPS DELAYED

LONDON, July 7.—(Special.) — Canadian ships which are being held up by the dockers' strike, including the Leader, London, Conqueror, Cardiff and Victor will arrive tomorrow and while it may not be necessary to pay dock dues they will have to pay a heavy weight bill due to the delay, which will be a blow to the owners at a time when shipping is not making any large profits.

All the leaders of Labor maintain that this strike is utterly wrong, The Daily Herald, Labor's own organization, says the strike means to hell with trade unions, to hell with the Labor movement and to hell with the worker, as well as their chance for better wages, more leisure, decent hours, decent opportunities for their children

It also means to hell with a co-operative commonwealth. Despite every effort on both sides the strike is rapdily spreading and the temper of the men is becoming uglier, new leaders of obvious Bolshevik tendencies are springing up, inflaming the dockers by their communistic arguments. At Hull the strikers forced the leaders to transfer their annual meeting from Hull to London.

G.W.V.A. OBJECT SENATE ACTION

Resolution Forwarded to the Dominion Convention at Vancouver.

At a recent meeting of the executive of the local branch of the G. W.V.A. the following resolution was passed criticizing the action taken by the Senate on the Pensions Act. The deletion by the Senate of much of the legislation that was passed by the House of Commons, has been a great disappointment to many of the local returned men who, by this action, may be deprived of certain advantages to which they consider themselves entitled. Through the courtesy of the Canadian National Telegraph, a copy of the resolution was forwarded last evening to the Dominion Convention of the G.W. V.A. now being held in Vancouver.

The resolution read as follows:

Whereas the Senate of the Dominion of Canada has by its recent action in amending the Pensions Act, eliminated much legislation beneficial to those most directly interested. And

Whereas by so doing it has directly contravened the wishes of the people as expressed through their elected representatives. And

Whereas by so doing it has almost totally ignored the findings of a Royal Commission. Said fiudings having been arrived at through great expense to the people of Dominion of Canada. And

Whereas such action can only be interpreted as an effort to shield discredited officials of the D.S.C.R. or as having been taken through ignorance of the true facts, or having been taken without any proper investigation of the true facts. And

Whereas by so doing the Senate of the Dominion of Canada has caused the people of the Dominion of Canada to break their faith with those who risked their lives for the Empire. And

Whereas by so doing the Senate of the Dominion of Canada has shown itself to be totally unfit to carry out the duties assigned to it.

Now, therefore be it resolved that we the members of the Peterborough Branch of the Great War Veterans' Association demand the complete reorganization of the Senate of the Dominion of Canada and that the present party in power take action to curtail the power of the Senate of Dominion of Canada to the extent that any action taken on its part may be overruled by a vote of three fifths of the House of Commons of the Dominion of Canada.

Further, be it resolved that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Dominion Command of the Great War Veterans' Association, now in convention at Vancouver, B. C., to the Prime Minister of Canada and to the Member from the Riding of West Peterborough in the House of Commons of the Dominion of Canada.

Peterborough, Ontario, July 6, 1923.

STATEMENT IN REPLY DEMAND OF RUHR NOTE

Germany Will Not Accept Responsibility for Bombing Where Nine Soldiers Were Killed.

BELGIAN DEMAND

BERLIN, July 7 (Special to The Examiner).—Foreign Minister Baron Van Resenberg told France and Belgium to-day that Germany could not accept responsibility for the Duisberg bombing, where nine Belgian soldiers were killed.

Germany does not admit that her citizens were responsible for the explosion, and therefore cannot assume responsibility, he said.

Rosenberg's statement was made in answer to the official demand of the Ruhr occupants that Germany publicly disapprove the explosion, it was announced officially.

France and Belgium also demanded that the German Government promise to see out and arrest those who plotted the explosion.

BELGIAN DEMAND.

PARIS, July 7 (Canadian Press). —Delivery in Berlin by the Belgian Minister of the document threatening to withdraw the Belgian Minister from Berlin unless Germany publicly disavows the Duisberg bombing and other violence in the Ruhr was confirmed in French official circles today, but so far as is known, the French Ambassador has not yet joined in these representations.

The French Government, however, in view of the close accord with Belgium, is deemed certain to support Belgium's attitude.

The Belgian demand was not in the form of an ultimatum, but it nevertheless conveyed the idea that unless Germany complied, the situation would be likely to result in the withdrawal of the Belgian Minister.

The French hope that no necessity will arise for the carrying out of threats.

ST. GEORGE'S CHURCH HAD A GARDEN PARTY

The day was bright and warm. despite the clouds which threatened to pour down rain at any moment. The weather makes or mars an event of this kind, and the Ladies' Guild, at least, were gratified when the storm blew over.

Quite a number attended the garden party, and in every respect the affair was a success. The fish-pond, under the capable management of Mrs. Brownlee and Mrs. H. Rew, Jr., did a thriving business, the "fish" biting splendidly. At the refreshment booth Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Huxley dispensed ice creams and soft drinks in rapid succession. Mrs. Rew, Sr., presided at the fancy-work table, and the pile of dainty and substantial creations rapidly disappeared and were carried away to different homes.

In the evening the Melody Band, under the efficient leadership of Mr. W. Ford, gave a delightful programme.

Mr. Ted. Markham, comedian, who is well known to fun-loving folks throughout the city, charmed the crowd of kiddies with his "Cabbages, Ca-beans and Ca-rrots" and "Oh, Tomorrow Night." They soon learned the choruses and chimed in lustily.

Mr. Charles Cole related in song about "The Time He Had Hired a Gee-Gee," declaring that "the only horse that I can ride is the one the missus dries the clothes on."

Mr. Frank Pratt sang two well-applauded bass solos. Mr. Albert Nichols acted as accompanist.

After another selection by the Melody Band, God Save the King brought the pleasant evening to a close.

The Ladies' Guild wishes to thank all who helped in any way to add to the pleasure of the event. Much praise, also, is due the Ladies' Guild for their untiring efforts to insure this party being a success.

The next event of importance will be the Sunday School excursion to Gore's Landing on July 16th.

TWO JOBS MAY GO TO NEW PREMIER

TORONTO, July 7. Canadian Press. — It was stated to-day by persons in close touch with Premier Designate Ferguson that in addition to being Premier Mr. Ferguson will also hold the portfolio of Minister of Education. He was head of this Department under the Hearst Government for some time.

TEDDY LINGERED A MOMENT TOO LONG ON CAR TRACKS

Car Came Along and Nipped Off a Paw and the Arbiter of Doggish Destinies Did the Rest

"Teddy" is dead. He went out this morning under a hot sun, on a George street pavement, under the wheels of a passing street car. His right paw lay on the track, severed from the sturdy little body that rested, limp and quivering against the curbstone, opposite the Y. M. C. A. building. For Teddy the frolicsome days of youth are over. As he lay stretched out, the blood dripping from his nose and eyes, he wasn't worrying about his dinner bone, or the coolest place in which to lie under a shade tree, or the chum who awaited for him at home. It is doubtful if even the touch of his master's hand would rouse him from the curious immobility of death, as his legs and ears still quivered in nervous spasms.

Teddy was the nine-months old Boston bull terrier, belonging to Dr. Buchanan, and the arbiter of doggish destinies counted ten over him this morning. In a burst of canine frolicsomeness, he forgot the law that says a moving street car must not deviate from its course, and he lingered just a moment too long, on his way across the shining steel tracks.

REVIEWED THE SERVICE WORK IN THE CHURCH

Summer School Drawing to a Close After a Week of Interesting Study.

CONCERT TONIGHT

Yesterday afternoon, the young people of the Summer School had an opportunity for relaxation. They went down to Gore's Landing, in the "Stoney Lake," with a crowd numbering about 125, and enjoyed a pleasant afternoon and evening, returning to the city about half-past nine o'clock in the evening. A good supper was served at their destination by the Young People's League of Gore's Landing.

This morning, the very successful course of lessons in Bible Study, centreing around the life and work of Jesus, which have been under the direction of Rev. A. E. McCutcheon, were brought to a close with a reference to the entry into Jerusalem, and the final decision in the Garden of Gethsemane, where Jesus accepted the will of His Father in His regard, and took up the Cross that led Him to Calvary. He had finally proclaimed Himself as the Messiah on His entry into Jerusalem, but it was in the darkness of the Garden, where the mind even of His disciples and those closest to Him was not in tune with His own, that His way was definitely opened before Him. He realized that He must go out like a criminal, crucified before men. But on the cross, just as in the room where the alabaster box, when broken, filled the enclosure with its sweetness, so did the spirit of Jesus liberated, fill the whole universe and permeate the whole world. In the entire life of Jesus, the lesson was manifest of acceptance of the will of God in His regard.

Rev. Mr. Campbell's talk this morning, during the Mission Study period, was a brief review of some of the problems of the social worker. He spoke first of the inner group surrounding Jesus during His life, and remarked: "I am afraid they were not a very dependable group. It means much in these days to stand by Jesus Christ, and feel that you are one whom Jesus can depend on. I think we should give less time to talk about creed, or to public discussions, and more to our own programme and the job we are doing."

Regarding urban and suburban evangelism, with reference particularly to the problems of labour, Mr. Campbell asserted that enough attention was not given to such questions. The programme of the church should make an effort to include in its ministrations every class in the community; the man who was outside the church, the poor man, and the moneyed man alike. "I feel that the hope of the world to-day, and the hope of the church, is bound up in that small group who have not lost the vision."

Mr. Campbell related various experiences in social service work, saying that the efforts of the social service organization in the church were directed against the questions of gambling, the narcotic drug evil, labour questions, the drink question, and the great social problem.

He spoke of an occasion in one court of justice where a procession of 84 girls passed in review, all pleading guilty to the same offences agains tthe moral code, and also to the possession of narcotic drugs. To serve the spiritual interests of these people, there was only a Roman Catholic priest, a Salvation Army worker, and Mr. Campbell himself, the social service representative of the Methodist church. The speaker emphasized the need of young women to act as social service workers in congested centres.

Speaking of the child welfare work of the social service department, Mr. Campbell recommended the use of

Passengers Had a Thrilling Session

LONDON, July 7.—(United Press).—Four hundred passengers aboard the Channel Steamer Caesare enroute from Jersey to Southampton were rescued in life boats early after the vessel had struck a rock. The vessel moving in the darkness through a heavy fog had a big hole torn in her side. The captain immeditely turned her back toward Jersey and succeeded in beaching her.

Will Say It With Mowers in Hay Week

Farmers Well Satisfied With Crop Outlook — Grasses Ripe For the Knives.

WILL SA YIT ....

Next week is hay week, and the farmers will say it with mowers and rakes. The calendars of the city people will not show it in their list of special efforts and drives, but the farmers have been getting ready for it these last few days.

Some of them, in fact, started before the movement became general, and already have many of their fields in cocks. For the dwellers in the country it means the fruition of part of their labour, and the beginning of the harvest.

Some of those strange contraptions that pass for motor cars will find an answering rattle for the next week or ten days from the meadows they pass in their wild flights, going nobody seems to know where.

Timothy, red and sweet clover are all ready for cutting, but alsike will be delayed a few more weeks.

The first wheat is usually ripe about the 12th of July, but this season is two weeks belated all along the line, including the ripening of the grain crops.

The fall wheat is exceptionally good, but the spring grains are not much better than average. The rain supply appears to have been unevenly distributed. Sections of Smith are quite dry, and farmers in those parts are hoping for moisture over the week-end. On the other hand, most of Otonabee has had a fair share of the recent rains.

URGE WORK AS THE WAY TO SAVE RACE.

Hawaiians Must Till the Soil to Hold Territory.

HONOLULU, July 7.—Hawaiians have a right to the good things of their islands and "I hope you will not let possession of them slip from your hands," Representative John E. Raker of California, told the Hawaiian Civic Club here recently.

"After two weeks of studying your territory I am wondering what is to become of the Hawaiians," he continued. "A short time ago near the immigration I saw 250 men and women from the Philippines, and I am wondering whether they are to take your places here, for I don't see Hawaiians using and owning the soil.

"There is no need of one closing his or her eyes to the conditions about us. Unless the Hawaiians retain possession of the lands, own and control them and work them, they are not going to run this territory."

The effort that is being made to rehabilitate the Hawaiian race, on the island of Molokai drew praise from Representative Raker.

"If you Hawaiians could develop Molokai it would renew your energy, aspiration and give new hope to your young men," he said. "You have the right to some things which were the heritage of your fathers. We Americans, and you Hawaiians are Americans, are getting farther away from work and labor. Yet, unless education leads youth back to the land, it is vain."

SALE BERRIES A FEATURE OF LOCAL MARKET

Two Boxes For Twenty-Five Cents — The New Fruits Are Beginning to Come In.

OUTSIDE MARKET

The feature of to-day's market was the sale of many boxes of berries, the strawberries brought in from the nearby farms comparing very favourably with those which came fom a distance. There were a good manw carts laden with rhubarb, vegetables and about a dozen with live pigs, in which the sale was not very brisk.

Nine-weeks-old pigs sold for $13 a pair. Rhubarb had a fair sale at three bunches for 10 cents; lettuce was the same price for bunches and 5 cents straight for the head variety.

Strawberries ranged from 15 cents a box to two boxes for 25 cents. Carrots were 10 cents a bunch; radishes 5 cents; beets three bunches for 25 cents and peas two quarts for 25 cents. The fish vendor was busy selling appetizing Lake Ontario trout at 22 cents. Cat fish had a small sale at 10 cents.

In the upstairs section eggs were plentiful at 24 cents; butter ranged from 33 cents to 38 cents, and dressed chickens were 25 cents a pound. Cherries wre slow at 20 cents a box, oranges were as high, at 60 cents a dozen and cabbages were 25 cents each. Little ducks were on sale at $5 for 12.

On the Square

The auctioneer had a hard task disposing of his very assorted stock this morning. He offered a large carpenter's plane boosting it as a substitute for the corn cure offered by another salesman, but without a bidder. A large sized gas stove went for $1 and a canary-kolored bed failed to attract a single bid.

Another gentleman discoursed at length on the anatomy of the human body, working in occasionally a reference to his remedy. A generous offer placarded by this gentleman, who came from Toronto, was to the effect that anyone using the medicine for thirty days meaning sixty doses, and being forced to undergo an operation for appendicitis within three days of completing the course, would receive $25.00.

Some of the bystanders remarked that three days was not very long to test the cure.

EVERY "OINK" IS A DOLLAR, SO HERBERT SMILES

SIOUX CITY, Ia., July 6.—Instead of "Pigs is Pigs," Herbert Willer of Woodbury County, Ia., would say that "Pigs is Wealth."

Starting four years ago with a single pig which cost $10, Herbert has sold hundreds of her grandchildren and great-grandchildren, has a young herd of 230 pigs and has taken over the hog business on his father's farm. All the animals in his herd can trace their descent directly to the first pig, Trixie, a pure bred Hampshire.

Herbert now is 17. He was 13 when he went into business. His story has just been received at the office of the National Committee on Boys' and Girls' Club Work in Chicago.

"My pigs need all the room we can spare on our farm, so dad doesn't raise any," says Herbert. "He and I are in partnership. I pay half the expense except grain raised on the farm. We'll divide the net profits when I'm 21."

Aside from the hog business, Herbert is a champion calf raiser. His short-horn calf won first place at the Interstate Fair here last fall in the competition of boys' club shorthorns. The same calf then was entered in the beef calf competition for all breeds and took third place.

Toronto, June 29th, 1923.

In compliance with the requirements of the Act respecting the survey of lands, chapter 46 of Ontario Statutes 1920, section 18, notice is hereby given that the survey of the road allowance in front of lot 21 between concessions 13 and 14 of the township of Harvey, in the county of Peterborough, has been performed and standard iron monuments have been planted to mark the said road allowance by Ontario Land Surveyor Oliver Smith, of Lindsay, who has filed the returns of the survey in triplictae in this Department.

On the 28th day of August, 1923, at 2 p.m. the returns of this survey will be considered and all parties affected thereby will be heard at the office of the Director of Surveys, Parliament Buildings, Toronto, provided any objection to said survey has been made and the Department is notified, accordingly. In the event of no objections being filed, the survey will be confirmed in accordance with the provisions of the Act above mentioned.

All parties are required to govern themselves accordingly.

SECOND EXPERT SAYS WRITING ON BOX WAS THAT OF THE PRIEST

Chance For Error or Coincidence in Similarity of the Writings is Infinitely Small.

STIFF EXAMINATION.

MONTREAL, July 7.—(Canadian Press.)—The Crown called its second handwriting expert yesterday afternoon in the trial of Rev. Father Delorme, on a charge of having murdered his half-brother, Raoul. This was John G. Lomax, court stenographer, who testified that he had been engaged before the court as a hand-writing expert for the past fifteen yars. Mr. Lomax testified that he had examined admitted specimens of Abbe Delorme's handwriting and also the disputed writing on the parcel and box addressed to Chief of Police Lorrain containing the watch of the victim .His conclusion was that in his opinion the writing on all these documents was by the same person

His opinion was based on individual characteristics of the hand-writing on all these documents present in sufficient quantity to exclude any theory of coincidence. The likelihood of two adult hand-writings presenting the same characteristics had, he added ,been worked out mathematically and the chances of two different writings, even in a small amount of writing, being exactly the same, was something like one in sixty-four trillions.

The greater part of the afternoon hearing was taken up with the cross-examination of Charles Hazen, the first hand-writing expert called by the Crown. He was subjected to a severe questioning by counsel for the defence, dealing with intricate and technical points in connection with comparison of letters in the admitted and disputed documents. He adhered stoutly to his opinion that all the hand-writing was written by the same person.

Government to Act on Letter Calling For Strike.

HALIFAX, N.S., July 7.—(Canadian Press).—"It would be unwise for me to talk before I can state definitely what action the Nova Scotia Government intends to take," said Premier Armstrong yesterday afternoon when questioned as to the Government's re-action to the McLachlan letter calling upon Cape Breton miners to "down tools" in protest against the action of Provincial officials in sending special police to the strike district.

"You can say that the Government is meeting to talk over this matter, and immediately a decision is reached I will be ready to make a statement," the Premier said. The Government was in session yesterday morning, afternoon and evening.

Winnipeg is to have a large office building for the exclusive use of physicians and dentists.

TRADE REPORT SAYS BUSINESS CONDITION GOOD

But Little Change in Trade Conditions Throughout the Dominion During the Past Week.

PLENTY OF WORK.

WINNIPEG July 7.—(Canadian Press).—This week's trade report of the Canadian Creditmen's Trust Association, Limited, states:

HALIFAX,—Wholesale trade conditions practically unchanged. Retail business fair collections fair.

ST. JOHN—Wholesale conditions fairly satisfactory. Very little change in retail conditions, collections fair.

MONTREAL,—General conditons remain about the same with grocers and packers reporting slight improvement. Collections still only fair. Retailers state business good last week and hoping for continuance of good weather but are still conservative in buying.

TORONTO—Wholesale trade fair to good on the whole but still be low normal. Manufacturers report general situation only fair. There is a certain amount of unemployment but plenty of work for unskilled labor and mechanics. Retailers report more business being done. Collection, fair.

WINNIPEG,— Wholesale business practically unchanged. Retail fairly satisfactory. collections fair.

Regina—Wholesale trade fair with brighter prospects. Retail business quiet to fair. Collections slow.

SASKATOON—Wholesale trade fair. Retail trade improving. Collections poor.

CALGARY—Wholesale trade still slow. Retail business slightly improved collections fair.

VANCOUVER — Wholesalers generally report a good volume of business being done. Retail conditions a little more favorable. Collections fair.

SHIPPING PRICES WERE NOT GIVEN

Lake Shipping Companies Have Declined to Quote Rates on Autumn Shipments of Grain.

WINNIPEG, July 7.— (Canadian Press.)—The Winnipeg export grain trade has made strong representation to the Department of Trade and Commerce at Ottawa to the effect that business essential to the movement of the new crop is tied up by the fact that lake shipping companies have declined up to date to quote rates on autumn shipments of grain ,according to a news story published by the Winnipeg Tribune yesterday afternoon. The newspaper states:

"In consequence the grain commission is in conference at Fort William and the Minister of Trade and Commerce has sent a special representative to the lake head to organize under the new act the system of keeping a check upon the season'e rates for shipment of grain between Canadian ports."

It was learned yesterday, the Tribune says, the United States owners are not likely to send their vessels here for Canadian coastal trade. They absolutely refuse to file their tariffs and this practically shuts them out as regards grain business at Canadian points.

WILL PROSECUTE CREW.

LONDON, July 7. —(Canadian Press.)—Upon the arrival of the Leviathan, British shipping interests, it was reported last night, intend to prosecute hundreds of the crew for alleged desertion from British ships.

G.W.V.A. CONVENTION IN FAVOR OF UNITED BODY

Convention at Vancouver Favors Amalgamation of Veteran Organizations Under the Dominion Veterans' Alliance—Officers Were Elected.

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 7. —(Canadian Press.)— The G.W.V.A. convention went on record as favoring amalgamation with only one dissenting voice. Controversial issues raised in Thursday's discussion regarding demands of the Grand Army Veterans as the price of amalgamation were covered in a clause of a resolution passed stating that all were agreed on the necessity for a national policy, yet believed determination of a mutually acceptable policy should not precede but follow amalgamation; all questions of interior economy must be placed in the hands of the dominion amalgamated executive.

The question of future policy, several speakers pointed out, is practically in the hands of the G.W.V.A. as it far outnumbers other veteran bodies in the dominion.

Officers elected were as follows: Dr. W. D. Sharpe, president; Lieut.-Col. James McAra, Regina, first vice-president; (second vice-president to come.)

Representatives on the dominion executive are: Alberta, N. Baker; Saskatchewan, J Cameron, of Saskatoon; Manitoba, P. G. Rumer; Ontario, E. G. McFeit; Quebec, R. J. Costigan; New Brunswick, H. Priestman Nova Scotia, C. W. Whitman; Prince Edward Island, Dr. MacMillan; British Columbia, C. F. Edgett.

Captain W. W. Parry of Toronto, chairman of the provincial command of the Dominion Veterans' Alliance, led the fight for acceptance of the principle of amalgamation. Delegates from provinces where there is no competition from other veteran bodies were all a unit in favor of union, but were absolutely opposed to any suggestion that the amalgamated body should consider policy involving political action. Inclusion of the clause that a policy would follow and not precede amalgamation assured them that the well-known views of the G.W.V.A. would prevail.

The dominion executive of the G. W.V.A. was instructed by the convention to enter into amalgamation with any other ex-service men's organization on the basis outlined. This action, it is felt, paves the way for an amalgamation at an early date. Letters were read from dominion escretary C. G. MacNeil outlining the now historic fight in the Senate for the adoption of legislation given assent by parliament. The convention passed a vote of thanks to Mr. MacNeil and staff for their part in the victory.

RED HOT JULY DAYS HARD ON THE BABY

July—the month of oppressive heat; red hot days and sweltering nights; is extremely hard on little ones. Diarrhoea, dysentery, colic and cholera infantum carry of thousands of precious little lives every summer. The mother must be constantly on her guard to prevent these troubles or if they come on suddenly to fight them. No other medicine is of such aid to mothers during the hot summer as is Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the bowels and stomach, and an occasional dose given to the well child will prevent summer complaint, or if the trouble does come on suddenly will banish it. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Quebec Officials Want Cattle Export Business.

QUEBEC, July 7. — (Canadian Press).—As an indication of the exceptional interest that is being taken in the cattle exporting trade at this port, and the determination on the part of the harbor officials to keep this business here, Louis Fortin, superintendent of traffic for the Quebec Harbor Commission, is leaving town for Toronto. While in Montreal he will meet W. J. Lamb, prominent Toronto cattle man. Both will proceed to Toronto together, where, it is understood, several important conferences will take place within the next few days regarding the cattle trade.

RIVER POPULAR IN LAKEFIELD

With Dressing - Room Facilities It Would Be Valuable Asset.

LAKEFIELD, July 7.—The river is more popular than ever now that summer is really here. The afternoon means a long procession of swimming parties—men, women and boys and girls. It is hardly safe to say how many bathe each day but it is a fact that many indulge in at least two plunges every day. The river is Lakefield's greatest asset and each year it is more and more popular. A proper bath house and a few other things which would be of comparatively small cost would be of the greatest possible advantage. The offer of a building suitable for a bath house was made last year but the offer was not accepted, owing rather to indifference than ingratitude.

WINNIPEG, July 7.—(Canadian Press).—Anticipating a record harvest, plans for bringing 40,000 harvest hands from Eastern Canada to assist the farmers of Western Canada in reaping and threshing their crops will be discussed at a meeting of railway and employment service officials here on July 17. Members of the United Farmers' organizations in the prairie provinces will also attend.

QUIET PREVAILS AMONG MINERS OUT ON STRIKE

Officials of the Company Continue to Operate the Pumps and Other Machinery Without Any Trouble.

LIMITED PROTECTION.

SYDNEY, N.S., July 7. Canadian Press. — James B. McLachlan, secretary of the Nova Scotia district of the United Mine Workers of America, told the Canadian Press last evening that the letter attacking the provincial police and published over his name yesterday had been sent to all the locals within his jurisdiction. Asked as to how it happened that a copy had been forwarded to D. H. McDougall, McLachlan replied that he presumed Dan Livingstone, President of the United Mine Workers' District Executive, wished to inform the vice-president of the British Empire Steel Corporation of what was going on in strike circles. After having ascertained that the McLachlan letter had actually been delivered to the various island locals, and having found it was Dan Livingstone himself who took D. H. McDougall's copy to the company's offices in Glace Bay, the police officials rested on their oars, awaiting further instructions from the Attorney-General's Department at Halifax.

Throughout the strike area the day passed without incident, officials of the company continue to operate the machinery necessary to protect the mines and foodstuffs are being permitted to enter the mines without hindrance. The Commissioner of Provincial Police stated last evening that he was not prepared to ensure protection in the event of the company deciding to relieve the officials at present operating the pumps and fans. The fact that the company has as yet made no attempt to relieve those men in the face of statements by the workers that they would only permit company officials to enter the mines, is taken to mean that the company is endeavoring to mean that the company is endeavoring to guard against the precipitation of the trouble pending anticipated action on the part of John L. Lewis, International President of the United Mine Workers of America.

The company is hopeful that the International President will take summary action against the present district executive. In the event of such action not developing within a reasonable time it is understood the company will issue an appeal to the strikers to return to work under the protection of the military and the police .

At present it is freely admitted that there is not a sufficient body of men here to enforce the peaceful operation of the mines. There are not now more than one thousand troops and police here.

It is estimated by the military that at least two thousand men would be required to handle such a situation, the dispositions being 1,000 men for the Dominion No. 2 district and 500 men each for the Sydney Mines and the New Waterford District.

A visit to the steel plant, where the soldiers were encamped yesterday afternoon showed that up to date not more than 1000 men have arrived on the scene. More are arriving in small detachments almost daily but it will not be until early next week, it is believed, that the force will be brought up to the required strength.

So far as can be observed from a tour of the affected area practically no damage has been occasioned the property of the company to date.

PLENTY CHERRIES IN FRUIT STORES

Fruits of All Kinds Attract Buyers in City — Dairy Products Firm.

Cherries are the latest mode in the fruit stores. In rich heavy reds, light crimsons and pale yellows, they fill baskets and bags. This year's crop is comin galong well, and averaging about two-thirds of last season's yield, which is considered very good, for last year was a heavy cherry year, and the following season is usually a lighter one than we have now. The quality also is good.

The strawberry season is supposed to reach its climax this week. Dr. Johnson's favorite berry has been bearing up well this year. Dealers anticipate a rise in price shortly, and say the price may go to twenty cents. Just now, you can get them for eighteen, or seventeen, or fifteen cents a box, or even two for a quarter. It is claimed that the better berry makes better preserves, and requires less sugar to give it that much-prized flavor for cold winter usage.

Plums are visible in small quantities purples and red and streaked yellow, and there is the rearguard of the pineapple season still in evidence.

Tomatoes from Canadian hothouses are fairly plentiful, at a lowering price. Gooseberries and green peas from local gardens are jade-colored notes in the many-colored hues of the fruit stands. Swiss chard, or sea kale, that looks like bleached rhubarb, is another new arrival.

Another green, fresh arrival is the fragrant mint, with its atmosphere of spring lamb, and a fleeting reminiscence to older folk of the delicious mint juleps of another period.

Dairy products are comparatively firm, and hogs have evidently reached the limit of their depression. The dead variety of porker hasn't fluctuated to any extent for some time, but his livelier brother on the hoof has been having his ups and downs, principally downs, during the last month.

LACK OF PARTNERSHIP AMONG COUNTRIES OF THE EMPIRE IS SEEN

Premier Massey of New Zealand Defines the Position of the Various Dominions.

CLOSER TOUCH.

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, July 7.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—"There is one aspect of the Imperial problem which has rarely been discussed," Premier W. F. Massey told Parliament yesterday. "We are partners of the Empire, but we have never fully assumed the privileges of the partnership. I am not blaming the British Government, who are as anxious to meet us as we are to meet them. We have not yet got to the stage when Dominion representatives are able to join representatives of the British Government in making communications to the Sovereign .We should have exactly the same right as the Ministers who represent the British Government, and be in a position to approach the Sovereign."

Reviewing the political situation throughout the Empire, Premier Massey referred to the huge war loan debt owing Great Britain by her allies. "Britain," he said, "has stood up to her financial responsibilities like no other country and for many reasons we should be proud of her." He did not know, he said, whether the Imperial Conference would discuss trade with Russia. The British Government, he stated, might consider that it was their business. However, he saw no objection to trade between New Zealand and Russia any more than with Germany.

Premier Massey pointed out that it had been said that each part of the Empire, in the event of war, should have the right to stand out, but that the Dominions would still remain in the eyes of the enemy a part of the Empire and its ships would be sunk and its trade harassed just the same. He held that every dominion had a perfect right to make a commercial treaty but that it must not make a treaty concerning boundaries or any question affecting the Empire, without the Sovereign being consulted and his consent obtained.

THE CHEMONG SPEEDWAY.

Early in the season The Examiner called attention to the necessity of careful driving on the Chemong Road, along which strip of highway in other years there has been more speeding and reckless handling of cars than on any six miles of road in the Province.

For some time afterwards there were few complaints of wild driving on this road, but recently the conditions of other years have been repeated to such an extent that many people, afraid to risk their lives in travelling at night on the road between Chemong Park and the city, have returned via Lakefield, going many miles out of their way to ensure safety.

The authorities have decided that it is time to put an end to this condition of affairs, and the reckless drivers who persist in endeavouring to set up new records for the Chemong run, regardless of the menace to the safety of everybody along the road, are likely to find themselves considerably out of pocket.

There is no reason, except sheer disregard of the rudimenetary principles of courtesy and prudence, for turning this much travelled highway into a speedway, and the offenders might as well realise that if their own common sense does not compel them to drive with the safety of others in mind, there is machinery devised by the law to deal with such cases, and that it will inevitably be called upon.

The wild driving must stop before somebody is killed.

MR. DRURY IS NEEDED.

The indications are that Mr. Drury will continue as the leader of the U.F.O. forces in the Legislature, and that a seat will be found for him.

Even political enemies of the U.F.O. movement should be glad to learn that the Premier who is just about to hand over the reins of Government is to carry on as leader of the official Opposition.

Mr. Drury was undoubtedly the strongest man in the U.F.O. Government, and there is need of his ability and debating power in the Legislature.

It is to the interests of the Province that there should be a virile, fighting Opposition in the House, for constructive criticism will help to keep the Government speeded up, and will ensure better administration than would be likely to be forthcoming were the Opposition such only in name.

The new Government will have a majority of 40, a monopoly of power that might quite easily lead the administration to be lax, careless, and indifferent.

It will be a good thing for the Government itself and for this Province to have a fighting Opposition keeping check upon its work, and there is no doubting the fact that the U.F.O. group, with Mr. Drury at its head, would be able to supply much of what is needed.

The Cincinnatus who left his farm at Crown Hill to assume control of a Farmers' Government is needed in the Legislature, and his leadership is necessary to develop the U.F.O. Party into an effective Opposition.

NO POLITICS FOR THE G.W.V.A.

The Great War Veterans, in their convention at Vancouver, have once more administered a knock-out blow to the proposal that the ex-service men should take political action with a view to attaining their aims.

The G.W.V.A. is flatly opposed to amalgamation with the other organisations of veterans if political activity is insisted upon as one of the conditions.

The Association is on sound ground in this stand.

Not only is there no place in politics for a returned soldiers' party, but it is certain that the moment the veterans' organisations decided to enter political life, the end of their movement would be in sight.

Many of the farmers are beginning to realise that the entrance of their organisation into politics was a mistake, that it has interfered with the work for which they originally banded themselves together, and it has caused the loss of many good members.

The ex-service men would find themselves in an even worse plight, for their membership would be disrupted and they could have no possible hope of a political success large enough to compensate them for the contention that would be caused in their ranks.

There is much work for such associations to do, many grievances that have yet to be adjusted, but the aims and ideals of the Veterans' Association cannot be attained in political action.

The delegates to the Vancouver convention have shown good judgment and common sense in definitely blocking the proposal.

ENOUGH OF FADS: FERGUSON'S OPPORTUNITY.

Mr. Howard Ferguson enters upon his task of governing Ontario with great responsibilities and opportunities. For four years this Province has been ruled with incomprehensible disregard for realities. The problem of debt, with its crippling burden of taxation, and its imperative challenge to retrenchment, went utterly unheeded. A people struggling to throw off the economic legacy of the war, and who in that struggle had turned hopefully toward a new political orientation, saw the disciples of economy change almost over-night into authors of profligate extravagance. With an abandon and a recklessness unrivalled by predecessors, the Farmer Government revelled in a squandermania that, if unchecked, threatened to involve Ontario into a morass of financial commitments the end of which no one could foresee.

The mania for social legislation—the besetting sin of all so-called progressive groups—the tendency to indulge fads, to discourage individualism, to trifle with collectivism, with its costly handmaid, bureaucracy—all this combined to saddle our people with unbearable taxation, and to produce the electoral revolution which rolled over this Province on Monday.

Today Ontario looks to Mr. Ferguson for a better deal. It is weary of half-baked reformers and Utopian dreams. It is sick and tired of preachers of class-consciousness and of occupational politics, as well as of agitators with their vague incantations about the "new social order" and other fantastic things. It is in revolt against administration which disregards realities, the traditional temper, and the requirements of its people.

What it wants is efficiency, honesty, economy and retrenchment. It wants its Government, whether Conservative or Liberal, to cut its financial coat according to its financial cloth. It wants this Province so administered that expenditure will be brought within the orbit of revenue. In a word, it wants its Government to apply to the affairs of Ontario the ordinary principles of sane economy with which individuals govern their own businesses.

The best thing to hope for is that Mr. Ferguson's Government—armed with a strong majority in the Legislature—will be conservative in policy as well as in name; that it will shun extremes, preserve proportion and balance, avoid fads and rash experiments, and get back to sanity and reality in financial affairs. In a word, that it will revive the policy of blunt, common-sense honesty which distinguished the regime of James Pliny Whitney.

The responsibility of Mr. Ferguson is, indeed, great. He is as much in need of our prayers as of our congratulations. But if he can achieve anything toward restoration of tranquil, efficient and non-extravagant government, a people which has had its lesson with the apostles of the Millennium, will give him ungrudgingly of both.—Ottawa Journal.

CANADA'S GROWTH.

Political development, achieved without violence or friction, mainly by conferences of representative men and public discussion, does not suggest fireworks, but it is a subject for serious reflection, for recalling the past and speculating about the future. We must give credit not only to Canadian statesmen but to the people for the political capacity, moderation and good sense which allowed very important changes to be made and immense progress to be achieved without convulsion and without disturbing the homely everyday activities by which national development is promoted.

There has not been since 1867 any political change as well marked and important as the establishment of responsible government and Confederation, and hence some observers have fallen into the error of supposing that there has been no change in national status. The observation is true, if at all, only in a technical sense. National growth is not a matter merely of the law and the Constitution. A child of two years and a stalwart athlete of twenty are both infants in the eyes of the law, but there is an immense difference in their powers, in their freedom of action and in their responsibilities. Since 1871 the population of Canada has grown from 3,689,287 to 8,788,483. The Prairie Provinces, which half a century ago were negligible as to population and agricultural production, now contain nearly two million people, and have become one of the granaries of the world. The acreage of wheat throughout Canada has increased from 1,646,781 to 23,261,224. Mineral production was nearly seventeen times as valuable in 1921 as in 1881. The value of manufactures has grown from $221,617,773 to nearly a billion and a quarter. There were 2,695 miles of railway in 1871, and 39,841 miles in 1921. External trade has increased from less than 142 millions to nearly 1,800 millions. Statistics of banking, insurance and all kinds of business tell a similar story.

These figures are conclusive as to the amazing progress of the country in production, transportation, commerce and all other incidents of material development. They have to do with the physical body of the nation. Such things as education, literature, religion, national sentiment, cannot be measured in figures, but all the evidences point to satisfactory progress. Problems of government, Federal, Provincial and municipal, have been solved with little friction. Law and order are well maintained. Liberal provision is made for education. The danger created by the war of 1914-18 was met by the enrolment of half a million men, whose achievements are sources of pride and gratitude for the people of Canada. If a country having such a record is not a nation, while 25 of the European countries are so described, it can only be said that the title has very little significance.

A movement for a more active observance of the anniversary is being made by representatives of the Rotary Clubs and other organizations, and a committee will be at work during the next twelve months. It is likely that substantial results will be achieved. In the meantime we need not be troubled by a quietness that is the result of confidence rather than of indifference. —The Globe.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

J. J. Morrison was apparently satisfied to see the Farmer forces shattered to prove his argument.

The Arizona members of the American Legion passed a resolution regretting the fact that Gibbons failed "to knock Dempsey's block off." That motion would pass almost unanimously everywhere.

A lot of thirsty people in British Columbia will fail to see any reason why the Senate should be abolished.

One writer says Dempsey won by brute strength. Surely he didn't expect the champion to put over a victory by moral suasion.

There is no accounting for tastes. Here is a man who came 4,500 miles to see Omemee.

The fact that the Ku Klux Klan held a "Konclave" at Niagara Falls merely proves that all kinds of people visit the Cataract City.

That Winnipeg joker who applied a lighted match to his friend's whiskers was apparently trying out a new form of the beaver game.

Underwriters Endorse Chevrolet

Now rated as Class "A" Insurance Risk

Less than a dozen motor cars—all much higher in price—have similar insurance rating, which is the lowest possible.

The fundamentally sound construction of Chevrolet Superior Models has again been proved by the fact that the Underwriters have given to Chevrolet, Class "A" Insurance Rating. This means that the Chevrolet owner gets the lowest possible rate of insurance, which means a saving of from 30 to 40%.

Less than a dozen cars are rated as Class "A" insurance risks, and these cars are all much higher in price.

This new ruling is further evidence of the attention to detail which our engineers have given to the production of the Chevrolet Car, and which is reflected in the increasing popularity of Chevrolet.

Chevrolet is the lowest-priced, fully-equipped car in the world and the lowest in cost of operation.

Women Tell Each Other How They Were Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Woodbridge, Ont.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles. I would have headaches, backaches, pains between my shoulders and under my shoulder-blades and dragging down feelings on each side. I was sometimes unable to do my work and felt very badly. My mother-in-law told me about the Vegetable Compound and I got some right away. It has done me more good than any other medicine I ever took and I recommend it to my neighbors. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial if you think it will help some poor sufferer."—Mrs. EDGAR SIMMONS, R. R. 2, Woodbridge, Ont.

REV. J. B. COLLINS' FIRST HIGH MASS

Well-Known in Peterboro, Newly Ordained Priest Officiated in Lindsay.

Sunday morning at 10.30 o'clock, Rev. John B. Collins, C.S.S.R., son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Collins, No. 11 Mill street, celebrated his first solemn high mass. The reverend gentleman was ordained to the priesthood at Mount St. Alphonsus, Esopus, New York, on June 17th, by His Grace, the Most Rev. P. J. Hayes, D.D., Archbishop of New York, and was accorded the privilege of saying his first high mass in his home town.

A very large congregation was present on Sunday. Rev. Father Collins was assisted by Rev. Father John Spratt, of Assumption College, Sandwich, as deacon, and Rev. Basil Merkle, of St. Augustine Seminary, Toronto, sub-deacon.

The other clergy present were Very Rev. Dean Whibbs, Rev. Father McAuley, Ennismore; Rev. Father Galvin, Downeyville, and Rev. Father Guiry.

The sermon preached by Rev. Father McLaughlin, C.S.S.R., was an eloquent and impressive one. At the conclusion of the mass the entire congregation approached the altar rail and received the young priest's blessing.

At the dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Collins, served by Caterer Coatsworth, the visiting clergy, with relatives of the young priest, as well as a number of close friends, attended. Rev. Father Galvin of Downeyville was toastmaster, and a number of the clergy as well as Mr. L. V. O'Connor gave addresses. Rev. Father Collins' godfather, Mr. D. Fitzpatrick, a venerable and highly respected resident of Ops, also spoke.

In the afternoon a reception was held at the family residence, where hundreds of the young priest's friends called and extended congratulations to both the reverend gentleman and his parents.

Rev. Father Collins was born in Ops Township. He attended the Lindsay Collegiate Institute and later St. Michael's College, Toronto and the Redemptorist Novitiate. The late Rev. Father Timothy Collins of Peterborough diocese, and the late Rev. Father John Collins, who was a member of the Basilian Order, were uncles of Rev. Father John B. Collins, C.S.S.R.

Among the relatives and friends from a distance present at the mass were: Misses Alma, Rena and Minnie Collins, Mr. and Mrs. Merkle, Mrs. Henry Matthews and two daughters, Toronto; Miss Catherine Best, Chicago, cousin of Rev. Father Collins; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Young and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Best and daughter, Marion; Leo Wade and W. Prendible. Misses O'Brien and Anglesey, Peterborough; Miss Margaret Collins, Ottawa; Mrs. (Dr.) Colwell, Pennsylvania, and two daughters; Mrs. O'Sullivan, Campbellford, and the Misses McGuire, Toronto.—Lindsay Post.

Wives and Husbands Share Mutual Benefit

For the Tranquil Autumn of Life

HAPPINESS, love, affection and the precious things of life cannot be insured. But insurance helps to protect these priceless things from the wear and tear of worry and anxiety.

Some sensitive women shrink from the idea of life insurance. It suggests dire possibilities which they cannot face. They do not realize that insurance nowadays is not necessarily concerned with death, "Insure to live."

The Mutual Life of Canada issues policies in the benefits of which husband and wife may both share as beneficiaries. A husband and wife may take out a Mutual policy payable in five, ten, fifteen, twenty, or more years. At the end of the period named in the policy, if both are living, its face value will be paid in cash, together with any available surplus. This form of policy is called a Profit-participating Joint Endowment. Of course, if death did intervene, the survivor, whether wife or husband, would receive the amount due from the company.

There are other endowment policies issued by the Mutual Life of Canada in which you as a wife would be interested, and in the benefits of which both you and your husband would share. Talk it over with him and encourage him to make this wise provision for your future. We will gladly send you full information about Mutual Life insurance, and our different endowment policies.

Write our head office now, while the matter is in your mind.

HIGH OFFICERS UNITED MINERS WERE ARRESTED

Charged With Unlawfully Publishing False Tales to Injury of Provincial Police.

CIRCULAR LETTER

SYDNEY N.S. July 7.—(Canadian Press).—Dan Livingstone, president and Jas. B. McClachan. secretary of United Mine Workers of America, District 26, were arrested at strike headquarters, Glace Bay, last night following receipts of following telegram from Hon. W. J. O'Hearn Attorney General of Nova Scotia

"J. B. McCormick Chief of Police Sydney; Warrants have been issued by M. B. Archibald, magistrate for City of Halifax, charging Jas. B. McClachan and Daniel Livingstone with unlawfully publishing false tales whereby injury or mischief was likely to be occasioned to public interest namely government and provincial police of Nova Scotia, contrary to section 136 of code.

"Please arrest immediately if possible and wire. Chief Inspector Kennedy will arrive in morning with warrants. Seek co-operation of provincial police if necessary."

Secretary McClachlan told Canadian Press last evening that letter attacking Provincial Police and publish ed over his signature had been sent to all locals within his jurisdiction.

Commissioner of Provincial Police stated that he was not prepared to ensure protection in event of Company deciding to relieve officials at present operating pumps and fans. Fact that company has as yet made no attempt to relieve these men in face of statements by workers that they would only permit company officials to enter mines. is taken to mean that company is endeavoring to guard again precipitation of trouble pending anticipated action on part of John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers of America.

The arrests were effected by Chief of Police McCormick, Deputy Chief Anthony and Commissioner of Provincial Police McDonald in the Mine Workers' headquarters at about 10.30. As the Chief entered the hall Livingstone advanced to meet him, holding out his hand. Both U. M. W. officials were completed taken back at the dramatic turn of events, but merely requested that they be allowed to return to their office in order to prepare for their departure. This was granted, and, without demonstration of any kind, they passed out through the throng of striking coal miners assembled in the outer office, went to their home to pack their belongings, and then to Sydney jail in automobiles.

SPARK STILL HOLDS ON.

Spark transmitters are still holding out for dear life against the invasion of the more efficient C. W. sets. At present about 10 or 11 per cent of the amateur transmitting sets are still spark. But this percentage is waning gradually.

CAVAN LADIES' AID HAD JULY MEETING

George Rorke Seriously Ill—Social and Personal News.

CAVAN, July 7.—The July meeting of the Cavan Ladies' Aid was held at the home of Mrs. D. Hunter on Thursday afternoon. There were sixteen ladies present.

An afternoon tae was planned for, to be held at the home of Mrs. Jas. Douglas, in the near future. The date is not yet set.

The present, Mrs. R. Matchett, conducted the meeting. Lunch was served by Miss Francis Hunter and a very social time spent.

Mrs. Rorke and Mrs. Cross were not at the meeting, on account of the critical condition of Mrs. Rorke's son George, who is in Dr. Turner's hospital undergoing an operation for appendicitis He has not been feeling well, at times, for some time. On Wednesday he went to work, but an attack of pain forced him to come home about ten a.m His father took him to Millbrook to see Dr. Turner. The pain had become so acute that it was thought better for him to enter Dr. Turner's private hospital and be prepared for an operation. Dr. Cameron of Peterborough and Dr. Turner operated about six p.m. So far he is doing nicely. The doctors said it was a very serious case, as another's delay would have been fatal.

Mrs. Margaret Matchett is at the home of her mother, Mrs. D. Hunter, for the vacation. She has been residing with her daughter in Toronto during the school year.

Mr. Joshua Swain and Mrs. D. Hunter are visiting the latter's daughter at Valentia.

Mrs. Perry of Peterborough, is visiting Cavan friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Melville Staples, of Orono ,were in Cavan last week. Mr. Staples was purchasing cattle to stock his farm.

Miss Wellstead, sister of Mrs. (Rev.) W. H. Clarke, who has lately been making her home with an aunt in Lindsay, was married recently. Her name is now Mrs. Williams.

GREEKS REPULSED FIGHTING TURKS

SOFIA, July 7. — (Canadian Press).—A report received last night from Constantinople says that the Greeks attempted to land a regiment at Kara Burun, near the Dardanelles, and that the Turks repulsed them after severe fighting. There were many casualties on both sides, the report says.

In the fighting a Turkish torpedo boat sank a Greek ship, according to a Constantinople report, and many were drowned.

RECEIVING, IN EUROPE.

Few residents of Germany can afford to own a receiving set, because it costs about $120 for a license. In France, the cost is 10 francs, and the radio fan has to promise to keep secret all intercepted messages and to disconnect his set whenever the government advises it.

CAVAN WILL MISS PASTOR AND WIFE

Rev. and Mrs. Rorke Receive Gifts on Eve of Departure.

CAVAN, July 7.—On Tuesday evening, July 3, the members, numbering sixteen, of the "teen age girls' class", of Cavan Methodist Sunday School met at the parsonage, also the Tuxis Boys numbering nine. Mrs. Rorke had for three years been a faithful, efficient teacher of the Girls' class. As she and Mr. Rorke will soon move from Cavan Circuit, the boys and girls met to spend an evening with them and in tangible form express their regret at their departure.

Miss Muriel Matchett read the following address to Mrs. Rorke and Miss Muriel Newton presented a small table and Miss Lola Carley a vase, on behalf of the girls

"Dear Mrs. Rorke:

It is with feeling of deep regret that we learn that you are about to leave us, your Sunday school class, and take up your residence in another town, and we desire before you go to spend one more good evening together.

For about three years you have been our teacher and in that time have endeared yourself to us by your kindly words and actions as teacher and friend in a way that shall never be forgotten. We look back to times where we now see we could have paid better attention to your kindly words of advice and precepts but youth is giddy and time alone will ripen the thoughts and ideas implanted, and we already realize this as we think you are about to leave us. We wish, however, to prove our affection and kind thought toward you, by presenting you with this table, not that its value represents our estimation of you but simply that you may be reminded of the girls at Cavan when you are away from us.

(Signed on behalf of the class).

Elinor Pritchard.

Viola McBride."

Clifford Elliott, on behalf of the Tuxis Boys, read an address to Mr. Rorke and presented him with an envelope containing ten dollars.

A pleasant evening was spent. Mrs. Rorke exhibited to her young guests many souvenirs and curios brought by Mr. Rorke from Egypt and the Holy Land. Also many interesting articles sent by her daughter from Japan.

Community singing was enjoyed led by Miss Lola Carley on the piano

Mr. and Mrs. Rorke made appropriate replies to the addresses and assured the young people that they would prize their gifts as memoirs of the pleasant years spent in Cavan Circuit.

Mr. and Mrs. Rorke will very soon move to Peterboro. Next Sunday evening will be Mr. Rorke's last service at present on Cavan Circuit. Rev. Mr. Richards, the new pastor is expected to be here for the next Sunday.

IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

MILLBROOK, July 7.— One of the most familiar figures in the community life of Millbrook and the vicinity was removed by death an Tuesday of this week when the late Mr. William Lang, after an illness extending over several months, passed from the scene of his pilgrim age here into the life beyond. Deceased was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Lang, and was born in Cavan township 65 years ago.For the past 40 years he has resided in Millbrook and took an active interest in the welfare of the village. Twenty five years ago he sold the general store which he had successfully conducted for some time, and since then along with other lines of business he did a good deal in real estate here, building and remodelling several of the residences in the village which are now amongst its most comfortable homes..

The late Mr. Lang was an Anglican in religion, strongly Conservative in his political affiliations and a faithful member of the Orange order, seldom, if ever, missing the annual church parade with his lodge on the Sunday preceding the 12th, nor the Orange walk whenever the anniversary of that occasion was celebrated. He was also connected with the Canadian Order of Foresters. He was one of a family of ten children, of whom four daughters, Mrs. S. Carveth, Mrs. Arthur Armstrong, Mrs. William Bateson and Mr. Wm. Tucker, and one son, John, predeceased him.

The funeral which was under the auspices of L.O.L. No. 79, was one of the largest ever seen in this vicinity. Rev. Canon Allen had charge of the church service, Rev. Joseph Wilks leading in prayer. Brothers James Paul and Wilbert Lunn were directors of ceremonies for the Orange order at the house, the service at the graveside being conducted by Bro. J. L. Byam,W.M. Bro. W. T. A. Deyell, Chaplain, and Rev. Bro. R. M. Paterson, Grand Chaplain of Ontario East. About 60 members of the Order walked in the funeral cortege, their presence being a mute testimony to the affection and respect felt for the deceased by the Lodge with which he had been so long connected.

The pall-bearers, all nephews of the deceased, also wore the Orange regalia, and were Messrs. H. Lang, T. Armstrong, T. Bristow, B. Bristow Leslie Bristow and J. Lang, the two latter of Peterboro.

The immediate surviving relatives are two brothers, Councillors T. J. Lang, Millbrook, and Frank Lang, of Basswood, Man., the latter arriving in time to attend his brother's funeral; and two sisters, Mrs. Alex. Bristow, Cavan, and Mrs. M. Binning of Watertown, N.Y. Interment took place in the family burial plot at St. Paul's cemetery, Fourth Line, Cavan.

Strawberry Festival.

The annual strawberry festival, under the auspices of the Presbyterian Church, Centreville, was held on Thursday evening, the rain which had threatened all afternoon fortunately keeping off until the programme was more than half completed. There was a very large attendance, the long line of motors parked on both sides of the road for some distance from the grounds where the gathering was held showing the popularity of this annual event. Nearly $300 was taken in at the gate alone, the receipts from the booth, which offered a tempting array of home-made candy, along with the usual ice cream cones, etc., being also unusually satisfactory.

The tables, out in the open, were well filled with constant arrivals for three hours, or more, the excellent tea served fully sustaining the reputation of the Centreville ladies for an abundant and toothsome hospitality.

Rev. A. H. McConnachie was the chairman for the occasion, giving a few interesting facts regarding the famous debate on Church Union at the recent General Assembly at Port Arthur, which he was previleged to attend, and noting the passing of denominational differences in recent years. All have done good work, and have been used of God for the extension of His kingdom. Any changes which may now come should be in the spirit of "let brotherly love continue."

The Millbrook orchestra, under the leadership of Mr. G. A. Duncan, proved very popular with the audience, an encore being demanded for every selection played. Miss May Duncan was the efficient accompanist, the members, besides the leader, including Messrs. G. E. Burnham, J. Isbister, J. L. and Billie Byam, H. Janes, F. Rowe and N. Johnston.

Mrs. Jas. Lang's reading, "Carry On," was an enjoyable number, and the "Wee Bit o' Scotch," provided by Messrs. J. Smith and R. Hendry, with M. Unitt as accompanist, was repeatedly encored. The rain, however, caused a scattering of the listeners after the latter trio had given their first number, and made it impossible for the entire programme to be carried out. Rev. G. S. Gervan made a brief address mid-way on the programme, and met with his usual cordial recention.

Amongst those from Millbrook who motored over were: Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Grassett, Mrs. Whitten, Mr. and Mrs. P. Stinson, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Burnham, Mr. and Mrs. P. I. Beatley, Mrs. J. R. Eakins, Mrs. Whyte, Mr. and Mrs. H. Argue, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Birchard, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Bradley, Mrs. F. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Armstrong, Miss M. E. Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. J. Pritchard, Mr. anid Mrs. and Miss May Byam, Mrs. J. E. Allen, Miss E. Elson, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. and Miss Kathleen Thorndyke, Mrs. C. McNeil, Misses Loretta and Charlotte Barnard, Rev. G. S. and Mrs. Gervan, Mr. and Mrs. O. Williamson, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Earle, Miss Syer, Mr. and Mrs. O. Larmer, Mr. and Mrs. N. I. Larmer, Mr. and Mrs. T. Douglas, Miss K. Lancashire, Misses Alberta and Anna Russell, Messrs. F. N. Alcorn, W. W. Kennedy, A. Fallis and many others.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Garden Party Held by Tabernacle Church—Personal Mention.

CAMPBELLFORD, July 7—The Garden party held on Thursday evening July 5th on the spacious lawn of Mr. Willis Stephens, under the auspices of Tabernacle Church, English Line was a grand success.

Although the weather was somewhat threatening, one of the largest crowds, ever assembled at an English Line Garden Party was in attendance attracted no doubt by past memories of previous garden parties under the same auspices and the reputation the ladies have established for their abundance of good things to eat. The Northumberland band, too under the capable leadership of Mr. R. T. Cowell, contributed in no small measure to the evenings success by their musical numbers. Mr. A. P. Hind also kindly loaned his radio outfit for the evening and some good stuff was picked up from various broadcasting stations.

The booths containing fancy work, fish pond, ice cream and soft drinks were doing a flourishing business when a shower of rain came up and sent all scurrying for shelter. many going home.

The proceeds of the evening while not yet completed were most gratifying to all in charge, the gate receipts alone being about $160.00.

NEWS OMEMEE AND DISTRICT

Horse Ran Away and Gave Driver a Bad Scare —Personal Mention.

OMEMEE, July 7. — A serious accident was narrowly averted on Tuesday afternoon, while Misses Genevieve Sandy and Katie Weir were going over the wooden bridge by the mill The blind horse which they were driving became frightened by the blowing off of the steam roller being operated on the pavement near the iron bridge, and started to run. Before it had gone far, it came in contact with a waggon, and not having room to pass, the wheel of the buggy caught a post. The horse made a quick jump, thus breaking away from the harness, and landed over the wooden railing into the water. Genevieve was thrown out, but apart from a bad scare, neither occupant received any injuries, being able to resume the journey home after repairs had been made.

A Social Time.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church was held at the home of Mrs. T. J. Parsons on Thursday afternoon, and took the form of a picnic. After a short programme, a most enjoyable social hour was spent on the lawn, where abundance of sandwiches, cakes, etc., were in evidence, and all did justice to the ample supply.

Made Three Quilts.

The annual quilting of the W.M.S. of the Presbyterian Church was held on Wednesday afternoon. There was only a small attendance, but three quilts were finished for the bale to be packed in August.

Held a Picnic.

On Wednesday afternoon, the choir of the Methodist Church, numbering about twenty-one, held a picnic at Mr. Fergus Porter's, Manvers. Mr. Stanley Rusk conveyed the merry bunch in his truck to and from the grounds, where they all report a most enjoyable afternoon.

DELAY ENFORCEMENT OF NEW LEGISLATION

TORONTO, July 7 (Canadian Press). — So far as the Provincial authorities are concerned, no steps will be taken to enforce the amendment to the Criminal Code prohibiting the importation of "racing form" news until the Attorney-General's Department secures and examines a copy of the amendment, which became law on Saturday, 30th June.

The pronouncement by the Attorney-General of his opinion on the possible nullification of the Ontario Anti-Handbook Bill by the action of two, owing to the absence of Lieutenant-Governor Cockshutt from the city, the following is given as a likely list:

Prime Minister, Hon. George Howard Ferguson. Attorney General, William Folger Nickle, Kingston. Provincial Treasurer, Lieut.-Col. W. H. Price, Parkdale. Minister of Public Works and Highways, Hon. G. S. Henry, East York. Minister of Mines, Charles McCrea, Sudbury. Minister of Lands and Forests, James Lyons, Sault Ste. Marie. Minister of Labor and Health, Dr. Forbes Godfrey, West York. Minister of Agriculture, John S. Martin, South Norfolk. Minister without portfolio, Hon. Thomas Crawford, North-west Toronto. Most of the above have been announced before as probabilities. One newcomer in the list is James Lyons, of the Soo.

The portfolios of Provincial Secretary or Minister of Education are said to be still open. It is stated that John R. Cooke, North Hastings, as well as Sir Adam Beck, will be Government's representative on Provincial Hydro-Electric Commission.

Mark of Quality

Does a Quality Tire Pay the Light Car Owner?

A tire, built the Firestone way, is one of the best investments the owner of a light car can make. Such a tire gives the greatest mileage for the least cost, protects your car, cuts gasoline consumption and gives you the easy riding qualities of a heavier vehicle.

Firestone Cords are noted for a resilience that cushions driver and mechanism from road shocks and roughness. This cushion effect is noticeable at the end of a few thousand miles of driving; your motor performs better—there are fewer annoying squeaks or rattles.

The powerful gripping angles of the Firestone tread take a sure certain hold on any road surface. They give maximum safety. There is no slipping and wastage, of power—Firestone Cords save gas.

The blending and tempering of rubber, air bag curing and other special Firestone methods followed in Canada's most modern tire plant multiply mileage to a degree that make Firestone Cords the final word in tire economy.

The ever-increasing number of Firestone Cords on the road, the ever-increasing number of cars coming from the manufacturer Firestone equipped is evidence how Firestone quality has impressed the car owner who demands the ultimate in mileage, safety and comfort.

Firestone Tubes give the same reliable, economical service. They are steam-welded, a Firestone process that prevents air leakage and flat tires because even extreme heat won't break down the splice. Ask your dealer.

INVESTIGATED STORE FIRE AT LAKEFIELD

Was Discovered Early on Sunday Morning, June 10th, in the Sanitary Meat Market of Which John S. Patterson, of Peterboro, Was the Proprietor.

STOCK DESTROYED.

(Special to the Examiner)

LAKEFIELD, July 7.—The fire that was discovered in the Sanitary Meat Market on Queen street, opposite the Post Office at two o'clock in the morning of Sunday June 10th was the subject of an investigation held in the Council Chamber yesterday by Provincial Fire Marshal E. P. Heaton.

No comment or opinion was expressed by the presiding commissioner at the conclusion of the enquiry, but several witnesses deposed their belief that the fire had started in the cellar of the store.

Crown Attorney Hatton of Peterboro assisted Fire Marshall Heaton in the examination of witnesses and Mr. V. J. McElderry of Peterboro represented the proprietor of the store, M. John S. Patterson of Peterboro. Deputy Fire Marshal R. J. Marsh of Toronto who had made a preliminary survey of the circumstances was also present.

It was adduced in the evidence that the building was owned by Mr. W. W. Leonard of Lakefield and the stock and fixtures by Mr. Patterson who had taken over the meat and grocery business from Deck and Doughty, two ex-service men, last September. Mr. Harry Wickson of Toronto, was manager of the business for a while last fall, but owing to illness had to relinquish the position from November until June 1st of this year when he resumed his duties and was engaged with Mr. Patterson up to the time of the fire.

The insurance on the stock and fixtures owned by Mr. Patterson was $1500. Mr. Leonard in his evidence recalled that he had advised Mr. A. C. Carveth, local agent of the Dominion Fire Insurance Company, that the amount of this policy was in excess of the value of the goods insured.

Full of Smoke

The fire was discovered by W. Murduff and J. R. Hill. Fire Chief Wilbert Webster said he broke in the back door of the store, but finding no flames there he ran around to the front. Smoke was pouring out of the open transom. The place was full of smoke from a fire that had burned a hole in the floor. About seventy gallons of chemicals were used, and the firemen had extinguished the blaze in about ten minutes.

Chief Webster said he made a cursory examination of the premises and found that the electric wiring was not at fault. He then went down cellar, and after looking over that part beneath the hole that had been burned in the floor he went out and obtained two witnessed Mr. Leonard the owner of the property and Chief Constable R. J. Webster.

Claims Adjustor

Arthur A. Begg, claims adjuster for the Dominion Fire Insurance Company, testified that he found the store locked when he came to Lakefield on June 12th Deputy Fire Marshal Moore accompanied him. Fire Chief Webster let them into the building. From his observations, Mr. Begg concluded that the fire had started in the cellar

Mr. Begg authorized Allan Clarke of the Porter Grocery Company to make an estimate of the extent of the damage to the stock. Mr. Clark had found that the entire contents were practically destroyed by the heat and smoke.

Mr. Patterson and Mr. Wickson testified that they had both left the store at 11.30 on Saturday night. Mr. Patterscon motored to Peterboro and was informed of the fire by telephone on Sunday morning. Mr. Wickson went to his boarding house here. Neither witness could offer any explanation of the cause of the fire. A young man who had come in to use the telephone about 11.30 had been smoking, and it was suggested as a possibility that he might have inadvertently dropped his cigarette in the store. Mr. Patterson had not been smoking, but during the evening Mr. Wickson had smoked a cigar.

Other witnesses were called with respect to the value of the stock and other minor features of the business and premises, but nothing definite was brought out as to the cause of the fire.

Getting Too Fat? Try This---Reduce

People who don't grow too fat are the fortunate exception. But if you find the fat accumulating or already cumbersome, you will be wise to follow this suggestion, which is endorsed by thousands of people who know. Ask your druggist for Marmola Prescription Tablets, and follow directions. One dollar is the price the world over. Get them from your own druggist or send price direct to the Marmola Co., 4612 Woodward ave., Detroit, Mich. By doing this you will be safe from harmful drugs and be able to reduce steadily and easily, without starvation diet or tiresome exercises.

BETHANY BAND ENTERTAINMENT.

BETHANY, July 7.—The Bethany Band was in attendance at the opening of the Kawartha highway, which took place on the lawn of Mr. Fergus Porter's home, 14 Concession Manvers. A number of people from the village availed themselves of the opportunity to join in the social function.

New Bridge.

A new up-to-date concrete bridge is being erected over McCartney's creek to replace the old wooden structure which has done duty for so many years. Mr. Earl Sisson is supervising the job.

Mr. Burns of Otonabee is visiting his daughter, Mrs. Ezra Steer.

Mr. and Mrs. John Challice and family attended Dominion Day celebration held at Port Hope.

Mr. Byers of Toronto visited his nephew, Mr. Wm. Byers, and his niece, Mrs. D. Cairns, for a few days this week.

Mrs. (Rev.) Alfred Brown of Lindsay spent several pleasant days with her brother-in-law and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Brown.

Mrs. Herbert Price of Toronto is visiting with friends in the village for a few days.

Mr. Nelson Brown of the Bank of Toronto, Kingston, is holidaying with his father, Mr. W. A. Brown.

Among those noticed at the Methodist Church garden party on Wednesday were Mr. and Mrs. W. Rowland, Mr. and Mrs. John Rowland of Millbrook, Mr. and Mrs. B. Rae and children of Millbrook and Miss Rhena McKinley of Fleetwood.

COBOURG EXPECTS BIG DAY ON 12th

Orangemen From All Parts of the District and From Rochester Expected.

COBOURG, July 7.—On Tuesday afternoon there was an enjoyable community gathering at Victoria Park, when the Sunday Schools of the Presbyterian, Methodist and Anglican churches at Grafton, assembled for their annual picnic. A very pleasant afternoon was spent.

Farewell Services on Sunday

Rev. J. S. I. Wilson, B.A., B.D., pastor of the Cobourg Methodist church for the past few years, will preach his farewell sermons on Sunday next, and leave the following week for Brighton, his new pastorate. Mr. Wilson has given able service, both in pulpit and pastoral work to the church here, and his expected departure is not only regretted by his people but by citizens generally. He will be succeeded by Rev. R. F. Stillman of Omemee, who is assured a hearty welcome. Mr. Stillman will, however, take his holidays before taking up his pulpit duties here, and in the meantime the parsonage will be renovated and put in readiness for its new occupants. The pulpit supply for the coming four weeks has not yet been arranged.

Rev. J. S. I. Wilson in going to Brighton is taking up the work of a church where his father, Rev. John C. Wilson, Toronto, was the beloved pastor for a four years' term. The latter although well past the 80th milestone of life, will supply the pulpit of one of the Oshawa Methodist churches during July and in August intends to take a trip to the West.

The Loyal Orange Lodges of Cobourg and district will hold their annual church parade to the Methodist church here on Sunday evening, when Rev. J. S. I. Wilson will preach the sermon.

New Club House.

The new club house erected by the Cobourg Bowling club at Victoria Park and in which the Cobourg tennis club also has an interest, is just about completed. It is a pretty structure and will prove a great convenience. It is to be in readiness for the celebration here on July 12.

Many Lodges Coming.

Orangemen, also the ladies' and boys' lodges, coming from Victoria, Peterborough, Hastings, Durham and Northumberland counties are expected to assemble here on Thursday next to celebrate the Battle of the Boyne, and Rochester lodges as well. Out-of-town speakers will be Col. John Hughes of Bowmanville, Worthy Bro. M. J. O'Brien, Grand Organizer, Ontario East; Bro. W. Pearson of Rochester.

Local speakers are Lt.-Col. F. D. Boggs, Mayor of Cobourg, and Rev. F. J. Horwood of Camborne.

Go To Lindsay.

This afternoon Ensign and Mrs. Godden, who have been in charge of the work of the Salvation Army Corps here for the past few years left for Lindsay. Seldom has an officer won in such a large degree the esteem and confidence of citizens generally, as has Capt. Godden, and good wishes from a host of friends accompany them to their new home.

Capt. Dunkley and Lieut. Burrows of the Parliament Street Corps, Toronto, arrived here yesterday to take charge of the Army and conducted their first service last night.

Large Excursions.

On Wednesday, July 4, two big boats, Ontario No. 1 and Ontario No. 2 were required to bring the crowds from Rochester who were desirous of coming to Cobourg. The two boats docked at the car ferry stop here in the afternoon with large crowds on board. They will bring over large excursions also on July 12, accompanied by a couple of bands.

Pleasant Evening.

On Thursday evening last Elizabethville League visited Hull's Corner's Young People's Society. A very pleasant evening was spent, at the close of which refreshments were served.

Personals

Quite a number of speeders appeared before the magistrate here this week charged with speeding on the Provincial Highway and were fined $10.00 and costs each.

Mrs. J. A. Teney, Coldsprings, has gone to Walkerton to visit friends.

Miss Mary Reyner was home from Toronto over the week-end.

Miss Corneil is spending a short time at her residence here, but expects to go abroad for some months later this season.

Mrs. Garvey and family are here from the South visiting at the home of Mrs. McBride, Henry street.

Mr. W. F McCook and family have arrived from Pittsburgh to spend the summer at their country house.

Mrs. John Hoare of California was in town on Monday with her brother, Mr. Scott of Port Hope, at whose home she is visiting. Mrs. Scott and her mother, Mrs. Forbes were also here. It is ten years since Mr. and Mrs. Hoare left Cobourg to take up residence in the sunny state of California, and old friends are very pleased to meet them again. They will remain for a couple of months.

Boyce—Smith.

The marriage took place in Grace Methodist church at Napanee on Monday of Mr. Egerton Boyce, son of Rev. and Mrs. W. S. P. Boyce, Courtice and grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lawless of Grafton, to Miss Rowena Smith. Rev. A. J. Terrill officiated. Mr. and Mrs. Boyce will reside at Port Hope, where Mr. Boyce is organist of St. Paul's Presbyterian church.

Action of Senate is Cause of Hardships.

WINNIPEG, July 7.—(Canadian Press).—The failure of the Senate to pass the Canadian National Branch Lines Bill, which carried provision for the construction of several lines in Manitoba, has caused many settlers to give up their homesteads and migrate to the cities and towns, according to Joseph Hamelin, M.L.A. for St. Rose.

A line was to have been constructed from St. Rose du Lac to Rorketon, a distance of 22 miles, but with no hope of getting it this year, Mr. Hamelin said, seven families have thrown up their stakes and left for other parts.

A petition asking the Government to reverse the decision of the Senate is now being circulated.

Sad Story of the Death of Native French Oyster

Fifty years ago, Portugese oysters declared war on French oysters and to-day the gallant Frenchmen are about extinct.

On a stormy day in 1883 a Portuguese vessel, laden with oysters was forced to seek shelter in the estuary of the Gironde River, near Bordeaux.

Before the vessel could put to sea again the oyster cargo commenced to decompose and the local authorities ordered that the dying oysters be thrown overboard.

Just as the crack of the minute man's muhket at Lexington was a "shot heard around the world," so the order of the local gendarmes was one that spelt the death of the French oyster.

No sooner did the Portuguese oysters hit the bottom than relentless war was on. French oysters scurried up the estuary out of harm's way, but to no avail. In three years the last French oyster in the estuary exhaled its last bubble and the estuary was Portuguese.

Turning to new oyster worlds to conquer the invading host of Portuguese bivalves moved out to sea and up and down the coast. In the Marennes-Oleron region and the Areachon basin they filtered, routing 200,000,000 French oysters. In fact to-day on the entire coast of the Loire River, not a single Gallic oyster remains to tell the tale. To the north alone in isolated beds a few native oysters survive.

In their behalf the French government has issued rigorous decrees to protect them from the savage Portuguese invaders.

But rapidity of growth, superior fecundity, and greater filtering power, among oysters, like among men, determine the rise and fall of nations and there is little doubt but that the conquest of the French by the Portuguese oysters will soon be complete. Then only in Portuguese oyster sagas will the French oyster survive.

FAR WEST GIRLS ARE BEST KIND

Girls of the East Will Have to Look to Their Laurels.

By MARIAN HALE.

NEW YORK, July 7.—Let the girls of the east look to their laurels!

The latest report is that the girls of the far west exceeded all others in enterprise, pep and ability to get ahead.

Anna M. Clark has just spent 10 months making a survey of the working women of the country and has found this to be true.

"There's none of the 'What-shall-I-do-now?' spirit on the part of the western woman," she says. "Long before girls finish school they determine definitely what they want to do with their lives and start training for it.

"The western girls don't look upon society as a career; they want to do something for others as well as themselves.

Earn Own Way.

"In a lumber camp I met a girl waiting on table to earn her way toward a doctor's degree. She said she wanted to be a doctor because then she could do so much more to help the ignorant mothers of the country.

"Another girl who had already received her degree from normal school was going to State University to study rural leadership and architecture. She wanted to be the well-prepared type of rural school teacher that the isolated community needs."

And so Miss Clark says she found girls everywhere, planning to teach, do social work or go into professions with the definite ideal of serving the communities in which they live.

Useful Clubs.

She found that the western girl is interested in clubs, but not the literary or pleasure clubs.

"I found agricultural clubs, parent-teacher's associations and political groups becoming a power for good legislation," she reports. "In one coast city of 10,000 inhabitants I found 102 flourishing, up-to-the-minute women's clubs.

"Women in Washington and Oregon are much amused at the eastern women who come out to tell them how to vote," she concluded. "In Idaho women have voted for 20 years. In Washington sociology is taught in the public schools and everywhere there is legislation for better schools and wider opportunities.

"Go west is good advice for the woman who seeks a career."

TWO PROBLEMS OF THE FARM OWNER

How Your Farm Will Keep You in the City.

By GEORGE W. BRITT.

CHICAGO, July 7.—How you going to keep them down on the farm?

And how is your farm going to keep you in the city?

Those two troublesome questions of agricultural economics no longer disturb Mrs. William C. Martin of Dallas, Tex. Perhaps it was her efficiency in solving them which led to her being chosen chairman of the home and community committee of the American Farm Bureau Federation with headquarters here.

"Make the farm a good place to live," says Mrs. Martin from her own experience in managing one farm of 6,000 acres and another of 1,200 acres. "Co-operation is the basis of it. The result is that not only are the farm people contented there, but the landowner is assured of a safe income of 8 per cent."

First Success.

Several years ago after Mrs. Martin had moved to Dallas from her old farm near Temple, the farm was found not to be producing its normal revenue. She persuaded her husband to let her supervise the management, and surprised him by making a success of it.

Then he acquired a 1,200-acre tract of unwanted land in the bottoms of the Sabine River, near Marshall. Mrs. Martin begged for a chance at the new place and took it to work out her own ideas. Not only did the ideas prove sound, but she won a bonus for herself in the form of a lucky discovery of lignite under the land.

A road was built through the centre of the farm, sections of 100 acres each were laid out adjoining the road and a neat bugalow was built on each small farm. In the centre of the land was built a community house. It included not only a library and recreation rooms, but a community wash house and canning kitchen.

"There's no philanthropy about this farm," insists Mrs. Martin. "It's strictly business. It is arranged, though, so that the tenants who take an interest in the community can get a reasonable return for their effort without giving everything to the landlord. And by stimulating their interest, the landlord's share is larger and the effect on the land itself is better than if his proportion of the profits were greater.

"The co-operative spirit is so keen that we have flower shows there equal to the fancy shows from hothouse gardens around Chicago. Last Fourth of July we had a ball game in competition with the one in town, and the crowd stayed with us. With everyone pulling together, our farm people have just as gay a time as those in the towns."

ALBERTA MINERS WILL NOT ENTER ON STRIKE

CALGARY, July 7. — (Canadian Press).—Wm. Sherman, president of District No. 18, United Mine Workers, stated last night that seven thousand miners in Alberta would not go out on strike as reported in a Sydney despatch.

As far back as the 14th century there are records of a ferry across the River Thames at Woolwich.

TRAFFIC PROBLEM GETTING WORSE

Fear of Congestion Refuted—Gotham's Problem

NEW YORK, July 7.—Is the traffic problem as serious as it is contended to be, or is it a harmless bugaboo in the minds of motorists and traffic authorities?

According to New York officials, traffic is getting even beyond the point of control, so that steps are being considered for the actual limitation of the number of automobiles in the congested areas at certain hours.

Yet, the recent experience of the national capital during the Shriners' convention seems to ridicule this fear of over-congestion of traffic.

During that convention, Washington was thronged with thousands of visitors and its automobile traffic was increased 50 per cent. In the face of this sudden jump, Pennsylvania closed to traffic in order to provide a playground for the Shriners.

Planned Ahead.

Yet this overnight increase in traffic played no havoc on the city's regular routine. In fact, the accident rate was remarkably low during the convention.

This was due to the advance plans made by the Washington police department. One-way streets were provided, the pavements were marked with arrows and other distinguished signs to direct strangers—and residents—along the proper routes.

The result was a minimum of accidents with a maximum of traffic.

Thus the experience of Washington refutes the idea that the number of automobiles in the country may reach the point where an impossible traffic situation would be created. Ordinarily traffic in the capital is heavy, yet an immediate 50 per cent increase failed to affect the situation.

Gotham's "Problem"

Opposed to this is the dilemma New York believes it faces Traffic is so congested along Fifth Avenue and one or two parallel streets, that the city's traffic authorities are bewildered.

Joseph Johnson, commissioner of streets, makes this suggestion:

"Limit the number of motors that may be driven in certain zones!"

The obvious way, he explains, is to bar cars from the congested areas unless each has three or more passengers.

But if all the parallel avenues on Manhattan were utilized equally for motor traffic, such a necessity would not arise for quite some time. The automobiles could be routed according to their destinations, along separate streets, and the situation could be so regulated as to provide for through traffic uptown.

With all north and south arteries in use Manhattan, and express or through lines mapped out, a far greater number of automobiles could be handled.

Use of parallel streets is one solution of the traffic problem, and this is being seen by many cities through out the country. When it is generally put into effect, the saturation bugaboo will be have been vanquished.

REPORT OF FIGHT WAS DENIED BY TURKS

LAUSANNE, July 7.—(Canadian Press).—The Turkish delegation to the Lausanne Peace Conference stated to-day that it had received no advices regarding the reported clash between Greek and Turkish troops at Kara Burun. The opinion was expressed by the Turkish representative that the report was erroneous.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

A WORD OF APPRECIATION.

Sir,—As the Summer School, which has been holding its sessions in the city since last Monday, draws to a close, we feel it a pleasure and a duty to offer a word of appreciation to The Examiner. This institution has never in its history received greater consideration or deeper courtesy from the press. Its reporter has, from day to day, given abundant evidence of expert efficiency. When we remember that each day finds from three to four columns of a clear, full and accurate report of the addresses given, we certainly feel that the Bay of Quinte Summer School has had its full share of attention, consideration, and courtesy. Again we thank The Examiner, and offer our congratuations to its able, accurate, and efficient press reporter.

G. E. Ross,
Pastor of Mark Street Methodist Church.

To the Ediaor of the Examiner:

Sir: Mr. J. C. Smith gets vexed because I said in my reply that people who would take one private right away, would take another. We know there are two kinds of rights, public and private. The public has a right to do what it likes with its rights, and private individuals have a right to do what they like with their rights, always of course within reason. That was the old theory, the theory of Scriptures, but along come Prohibitionists who say, "When we think you ought to give up your rights, Mr. Man, or Mrs. Woman, you have got to give them up, no matter whether you yourself are all right or not. The system of alcoholic beverages is wrong, they say, both in public and private. The system of private property is wrong the Reds say. All will have to give up those private rights, both those who sin and those who do not, because the general benefit of the people demand a change. It is the general right against the private right in everything, and Mr. Smith can't confine it to suit himself. When private property goes his goes with it. The general benefit must prevail all things over all private rights. That's Prohibitionism and Redism. I know prohibitionists have not seen where their theory was leading them to, but they cannot go back now.

If it was considered for the good of the majority that you should be killed, Mr. Smith, you would no longer have a private right to life. You just keep on, Mr. Smith—you're helping the Reds more than any man I know around here.

"REDDY."

PALESTINE AIRMEN GIVE GIVE FIRST EXHIBITION

JERUSALEM, July 7 (Associated Press).—Palestine has held its first aerial pageant. Familiar for a dozen years or more with the airplanes of the French, only today has Palestine brought together its own force of 11 machines.

Twenty airplanes took part in the recent exhibition, 16 with Rolls Royce engines of 275 horse-power, seating two persons, and four with Liberty engines of 400 horse-power. The latter are fitted with wireless, and seat twelve persons. Each team for the relay race, with which the exhibition opened, consisted of one Avro, one Bristol, and one De Hag.

A mimic aerial combat between two Bristol fighters was the second event, and was followed by the Bristol race over a triangular course of 27 miles, round Ras-el-Ain Castle and Jaffa, from each of which stations progress was reported by wireless.

Balloon hunts, in which one airplane is attacked by five balloons from different parts of the aerodrome, and bombing and machine-gun attacks, were also features of the pageant.

Talk may be cheap, but cheap things don't pay.

Want Ad Tips by John T. Bartlett

FIVE KINDS OF SLOGANS.

Question a professional slogan writer, and he will tell you this: The campaign manager who adopts the right slogan has his victory three-fourths won. "The Full Dinner Pail," "He Kept Us Out of War," and other famous political cries, he will cite in proof. He may mention Dick Wick Hall's famous slogan advertising Salome, Arizona —"Where She Danced." Slogans are powerful things for the moulding of public thought and sympathies. And that is just why they do valiant service for the classified advertiser.

Repetition drives them home. The place of the slogan is with the frequent advertiser. Repeated in each want ad, readers ultimately habitually associate the slogan with the advertiser—to his great advantage, if the slogan is well selected. The following are typical slogans:

Price slogans: "Satisfied With Small Profits," "Walk Upstairs And Save Half," "The Best For Less," "Meets Competitive Prices." "Eliminates The Middleman." "Buy For Less—From King," "Where Prices Are Lower."

Policy slogans: "One Price—Plain Figures." "Satisfaction Or Your Money Back." "The Envelope Tells The Truth," (A used car dealer's slogan, based on an envelope giving a car's whole history, such an envelope being exhibited with each car.)

Command slogans: "Use Bell To Sell." "Take It To Taskins."

Service slogans: "One Thousand Satisfied Customers," "Second-Helping-With-A-Smile Service."

Quality slogans: "Like Mother Used To Make," "Not The Oldest, But The Best."

Though slogans can be successful without it, the best ones have invariably an element that makes them "catch on." In the above list a minority possess this valuable characteristic. Even if a slogan isn't "catchy," it can still have the great merit of stating some powerful selling argument in a few words.

SECRET OF GRAVE HELD BY ONLY ONE.

Burial Place of Lincoln's Assassin Known to One Man Alone.

MOLINE, Ill., July 7.—(Associated Press)—With lips sealed by an oath he said he took more than half a centruy ago, E. H. Sampson of Moline, claims to be the only living man who knows what disposition was made of the body of John Wilkes Booth, assassin of Abraham Lincoln.

Mr. Sampson, who is now 81 years old, was a member of the United States secret service detailed to duty at Ford's theatre the night Lincoln was shot there. He had served as one of Lincoln's bodyguards for several months. He saw Lincoln shot, saw Booth jump to the stage of the theatre, was in the party that pursued him, saw Booh shot and helped transfer his body to a United States warship in the Philadelphia navy yard, according to a recital of the events he has just given out.

According to Sampson's story, he and Colonel Lafayette Baker, later General Baker, were the only two men who knw what was done with Booth's body. General Baker has been dead 20 years. He has been ordered to select a man to go to Secretary of War Stanton for orders, and decided on Sampson. They were ordered by the secretary, Sampson states, to remove Booth's body from the warship between the hours of 10 p.m. and 3 a.m. on the night of April 21, 1865. The body disappeared that night.

"I took a pledge that as long as I lived I would not divulge the secret," says Sampson.

An automatic airplane directed by wireless was recently tested in France.

YOUR DESTINY

Jack Slattery, Harvard baseball coach, says: "If I was a young man starting out in life, I would work my way through college and enter the wool business."

There is no way of settling the bet, but we'd wager that, if Jack had his life to live over again, he'd wind up as Harvard baseball coach.

The lures or circumstances that originally kept him from entering the wool business would again gravitate him to baseball.

So with the rest of us. If we had our lives to live over again, the end of the road would find us where we are now. It is futile to talk of how we'd profit by what we have learned, for that is dealing with the impossible. Turning the clock back and restoring our youth would not give us clairvoyant power of peering into the future.

Many roads are open to us in youth. But as we get older we settle into one rut. At 35 the average man has a fairly clear idea of what he is going to do for the rest of his earthly days.

By the time we reach 50, we begin realizing that our careers are the result of two things—an expression of our real selves and, secondly, circumstances over which we have no control.

If we could live our lives over again, it is reasonably plausible that our real selves would not express themselves differently, and that the outside circumstances would be as far beyond our control as ever.

O. Henry wrote a philosophical story along this line. He called it "Roads of Destiny." A young man, striking out into the world, came to a triple fork in the road. The story showed what happened after he took the first fork, then the second, finally the third. On each road he led a different life. But the wind-up of his career was the same, on all three roads.

All this, of course, is along the lines of oriental fatalism, the idea that we are puppets, creatures of chance. Many will claim that they do not believe in fatalism—and a moment later be lamenting their "bad luck" or rejoicing at their "good luck."

If you believe in luck at all, you are a fatalist.

Late in life, the average person realizes how short life is, that it is merely a between-stations trip on the journey through eternity. And the average person goes out of this life with the impression that earthly existence is a training school, a sort of spiritual gymnasium.

The material success we make does not matter so much. Life is a failure or success accordingly as we benefit our spiritual natures by our earthly experience. Is life improving you? If it is, you are fulfilling your destiny.

YOU AND CICADA

If you think that you have a difficult time here on earth, compare with the 17-Year Locust, which is swarming by billions again this year attacking the trees. The Department of Agriculture says that these insect pests are "undoubtedly the most interesting of all the insects peculiar to the American continent."

After their 1923 visitation they will disappear and not show up again until 1940.

The 17-year Locusts which really are giant flies instead of locusts or grasshoppers, makes their appearance out of the ground. They live only a few week, then fall to the ground dead. During this short life, all effort is devoted to reproduction.

The female begins work on a tree branch. She is equipped with a sort of plow, which she uses to make a line of holes in the bark to the end of the branch. In these holes she lays her eggs, two in a nest. About a fortnight later the eggs hatch, larvae crawl out drop to the ground burrow down and emtomb themselves deep enough to be immune to all kinds of weather.

For 17 years they sleep then crawl forth, mount to a tree branch and start the process of reproduction all over again. They come and go and repeat with perfect regularity, all maturing and laying eggs and dying at almost identically the same time. In their wake they leave a trail of ruined orchards, which they prefer to forest trees or vegetables.

Seventeen years of preparation for a few weeks of life! After all, it is much like human existence—95 per cent preparation and toil, 5 per cent realization and pleasure. Nature's activities are infinitely varied and mysterious. It would be equally amazing to the 17-year Locusts, that we take years instead of weeks to accomplish our purpose on earth.

RETAIL GROCERS DISCUSS PROBLEMS AT ST. PAUL

ST. PAUL, July 7 (Associated Press).—Three thousand men who handle the food commodities for the buying public of the nation are here as delegates to the annual convention of the National Association of Retail Grocers, which begins tomorrow and lasts through Thursday.

Many men, prominent in food manufacture and distribution from every state will be present including these speakers: J. H. McLaurin, president of the American Wholesale Grocers' association; W. W. Frazier, Jr., president of the American Specialty Manufacturing association; Charles P. Whiteman, president of the National Food Brokers' association; J. W. Herscher, president, National Wholesale Grocers' association; Charles A. C. Clark, president National Coffee Roasters' association; and James A. Anderson, president National Canners' association.

The statistical cost accounting and legal aspects of food manufacturing and merchandise will be told by the following in a series of lectures: Clyde M. Kelly, member of Congress; W. P. McBain, general counsel, National Association of Retail Grocers; Donald K. David, assistant to the dean of the Bureau of Business Research at Harvard University; Sidney A. Linnekin, vice president of Babson Institute, and Thomas A. Kelly, banker and sales expert.

ALBERTA COLLEGE GRADUATES FIRST WOMAN AGRICULTURIST

EDMONTON, Alta., July 7 (Associated Press).—The degree of bachelor of science has been awarded Miss Sheila Marryatt, the first woman graduate in agriculture from the University of Alberta. She completed the prescribed three-year agricultural course with honors in a class of several hundred men.

Miss Marryatt, sister of the Hon. Irene Parlby, minister without portfolio in the Alberta provincial cabinet, has announced that she will take up a quarter section near Alix, Alta., and will apply scientific agricultural methods to the land. Miss Marryatt believes that women can succeed as farmers just as well as men.

Government statistics based upon census figures show that 15,841 women in the Dominion are operating farms.

SHANS OF BURMA GIVE WEIRD DANCE BY TORCHLIGHT

TAUNGGYI, Burma, July 7 (Associated Press).—The recent inauguration of the Federated Shan States was marked by a remarkable series of exhibition dances. These included tribal dances in which 24 of the hill tribes of Burma participated, as well as the famous animal and bird dances of the Shans.

The entertainment took place in a specially built arena with over 5,000 spectators in attendance. Brilliant and unusual lighting was a feature of the occasion. The thoroughfares leading to the arena were lined with huge lamps in the shape of lotus blossoms. The governor, Sir Harcourt Butler, was escorted to his place by 200 torch bearers, carrying torches ten feet long and one foot thick, made of bamboo and pine chips.

In the opening parade, some of the torches used were as much as 50 feet in height and required 50 or 60 men to carry them. Each torch was followed by several musicians who beat tom-toms and played other weird instruments.

Of the tribal dances those of the Padaungs proved the most popular. The Padaungs are noted for the enormous rings they wear. The brass rings worn about the neck, arms and legs of one woman often weigh over 30 pounds. Those of the neck, amounting to about 15 pounds, are considered the most important. Their purpose is to elongate the neck. A girl starts wearing such rings from childhood; as the neck stretches, additional rings are added. The woman who has the longest neck is considered the most beautiful and the most to be desired as a wife.

The Shans in their dances disguised themselves as animals and birds. Buffaloes, elephants, tigers, bears and cocks were among those represented. A small dog which happened to stray into the arena was so frightened by one of the tigers that he hid his tail between his legs and awaited in terror the end which he thought was about to come.

The Shan States, rich in agricultural and mineral products, are in the northeastern part of Burma.

BANDITS KILLED TWO AND CAPTURED NINETY

HONG-KONG, July 7.—(Canadian Press).—Bandits to-day held up a train on the Canton-Kowloon Railway, fifteen miles from Canton, killing a Chinese military officer and one soldier and carrying off about ninety upper class Chinese, who are being held for ransom. The booty is valued at fifty thousand dollars.

Two wrongs never make a right, but usually get one left.

WEEKLY BOOK REVIEW

By JAMES W. DEAN.

NEW YORK, July 7.—Havelock Ellis has written a book called "The Dance of Life." This reviewer feels incapable of telling much more than that about the book, for Ellis has much to say and says it so concisely that it would be futile to try to condense it in a brief review. Specifically he deals with dancing, writing, thinking, religion and morals.

Dancing, Ellis says, springs from the impulse for expression. He seconds Plato's axiom, "A good education consists in knowing how to sing and dance well."

Dancing means bodily rhythm and bodily harmony to Ellis. Thus dancing is an art, life is an art, writing is an art and in the broader sense of the word religion and morals are arts. Dancing is a discipline. Life is a discipline.

Those who sing and dance to "Yes, We Have No Bananas," probably are not aware that they are disciplining themselves, but if their singing and dancing to that time is expression of themselves, they are practicing the art of discipline. This is not intended as a facetious application of the Ellis idea. It is simply a broad interpretation of it, an excursion along one tangent of his logic.

Writing, Ellis points out, is a compulsory part of our education and every nincompoop feels he has become a writer of prose as soon as he puts his pen in ink. "That feeling," said Ellis, "is justified only in a very limited sense, and if we wish to compare the condition of things today with that in an age when people wrote at the bidding from some urgent stimulus from without or within, we have at the outset to delete certainly over 95 per cent. of our modern so-called writers before we institute any comparison. The writers thus struck out, it may be added, cannot fail to include many persons of much note in the world."

It is true that great writers seldom quote for they find it difficult to mix an alien music of thought and speech with their own, Ellis points out. But it is the little writer rather than the great writer who seems never to quote, and the reason is that he is really never doing anything else.

In that passage Ellis furnishes the critical key to "The Dance of Life." His book is crammed with references to Plato, Montaigne, Schopenhauer, Newman, Bacon, Neitsche, Aristotle, Marcus Aurelius, Bertrand Russell, Hume and scores of other great minds. Yet when he comes to consider religion and morals he seems unconsciously to repeat the Greek idea that art is entirely creative. He works out an ancient logic in a modern perspective and thus presents it to the reader as a new viewpoint.

All along I have felt that D. W. Griffith, the movie director, is much like some modern poet. I know now that he is like Padraic Colum. Colum's new book, "Castle Conquer" is done in soft-focus throughout. The mental pictures he presents are as dim and yet as impressive as the photographs Griffith projects on the screen.

Castle Conquer was the stronghold of a feudal Englishman in Ireland. Colum uses it as a symbol of the struggle between Irish tenants and the landed English. About this symbol he weaves a legend of a youth, Francis Gillick, chosen by fate to lead a countryside in rebellion and a girl, Brighid Moynagh.

Just as Griffith in his pictures drops the main thread of his narrative to display a vista of mountain or water, something of value only for its inherent beauty, just so does Colum leave off with his hero and heroine to give you some little story that puts the breath of Erin in your nostrils.

Thus Colum dallies along in 359 of his 376 pages, weaving a romance of silken thread and piling up an impending clash of arms, a rousing combat of men. Then in one paragraph he drops four decades of time and action. Franic Gillick is an old man whose sons and grandsons have struck for a free Ireland and he is outside the picture. Brighid, who in girlhood had sacrificed her name for Gillick is represented by her Brighid daughter.

Except for the sudden hiatus in action Colum has wrought an excellent book, a story with magic and music in it.

We can't rid ourselves of the war. We say "it's over" and after these several years we want to hear no more of it. But the war has left some mark on all of us and on all of literature. If current authors are to write of current lives the influence of the war cannot be denied. We can't leave a chasm in time.

"Tomorrow About This Time," by Grace Livingston Hill, is at bottom a story of a man's readjustment to life after the war. When Patterson Greeves returns home his two nearly matured daughters (they are half-sisters) come to live with him. They are strangers to him and to each other.

In this position Greeves vainly tries to evade his responsibilities to his daughters and an unhappy situation arises in the house. The unselfish daughter leaves. The selfish daughter at last realizes her unworthiness and leaves to seek her sister. In the final reunion the reader has a tale of a man's redemption.

"Tomorrow About This Time" is a penetrating study of human relationships. It would have had sounded logic, I believe, if it had stressed Greeves' readjustment rather than his redemption in the closing chapter.

LINIMENT FOUND TO BE POWERFUL GERMICIDE

Originally, Absorbine Jr. was sold only as a pain reliever and an embrocation. It was quickly discovered that the liniment was positive death to all forms of germ life, and it is now used as a mouth wash, for wound dressing and for all disinfecting purposes.

Another surprise was yet in store. A Wm. Pratt of Springfield, Mass., applied Absorbine Jr. to a varicose vein to relieve the intense pain. Not only did the pain leave, but he noticed every day the swollen vein becoming smaller. The treatment was kept up and, today, Mr. Pratt's legs, though he has never used anything else on them, are as smooth as when he was a boy. It has now been proved that Absorbine Jr. is an actual specific for varicose veins, leg ulcers, boils, pyorrhoea and a number of other ailments and injuries besides that for which it was first prepared. Nothing serves so many every day purposes and nothing is better entitled to its place in every home. When it is needed, it will be needed in a hurry. Don't wait for someone to be hurt. Get it at your druggist's today. $1.25 everywhere.

EXHIBITION FOR WOMEN; MANAGED BY WOMEN ALONE.

Ideal Seen By Promoter Is a Vision of What Women Can Do in Any Field.

By MARIAN HALE.

NEW YORK, July 5.—An exposition showing the activities of women in every state in the union is now being planned and engineered by a woman, Mrs. Elizabeth Sears.

Her ideal, however, is something far broader than merely a commercial exhibition of the textiles, machinery, electrical appliances and artistic efforts of women, though these will all be represented.

"My aim is to make this a real milestone of progress," she explains. "A vision of what women can accomplish in any field and what they can do to instil ideals of business integrity in the younger generation.

"Women had to go out of home to go into business and the professions, but they took with them the spirit of their homes. They've humanized business and stamped their own achievements with their particular personalities. The world is going to be surprised at what they've done.

"When it was suggested to me that such an exhibition as we are planning had never been managed before by a woman, I thought it would be a very good time for a woman to break into it, and make this an all-woman enterprise.

"We are accepting exhibitions and selling space only to firms run by women, or those with women executives in important positions. My end of the work is pure pleasure because business women are the easiest people in the world to get along with. If everyone were only as square as the business woman!"

The exhibition will be held in New York at the Commodore Hotel, the week of September 24. It is under the auspices of the League of Business and Professional Women, with branches in all parts of the United States as well as in Hawaii, China and South America. The last joiner was none other than Queen Marie of Rumania who prides herself on being a business woman as well as a queen.

"In undertaking this, I see the advisability of an international exposition of women's activities, and that may be our next activity," Mrs. Sears concludes.

BERLIN DISCARDED CLAW-HAMMER COAT.

Waiters in the German Capital Adopt Wenzel Jacket as Substitute.

BERLIN, July 7.—(Associated Press).—Numbered are the days when the dress suit will make it difficult to distinguish a waiter from a dinner guest in the fashionable eating-places of Berlin. The familiar black "claw-hammer" garb was doomed as a waiter's uniform by a decision of a recent international congress of hotel employes at Geneva, and the Berlin branch association has now voted to endorse this action.

In place of the frock coat, waiters here will wear what is known as the Wenzel jacket, so named after its creator, Paul Wenzel, a Dresden hotel employe. Wenzel is said to have won an international prize contest for submitting the most suitably designed substitute for the dress suit hitherto worn. His new jacket greatly resembles the ordinary street coat in appearance. It will be single-breasted, of Cheviot material, and black, dark blue, or dark grey in color. The material will be so treated that it will not wear shiny.

SIXTY-SEVEN YEARS have passed since The Bank of Toronto opened for business on the 8th July, 1856. During this period the City of Toronto has grown from a population of 40,000 to nearly 600,000, and has become a city of great industries and fine homes.

The Bank of Toronto in its development has far exceeded the most sanguine expectations of the sterling men of those earlier days who founded it. Like the great City whose name it bears, its growth, though not in any way spectacular, has been steady and substantial, and it is today one of the soundest financial institutions in Canada.

As we pass another milestone in our history, we remember with appreciation the splendid patronage we have received from the citizens of Toronto, the Province of Ontario, and all parts of Canada where we have been able to render service in the commercial development of our great country.

Barrett ROOFINGS

Roofing for every kind of Building—Steep or Flat Roofs

Barrett Everlastic Giant Shingles

For Handsome, Durable, Fire-Resistant Roofs

No better time of year than this to put a new roof on your camp, home or garage. Re-roof now—with Barrett Everlastic Giant Shingles.

They're mineral-surfaced in three shades—red, green or blue-black. Thanks to this mineral surface they are highly fire-resisting—need no painting or staining.

Barrett Everlastic Giant Shingles stand staunch and tight against storm and blizzard throughout the years. Their base is a heavy waterproofed roofing-felt.

You can lay these massive fire-resistant shingles right over the old roof. (Use 1½" galvanized roofing nails.) They are made and laid 3 to a strip. Think of the savings in money, labor and trouble.

Come in and see these handsome, economical, fire-resisting shingles. Let us give you an estimate on a complete new roof. The cost is moderate.

Plain Surface—

Mineral Surface—

S. I. S. Roll Roofing:
(Seventeen Inch Selvage-Edge Roofing)
Total width of roll 32 inches. 15" of the width of roll is mineral-surfaced. 17" of the width is plain surfaced to insure firm cementing of the overlap. A roof of S. I. S. is double thickness throughout with weather-proof, fire-resisting mineral surface in red or green.

Everlastic Liquid Roofing Cement

ROX BEACH

COPYRIGHT 1922 BY ROX BEACH
PRINTED BY ARRANGEMENT WITH METROPOLITAN NEWSPAPER SERVICE, NEW YORK

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Calvin Gray comes to Dallas, home of Colonel Henry Nelson, banker. Gray threatens to break Nelson financially because of an enmity existing between the two men. Gus Briskow strikes oil and asks Gray to help the family tide over the rough spots. Allie, the daughter, is in love with Gray. Bud, the son, runs away from school. Gray follows to bring Bud home and finds the boy in the hands of an adventuress. Bud resents interference and Gray and he fight until Bud is knocked unconscious. Gray and an associate, Mallow, bring the son of the adventuress to Bud's hotel.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY

The youngster, a boy of indeterminate age, advanced and shook hands. There was no mistaking him; he was Margie Fulton's son in size, in coloring, in features. "I told Bennie you could use a bright kid about his age. And he's bright."

It required no clever analysis of the lad to convince Gray that he was indeed bright, as bright—and as hard—as a silver dollar. He had a likable face, or it would have been likable had it been in repose. It was twitching now, and Gray said, with a smile, "Go ahead and laugh, son."

The urchin's lips parted in a wide grin, and he spoke for the first time. "Did the Germans do that?" The effect of his voice was startling, for it was deep and husky; it was the older man's turn to be astonished.

"He could pass for fifteen on the street," Mallow said, "but when he talks I chalk him down for thirty-five. How old are you, Ben?"

"Seventeen. What's the big idea, anyhow?" The question was directed impudently at the occupant of the divan. "Did you send all the way to Hot Springs to get a guy you can lick?"

"Your mother is here in Dallas, my boy."

"Yeah?" There was a pause. "How's it breaking for her?"

"Um-m, very well. I thought she'd like to see you."

Bennie cocked his head, he eyed the speaker curiously, suspiciously. "Come clean," he rumbled. "Mallow said you could use me."

"I can. I will."

The boy shrugged. "All right, Sharkey. I s'pose it'll come out, in time. Only remember, I've got twenty coming, win or lose."

"Of course." Gray waved toward the dresser, upon which was a handful of bills. "Help yourself. Better make it twenty-five. Then wait outside, please. We will join you in a few minutes."

"And don't make it thirty," Bennie's traveling companion sharply cautioned.

When the door had closed, Gray gave his friend certain instructions, after which he limped to the telephone and called Arline Montague. "May I ask you to step down to Buddy's room?" he inquired, after making himself known. "Oh, it will be quite all right— We three must have a little talk— But he couldn't see you last night. He was quite ill, really; I sat up with him most of—" There was a longer hiatus then. "Hadn't we better argue that in Buddy's presence? Thank you. In five minutes, then."

When Ozark Briskow answered Gray's request for admittance, he was deeply embarrassed to find Miss Montague also waiting; his stammered protest was interrupted by her sharp inquiry:

"What is the meaning of all this mystery? He said you were too sick to see me."

"Permit me to explain." Gray began, as he closed the door behind them. "Buddy and I came to blows over you; you were, in a manner of speaking, an apple of discord between us, and the melancholy results you behold. Jealousy of your charms was not my motive; I merely asked Buddy to defer a contemplated action. He refused; I insisted. Argument failed to budge either of us and—"

The young woman's sympathetic regard of Gray's victim changed to a glare of hostility as she turned upon the speaker, crying: "You brute! You ought to be arrested!"

"He ast me to wait, Arline—"

"To delay asking you a question which I felt should be more seriously considered. In the absence of his family I took it upon myself to—"

"See here," the woman demanded, "What have you been telling Buddy about me? I told him all there was to tell."

"Quite all? I fear you have not been as frank as you would have me believe. That, in fact, explains my connection with the affair."

"Well, spring the bad news," said Miss Montague.

Gray bowed. "Suppose we ignore the early convent training and the Old Kentucky Home and agree that they are pleasant fictions, like the estate which you are in such imminent danger of inheriting. Those, I'm sure you will admit, are entirely imaginary." Buddy Briskow's swollen eyelids opened wider, his tumid lips parted, and an expression of surprise spread over his dropsical countenance.

"HELLO, MOMMA!" HE CRIED.

"Buddy's belief, however, that your stage career was blasted and your young life laid waste by a scion of a rich New York house should, in the interests of truth, be corrected."

"He knows I was married."

"True. But not to Bennie Fulton, the jockey."

"That is a—lie!"

"Nor that the estimable Mr. Fulton, instead of perishing upon the field of glory, dodged the draft and is doing as well as could be expected of a jockey who has been ruled off every track in the country, and is now a common gambler against whom the finger of suspicion is leveled—"

"It's a lie!" the woman stormed. Of Buddy she inquired: "You don't believe that, do you? You don't intend to listen to that sort of stuff?"

Gray sighed; he stepped to the door, opened it and called, "Come in, both of you."

Arline Montague's shoulders ceased to shake, she lifted her blond head alertly. Then she uttered a breathless exclamation.

Buddy, meanwhile, had been staring at the door, and he was surprised when, instead of his family, he saw entering a strange man and a boy small of stature but old of face, a boy insouciant, impudent, swaggering. It was this boy who spoke first.

"Hello, momma!" he cried.

At sound of that voice Buddy recoiled, for it was deeper than his own. His expression of dismay was no doubt ludicrous, at any rate the urchin's lively eyes leaped to his face and remained there, while a grin spread over his features.

"Holly Geef" rumbled the lad. "Here's another one that ought to be buried!"

"Mrs. Fulton"—it was Gray speaking—"I took the liberty of asking your son—"

Buddy Briskow heard no more, for his ears were roaring. Her son! That voice! Being little more than a boy himself, nothing could have hurt him more cruelly than this; his impulse was to flee the room, for his world had come down in crashing ruin. She had lied! She had made a fool of him. Gray had been right.

The others were still talking when Buddy broke in faintly. His battered visage was white, his lips were colorless. "I reckon this—ends my part of the entertainment," said he. Slowly he seated himself and bowed his head in his hands, for he had become quite ill.

Arline Montague—Margie Fulton—once the blow had fallen, behaved rather well; she took Bennie in her arms and kissed him, then in answer to his quick look of dismay at her agitation, she patted him on the shoulder and said: "It's all right, son. You didn't know."

"Didn't know what?" demanded the lad. "Say—" He stared angrily from one face to another. "Is it a plant?"

"Take my key. Here!" The mother thrust her room key into the boy's hand. "Run along. I—I'll see you in a few minutes." To Mallow she said: "Take him out, please. You brought him."

Mallow, flushing uncomfortably, took Bennie by the wrist and dragged him to the door.

Margie turned to Briskow, but in his attitude, his averted gaze, she read the doom of her hopes. One final chance remained, however, and desperately she snatched at it. "Buddy!" she cried, "Buddy!" Her voice was poignant as she pleaded. "I couldn't tell you the truth. I wanted to—I laid awake nights trying to get the courage, but I was afraid you wouldn't understand. I'd have told you the whole thing, if you'd ever given me the chance. You know I've been married; does it make so much difference that I have a son?" When the object of her appeal only stirred, she went on, reproachfully: "Are you going to allow this—this man to—come between us?"

"I wouldn't believe you now, if—" Buddy choked. "I'm through!"

"You mean that?" The young fellow nodded. "Very well!" Something in the tone of the last words, some accent of desperation, caused Buddy to raise his head. He was in time to see Margie fumble with her purse and extract something therefrom; to Buddy's eyes it resembled a bottle. "There is no use fighting any more. You have ruined my life."

"My God!" young Briskow yelled, in dismay. "Don't do that! Stop her!" He leaped to his feet and lunged for the poison vial which was trembling upon Arline's lips. Gray, too, had been galvanized into action but of an unexpected nature; he grappled with Buddy and held him.

"Nonsense! Water won't hurt her; and that's all it is. She's known as 'the Suicide Blond,'" Gray explained.

"Say! You're bursting with information, aren't you?" It was Miss Montague, tottering upon the brink of the grave, who voiced this explosive inquiry. Her drooping shoulders straightened, she raised her head and flung the empty bottle violently from her. With head erect and with firm tread she moved to the door; she turned there and blazed forth in bitter scorn, her bobbed curls shaking as she spoke: "Take that selling plater back to the car barn, where he belongs. I'm off boobs for life."

The door slammed to behind the diminutive fury, and Gray sank feebly into a chair. He was laughing silently.

Bank Accounts for Farmers

Farmers find that doing business through The Bank of Nova Scotia has many advantages. It enables a farmer to keep track of all his dealings. His bank book is a handy record of all moneys received or paid out.

By depositing milk, grain and other produce cheques he has a complete record of receipts.

By paying all bills by cheque he has a record of all payments and runs no risk of loss by carrying money in his pocket or keeping it in the house.

In short, a Bank Account is a necessity in the conduct of farming operations on a business basis.

RECIPES

SALAD DRESSING.

Mix two tablespoons olive oil with two tablespoons flour to a smooth paste and pour onto this one cup boiling water. Cook for five minutes.

Add one egg yolk and one-fourth cup vinegar mixed with two teaspoons salt, one teaspoon mustard, one teaspoon sugar and a little cayenne. Add to this one pint of corn, peanut or olive oil, pouring on steadily, not all at once.

Beat thoroughly and set away to cool.

This dressing is satisfactory because it does not separate and will keep well.

A MOTHER'S HEALTH NEEDS GREAT CARE

Care of Home and Children Often Causees a Breakdown.

The woman at home, deep in household duties and the care of motherhood, needs occasional help to keep her in good health. The demands upon a mother's health are many and severe. Her own health trials and her children's welfare exact heavy tolls, while hurried meals, broken rest and much indoor living tend to weaken her constitution. No wonder that the woman at home is often indisposed through weakness, headaches, backaches and nervousness. Too many women have grown to accept these visitations as a part of the lot of motherhood. But many and varied as her health troubles are, the cause is simple and relief at hand. When well, it is the woman's good blood that keeps her well; when ill she must take her blood rich to renew her health. The nursing mother more than any other woman in the world needs rich blood and plenty of it. There is one way to get this good blood so necessary to perfect health, and that is through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Mrs. W. T. Riley, R.R. No. 1, Apple Hill, Ont., has proved the great value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to mothers, and tell her story as follows:—"Two years ago, after the birth of my boy, I became very weak and run down. Gradually I lost weight and energy until I was unable to do my housework. I could not sleep, my nerves would twitch and jump so that I arose in the morning with heavy aching limbs and head. Indigestion helped to make the misery worse, and my heart would palpitate terribly. I doctored steadily for a year without getting better, but just dragged along feeling that I would never be well again. But one lucky day, on the advice of a friend, I began treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I have taken only six boxes, but I wish you could see the difference. I am now able to do my work, go about and enjoy myself. I feel so entirely like a new woman that I advise every weak or ailing woman to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I know they will get beneficial results."

If you are ailing, easily tired or depressed, it is a duty you owe yourself and your family to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial. What this medicine has done for others it will surely do for you. You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co. Brockville, Ont.

THE "TROUBLE SHOOTER"

TIMELY TIPS FOR NEW CAR OWNERS

By E. H. SCOTT

How to Keep that "New" Look on Your Car

It is a fine sensation when you take delivery of your new car, and drive it home to show the family and your friends. You feel like a million dollars and your car looks so spick and span that it seems a shame to allow a speck of dust to settle on it. If it looks like rain and the family want to take a little run somewhere—nothing doing.

For the first few weeks you attend to that car as a mother does her baby, but after the novelty has worn off, you grow careless, and soon the beautiful finish begins to deteriorate and lose its fine polish, and within six months, your car looks as if it had been on the road for a year.

Now there is no reason in the world why the finish on your car should not look as good as the day you drove it out of the salesroom for at least twelve months.

If it is given proper care and treatment it will keep its gloss for even longer than that.

Most of the damage to the finish is done the first few months you have your new car. Although the varnish appears to be set quite hard it is not. Varnish requires from two to three months to harden properly. During this period it has to be treated very carefully or the finish will be permanently dulled.

The first thing to remember is that dust or mud must not be allowed to lie on the finish for any length of time. For the first two months it will pay you to frequently hose the body gently with plenty of cold water, afterwards drying it off with a clean chamois. This treatment will harden and toughen the varnish.

Extreme care must be taken in washing the body. If you use a hose, FIRST REMOVE THE NOZZLE. If you keep the nozzle on the hose, the pressure of the water drives the dust and mud into the finish and quickly destroys it. Just let the water flow over the surface so that it softens the dirt and gently carries it away. Use plenty of water, but NEVER have a greater pressure than will carry the water more than 6 inches from the end of the hose.

You need to be particularly careful washing the body when it has mud on it. Mud generally contains a certain amount of lime and ammonia, and for this reason should never be allowed to remain on the body for any length of time or it will cause spotting. Float the mud off by allowing plenty of water to flow over it. Do not rub with a sponge any more than is necessary, and always rub straight up and down, NEVER with a circular motion. Be very careful to keep the sponge clean. If a hose is not available, use a large sponge and lots of water. Dirty water or a dirty sponge will leave a smear or streak on the finish when it dries. As soon as the water gets dirty, throw it away.

Do not allow grit or grease to collect on the sponge. There is nothing that will ruin the finish quicker than oil or grease. After washing, use a clean chamois to dry off the water. If the chamois or sponge becomes greasy or dirty, wash them with Ivory or a non-alakline soap. After washing rinse thoroughly in clean water. Never, however, use soap on the body, clean COLD water is all that should ever be used. The wheels, however can be cleaned with a little soap in the water.

Never wash the car in bright sunlight or directly after a drive on a warm day, as the water is apt to dry too quickly and will streak the finish. Above all things, DO NOT wash the hood when it is warm or you will ruin the gloss on it.

Use care when washing the hood that you do not allow the water to get underneath and wet the Distributor or Spark Plugs. It is a good idea before you start to wash the car, to cover over the engine with a piece of cloth, then the water that gets under the hood can do no harm.

If you are unfortunate enough to get oil, tar or paint on the body, it can be removed as follows—Take a piece of cheese cloth and soak it in water, then squeeze it out fairly dry. Now pour over it a little pure olive oil, and gently rub the part of the body with the tar, up and down, never use a circular motion. Finish by polishing the surface with another piece of dry cheese cloth.

To clean celluloid windows, rub over with a piece of cheese cloth dipped in clear vinegar.

To clean the upholstery, whether cloth or leather, sponge with some luke warm water and ivory soap. Sponge off with clean water. To remove oil or grease stains, use ivory soap and a brush instead of the sponge. NEVER use gasoline to clean upholstery, as it always leaves an oily stain behind it.

To clean the chassis, use a hose and plenty of water to soften the mud. To remove the grease use a stiff brush and some kerosene or some hot water and soap. NEVER under any circumstances, use the sponge you use for the body on the chassis. Keep a separate sponge for body and chassis.

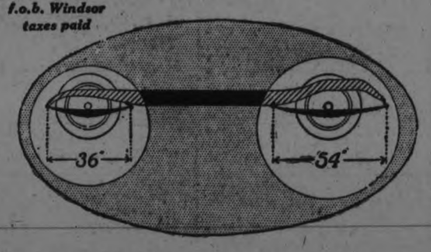
JEWETT SIX

PAIGE BUILT

$1645

f.o.b. Windsor taxes paid



Cradled on 180 Inches of Special-Alloy Springs

NINETY inches—7½ feet—of springs on each side the Jewett Six! Spring length equal to eighty per cent of its wheelbase. See how many cars of comparable size you can find as liberally sprung as Jewett! Every spring is built to finest Paige standards of special steels.

Leaves are wide and flat, stoutly shackled, and have well-oiled bushings. They absorb the shock and jolt of roughest roads in a way that makes folks wonder at Jewett's big-car riding comfort. The rear springs are semi-elliptic—slung under the axle to give both car and occupants a low, easy, cradling motion. Jewett spring suspension, in a word, is what you'd expect Paige to build! And Jewett Six is a better car than you expect $1645 to buy.

A—The Dominion Census Bureau reports the wheat crop area for 1923 as 22,165,000 acres, a slight decrease over 1922.

REMOVAL OF CATTLE EMBARGO.

Q—What is the contemplated effect of the removal of the cattle embargo in the United Kingdom against Canada?

A—The recent removal of the cattle embargo in Great Britain against Canada will it is thought lead to the export of 30,000 head during the present season.

CANADA'S WHEAT CROP.

Q—How best could Canada's wheat crop of 1922 be visualized?

A—Canada's wheat crop of 1922 of nearly 400,000,000 bushels would require 257,250 freight cars loaded to capacity. Placed in a line they would make a train 1946 miles long extending from Montreal to Swift Current. It would need 7359 locomotives to haul these trains.

A Thought

A man shall be as a hiding place from the wind, and a covert from the tempest; as rivers of water in a dry place, as the shadow of a great rock in a weary land.—Isa. 32:2.

'Tis not enough to help the feeble up.
But to support him after.

STUDEBAKER LIGHT-SIX TOURING CAR $1375

More Cars Shake Themselves to Pieces Than Ever Wear Out

Charge that up to vibration—the constant trembling that causes cars to grow old prematurely by racking the chassis, destroying the "metal life" of vital parts, loosening up bodies and causing squeaks and rattles. Frequent, costly repairs are the result.

The Studebaker Light-Six is freer from vibration than any car of its approximate size or weight yet produced. This has been accomplished largely by machining the crankshaft and connecting rods on all surfaces—a practice used by Studebaker exclusively on cars at this price and not to be found on any other car in Canada selling for less than $3500.

Aside from its mechanical excellence, the Light-Six is handsome in design, extremely comfortable, sturdy, and we believe the most economical car to buy and operate ever offered at $1375 or anywhere near this figure. It is powerful, flexible, speedy, easy to handle and convenient to park.

The Light-Six is well worthy of the Studebaker name, which for 71 years has stood for unfailing integrity, quality and value.

PITCHERS DO GOOD WORK IN CITY SERIES

Clever Baseball Is Being Played and Much Material Is Developed.

LEAGUE STANDINGS.

The fans who are turning out to witness the city baseball championship games are being served with a lot of good baseball, which to-day has been featured by high-class pitching. Prominent in the season's performances is the work of the Lakeviews of the Junior series who with Frank Whitehouse twirling have won their five starts. Whitehouse is having an excellent season, his no-hit no-run game against the Adanacs being a feat of no small importance This clever twirler, who by the way has an able catcher in Lambert Collins, has allowed only two runs in five games. His strikeout record reaches the high total of sixty-one his best showing having been against C.G.E when he fanned fourteen.

The Lakeviews and Adanacs who have demonstrated that they are the class of the series, will play five gams for the city championship. Th. first contest will be played at Riverside Park on Thursday July 12, commencing at six o'clock. Baseball fans will be well advised to follow this series.

Little progress has been made in the intermediate series, due to a late start and postponments because of inclement weather. Only two games have been played. C.G.E. Ontario champions. defeated Raybestos and Raybestos won against the All Stars from the Mercantile League. C.G.E and Raybestos are keeping their teams intact, under heavy handicaps.

In the Juvenile series, Maple Leafs, who won the Ontario Midget championship last season, are out in front in their division with five straight wins. The Leafs have been given clever pitching by "Chuck" Bradley, and the team performs very creditable in the field. By defeating the Sacred Heart team last evening, the Leafs win the first half.

The leadership of the Midget series is held by the Curlers who have won both games played. Here is a series where the smaller playing field is used and pitchers with a fast ball do not have much difficulty in putting on fanning bees. Woods who hurls for the Curlers has fanned thirty-three batters in two games. Conners, the Belmont twirler set up a mark of nineteen strikeouts in his first game. and Masterson in pitching Sacred Heart to victory on Thursday evening fanned eighteen.

Rotary have three straight wins in the Bantam series. Like the other league leaders, the Rotary lads get good hurling from Guiry his first pitching performance showing a strikeout record of eighteen. Veteran players and fans alike should display some interest in these games and encourage the youngsters to do their best work.

Th standing of the various leagues given herewith include games played last evening:—

GAME POSTPONED.

As a special meeting of the Peterborough and District Football Association held last evening in the G. W.V.A. rooms the cup tie to decide the teams to enter for the Ontario Cup games, was postponed from today to next Saturday. This action was taken as the result of an appeal on the part of the Vets. The Phalen Charity cup tie will be played to-day instead of the Ontario Cup tie.

LEAFS DEFEAT SACRED HEART

Winners Cinch First Half of Juvenile Series By 6 to 2.

Taking an early lead against Sacred Heart, at the King Edward school grounds last evening, Maple Leafs scored a 6 to 2 victory, and practically cinched the first half of the Juvenile series. Sacred Heart scored only in their two runs in the fifth, when seven batters faced "Chuck" Bradley, three of them hitting safely. It was the only frame in which Sacred Heart was dangerous. Four men faced Bradley in the first; the side was retired in the second by strikeouts, and went out in order in the third, fourth, sixth seventh. Bradley worked without his regular catcher, Ab. Delahaye, who failed to put in an appearance. "Ossy" Bannon, however, did excellent work behind the bat, and captured two difficult foul flys. Bradley fanned nine.

Vincent Rishea, the Sacred Heart backstop, put in a bad night having three interference plays called against him. All were unintentional, and they helped the Leafs to put men on the bags. Rishea also stopped a foul tip with his left arm

Leafs Start Early.

A single by Jimmy Jounston after Franks and Thirnbeck had hit down third and short, gave the Leafs a pair of runs in the first. Two more came in the second when Sheehy was forced to pitch to eight batters. A base on balls after two were out, two interference plays and a passed ball, helping the Leafs home. Sheehy retired the Leafs in order in the third, being backed up by some smart fielding plays. Milloy's error, two stolen bases, and hall's infield out sent Bradley across on the fourth. Another interference play gave Bannon a base in the sixth. He advanced on Grant's out at first and scored on Rody's error on Corbett's grounder.

An interfered play by Bannon, three singles and an infield out, gave Sacred Heart their two runs in the fifth.

The scoring summary:

WARKWORTH NOW NEAR THE TOP

Defeated Colborne in a County League Fixture

WARKWORTH, July 7.—Warkworth stepped into second place in the Northumberland County League by defeating Colborne here on Wednesday, 4th July.

The Warkworth boys made three home runs, Poole, Archie Zufelt, and McGregor getting one each

The batting of the Warkworth team was excellent, and the Colborne fielders were kept busy.

Archie Zufelt again excelled in the box. He finished with eleven strikeouts to his credit.

Tom Dick on third base is a clever youngster, his fielding and batting being good.

If the Warkworth boys keep up their present form they are sure to be pennant contenders.

Score by innings:

MACKENZIE IS IN THE FINAL ROUND

Will Meet W. J. Thompson This Afternoon For the Canadian Amateur Championship.

MONTREAL, July 7.—(Canadian Press).—Coming dramatically out of what looked to be the position of a beaten player, Redver Mackenzie, Montreal Country Club wiped off a lead of three holes held against him by C. C. Fraser Kanawaki. Canadian amateur champion, and won one of the semi-final games to-day at the Canadian amateur golf champion ship tournament thereby qualifying to enter the final to-morrow with W. J. Thompson Mississauga. Mr. Thompson had a comparatively easy victory over J. T. Cuthbert of Winnipeg by six and five.

Cuthbert had a chance in the afternoon round when Thompson became unsteady. This was in the middle of the outward trip. He missed it because this was an off day for his putter. On the other hand Thompson won his game with this club, some of the putts he sank being of a sensational order.

HEAVY HITTING IN AMERICAN LEAGUE

Shocker Pounded For Twelve Hits — Williams Hit Thirteenth Homer.

ST. LOUIS, July 7.— (Canadian Press.)—New York pounded Shocker for 12 hits and won the opening game of the series with St. Louis yesterday, 5 to 2. Witt got a double and a triple, and scored twice. Ward's double in the eighth scored Pipp and Meusel.

In the first Williams got his thirteenth home run of the season, also scoring Tobin, who had doubled, ahead of him. Score:

MLLE. LENGLEN IS STILL THE CHAMP

Won the Tennis Championship of the World From Miss McKane For the Fifth Successive Season.

WIMBLEDON, July 7.— (Canadian Press)—Suzanne Lenglen still is supreme among all the women tennis players of the world. With ease and certainty the French star defeated Miss Kathleen McKane, the best of Britain's tennis-playing yesterday afternoon, by the score of 6-2, 6-2 and so, won for the fifth successive season the title of world's champion.

It was the fifth meeting between this pair of stars, and. with one exception it was the worst beating Suzanne has administered to the lively British girl.

Mlle. Lenglen had the battle in hand from start to finish. Both players started carefully, seemingly with the intention of finding out what the tactics of the other would be and the first game went to deuce three times. Suzanne soon found out that Miss McKane preferred the safer course of staying in the back court and trusting to deep returns. So the French girl who can play well in any part of the court, adjusted her self to this style of battle and with her greater accuracy and sureness in stroking had no difficulty in winning.

She took the first five games, then dropped two and then finished the set on her own service.

HASTINGS WON FROM MARMORA

Good Lacrosse Played in the Eastern Town Last Night.

MARMORA, July 7. — Hastings juvenile lacrosse team succeeded in beating Marmora in an O. A. L. A. fixture at Marmora last evening by the score of 9 to 7.

Although expecting to be overwhelmed by the northerners, who had a decided advantage in weight, the local squad had the bigger share of the first period, which ended in their favour by 2 to 1.

Hastings opened up stronger in the second and at half time had the margin of one goal, with score 4 to 3.

In the third quarter Coach Dodd changed his men around, putting Cowell to check McInnis who was running wild in the first two quarters and the Hastings boys steadied down and held their opponents to a tie, 6 to 6.

In the last quarter was where good and brilliant lacrosse was played, and the Hastings boys took a new lease of life and ran away from their opponents, scoring three goals in a few seconds while Marmora were getting one.

The stars of the game were: Brady, Dickson, McInnis for Marmora, while Cowell, Cochrane and Baker played their same steady game.

Referee Creighton of Peterborough, proved very satisfactory and kept the game well in hand. The line-up:

Marmora: Goal, Neal; point, Dickson; cover-point, Simmons; 1st defence, Williams; 2nd defence McInnis; centre, C. Brady; 1st home, Wells; 2nd home, Clement; outside, J. Brady; inside, J. Brady; subs, Clement, Sine, Reynolds.

Hastings: Goal, Lambert; point, Cochrane; cover-point, Sanders; 1st defence, Dodd; 2nd defence, Archer; centre, Walsh; 1st home, Gould; 2nd home, Cruickshanks; outside, Baker; inside, Cowell; subs, Blake, Scriver.

Time-keepers—P. Shannon, Marmora; W. Wellman, Hastings.

Referee—J. Creighton, Peterborough.

KEENE WALLOPED LAKEFIELD TEAM

Otonabee Nine Hung Up a 13-0 Score in Seven Innings.

LAKEFIELD, July 7. (Special to the Examiner.) — Keene walked away with yesterday's twilight game with the local team in the East Peterborough Baseball League by the score of 13-0. It marked the opening of the second half of the schedule, and the Otonabee nine found Lakefield rather easy picking in the seven innings they played. The teams were as follows:

Keene — M. Robins ss, p.; Hawkins, c; C. Robinson, 1b; A. E. Fletcher, 2b; C. Nelson, 3b; M. Renwick, ss; M. McCarthy, cf; Ivan Fletcher, lf; Hugh Renwick, rf.

Lakefield — Northey p and lf; Knox c; Weaver, 1b p; Greer 2b ss; Hull, 3b; Fitzgerald cf cc; Webster rf; Erskine lf p; Doughty 2b cf.

Umpires, Pollard of Keene, and Dr. Smith.

Score by innings:

Keene .. ..0702202—13
Lakefield .. ..0000000— 0

Max Robinson was in great fettle and struck out ten of the Lakefield batters while Northey had six strike outs to his credit.

Lakefield could not get a man past second until the last innings when Northey hit for three bases, but two were down, and he was left stranded at third.

FIRPO WORKING HARD FOR BOUT

Willard is Already in Good Condition and Has Eased Up in His Training Programme.

NEW YORK, July 7.—(Canadian Press).—While Jess Willard, at his Yonkers gymnasium yesterday eased up in his training program Luis Angel Firpo, the South American who battles the former champion at at Boyle's Thirty Acres next Thursday night. went through one of the stiffest workout he has had in is ocean-front quarters at Long Beach, New Jersey.

Firpo, because of a barnstorming trip to Cuba and Mexico, was later than Willard is starting his conditioning for next week's bout and as a result the giant from the Argentine plans active work up until a day or so before the match. Willard has reached what he believes to be the top of his form and the rest of his work will be aimed at keeping him on edge.

Despite a terrific downpour, a crowd of several hundred gathered to watch Firpo go through his training paces yesterday. The South American shadow-boxed two rounds and then stepped four each with Jack McAuliffe II of Detroit who meets Floyd Johnson in the semi-final next week, and Bill Tate negro heavyweight.

TORONTO CATTLE.

TORONTO, July 7. — Trade during the holiday week has been exceptionally brisk and active in the butcher cattle class. This was offset somewhat by the quieter demand for export cattle. In the latter section prices went off fully 25c in Monday's market, but heavy steers selling from $8.25 to $8.50, and a few lots at $8.00.

At these prices the export market held steady for the balance of the week. The export trade is now fairly in the between season period, and during July and August, while a few heavy cattle may be required, there will be no really active demand in this class until September, when it is expected there will be a big trade for overseas.

In the butcher section of the market this week the demand increased in proportion to the shorter supplies, and prices steadily advanced from 25c to 50c higher at $7.65 to $8.25 for choicest butcher. in the closing market on Thursday. The weak point has been too many unfinished cattle from the grass, too hastily sent to market, presumably in the hope of benefiting by the high price prevailing. Shippers are strongly urged and advised not to ship these unfinished cattle to market at the present time, as they can be assured of better prices later on in the season.

In the small meat section both lambs and calves have held steady to strong, owing to the lighter supplies. Choice lambs sold in Thursday's market up to 16c and 16½c, and a few calves up to $9.00 and $10.00.

Hog market is holding steady at $7.75 f.o.b. and $8.35 fed and watered.

Receipts.

Union Stock Yards—Total receipts this week, 5,590 cattle, 1,346 calves, 6,433 hogs, 1,717 sheep and lambs.

ORLAND WON IN COUNTY FIXTURE

A Change in the Line-up Helped the Orland Team

ORLAND, July 7. — At the scheduled game played here between Brighton and Orland, a break was made by the home team in their losing streak by beating Brighton after eight successive losses.

The turn of the tables in favor of Manager Lieut. Belford's gang was due to the fact that for the first time this season Captain Wav was enabled to lead ten players on the diamond. At every other game he has been short and had to use from two to four substitutes as his regular line-up was eaten into by sickness and accidents.

But thanks to Belford's bull-dog stick-to-it-iveness and Latimer's unbounded faith, the home team was able to score a victory over one of the best group of players in the Northumberland League. The heavy and continual hitting by the Bantams was apparent in the desperate effort Brighton line-up made to secure a victory by sending three twirlers to the mound and two behind the plate.

It was evident that the fans who accompanied the visitors were hard losers as a whole, taking the defeat harder than the Orland bunch had swallowed eight successive defeats.

The score by innings was as follows:

Brighton	100030028—14
Orland	051010305—15

DIAMOND SCULLS TAKEN BY MORRIS OF ENGLAND

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, July 7—(Canadian Press).—M. K. Morris, Great Britain, is this year's winner of the diamond sculls, won last year by Walter Hoover, Duluth. Morris to-day defeated D. H. L. Gollan in the final heat for the trophy rowed on the Thames.

Morris took the lead early in the race and won by a length. His time was 8 minutes 23 seconds.

CURLERS VICTORS IN THE SEVENTH IN BANTAM GAME

Kiwanis and Curlers put up an interesting Bantam contest at Prince of Wales Grounds last evening, the Curlers winning the contest in the seventh innings by the score of 9-8.

Kiwanis started well, and at the third had a lead of 5 runs. In the sixth, the Curlers put over a strong rally, scoring 6 counters, and won out in the last frame when McGee scored with one out.

Lewis, who is the hard luck pitcher of the series, turned in another good game for the Kiwanis. He fanned thirteen, retiring the side on strikes in the second, third, and the fourth, only to meet disaster in the sixth.

Allen, for the Curlers, fanned eight and allowed two hits in three innings, and Doughty, who finished the game struck out four, and did not allow a hit.

Ed. LeBarr and Bill McGee handled the contest in good style.

The teams:

Kiwanis: Jennings, 3b; McDuffy, ss; Marshall, 1b; Lewis, p; Hutchison, c, lf; Dick, 2b; E. Wolff, cf; Holland, rf; G. Wolff, lf; Lucas, c.

Curlers: Doughty, 3b, p; Kingdon, 1b; Westbrook, lf; McFadden, c; McGee, rf, c; Walton, ss; Allen, p, 3b; Lord, 2b; Dillon, cf.

By innings:

Kiwanis	2320010—8
Curlers	1010601—9

STINNES TURNS HIS HAND TO NEW WORK

Develops Oil and Advertising Trusts and Spreads Electric Signs.

BERLIN, July 4 (United Press).—Hugo Stinnes, having stretched forth his hands into several dozen lines of activity within and without Germany, is now developing two new trusts—oil and advertising.

The "Oil Trust" is already a healthy infant, and will soon be full-grown, if Stinnes' aspirations for acquiring the Tschecho-Slovakian oil monopoly are realized. He has acquired large holdings in the so-called Petroleum Industry Company (Allied with the Riebeck mining concern) also in the Olea mineral-oil works in Frankfurt, as well as in oil companies of Hamburg and Stuttgart.

The Tschecho-Slovakian Oil monopoly has recently been voided by the Standard Oil Company, and Stinnes is now after it, realizing that oil is important to the industry and to his shipping lines. He also has Argentine holdings, but they so far have not been developed extensively.

Turning to his even newer trust, Advertising, one finds that the great magnate has built up a machine based on "telling it to the people." At present, he is spreading out in the electric sign game. Sparkling champagne bottles pouring forth their inviting bubbles on electric signs in the Friedrichstrasse. Ever-active signs extolling the merits of Manoli cigarets Pixavon tar hair wash, and a dozen other articles are part of the machinery of Stinnes' newest trust.

At the same time, Stinnes has bought a controlling interest in the "Ala," a huge concern which controls a vast part of the newspaper advertising placed through Germany. Between this outfit and the vast string of papers with Stinnes' capital, Stinnes manages to get a neat profit from advertising.

THINGS SO BAD IN EUROPE THAT MOST PEOPLE CAN'T LOSE

Central European Finances in the Air—Austrian Loan May Work Toward Stabilization of Continent.

Some few months ago, finding myself with a hundred pounds to spare (an event without precedent or hope of recurrence), I decided to give practical proof of my faith in Dr. Benes by purchasing a Czecho-Slovak gold bond. There is no particular philanthropy in such an operation, for the bond pays eight per cent interest, and stood when I bought it at 93½—which a little shakes my faith in the judgment of a Czecho-Slovakian diplomat of blameless integrity who assured me I had never made a safer investment in my life. (How easily that may be true my banker alone knows), writes Wilson Harris in the London Daily News.

But momentous though such a transaction may be to me personally it is for its wider bearing that it seems worth mention here. I happen to want Czechos to mount steadily to par and above it. So do many other people who hold them. So do the Czecho-Slovakians themselves, for the appreciation will be proof of the general prosperity of their country. So do people who make goods which Czecho-Slovakians, when they are prosperous, purchase. So do other people who find markets in neighboring countries which gain prosperity themselves out of trade with the Czecho-Slovakians. And so, as the Insect Play posters put it, ad infinitum.

Bankrupt Neighbors

In a word, we all want Czecho-Slovakia prosperous. We all, I trust, want everyone prosperous—and that not merely out of a general Dickens-like exuberance of spirit, but because we have at last mastered the economic axiom that both prosperity and depression are as contagious as measles. The fallacy that the elements producing prosperity are limited in volume and that if one nation has less of them the rest will have more is blown higher than German marks. But naturally enough to a landlocked State the contagion comes first from the neighbors next door. And of such neighbors Czecho Slovakia has something more than her share. The western end of her struggling territories just into Germany and the eastern runs like a wedge between the Ukraine and Rumania. To the north she has Poland, and on her southern frontier Austria and Hungary.

That, if I may lapse for a moment into theological phrasing, is the devil of it. Look at the German mark and the Polish mark. Look at the Austrian and Hungarian crown. To look at the Ukrainian rouble is futile, for the rouble has soared beyond human eyesight. Rumanian lei are better, but bad enough. What, surrounded by this desolation of foundered currencies, based on foundered economic and political hopes, is a self-respecting country to do? What, to put the question more pertinently, are other people who want markets in Central Europe to do?

Up Or Down

Two alternative evolutions are obviously possible. Czecho-Slovakia may slip down to her neighbors' level, or they may laboriously climb up to hers. (Incidentally, they may never reach it, for by the time they get where she is today their recovery will have reacted on her and sent her further up the hill, for the benefit of herself and all humanity. And so, once more, ad infinitum.) It is because those two alternatives exist—and no others—that it becomes so vital a task for the world to stimulate the climbing activities of Czecho-Slovakia's neighbors. That is why, above all, it is so imperative that the astonishing recovery of Austria s be crowned by the success of the long-term loan about to be issued in this country and elsewhere. That is why, it is so imperative, again, that the Reparation Commission shall repent of the rebuff it saw fit to administer last month to Hungary, when she sought its sanction to treat Austria's road back to health.

A mere glance at the map of Central Europe will show what it would mean to have the relative prosperity and stability of Czecho-Slovakia (for, after all, it is at the best only relative) extended first to Austria and then to Hungary, ther afield still. The danger of Europe and then as a natural consequence farand then as a natural consequence fartoday lies in the fact that over vast areas of its surface, to put it colloquially, anything may happen. Things are so bad that most people have nothing to lose. That condition breeds not merely radical discontent, but a perilous and wholly intelligible desperation. No stroke of the pen is going to alter that. All that can be hoped for is to lift first one country and then another out of the waters and thus slowly and toilsomely widen the area of firm land.

A Sound Investment

Slowly and toilsomely that is being effected today. There is no need to recall here what has been achieved in Austria since the scheme drafted at Geneva last September was applied—how the currency from that moment has been stabilised, how taxes have been increased and expenses cut down, how a Bank of Issue has been founded with a much more than adequate cover, how redundant employes have been dismissed to the extent of nearly 40,000; how the goal of a balanced Budget, which the less restrained optimists put two years ahead, is likely in point of fact to be reached in eighteen months.

These are notable, indeed astonishing, achievements, I know, of course, that the Austrian Social Democrats, who, having in the past insisted on maintaining or manufacturing sinecure posts by the hundred thousand, now see a radical purge in operation, habitually speak of the League of Nations High Commissioner at Vienna, Dr. Zimmermann, as if he spelt his name Zimmolini. In actual fact the late Burgomaster of Rotterdam has done his work with justice as well as efficiency. He is in London today to make the final arrangements about the loan that is to see Austria safely through her trouble.

There should be little need to appeal, for support for that loan, to any other motive but self-interest for the loan will pay the equivalent of 7½ per cent. it is secured on Austrian revenues that bring in far more than is needed for its service, and, in addition, it is guaranteed up to 100 per cent. by the Governments of Great Britain, France, Italy Czecho-Slovakia and four or five other European countries. Incidentally, Mr. Pierpont Morgan's firm, which is reputed to know something about busines, is taking up 5,000,000 out of the total of 27,000,000. But to cloak self-interest under a show of public spirit induces peculiarly when the self-interest is legitimate and the public spirit no more affectation. And anyone who invests this week or next in Austrian loan can justly claim that he is taking an effective part in restoring stability in Europe.

WM. DE MILLE'S PICTURE "GRUMPY" IS THRILLING

Every scenario writer strives for one big thing in every picture—suspense. Without it a picture is an absolute failure in-so-far as interest is concerned. Clara Beranger has succeeded. In "Grumpy," William de Mille's production, featuring Theodore Roberts, May McAvoy and Conrad Nagel, which comes to the Capitol Theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, she has begun the suspense with the first scene and it ends only when the final scene is shown.

The central situation of "Grumpy" is the mysterious disappearance of a diamond valued at $500,000, which is stolen from Ernest Heron (Conrad Nagel) and recovered by "Grumpy," a lovable, though irascible, old character played by Mr. Roberts. The suspense starts with the opening scene, when the crooks are plotting the theft of the jewel. It builds up bigger and bigger to the climax and does not finally end until the last scene, when the crook is brought to justice, the sole clue to his identity being a gardenia with a woman's hair wrapped around its stem.

CAMERAMAN PUT ONE OVER THE EX-KAISER

Cameraman succeeded after years of cunning and trickery in penetrating exile of fugitive war lord of Germany in Holland. Having hidden himself, the cameraman has taken the scenes behind barbed wire guarding the 20-acre empire without the knowledge of the ex-Kaiser. Even Napoleon at St. Helena had scarcely a more dismal end than that which the former German war lord is facing in his lonely retreat at Doorn, Holland. The Capitol Theatre will show these pictures Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

ANOTHER COUNTRY HAS DECIDED IT WILL PAY

(By H. N. Moore.)

LONDON, July 7. — Another country has decided that it will be better to pay its debt to Canada. Greece, seeing its opportunities of support from the United States fading away, has decided to settle its financial obligations with the Dominion and the Greek government has agreed to lump overdue interest with capital and to make a payment from the first external loan which the country can raise. The debt is made up of advances to Greek interest and readjustments necessitated by the spoiling of certain goods through delay after they had arrived in Greek ports, amounts to a total sum of ighteen million dollars and Athens has despatched its offer of payment.

Canadian Stock Exchange — And Mines — | New York Stock Exchange — And Curb Prices —

To-Day's Quotations and Opinions and Reviews of the Markets.

New York, July 7. United Press. —To-day's ..tion of the stock market was the first decent rally the market has enjoyed for many weeks and the shorts now realize that they had overstepped the market in many issues, prices of some having invited important buying. Short stop orders were met and there was not a lot of stock to satisfy the bears.

Those who sold Canadian Pacific short assuming that the increase in the Bank of England rate was bearish and that this w.. the best sale, regretted their action for selling at 147¾; on comparatively little buying the stock was up 5 3-8 from Friday's lowest.

Buying broadened out as the session drew to a close and the market became more active. Advance ranged from 1 to 5 points in some of the active issues.

Baltimore and Ohio, which had been purchased by some leading houses on the break sold at 46½ and allied chemical and dyeing selling at 67 3-8 up 1 3-8 from the close, did not reflect any worry about the outcome of the Steel and Tube litigation on the part of the former shareholders. There were buyers around the room this morning as the stock market opened. Initial dealings showed a fair volume of trading.

Coppers were opened strong with Utah at 57 3-4 up 3-4; Smelters 55 3-8 up ¼ and Kennecott 33 3-4 up 3-8.

There was some western buying of Western Producers and Refiners which opened at 35 up ¼.

Studebaker held its gain of yesterday, opened at 107. The general tone of the market was firm and there were quite a few gains.

The shorts were having an uncomfortable time in some specialties. For instance, Beech-Nut sold at 59 up 1½; Texas Gulf Sulphur 56 up 7-8 and Continental Can 45 up 7-8; Schulte scored a sharp advance to 98 up 3½ from the close yesterday and up 6 from the low of the week.

Standard issues were steady. Steel sold around 91½, Baldwin 118 up 3-4. There was a large short interest in the latter stocks which have always been a favorite speculative issue with both the bulls and the bears. Delaware and Hudson sold at 94 off 2 from the close. The street hears that some of this stock is being sold by an estate and that some of the selling is coming from Chicago. At the end of the first hour the market still displayed a firm tone. Pressure on Delaware and Hudson selling at 90¼ off 2 3-4 unsettled the list temporarily but the stocks were well taken on the decline. Trading was comparatively light.

Accumulation of drygoods stocks has been going on during the decline. Associated Drygoods sold at 73 3-4 up 1 7-8 from Friday's low; Julius Kayser sold at 31 3-8 up 2 1-8 from Friday's low.

Ruins of a city, believed to be at least 4,000 years old, have been discovered in Mexico by a Scottish mining engineer.

FORMER SULTAN DISLIKES HEAT OF EGYPT'S SUMMER

LONDON, July 7 (Associated Press) —Mohammed VI, at one time Sultan of Turkey, wants to get away from Egypt, where he finds the summers too hot. The British will not permit him to live in Palestine or Cyprus, so he is considering Switzerland.

The present Turkish government is said to be willing to allow Mohammed's wives, who are now in Constantinople, to join him, but he does not want them to come to a European non-Moslem country, so in Switzerland he will be alone with the exception of his 12 year old son, his physician, and his personal attendants.

Are Good Standard Stocks Worth Buying NOW

That question is in many persons' minds just now, and the opinion of RELIABLE Brokers is that stocks are really CHEAP, judging from the condition of industrial business. However financial markets have been heavy and traders are discouraged. Is not this the time to buy? Certainly good DIVIDEND PAYERS are remarkably cheap. Phone us or call and we will discuss the many questions with you to our mutual benefit.

some 65 slides provided by his department, which worked out in detail the various phases in the life of the child. One picture showed the first sentence of a young child in the Toronto juvenile court, and another showed a man who had been up 27times before the judge, and was receiving his final, life sentence when the picture was taken. Alluding to the picture of the first offender, the young boy before the juvenile court, Mr. Campbell related the outcome of his display of this picture in a certain small place in Quebec, where a lady offered to adopt the boy, a child of fine physique, and to guarantee to him a splndid education and a course at McGill.

University, in whatever line he might choose as his life work. Her own boy had been a victim of the Great War, and lay in Flanders' Fields.

A pamphlet on "Some Canadian Questions" obtainable at 604 Jarvis street, Toronto was recommended al so for the information and interest it contained on various national aspects of Canadian life and growth.

At the conclusion of Mr. Campbell's address, a member of the class, Mrs. B. Aiken of Peterboro, paid a tribute to the splendid ideas she had received from attendance at the Summer school mentioning in particular the Bible Study classes conducted by Rev. Mr. McCutcheon, and the addresses by Mr. Campbell.

The president, Rev. R. T. Richards, B.A.B.D., of Castleton led a discussion this morning on "The New Constitution of Young People's Work". The new constitution has just been issued, and Mr. Richards alluded to it as being made of elastic rather than the formidable castiron of older times and making provision for the entry, if desired of younger groups of people. Considerable discussion on the problem, which affects rural districts mainly of coordination of differing groups, such the League societies went on, and Mr Richards concluded the session with a reference to the decisions which as the C.G.I.T. and C.S.E.T. and will be reached at the Young People's Convention to be held in Belleville on October 31, Nov 1 and 2, of this year.

Miss Lina Moyer, leading the C.G.I.T. group later, spoke of the C.G.I.T. programme as the groundwork in many cases of efficient work and service later in the Young People's League and said inclusion of all ages from 12 to 20 years in one organization would not make for efficient work. Miss Moyer's class this morning held a department session, with a programme based on the subject of "Gratitude."

Rev. Mr. Clarke to the teachers, spoke on the art and value of questions in the Sunday school period. The main idea behind questions was not to gain a correctly worded answer only, but to discover if the idea of the lesson had permeated to the mind of the hearer. Guarding against mere guessing and over-questioning was emphasized, and there should be clear, definite questions to stimulate thought.

Another attribute of correct questioning was the focusing of the child's attention on the important as part of the lesson. By questions its attention was directed to the main point, therefore enquiries about non essentials should be avoided.

It should be remembered, also, that individual effort was worth while. It was noticeable of Jesus' teaching that he paid as much attention to the individual as he did to the crowd.

On account of so many of the attending ministers being obliged to leave the Summer school to-day the morning and afternoon programmes arranged for to-morrow will not be realized.

The School, in a body will attend morning service at Trinity church, when Rev. F. J. Horwood of Camborne will preach and in the evening, the closing exercises will be held at George Street Methodist church, when the sermon will be given by Rev. G. I. Campbell of Toronto, whose addresses during the week have been so interesting.

This evening, an impromptu concert will be held in the Sunday school room of George street Methodist church open to the public, and described as one of the most enjoyable portions of the entire week's programme.

WAR FLEET TURNED INTO WATCH CASES.

Terror of the Seas Made Into Articles of Peace.

LONDON, July 7.— (United Press)—England's proud wartime fleet is bing converted into razor blades, dancing floors and gunmetal watch cases.

Shipwreckers have purchased one hundred dreadnoughts and lesser ships from the English Government.

These will be scrapped under the agreement reached at the Washington disarmament conference.

The metal will be molded into articles of peace. Wooden decks are destined to resound to jazz music and gently tapping feet.

Taking their cue from American meat packers, English shipwreckers utilize every part of a scrapped ship except the blast from a whistle

The Warspite, a terror of the seas from 1914 to 1918, has been sold for $83,500. It cost about $4,000,000 to build.

Shipwreckers scrap monster vessels with the same care tha builders put into their construction Every bolt and rivet is individually removed. Turbine blades, sometimes numbering 750,000 in each engine, are separately removed, melted and sold. Brass stairway coverings are worth taking up.

For a naval officer to scrape his chin with a portion of his old ship will be like Fido eating his brother in a sausage, but they must get used to it.

STONEY LAKE NEWS BUDGET

STONEY LAKE, July 7.—Full summer service of steamers means that the season for tourists is in full wing. The boats "Empress' and "Islinda" ply between Lakefield and the lakes carrying passengers and freight to various points. The crews of the steamers are practically unchanged from year to year and become prominent and popular characters in the community life.

This year connection has been established between the lakes and the C.P.R. and Mr. Wm. Thompson's boat "Mount Julian" connects with the motor bus at McCracken's carrying passengers to all parts of the lake.

Among those registered at the Mount Julian hotel are:—Miss Marjorie Wesley, Peterboro; Miss Audrey Elcome, Peterboro; Wm. Horder, District Passnger Agent of the C.P.R. Toronto; Mr. Skinner, C.P.R. agent Peterboro; Dr. M. P. Kennedy, Lakefield; Edward C. Coleman, Toronto; H. G. Smith, Hamilton; R. S. Williams, Hamilton; R. Adams, Toronto; J. Henderson; A. Pressinger, New York; Edward V. A. Kennedy; Toronto; Miss Kennedy. Toronto; G. W. Hatton, James Lynch N. C. Hatton, Peterboro; Jas. Dewning and wife, Apsley, C. S. Windsor and wife, Apsley; W. O. Collins, Apsley; Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Maddox, Toronto; C. Dixon, Toronto; E. L. Reid, Peterboro; C. H. D'Oiley Reid. Peterboro, Mr. and Mrs. Sharp, Peterboro, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Thompson, Peterboro, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Gillespie, Peterboro, H. E. Howe, Toronto; T. G. Watson. Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Foster Cleveland; W. E. Shenston, London, England; Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Score, Toronto; Miss Doris Score, Toronto; Miss Mary E. Score, Toronto.

Viamede News

Fishing has been excellent at "Viamede" and several good catches have been brought in.

It is expected this year that a regatta will be held at "Viamede" about the 9th of August a regatta dance with a good orchestra in attendance will be held in the pavilion. This will add another to the regatta list at the lake and will contribute its quota to the festivities which are at their zenith during the first two weeks in August.

Among the guests registerred at Viamede as:—H. J. Van Volkenburg Ithaca N.Y.; R. C. Bradstreet, Rochester N.Y. Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Dalton Toronto: Dr. W. O. Holdy, Cleveland, O., H. H. Holdy, Cleveland O., E. Hart Toronto; T. A. Craig, New York City; J. J. Soeight, Toronto—E. B. Lansier. New York City; D. C. Cholord, Toronto; G. M. Butchart Toronto; A. C. Butchart, Toronto; F. O. Patterson Toronto; A. Vineburg, Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter, Montreal; Mr. and Mrs R. G. Phillips Rochester, N.Y.. Miss Helen Phillips Rochester N.Y.; C. H. Colborne, Rochester, N.Y. Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Butchart, Toronto; Miss C. Butchart, Toronto.

Y.W.C.A. Camp

The Y.W.C.A. camp this year is at "Gladhalken" again this season and is in charge of Miss Jean Thomson of Lakefield. The camp promises to be as popular as ever as a centre for joly times. Among the girls who are at present spending their holidays there are:—Misses Margaret McCullough H. Outram, and Phemie Hendry.

St. Peter's church has been enlarged and improved this year, several feet have been added to the nave and a chancel has also been added. A small belfry is another addition and the golden brown wooden cross surmounting it is a silent but eloquent witness that the worship of God plays an essential part in the life of the summer colony.

Rev. A. W. Mackenzie of Lakefield took the service on Sunday last. The water is now approaching the normal level after being higher than perhaps ever before in the known history of the lake.

Several drives of logs are enjoying their leisurely passage down the lake toward the waiting saw mills. Early in the week one drive was a couple of miles below Young's Point while another filled the main channel to Burleigh causing the steamers to go round to the west of the Fraser island.

The Peterboro Canoe Company have a large two storey boat house at Juniper Island this season just west of the pavillion. The Brown Boat Company of Lakefield is erecting boat houses at "Glenwood' and Viamede.

This season among the missing faces is that of Major Gordon J. Smith of Brantford. Major Smith was one of the outstanding figures in the life at Stoney Lake and his passing leaves a gap in the community life which it is not easy to fill. His cottage "Shota, for many years a centre of good times at the lake, was situated between McCrackens Landing and Juniper Island and he was active in the life of both districts. Always a member of the McCracken Regatta committee. he gave yeoman service and entered fully into every event.

Stoney Lake Personals

Rev. and Mrs. J. Lancaster Hughes of Youngs Point spent Monday at the lake.

Mr. and Mrs. William Clint have opened their cottage Ramese for the season.

"Sea Breeze" the Grylls cottage is taken for the month of July by W. C. Garbutt of Hamilton and a party of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Hunter are settled in their pretty bungalow on "Fish Island" for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Yelland, of Toronto, spent the week-end at their cottage at Hurricane Point.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Routley, of Peterboro, have opened "Rockport" for the season.

Mrs. Gordon J. Smith, of Brantford, is spending the summer at "Shots."

Sam. Henderson, of Toronto, has opened "Kannatha Lodge" for the season. Mr. Henderson is a permanent resident on the Burleigh shore from July 1st till Labor Day.

Miss Edna Stubbs, of Peterboro, was a week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Yelland at Hurricane Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon H. Grahame and Miss "Peaches" are settled at "Twilight," the picturesque little cottage nestling on a bluff near Juniper, which will provide inspiration for future books. Mr. Grahame is an ardent devotee of the simple life at Stoney Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Gibson, of Peterboro, are at their cottage on Upper Stoney Lake. Mr. Gibson's enormous flag, bearing the Royal Arms of "Auld Scotland," proclaims that he is a Scotchman and proud of it.

Miss Coleman, of Peterboro, was a week-end visitor to friends on the Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Piper and family, of Toronto, are at "Kimo," near Mount Julian.

Dr. Leaming and family, of Chicago, are at their picturesque cottage on Lower Stoney Lake for the season.

Mrs. J. MacAllister Sym and son Fred, of Toronto, are at Grassy Island for the season.

Harry W. Blewett, of Toronto, spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Blewett, at Burleigh Falls.

Mrs. Watson and family, of Baltimore, are at Pook's Hill, near Fairy Lake.

George G. Hendren, of Lakefield, has built an addition to his cottage, "Rockridge," which has transformed it entirely. There is a wide hospitable looking verendah and an open-air dining-room and bedrooms overhead. Mr. and Mrs. Hendren and family moved up this week.

JOYOUS BUCHAREST NEEDS NO BOOSTER.

Love and Laughter Make It the Joy City of Europe.

BUCHAREST, July 7.—(Associated Press).—Bucharest is growing faster than any city in Europe. It is spreading out in all directions over the neighboring plains in an effort to house its population of a million, which is still growing. In 1913 the capital's population was only 338,000, which included 35,000 Austrians and Hungarians and 43,000 Jews.

Bucharest is the joy city of Europe. Love and laughter, song and wine, dancing and card-playing are as dear to the Rumanian heart as to the gayest spirits in Bohemia.

The Rumanian eats five times a day, and is ready for another repast at midnight. He dislikes going to bed. He loves his wine-jug and his cards. And he would die without his rum-coffee and his gossip about the latest scandal of the town.

The Calle Victoriei, Bucharest's Fifth Avenue, is studded with pretty women in the latest Parisian gowns and jewels. Smart looking army officers in high patent-leather boots and blue and gold uniform strut along the rialto, shedding smiles on Rumania's lovely feminity. Among these dashing Don Juans and Lotharios one sees motley groups of gypsy men and women with their numerous progeny, some of the children without a stitch of clothing. For this is the land of Romany, of the race from which the gypsy fortune-tellers and vagabonds of the United States claim descent. And the gypsy believes that beauty unadorned is adorned the most.

Rumanian women, who admittedly are the most attractive and fascinating in the Balkans, owe their striking beauty to their strain of gypsy or Greek blood, their langorous eyes and their olive complexions. They are buoyant and vivacious, romantic and pleasure-loving.

Both sexes in Rumania use perfumery, rouge and cosmetics in profusion. The cosmetic business is one of the most profitable in Rumania. The Rumanian men are tall, handsome and dark, but are inclined to be effeminate. They wear form-fitting jackets, waist-bands and affect monocles and spats. This, of course, does not apply to the peasantry, who are a sturdy, homely, energetic lot, and constitute the backbone of the country and its chief hope for the future.

Although Bucharest prides itself on being the Paris of the Balkans, and French is spoken more than any other foreign tongue, there is a great desire on the part of the educated classes to learn English. American tutors are much in demand.

There are at present three newspapers printed in French, which is the court and society language, but it probably will not be long before a daily paper published in English will be established. Queen Marie, who is an accomplished writer, has published all her books in English, and that is the language of the royal family, although both the king and queen command facile use of half a dozen other tongues.

Society

Miss Ruby Holmes is spending her vacation at Willow Lodge, Rice Lake.

Mr Vincent and Hubert O'Keefe, of Thompsonville, Conn. have returned after a visit with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. James O'Keefe, 79 Lansdowne street.

Mr and Mrs. A. Tate and family, of Moose Jaw, Sask., are visiting Mrs. Tate's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bell, "Roxview Farm," Smith township.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brown, of Flint, Michigan, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. Northcott, 512 Aylmer Street.

Miss Berenice Giroux is home from Ottawa for the summer vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Musson, of Toronto, are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Dodd, 679 George street.

Miss Alma Hill left this morning for St. Catharines, where she will spend the summer with her aunt, Mrs. John Stiner.

Mrs. J. Harnden, of Campbellford, is a week end visitor at the Summer School. An attentive and constant visitor is Mr. C. L. Cunningham of Peterborough, for many years a Sunday school teacher in Ameliasburg.

Mrs. A. P. MacLean and family of Winnipeg, are spending July and August at Chemong Park, with Mrs. MacLean's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hall.

Mr. Harold F. Hall of Winnipeg, is visiting at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Hall, Homewood avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hall will be at home to their friends on Monday, July 9th, from four to ten o'clock, at their home, 507 Homewood avenue, on the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding. Their daughter, Mrs. A. P. MacLean, of Winnipeg, will receive with them.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Worth and family leave to-morrow for Pasedena, California, where they will reside in future.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Hall of Toronto, motored to the city on Thursday. They were accompanied on their return by Mrs. H. Carveth and Miss Veronica Carveth, who will spend some time in Toronto.

ARTIFICIAL LUMBER GIVES PROMISE OF GREATER UTILITIES.

Experiments Demonstrate Structural Strength Sufficient — Only Charm of Grain Effects Lacking.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(Associated Press).—Experiments in the making of "artificial" lumber are arousing increasing interest among Government officials and leaders in the lumber industry.

Although none of the product has been marketed, officials of the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association declare that tests already made of a synthetic composition produced by Minnesota lumber interests show it possesses many qualities making it available for structural purposes.

The experiments are based on somewhat the same principle as that employed in the manufacture of paper from wood pulp. In the process not only the trunks and branches of young trees, but the leaves and smaller parts as well, are ground up and mixed with other substances, virtually eliminating waste. The resulting compound is capable of being moulded into sizes and shapes of almost any description needed in building.

Officials of the Lumber Manufacturers' Association declare that if a practical method of this sort can be perfected, the result may be to revolutionize the entire lumber industry. Aside from utilizing the present great waste in converting trees into usable lumber, they say, it presents a solution to the manufacturer's problem of finding sufficient material in the country's rapidly diminishing timber resources.

From the time the standing tree is turned by the sawmill into planks and boards and applied in construction, from 60 to 65 per cent. has been wasted. This includes stumps, chips, bark and branches, plank and log trimmings and a huge amount of sawdust. The new method will use all of this.

Already 750,000 have been spent in experimental work in this direction by the Weyerhaeuser lumber interests in Minnesota. Their experiments are said to have been undertaken largely because one of the chief obstacles encountered by lumber manufacturers is the competition of paper manufacturers, who can use young trees unsuitable for lumber purposes. This is especially important in the Lake States, where pulp mills so compete with sawmills as to make it practically certain that very little saw timber will be grown commercially under present conditions. Timber owners find that in from 15 to 20 years they can grow crops of spruce that will be suitable for the pulp and paper mills, whereas it would take from 50 to 100 years to grow a crop that would meet the requirements of the lumberman.

According to the Manufacturers' Association, tests have shown the artificial lumber to have a satisfactory tensile strength and to be capable of being sawed, planed and nailed, so that the product lacks only the charm of the grain effects of natural wood. Officials of the forestry service, while declaring they had not yet been assured the strength of the artificial boards equals that of the natural ones, believe they would be useful for many purposes. One of their strong points, it is said at the forestry service, is their waterproof qualities and insulation against heat and cold.

TODAY'S GAME AT RIVERSIDE

RIVERSIDE PARK, July 7. — Kingston and Peterborough were on even terms in the second round of the Big Four fixture when they lined up to-day.

There was the usual crowd of perspiring fans, and midsummer weather favoured the game.

The Kingston line-up was:

Nicholson, cf; Daly, rf; Twigg, 2b; Batstone, 3b; Cherry, lf; W. Evans, 1b; Kettle, ss; Rice, c; Gallagher, p.

Peterborough put in the field:

Legon, lf; Johnston, 2b; Swanston, c; Ansaldo, ss; Wolfe, cf; Comolli, 1b; Heckman, p; Shaughnessey, rf; Collins, 3b.

Butler and Barnes were referees.

First Inning

Kingston failed to score. Nicholson and Daly grounding.

LACROSSE

Hastings juveniles won in Marmora yesterday by the score of 9 goals to 7. Jack Creighton, who refereed, said it was a clean, fast game.

Something went wrong with last night's junior practice at Riverside Park. A full turnout is requested for Monday evening in the same place. It will be the last rehearsal before the game in Marmora.

MARRIAGE.

ENTENTE IN DANGER OF PERMANENT BREAK FROM BRITISH STAND

Britain Believed Decided on Lone Policy—France and Belgium Refuse to Abandon Coercive Measures-Germany Charges France With Wasting Money.

SERIOUS SITUATION

LONDON, July 9—(United Press)—The finishing touches on a policy towards reparations and the Ruhr to be adopted by Britain, and urged upon France and Belgium, were effected to-day at a meeting of the British Cabinet.

Premier Baldwin and Foreign Minister Curzon will make public the policy in Parliament this week, each in the house to which they belong—Baldwin in the Commons and Curzon in the Lords.

The Foreign Secretary reported to-day to the Cabinet on the conversations he had with the French, Belgian and Italian Ambassadors recently. It is believed that as a result of these, Britain has decided to go on alone, if necessary, and settle the reparations problem in her own way.

France, according to the announcement by President Millerand, declines definitely to abandon her present policy of coercion.

Belgium is understood to be equally firm for the pursuit of the Ruhr sanctions. The Ambassadors of these two countries may be withdrawn from Berlin. Britain has indicated through the speeches of various Ministers the disapproval of this proposal which was urged by Belgium after the Duisburg outrage in which twenty lost their lives.

Italy is aligned with neither France, Belgium nor England. Mussolina has a plan of his own involving the discussion of war debts simultaneously with reparations.

The British policy upon which the Cabinet worked to-day is likely to signalize a definite, possibly a permanent, break in the Entente that won the war.

ITALY DISAGREES WITH ALL.

ROME, July 9.—(United Press).—The new Italian participation in the reparations muddle is seen in Sunday's conference between German Ambassador Neurath and Senator Contrarini, general secretary of the Foreign Office.

The semi-official newspaper, Messagero, points out that the Anglo-Italian press is under the wrong impression in believing that Italy is leaning toward the British viewpoint on the Ruhr, and that the French pressers similarly in thinking that Italy is favorable to France and Belgium.

It declares that the Italian policy disagrees markedly with both England and France in regard to the proper treatment of Germany. Italy it declares, adheres to Mussolini's original memorandum, declaring that Germany should have a reasonable moratorium and linking the reparations question with the problem of the settlement of inter-Allied debts.

If Italy and England agree regarding the necessity of diplomatic action for the restoration of normalcy to the Ruhr it does not mean that they have reached an identity of opinion regarding the debt settlement which Mussolini holds is the heart of the matter.

GERMANS ALLEGE WASTE.

BERLIN, July 9—(United Press).—An official statistical statement of the finance Ministry charges that France is wasting the reparations gold already paid for occupation purposes in building up a military camp behind which French Imperialism seeks to hide evil annexation plans and attempts to create a situation justifying her procedure.

The document, which is entitled insanity of the occupation costs, disagrees with the Reparation Commission estimate of about eight billion gold marks paid to the end of last year, and claims instead that Germany's total deliveries for forty-six billion gold marks or about ten billion dollars.

That portion of the reparations which the Reparations Commission charges to France's account is chiefly consumed in the enormous costs of the occupation of the Ruhr. The document states:

Little of this sum remained for actual reconstruction purposes. When will the world take a stand against such insanity and root it out?

It charges that France has violated the agreement made between Clemenceau, Woodrow Wilson and Lloyd George for two hundred and forty million gold marks for annual occupation costs, and also for the subsequent agreements by devoting

Sentenced a Woman To Die in the Chair

NEW YORK, July 9. Special.—Mrs. Anna Buzzi was sentenced to die in the electric chair for murder of Frederick Schneider Bronx, contractor, with whom she lived for eight years. Supreme Court Justice O'Malley directed that the woman convicted recently of a first degree murder, be electrocuted at Sing Sing the week of August 6th.

FRANCE VOTED HER APPROVAL

Bills Relating to Pacific and Commercial Convention With Canada Were Adopted.

PARIS, July 9. — (Canadian Press).—The Chamber of Deputies to-day unanimously voted the bill approving the Washington treaties relating to the Pacific.

The bill approved the treaty concluded December 12, 1921, by France, United States, Britain and Japan, covering their island possessions in the Pacific and the declaration adopted on the same date relating to Pacific mandates.

The bill approving the commercial convention between France and Canada, signed December 15, 1922, was also adopted without debate by the Chamber.

The action by the Chamber on the treaties is in continuation of the ratification progress inaugurated on Saturday when the Washington naval treaty was ratified in the Lower House by a vote of 460 to 106. The Senate has yet to act upon the various accords.

When the question of ratifying the conventions relating to the Pacific came up, Deputy Archimbaud, Socialist-Radical, said he and his friends would vote for the bill, not because France would obtain any great advantage from it, but because tht treaties constituted a perceptible effort by four great nations toward peace, and would strengthen the chances of peace in the Pacific.

THEATRE COMPANY HAD HEAVY LOSSES

Trans-Canada Theatre Company Goes Into Liquidation.

MONTREAL, July 9. — The following statement was made by the Trans-Canada Theatres, Ltd., on Saturday confirming the liquidation of the Trans-Canada concern.

The facts are set forth very precisely in the letter to the shareholders with the notice calling the special general meeting. The reasons for this course are not hard to guess. They have carried on at a loss almost since they started, while for the last year or two theatrical business everywhere has been very bad.

"In spite of these discouraging conditions they carried on for a year or more past at a practical minimum of expense, cutting every possible salary to rock bottom, although this could not, of course, be done with their booking contracts.

"Even with these drastic economies they still had to face deficits. Now the directors and the principal shareholders have come to the conclusion that everything under Heaven has been done to carry on, but it has simply resulted in an increase in liabilities, with no immediate prospect of a change for the better in the theatrical business, so that there is nothing left but the course that has been taken.

"But they are still in a position where the equity in their properties and franchises is sufficient to pay off the ordinary liabilities. I doubt if the shareholders will get much out of their investment, although they will probably be able to clean up their liabilities, which are not very heavy, the theatrical business, as is well known, being to a considerable extent conducted on a cash basis.

"By winding up now it was considered that they would get out clean as regards their liabilities, while if they had tried to carry on in the hope of better things, unless the theatrical situation changed very remarkably for the better, which did not seem promising, they would probably have incurred much heavier losses."

TURKS WIN IN PEACE DEBATE AFTER PARLEY

Obtained Abolition of Capitulations and Have Come Back Into Europe Through Thrace.

HAD CELEBRATION

LAUSANNE, July 9.—(Canadian Press).—Lausanne "peace peace, tell it to the whole world," these were the words of Ismet Pasha Turkish leader to correspondents as he emerged jubilant early this morning from Conference Hall after session that extended well into the night. Champagne was drunk later at delegation hotels to celebrate success of negotiations which began last November only to be interrupted in February by sensational collapse over questions which this morning were settled.

Turkey won succession of victories throughout Conference and by Lausanne treaty will achieve two results worthy of an important place in European history. In first place she obtained abolition of capitulations, step which took Japan long years to accomplish. In second place Turkey by her re-entry into Eastern Thrace, comes back into Europe.

Agreement shows that Allies were able to maintain united front.

Ismet Pasha proved himself a great diplomat and never relinquished his grasp on delicate questions which confronted conference. Angora government must still be consulted on vital points concerning allied concession in Turkey but every body believes that peace will surely be signed within ten days.

BROUGHT DYING CHILD TO CITY

Thirteen Houses Must Be Connected With Sewer on Louis Street.

An hour after a child brought from Cobourg a few days ago by its parents, was admitted to the Isolation Hospital it died of diphtheria, Dr. T. W. H. Young, M.O.H. reported to the Board of Health this morning.

"They didn't telegraph to find out whether we could take them in", the Doctor said. "When they arrived here in the evening the child was dying. The parents motored up with it from Cobourg. They brought no report of its condition or as to whether anti-toxin had been used. The doctor had told them that it needed a tube in its throat. An hour after the child was received at the hospital it was dead and we had it sent by the undertaker immediately back to Cobourg. The parents seemed to be ignorant people and didn't know much about it."

That was the only case on the register of the Isolation Hospital for June. On July 1st a patient was received from Norwood with cerebro-spinal meningitis. Payments during the month amounted to $829.82.

W. H. McGee will be notified that he must instal sanitary plumbing in the house he owns at 278 Park street and connect it with the sewer. This action was in accord with a petition from residents who complained of a nuisance in their midst.

Plumbing Inspector Metheral reported that thirteen houses on Louis street belonging to Bradburns Limited were not connected with the sewer.

"I don't see why Mr. Bradburn should get off while poorer people are compelled to put in the sewer," remarked Mayor Taylor.

"We're trying to get rid of outdoor closets," said Mr. Lynch who moved seconded by the Mayor that notice be given that these thirteen houses must be brought into line with the Board's programme of improved public sanitation. Connections with the sewer are already laid to the street line on each side.

BABY DIED WHILE ON WAY TO DOCTOR

KINGSTON, July 9. Canadian Press. — On her way to the hospital in Kingston, with two sick children, Mrs. Edward Kelly of Godfrey, had the unfortunate experience of having one of the children die in her arms just as she reached the doctor's office at Verona. The baby that died was one year and a half old and the other was three years of age. The second child was taken to the Hotel Dieu Hospital and is in a critical condition there. The illness with which the two children were stricken has not yet been diagnosed by the doctors.

JURY COMPLAINING OF SLOW PROGRESS OF DELORME TRIAL

Defence Wants Money Advanced for Payment of Experts to Combat Evidence Offered by the Crown

MONTREAL, July 9.—(Canadian Press.)— Complaint by jury at the length of time being taken to introduce the case of the Crown at the trial of Rev. Adelard Delorme, accused of murder of his half brother Raoul, was made when the court resumed this morning after the week end adjournment. On behalf of the Crown it was pleaded there had been no avoidable delay and the fact that every word of the evidence had to be translated into French from English and vice versa, was given as the reason for the slow progress made. The defence asked that the court sanction payment of fees of expert witnesses so that the accused would have a chance of combatting the expert testimony of the Crown witnesses, the money so advanced to be paid back later by the curator of the Delorme estate. This matter was referred by the Crown Counsel to the Attorney General for a ruling. This morning the cross examination of Oscar Haynes, gunsmith, who sold Abbe Delorme the Bayard automatic which has figured in the case, took place.

FRENCH SEIZE LARGE PLANTS

Ruhr Steel Works and Coal Supply Taken —Men Refuse to Work

DORTMUND, July 9.—(Canadian Press).—Hoechst Steel Works, near here, one of the largest metal plants in the Ruhr, were occupied by the French yesterday. A large quantity of finished products was taken over, as was also the coal supply of the plant, on which the tax imposed by the authorities had not been paid.

When they learned the French action this morning the workmen refused to go to work.

German newspapers in the Ruhr declare that the French intend keeping the frontiers closed even after July 15th, the date named when the order was promulgated recently. The French admit that it is possible the order will be extended.

NOTABLE GATHERING HELD IN BELGIUM

YPRES, Belgium, July 9.—(Canadian Press.) — Notable gathering, which include the Duke of Brabant, heir to the throne of Belgium, Marshal Foch of France, Earl of Yyres, General Turner, V.C., Canon Shatford, Montreal, Hon. P. C. Larkin, Canadian High Commissioner in London; W. C. Nixon, Agent-General for Ontario; F. C. Wade, Agent-General for British Columbia; Sir Hamar Greenwood, General H. T. Hughes, General Garnet Hughes and General John A. Gunn, Toronto, went over from Ypres yesterday morning along a dusty highway leading to the junction of Poelcappelle road, where the Duke of Connaught unveiled a memorial erected by the Canadian Battlefields Commission to perpetuate the honor of those who fell in the second battle of Ypres.

Duke of Connaught, Marshal Foch, General Turner and Vicote Berryer, Minister of Interior for Belgium, in turn rendered with an eloquence which rang all the more true for its restraint, the tribute to the heroism of the parent division of the Canadian army when assailed by deadly fumes of Germans in April, 1915.

The memorial stands where the four roads meet and dominates the whole stretch of the salient which Canadians knew as a salient. It is 35 feet high and consists of a pillar of granite, developing at the apex into base of a Canadian soldier with head bowed and wearing a tin helmet.

ANOTHER CORPSE WAS RECOVERED

WINDSOR, July 9. Canadian Press. — The local officials are of the belief that the body found to-day in Lake Erie just off Point Pelee and near Leamington, is that of Lieut. T. B. Null, the second missing American naval balloonist, believed to have been lost when the balloon fell into the lake near Port Stanley. The corpse is that of a man about 5 feet 7½ inches in height, wearing a blue serge suit and army shoes. The body has been in the water about a day and a half and it is believed that the wind has been in the proper direction to cause the body to drift from Port Stanley to Point Pelee.

THE HORSE REMAINS

It is true that the horse will never again occupy the same position in the world's economics as he did in the past. Motive power has changed rapidly in the past century and it is well that it has, for transportation improvement has been the greatest known stimulant to civilization. It has annihilated distance, and brought peoples together and in doing this it is bringing about a greater human understanding.

A Balloon Basket Found With Corpse

PORT STANLEY, July 9 Special—The basket of the United States navy balloon A-6698 containing the body of Lieut. L. J. Roth, was found this morning, 14 miles south south-west of here.

The body was clad only in underwear, and was lashed to the basket, which was picked up by a fishing boat commander, Capt. George Wilson of Port Stanley.

No trace of Lieut. T. B. Null, who accompanied Roth, was found

J. W. WORTH EARNS PUBLIC GRATITUDE

Departure for Los Angeles Severs Connection That Was Valuable to Peterborough.

Mr. J. W. Worth left on Sunday afternoon for Los Angeles, where he will join his brother, Mr. Edgar Worth, in the launching of a textile manufacturing business similar to that in which they were engaged in here. His departure terminates their connection with the industrial life and progress of Peterborough during the last twelve years, and citizens generally will regret the loss to this community of two young men who had participated so largely and fruitfully in its recent growth and advancement.

It is unnecessary to recall the history of the Bonner-Worth Company. Most persons remember its first, modest beginning, a small factory that seemed lost in one corner of the vacant field on McDonnel Street in the north-west end of the city. Still fresh in the public's memory, too, is the gradual expansion of that industry with additions that steadily raised it among Peterborough's manufacturies to a position of first rank until the broad-acred meadow, transformed into factory premises, began to appear too small.

The ratepayers were deeply interested in these material and multiplying evidences of success because they had assisted the infant industry at its birth. And as the agreement with the company was fulfilled to the letter and with such surprising and satisfying excess, public respect for its management deepened and centered chiefly upon the Worth brothers. In the meantime they actively identified themselves with public affairs. Mr. Edgar Worth served in the City Council and in the Chamber of Commerce, while Mr. J. W. Worth has been for years a member of the Board of Education. He was an ardent advocate of a technical school for Peterborough, and it was with a sense of disappointment that he had to give up that effort without having made some substantial headway. Mr. Worth was convinced that a manufacturing city like Peterborough, with its diversified industries, was ideal for the establishment of a technical school.

However, if that phase of his endeavors here were not as productive as he desired, it should be a gratification to him to know that he has left a host of friends in Peterborough who appreciate the achievements of himself and his brother. They have left a monument to their aggressiveness and ability such as few native sons have raised up. They improved almost waste properties on the north-west fringe of the city, they created values and distributed wealth, all as the result of their knowledge of their special work and the toil and careful attention they devoted to it in those years when they were laying its foundation.

The departure of Mr. Worth yesterday affects the reportorial staff of the Examiner with feelings of the loss of a personal friend. His unfailing courtesy is a pleasant memory that will follow him with the warmest wishes for the continued success of himself and his brother in their new enterprise in Los Angeles.

Accountancy is now an open profession to women in England.

BOYS CAMP IS LIVE TOPIC AT ROTARY TODAY

Mr. Herbert A. Mowat Who is to Have Charge Discusses Benefits Offered by Summer Camp

SPLENDID ADDRESS

The Boys' Camp was the principal topic of interest at the weekly luncheon of the Peterboro Rotary Club to-day, with Vice-President Reid Wren in the chair. Reports from the various camp committees were presented, and the address of the day was given by Mr. Herbert A. Mowat, general secretary of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, and a former Peterboro boy, who will have charge of the local Rotary Camp, beginning on July 29th. Mr. Mowat will have the direction of the Big Brotherhood of St. Andrew boys' camp at Gamebridge, Lake Simcoe, before coming to the Rotary Club camp, and is taking the local assignment during his vacation because of his interest in boys' work and as a contribution towards the efforts of the Peterboro Rotarians.

Rotarians from out-of-town at the luncheon to-day were E. A. Wilson, of Lethbridge, and Rev. J. R. Webb, of Kitchener, formerly pastor of the Murray Street Baptist Church. The latter, called upon for an address, briefly referred to the activity of the Kitchener club in regard to crippled children, and announced that to-day a specialist was examining fifty-two children as the result of the Rotarians' interest in the welfare of these unfortunates.

Mr. Mowat's eloquent address upon the necessity of bringing the right influences to bear upon the boys in their formulative years left no doubt as to his qualifications as director of a camp of boys. He emphasized the fact that characters are established and habits set during the 'teen years, and the need of using those years to the best advantage. It was very much the business of such organizations as the Rotary Club what the boys did in their spare hours and what they would become in former years. No man could live to himself alone, and in doing something for the underprivileged boys Rotary was doing its simple duty.

In this connection he outlined the possibilities opened by a summer camp. It was possible to capitalize the boys' love for an outdoor virile existence, their interest in camp life which savoured to them of adventure and to initiate them into the free masonry of good citizenship. The effort should be to instil in them a sense of personal responsibility to appeal to their ambition to make them realize that they were an important part in the activities of camp, in its sports, in its fatigues, and thus to impart to them the feeling that they were also responsible units in society. He recognized that to offset in two weeks of camp life the influences of fourteen years was not an easy task, and yet he felt that much could be done to benefit the boys, not only physically but mentally and spiritually, and he urged this Rotarians to take a personal interest in the boys and to show it by frequent visits to the camp.

Rotarian Frank Linton, for the Get-the-Goods Committee, reported that the committee had been successful in arranging for adequate supplies, and Rotarian Geo. MacDonald, for the Get-the-Boy Committee, announced that already fifty-one boys had been lined up.

Rotarian Fred. Roy gave a glowing report of the new addition to the camp, and of the splendid time that was being enjoyed by the Y.M.C.A. junior boys, who are now in possession.

The question of transportation was left to Rotarian C. H. Rogers, and Rotarian Reg. H. Turner promised the co-operation of the Motor League.

MONTHLY MILK TESTS WILL BE RESUMED AT ONCE FOR THE SUMMER

City's Drinking Water Is Practically Pure

Peterboro's water supply may be classed as pure, Dr. N. H. Sutton informed the Board of Health this morning. It is analyzed every day at the Provincial Labratory in the City Hall by Dr. A. Y. MacNair, whose tests have disclosed the very reassuring condition of a high degree of purity. Dr. Sutton intimated that the citizens need have no doubts about the quality of the water that is flowing from their taps.

Dr. N. H. Sutton Called Attention to Omission at the Board of Health Meeting This Morning

APPLY FOR CAR

In compliance with the representations of Dr. N. H. Sutton, District Officer of Health, the monthly milk tests will be resumed at once under the direction of the local Board of Health, and the City Council will be requested to provide Sanitary Inspector Stapleton with an office clerk and also with adequate means of transportation to enable him to extend and broaden out the scope of his work in the interests of the public.

Answering Dr. Sutton's inquiries, Mr. Stapleton said that a license was not granted to a milk vendor until his premises were inspected and declared satisfactory. Some of the vendors were merely distributors. They obtained their supply of milk from farmers and bottled it themselves.

"Do you inspect the places of all the farmers from whom such milk is bought?" Dr. Sutton asked.

"We generally inspect them all unless they are too far out from the city," Mr. Stapleton replied.

Dr. Young said that Dr. A. Y. McNair of the local Provincial Laboratory, was prepared to make the milk tests on two days' notice, but no arrangements had yet been made for the testing.

"That can't continue any longer, gentlemen," Dr. Sutton declared.

Pay for Samples.

Mr. G. H. Duncan, chairman, referred to a resolution passed at the meeting on 14th May, authorising the payment of samples of milk that were taken from the vendors' waggons for testing.

"It amounts to this," Dr. Sutton continued, "that you have no official knowledge of the quality of the milk vended in Peterborough since last November. It is your duty to know that, and you have all the machinery for getting that knowledge."

He mentioned the reluctance of the Board to publishing the results of milk tests, and suggested that the best plan to follow was simply to hew to the line and let the chips fall where they might. The close examination of the milk supply was essential in the work of a Health Department.

Dr. Sutton said that by arrangement The Peterborough Milk Products had made with Dr. McNair, their milk supply was of wonderful purity, and they had a good method of keeping tab on it.

Inspector Handicapped.

Mr. Duncan said he believed in a thorough inspection of all the milk, but the question of transportation for the Inspector had been a problem.

"Mr. Stapleton couldn't have done the work he has done if it hadn't been for the way I have driven him around during the last few years," observed Dr. Young.

Mr. Stapleton said he could not inspect the Peterborough Milk Products Company supply at its source because a lot of it came from dairies that were quite a distance from the city.

May Cancel Licenses.

As to the penalties to be imposed on vendors whose milk did not measure up to the standard, Dr. Sutton said that their licenses could be cancelled.

"Of course we can't go outside the city and demand certain conditions," he affirmed, "but we can say to them that if they put milk in here they have to live up to certain requirements. It is a mateer of self-interest to the farmer. They are selling milk in the city because it is profitable."

Dr. Sutton also questioned the Sanitary Inspector about the examination of the premises of the butchers and bakers, and about manure boxes wherever there were stables.

Mr. Stapleton said the bakers had shown a disposition to carry out his instructions, and the butchers' slaughter houses were in satisfactory condition when he visited them.

In regard to the enforcement of the by-law applying to the sale of fruit in the retail stores, the inspector replied that he had checked up "a good many of them."

Dr. Sutton pointed out that if Mr. Stapleton had a girl in his office to receive the calls he would have a great deal more time to devote to the outside work, which was exceedingly important.

Dr. Young remarked that an application had been made to the Council for extra help, but it was refused.

Plumbing Inspector Metheral suggested that he and the Sanitary Inspector might share an office and have a clerk to take their correspondence and also to look after the office while they were out. An arrangement of that kind would give both

HOCKEY NEARLY LOST A PLAYER

Canoe Tipped and Deposited Harry Cheu in the Otonabee River.

Harry Cheu, son of the proprietor of the Classic Cafe on Simcoe Street, had a narrow escape from drowning yesterday when his canoe tipped him into the Otonabee, about three miles below the city.

Cheu, who is about 18 years of age, was fishing with Barney Graham, when, from some unexplained cause, the canoe upset, precipitating the young men into the water. They had great difficulty in reaching shore, and Cheu was considered dangerously ill as a result of the water he had swallowed up to a late hour last night. His condition is now improved, and no serious results are expected to follow.

Harry Cheu starred with the Peterboro junior hockey team last year, and was a former player on the C.G.E. baseball team. He attends the Collegiate Institute.

TORONTO FOOTPADS HELD UP CITIZEN

TORONTO, July 9.—(Special.)—With his feet and hands tied by three footpads who attacked him and robbed him of $32.70, Setino Columbo, 39 Empire avenue, hobbled half a block early this morning to the Price and Smith brick plant, where he was released from his bonds by employes.

Columbo was walking towards his home about midnight and was near the brick works when the three men attacked him. He lay unconscious for about half an hour on the sidewalk.

CHINESE TO BECOME MEMBER OF JESUITS

Student Will Take Charge of Missionary School

ST. LOUIS, July 9.—Simon Tang, 33, a native of Canton, China, will be ordained a Jesuit priest soon, the first of his race to achieve that distinction in the history of the St. Louis University School of Divinity.

Tang intends to continue his studies here for two years before returning to the city of Shiu-Hing, 50 miles west of Canton, where he will take charge of a missionary school which he founded in 1914.

Tang's ancestors for 200 years have been Roman Catholics, and he decided early in life to become a priest. He attended a seminary at Macao, China, and in 1914 went to Europe, where he attended a preparatory school in Belgium. When the war broke out he went with a little group of students to the Island of Jersey. Later he went to Jesuit School at Gemert, Holland. In 1918, he returned to China and taught school until 1921, when he came to St. Louis.

Shiu-Hing, the site of his school, is the birthplace of Catholicism in China, for it was here in 1583 that Father Matteo Ricel, an Italian Jesuit and the first to enter China, taught, being permitted to conduct classes because of his mathematical knowledge. He carried on his work in opposition to Taoism, Confucianism and Buddhism. Chiu-Hing is on the north side of the West River and is a natural position of defense. According to Tang, it is in the center of the fighting zone, between the northern and southern forces. Street fights, occurring constantly, have caused the attendance at his school to fall off.

In addition to his excellent English and Chinese Tang speaks French and Portuguese.

THE SUMMER SCHOOL CLOSING

The Bay of Quinte Conference Summer School came to an end last evening, with a closing service held at George street Methodist church. Although most of the ministers were compelled to return to their own congregations on Saturday, the majority of the scholars remained for the closing service also Rev. G. I. Campbell of Toronto and Rev. F. J. Horwood of Camborne.

Rev. Mr. Campbell conducted the closing exercises last evening, preaching briefly from the text from John 1: 6 "I am the Way, the Truth, and the Life. No man cometh unto the Father but through Me."

The age-old question of the human family whether you pretend to be a religious man or not, is of God. Who is he? Where is he? Am I responsible to him? Am I going to face Him sometime, and if so how am I going to face Him?"

"The Grecian philosopher pointed the pathway to God in his exhortations to virtue and justice; the modern philosopher says you must love truth and morals. Back in the first words of the Bible, we find Cain and Abel offering sacrifices to a living God, one giving a vegetable offering the other the firstling of his flock. And to Abel came a flashing ray of light, and he followed it. Then came the offerings of human blood, which we find in some places in the Old Testament, and finally, the great Sacrifice of Christ Himself on the Cross for our redemption. Someone has preached a wonderful sermon on "The Audaciousness of Jesus Christ when He said; "I am the answer to the soul's longing. Come unto Me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest."

The greatest statesmen and most learned minds of the age declared the speaker, were unanimous in prescribing as remedy for the present state of world chaos, the following in the footsteps of the Man of Galilee.

"I am convinced that the message for which the hearts of men are longing and seeking is in Jesus Christ Himself. You may go on with all your organizations of the church, but what the world and the soul needs is brotherhood and sisterhood, sympathy and human love, and a Saviour who will stand close beside us, with whom we may link ourselves in loving obedience and service, to follow out His will."

To the young people of the Summer School. Mr. Campbell recommended a consideration of their church as the scaffolding of the Kingdom of Christ. "It may be that the best you can do is to add a plank or a piece of steel to the structure, but you will be helping to build the scaffolding, which, by and by, after its work is finished will be torn down when the Kingdom is complete.'

"We have had the iron age of law, and the golden age of literature, and the steel age of war. We are entering now on the silver age of labour and economic questions and upheaval of commercial systems. But the world is still waiting for the diamond age of Christ. You may spend your lives, if you will, working to bring to the world this diamond age."

At Trinity Methodist church yesterday morning Rev. F. J. Horwood of Cambourne preached eloquently, taking his text from the 19th chapter of the First Book of Kings, verse 18; "Still I have left me seven thousand in Israel, all the knees which have not bowed unto Baal."

Mr. Horwood sketched the career of the prophet Elijah, who triumphed on Mount Carmel in his fight against the idol-worshippers of the great god Baal. "But two days later, we find him lying prostrate beneath the juniper tree, praying God to take his life from him." As with humanity at all times. Elijah had his great moment, and then the reaction set in, when he became discouraged. God came to his rescue, recruiting first his bodily strength by giving him food to eat, then calming him by the mighty forces of nature in the storm whence issued the still small voice of the Comforter saying "What do ye here"

God wished Elijah to be up and doing, and he assured him of victory when Elijah complained that he was alone, saying "Still have I left Me seven thousand in Israel."

These people were scattered. They were not all in the one place, but still they were the nucleus of God's workers, and the refutation of Elijah's discouraged cry that he was alone. To the despondent ones of this day and generation, as in the time of Elijah the same message applied; the desire of God in the midst of discouragement that they should be up and doing His work, helping to strengthen the arms of His faithful ones.

On Saturday evening, an impromptu concert, under the management of the indefatigable Mr. Harwood who acted as chairman and also as accompanist for the vocal solos was given in George street church Sunday school room, when the following programme was given and received with much applause by the audience: Opening song, "Day is Dying." Instrumental selections; the Misses Marion Rightmeyer, Picton, Hilda Doble. Udney Elva Orchard, Enniskillen Stanley Osborne, Bowmanville. Duet by Miss Elva Orchard and Stanley Osborne. Vocal solos by the Misses Edna Swallow, Bowmanville, Beatrice Timlin, Plainville and vocal duet by the Misses Muriel Hancock, Port Hope and Eva Moore, Castleton. Readings that were much enjoyed were those of Miss Alice Sweetnam of Camborne and Eleanor Grant of Colborne. The C.G.I.T. girls sang in chorus, to the tune of "Peggy O'Neil."

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Sir,— Your correspondent of Saturday quotes with approval the following words "private to individuals have a right to do what they like with their rights, always, of course, within reason." By his approval of the words "always, of course, within reason," he unwittingly gives away his whole case, and the rest of his letter falls flat. Every school boy ought to know that if people had all exercised their alleged rights within reason there never would have been a demand for prohibition. Furthermore, his suggestion that prohibitionists rob some people of their rights is nonsense.

Prohibition forbids the manufacture and sale of intoxicants because that business has grievously injured multitudes of people.

And no man has a right to injure others for the sake of gain.

And just as you cannot rob a Highlander of his breeks, so you cannot rob any one of rights which he never possessed.

The attempt of your correspondent to connect Prohibitionists with Reds is so far-fetched as to be simply amusing. Please let me also suggest that it would be well for us to settle each question on its own merits, and that when it is seriously suggested to put respectable people to death Canadian who will doubtless deal with that proposition satisfactorily.

In the meantime there are other questions that are more pressing. For instance, what about Summer holidays

I am not vexed as your correspondent suggests. I am only mildly amused. If whisky were as weak as the arguments of its friends it would not intoxicate a fly.

But I am too busy to take any further notice of your anonymous correspondent.

J. C. SMITH.

NEGLIGEE COMFORT SOUGHT BY WOMEN.

From Simplicity to Gorgeous Effect Is Only a Step.

What women wear in their idle hours is being given more consideration now by fashion experts than ever before.

The modern negligee has quite as much charm as the ball gown, is made of the same materials and follows the mode quite as closely. And the accessories are almost as important.

However, the negligee is one garment that may be quite safely made at home and attempted by the amateur seamstress, since there is no question of fitting, and patterns may be followed without alteration.

One of the simplest way to achieve a very good looking lounging costume is to buy or make one of the fashionable costume slips with or without the pleated skirt. Pink, blue or orchid is a good color foundation.

Over this you need only a slipover of georgette crepe or chiffon, cut all in one piece with the kimono shoulderline. Belt it at the waist with a loose ribbon girdle and a few French flowers and you are a charming picture.

There is the possibility of many charming combinations of colored slips and fancy over-tunics.

Another easy garment to make is the one of satin with angel sleeves of lace, dyed to match the satin, or natural colored, or of gold or silver mesh.

The printed materials of this season are most attractive for negligees and require practically no trimming.

One of the most gorgeous models is a close fitting underslip of silver cloth over which is worn a slip of shaded georgette crepe outlined at the neck and flowing sleeves with ostrich fringe.

Braided satin ribbons are effectively used for girdles and so are silver and gold ribbons with flowers applied about every six inches.

BALLOON PILOT STILL MISSING

Balloon Was Found Floating in Lake Erie But Basket Had Been Cut Loose From the Bag.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 9. Canadian Press. — The flying boat Nina of the Aero Marine Air... Company, Inc., returned here yesterday afternoon, after a ... hours search of the Canadian and U. S. shores of Lake Erie in a fruitless effort to find some trace of Lieutenants L. J. Roth and T. B. Null, lost when the naval balloon A-6698 fell into Lake Erie on Friday or Friday night last after leaving Indianapolis on Wednesday in the national air race. No trace of the basket of the balloon was found.

PORT STANLEY, Ont., July 9.—Canadian Press. — The U. S. naval balloon piloted by Lieuts. L. J. Roth and his aide, Lieut T. B. Null, which started from Indianapolis, July 4th, in the national elimination race, was brought here Saturday night by the Tug Frank H Stanley, which found it collapsed and water soaked on Lake Erie, about 25 miles southwest of here.

Indications were that the airmen had hastily cut the basket loose from the bag.

Their clothing and food supplies were found in the rigging of the bag.

JUDGMENT AGAINST BANK

WINNIPEG, July 9. Canadian Press. — A bank must not retain funds deposited by a bankrupt customer, who owes it money, but must pay it over to the official trustee in bankruptcy for distribution among the creditors, according to a judgment delivered by Mr. Justice Galt in the Court of King's Bench Saturday. Salter and Arnold, official bankruptcy trustees, Winnipeg, were awarded a claim of $105,000 with interest and costs, in an action brought against the Dominion Bank for recovery of the money which was deposited by the firm of D. Coughlin & Company, commission merchants. The concern went into bankruptcy in 1921. A stay of execution was granted pending an appeal

FINANCIAL MATTERS

QUEBEC, July 9. — (Canadian Press).—Among the passengers arriving at Quebec yesterday on board the Canadian Pacific S. S. Mont. Laurier, was E. W. Beatty president of the Canadian Pacific Railway who returned from an extended tour of England and the European capitals. Mr. Beatty's trip took him into Holland. Germany, Czecho-Slovakia, Austria, France Switzerland and Belgium.

Interviewed while the steamer was docking, Mr. Beatty said that while the trip was hurried, "it was extremely informing and as might be expected, we found—especially in the new countries the government" and the people struggling valiantly with new problems which had grown out of the geographical re-alignments. In spite of the fact that many of these countries had been reduced in area and in population to such an extent as to be mere fractions of their former size, there was little if anything to indicate that the national spirit had disappeared or that there was any disposition to shirk the solution of their very grave financial and economic difficulties. To the casual observer Germany probably gives the most obvious evidence of poverty and despondency and Berlin itself is not at the moment an inspiring sight. Hamburg. on the other hand by reason of its being a large and extraordinary busy port shows an activity almost pre-war in character in spite of the dislocation due to the Ruhr occupation and the interruption of the Rhine business. Ship building is proceeding in Germany with great activity but at the moment the vessels trading in and out of Hamburg are almost exclusively of foreign register.

Austria Working Hard

"Austria and Hungary — nations which have been emasculated through the change in national boundaries — must contain such of poverty and distress, though by reason of the psychology and better spirits of the people there is not quite so aarent as is the case in Germany. Agricultural pursuits are being followed with great intensity and with fairly astisfactory results in spite of the lack of purchasing power of the surrounding nations.

"Cechzo-Slovakia, the new state of large population and extensive area is probably fronted with more new problems than the older states we visited. Its government, under a system of administration, new to the people is grappling with the difficult problems incident to its recent creation. The obstacles which it must meet and overcome are too apparent to require any elaboration.

Conditions in Britain

"In Great Britain the attention of the public man and financier, is focused upon the dislocation of British trade through the unsettled conditions in Europe and the possibility of that trade being extended by joint action with the Dominions as a result of the forthcoming economic and Imperial conferences. From these meetings much is expected and great satisfaction is expressed at the announcement that the Canadian government will be represented by some of its ablest ministers. So far as I could judge the questions of migration within the Empire and inter-empire will be the most important matters on the agenda. The opportunities for Canada to obtain settlers from England and Scotland particularly Scotland, are splendid. The same applies in a lesser degree to several of the continental countries they are at present over-burdened with surplus population, in view of their lessened areas under the treaty of peace to such an extent that men trained to agricultural pursuits are quite unable to obtain proper opportunities. Emigrants of good class can be obtained from these countries just so soon as the governments provide means of assistance. This is receiving consideration because obviously the presence of unemployed farmers and farm laborers is a drain upon the state.

False Impressions

"Canada is making progress in securing desirable immigrants. but much more remains to be done if we are able to counteract in a practical way the false impression that has existed that we do not really want new settlers. Young Scochmen of the most desirable type trained farmers, can be obtained in substantial numbers.

"Another fact which acts as an inducement to migration is the desire of many men of means to come to a country in which the taxation is not ao extremely heavy as in Great Britain. There are men who have capital to invest and who have not reached the stage when they contemplate retirement from active affairs. These cases should all be carefully assisted by accurate information because if their admission to Canada is secured they are in the fortunate position of being able to support themselves and heir families in absolute comfort while their plans for existence in this country are being developed.

Good Prospects

"On the whole I have returned with very firm convictions that the prospects for increased immigration into Canada are excellent. All we seem to need is a little extension of the overseas organization and a personnel of thoroughly well-informed agents who will not fall into the error of giving inaccurate information as to the prospects in Canada. Coupled with that we will require the assistance in Canada of an organization such as the Western Canada Colonization Association has now become, to assist in the placing of immigrants and adapting them to their new surroundings, upon which the possibility of success so greatly depends and the ability to do which has contributed so largely to the success of the Salvation Army and other similar organizations which have been such steady providers of good settlers for Canada. A few immigrants who fail to succeed, or who are induced by over-enthusiastic representations to come to Canada and meet with unexpected conditions when they arrive, are the greatest deterrent to other arrivals. I think our efforts should be still more aggressive than heretofore, and I feel confident that as a result of the economic conference, the governments of Great Britain and Canada will by joint action be able to materially increase the numbers coming forward in a way which will not involve any great financial risk to either country."

Unfairly Treated?

Asked if he thought the resentment of the British investors. in consequence of their feeling that the Grand Trunk sharcholders had been treated unfairly, would have any permanent effect on the saleability of Canadian securities in London at the proper time, Mr. Beatty stated that while there undoubtedly was a deep-seated conviction on the part of many Englishmen that these shareholders had been unfairly treated, he did not think that the resentment would be continued especially if the government made an early decision in respect of the Grand Trunk Pacific debentures and it the government also indicated with more candor and in a more judicial way than heretofore the reasons at the back of the government 's policy and decision. He added that it could not be expected that many of these men and women who bought stock in good faith many years ago could be au fait with various steps which had taken place, or with the situation from the point of view of the Canadian government. Undoubtedly this lack of information was in a measure responsible for the intensity of the dissatisfaction, and also to the immoderate way in which Canada was attacked in many English journals. He stated that the securities which had a history of their own, such as the Canadian Pacific securities were in no way effected by the controversy, London financial interests and British investors generally being as keen as ever to purchase stocks of this company. but but if the British financial houses are not to lose a great opportunity any misconception in respect of the Grand Trunk matter should be dispelled otherwise there might conceivably be a temporary turning to other investment countries, which, he though, would be detrimental both to Great Britain and to Canadian enterprizes.

In conclusion Mr. Beatty said, "Of course I am glad to be back in Canada. Enjoyable and instructive as the trip was, both personally and officially I was not able to learn to see anything to convince me that any country in the world is a better place to live in or has future possibilities equal to that of our 'Dominion.' "

HAIL IN WEST.

REGINA, Sask., July 9. Canadian Press. — Southern Saskatchewan was hailed much more seriously in the storm of June 3 than earlier reports indicated. With the arrival of more than a thousand claims for losses, the officials of the central adjustment bureau here are just getting in position to realize the proportions of the storm. They frankly admit their first estimates are away below the mark.

It is now known that a district 60 miles wide from a point a few miles south of Regina and Moose Jaw and extending all the way to the International line, was spattered with hail. As far as can be learned with an certainty the district west of Milestone was the greatest sufferer. Admitting the damage to be heavy, hail officials are refraining from placing even a rough estimate on the total loss.

LEWIS IN TOUCH WITH STRIKE IN SYDNEY MINES

International President of United Mine Workers Has a Special Representative Making Investigations.

OUTLAW STRIKE.

ATLANTIC CITY, July 9. — (Canadian Press.)— Leaders of the United Mine Workers, here in connection with the wage negotiations with the anthracite coal operators are keeping in close touch with the coal miners strike in Nova Scotia which President John L. Lewis, international president of the miners, ordered called off Saturday. Mr. Lewis said yesterday his advices from Sydney were that this telegram instructing the union leaders to end the strike because it was a violation of the contract with the operators and contrary to the principles and policies of the U.M.W. had been widely circulated in the strike territory and had had a material effect in clarifying the situation.

So far as Mr. Lewis has been advised, the instructions have been not received District President Daniel Livingstone and Secretary J. B. McLachlin, of District Number 26 of the Miners' Union for the reason that both men are in jail. Mr. Lewis has a representative in Nova Scotia making an investigation and his report will depend what further action will be taken.

Mr. Lewis yesterday expressed himself just as strongly against the strike as he did in his telegram of instructions to District President Livingstone. He said dearly won contracts and agreements would not be thrown aside so long as he could prevent it.

HALIFAX, N.S., July 9.—(Canadian Press.)—Stipendary Magistrate M. B. Archibald in police court yesterday refused an application for bail on behalf of Daniel Livingstone and J. B. McLachlan, preferred by their counsel, John A. Walker, of the firm of Daley, Walker, Phinney and Vair. The accused, respectively, president and secretary of District 26 of the United Mine Workers of America, are charged as follows:

"That they did in the city of Halifax on the sixth day of July, A.D. -923 'wilfully and 'knowingly publish a false tale whereby injury or mischief was likely to be occasioned to a public interest, namely, the Government and Provincial police of Nova Scotia'."

DISMISSED THEFT CHARGES.

WINNIPEG, July 9. — Four charges of forgery and theft from the Dominion Express Co., totalling $255.72, against Augustine F. Schimnowski, former president and general manager of the defunct Dominion Ticket and Financial Corporation of this city, were dismissed by Mr. Justice Stubbs, who presided at a speedy trial in the county court Saturday.

SUNDAY GAMES TO CONTINUE IN LONDON PARKS

Experiment Was Started a Year Ago and Has Met With Success — Only Minor Difficulties Were Encountered.

FEW COMPLAINTS.

LONDON, July 9. — (Canadian Press Cable.)—The introduction of Sunday games to London parks has been found, after a year's experiment, to be so successful as to warrant a continuance for an indefinite period. Minor difficulties, like the prevention of play before one o'clock, have been surmounted and the additional expenditures resulting from Sunday playing has been more than covered by the increased receipts. The inevitable petitions made by supporters and antagonists of this new departure showed ove. three thousand signatures in favor of its continuance.

Football seems the only sport against which complaints have been registered. One case is instanced at Hampstead Heath, where residents complained that a large number of spectators shouted and used rattles. The crowds, it is reported, were intractable when approached by the inspectors. The permit, accordingly ,was transferred to Parliament Hill, where apparently the residents are not so particular.

The park's committee, in its report dealing with complaints, says that a gentleman who was holding a religious service at Clapham Common, complained that on one occasion a football was kicked dangerously near his place of meeting. Instructions, the report says, were then issued to keep play at a proper distance from the meeting site.

NOVA SCOTIA MINERS TO REMAIN ON STRIKE

Will Stay Out Until Officials Are Released From Arrest — Will Not Allow U. S. Commission to Interfere With Affairs in Nova Scotia District.

GLACE BAY, N. S., July 9.—(Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—At a mass meeting of miners representative of the various Cape Breton locals of the United Mine workers of America, held here Saturday night, it was unanimously decided to remain on strike until Dan Livingston and J. B. McLachlan, the two leaders arrested on charge of knowing and wilfully publishing false information, are released.

Alex. McIntyre, District Vice-President of the U. M. W., was the principal speaker at the meeting. He said it was currently reported that the international executive of the organization were contemplating sending a commission down to Nova Scotia to take over the direction of the district's affairs. He expressed the opinion, however, that the members of Nova Scotia would not permit Americans to enter their territory for such a purpose.

The meeting adopted a resolution calling for the railway unions of Canada to assist their cause by refusing to move any more troops into Cape Breton. A resolution was read from the Edmonton Trades and Labor Congress expressing sympathy and stating that a meeting was being called to take "drastic action in the matter." The name of John L. Lewis, International President, was greeted with howls of derision whenever uttered at the meeting. The Vice-President reported that he had yet to receive the telegram given out over Lewis' signature at Sydney Saturday morning.

"Comrades, I don't ask you to kill any man who goes back to work, I want you to kiss him to death."

This was the parting words of Chairman McDonald to Saturday night's mass meeting of miners, which hurled defiance at the international president, John L. Lewis, and refused to return to the pits until their leaders are freed from jail and troops are recalled from the strike scene. McDonald declares that any man who goes back to work after this decision to stand firm is a traitor and his principles sink to the soles of his boots.

NEW ONTARIO CABINET PERSONNEL ANNOUNCED

Approved By Lieutenant-Governor, Ferguson Government Desires to Represent All People—The Appointments Since June 25 Regarded as Pure Patronage.

START NEXT MONDAY.

TORONTO, July 9. — (Canadian Press).—The official announcement of the personnel of the new Ontario Cabinet who will work with Hon. G. Howard Ferguson has been made, following the completion late on Saturday of a draft, which was taken to the Government House and received the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor. According to the arrangements which have been made with the Drury Government, Hon. Mr. Ferguson and his Cabinet will take over their duties a week from to-day.

The new Cabinet is:

Premier and Minister of Education—Hon. G. H. Ferguson, K.C., Grenville.

Attorney-General — Hon. W. F. Nickle, K.C., Kingston.

Public Works and Highways — Hon. George S. Henry, East York.

Provincial Treasurer—Col. W. H. Price, K.C., Parkdale.

Mines—Chas. McCrea, K.C., Sudbury.

Public Health and Labod — Dr. Forbes Godfrey, M.B., West York.

Agriculture — John S. Martin, South Norfolk.

Provincial Secretary — Lincoln Goldie, South Wellington.

Lands and Forests — James W. Lyons, Sault Ste Marie.

Without portfolio—Hon. Sir Adam Beck, London; Hon. Thomas Crawford, seat 'A,' North-West Toronto; Dr. Leeming Carr, M.B., East Hamilton; J. R. Cooke, North Hastings.

Speaker—Capt. Joseph E. Thompson, seat 'B,' North-East Toronto.

Represent All People.

Hon. Mr. Ferguson, in announcing the personnel of his Government, made the following statement:

"With patience and care I have canvassed the whole situation, taking into consideration all factors necessary to forming a representative Cabinet. There still remains a number of strong, capable members who are none less worthy than those who will form the Cabinet. They will assist the new Government in bringing to its attention their particular views of important questions.

"The new Government earnestly desires to be representative of all the people and consistent with the principles of party government which are based on British Parliamentary institutions, and will endeavor to translate into action policies that will command the support of all classes."

Denounce Patronage.

The formal announcement of the coming Premier's views and intentions was made by his secretary, C. C. Hele, who imparted this brief statement.

"Any appointment made to the Civil Service, either permanent or temporary, since June 25, 'election day,' will be regarded as pure patronage."

The announcement affects, it is said, a dozen or more registrars, county court clerks, and so forth, appointed in various sections of the Provinces, and perhaps most notably, A. G. Browning, former Deputy Attorney-General of Alberta, who was appointed only last week to an important position in the Attorney-General's Department at a salary of $5,400.

NO CERTAINTY ABOUT WRITING ON WATCH BOX

Handwriting Difficult to Identify on Account of the Small Number of Words on the Package.

NEW YORK EXPERT.

MONTREAL, Que., July 9.—(Canadian Press.)—Final and absolute certainty that the address on the wrapper containing Raoul Delorme's watch was written by Father Delorme, his half-brother, who is charged with his murder, cannot be pronounced, chiefly because there was too little material to work upon having regard to the few words written on the package addressed to Chief Lorrain, of the provincial police. This was the summing up of the conclusions of Albert S. Osborne, of New York, handwriting expert and author of several books on handwriting evidence, who testified during the trial of Father Delorme on Saturday.

The New York expert declared, however that numerous characteristics on the parcel address prompted him to conclude that the address on it was written by the man who is now standing trial.

The evidence of Mr. Osborne completed the handwriting evidence as far as the crown is concerned.

The rest of the hearing Saturday was taken up with the cross-examination of John J. Lomax, court stenographer and handwriting expert during which there were some sharp exchanges by witness and counsel for the defence to which crown prosecutor Calder also took part.

GRAIN SHIPMENTS

VANCOUVER, July 9. Canadian Press. — Vancouver will have shipped about 19,000,000 bushels of grain when the crop year 1922-23 draws to a close this summer. During the previous crop year about 6,750,000 bushels of grain had been shipped. Up to the end of June 18, 376,587 bushels of the 1923 prairie crop had passed through Vancouver, according to statistics issued by the Vancouver Merchants Exchange.

Film May Attack

Your teeth tonight—while you sleep

There's a film on your teeth—a viscous film. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays.

While you sleep, acids may be formed in it. Most tooth troubles, most cloudy teeth, are due to film.

This is to tell you how to combat it, and offer a convincing test.

Film troubles

Film absorbs stains, making the teeth look dingy. It is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. That's why so few have escaped tooth troubles, despite all care.

New ways found

Dental science, after long research, has found two ways to fight film. One acts to curdle film, one to remove it, and without any harmful scouring. Able authorities proved those methods effective. Then a new-type tooth paste was created, based on modern research. Those two new film destroyers were embodied in it. That tooth paste is called Pepsodent.

Avoid Harmful Grit

Pepsodent curdles the film and removes it without harmful scouring. Its polishing agents is far softer than enamel. Never use a film combatant which contains harsh grit.

Fights acids, too

Pepsodent also multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to neutralize mouth acids, the cause of tooth decay.

It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits which may otherwise ferment and form acids.

Thus every use gives manifold power to these great natural tooth-protecting agents.

World-wide use

Careful people of some 50 nations now use Pepsodent largely by dental advice. Wherever you look you see the results. Teeth glisten as they should.

Watch the results on your own teeth. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

The results will surprise and delight you. You will never again go without them. Cut out this coupon now.

BRITAIN'S WORD.

Premier Stanley Baldwin spoke the literal truth when he told the British House, yesterday, that no action the British government had ever taken with regard to the United States was as potent in compelling American understanding of the British people as the funding of the British debt, says the Ottawa Journal. And the underlying reason is that by that action Britain not only spoke in language that Americans, more than any other race, comprehend, but that she upheld, emphatically and completely, that priceless tradition that England's word is her bond.

Britain might have cavilled. She might have pleaded exemption from her debts while her debtor sought exemption from her claims. She might have haggled and quarreled over terms. But no; that is not her way! Her people might be burdened by taxation, she might be endangering her defences by economies, the world might be owing her infinitely more than she owed the world, but whatever others might do she would pay up. She knows no other code.

And so from Maine to California British credit stands high. The diminishing ranks of Anglophobes are chagrined; never within memory have relations between the two great democracies been better. And that is something which every serious well-wisher for humanity must applaud.

GOOD WORK.

A word of credit is due Chief Newhall and the Police Department for the very efficient manner in which the motor car traffic was handled in connection with yesterday's Decoration Day ceremonies.

Although cars were not permitted in the cemetery, there were naturally hundreds of them outside the gates, and had not the police taken hold of the situation and insisted upon systematic parking arrangements there would have been confusion worst confounded.

The impromptu regulations laid down by the police, however, worked very smoothly, and while some of the motorists may have chafed at the delay, the pedestrians and the Oddfellows and Great War Veterans appreciated the arrangements.

After the ceremonies at the cemetery were over motor traffic was held off Crescent street, until the marching veterans had reached Lake street, and the result was that the several thousand pedestrians were able to leave comfortably and without being smothered in dust or having to dodge automobiles.

There could quite easily have been considerable confusion and possibly a series of accidents had not the admirable system arranged by the Police Department enabled the situation to be handled efficiently and with a minimum of annoyance.

Chief Newhall was in charge of the traffic squad.

RIVERSIDE PARK.

The fact that the City Council is spending considerable money on repairs to the stands at Riverside Park seems to indicate that so far as the present personnel of the Council is concerned the park is to be maintained as an athletic grounds.

Probably that is the wisest policy that could be adopted for the present, yet the whole question of the ultimate disposal of this property is a problem that will have to be faced sooner or later.

The property south of the new bridge and including the athletic grounds was purchased by the city for the purpose of being converted into a public park.

No progress has, however, been made in that direction.

The portion of the property outside the park proper is an eye-sore in its present condition, the approach to the ball grounds being a rough cinder path running between a gravel pit on one side and a dumping ground on the other.

Whatever may be done later on it is time that the improvement of this section was being seriously discussed, and it should be possible to lay out a scheme that would conform with a general plan for the beautification and development of the whole property.

The main point is that a start should be made, and that it should fit in with the comprehensive scheme that may be considered desirable to undertake in future years.

DECORATION DAY.

The beautiful ceremony of decorating the graves of comrades who have passed on was carried out at Little Lake Cemetery yesterday by two local organizations, the Great War Veterans' Association and the Oddfellows, and as usual the public also participated in the event by placing flowers upon the resting-places of loved ones.

It is fitting that there should be at least one day in the year when the memory of those who have left shall be kept green, one day when people may stop in the midst of the busy rush of life and remember the dear ones no longer here.

To the Oddfellows who have for many years followed this annual custom, and to the War Veterans who adopted it several years ago, the people generally give thanks for each year bringing this duty before their minds.

It is unfortunate, however, although perhaps inevitable, that too many people utterly fail to realize the significance of the occasion or to enter into the spirit of Decoration Day.

To them it is something between a pageant and a picnic, and they visit the cemetery as they would go to a band concert or a circus parade.

Such people trample ruthlessly over graves, talk loudly, laugh or whistle as they promenade gaily through the city of the dead, their only concern being to have a happy afternoon.

For them there is no thought of the people who have crossed the bar, no appreciation of what the day's ceremonies mean, and their presence strikes a discordant note that mars to some extent the impressiveness of the occasion.

THE NEW CABINET.

The new Ontario Cabinet as foreshadowed by newspaper conjectures contains many elements of strength, albeit that several of the appointments seem to have been made more with an eye on party service rather than upon the qualifications of the Minister selected.

Probably the choice that will appeal to the people of Ontario most is that of W. F. Nickle, K.C., of Kingston, as Attorney-General. Mr. Nickle is seen by the public as a man of sound views, honest and independent, and as likely to give this Province a just and efficient administration of his most important department.

The Kingston member doubtless would have been equally successful as Minister of Finance, for during his career in the Legislature he has always made an exhaustive study of the financial affairs of the Province, but all things considered it is best for Ontario that he should have charge of the administration of justice.

Hon. Geo. S. Henry, who was Minister of Agriculture in the Hearst Government, returns to the Cabinet as Minister of Public Works, succeeding to the road scheme laid down by Mr. Biggs. The new Minister of Public Works is a farmer whose two hobbies are motoring and good roads, so that he should be at home in his assignment.

Mr. Chas. McCrea of Sudbury, who is to become Minister of Mines, has many qualifications for the position and is popular in the districts over which he will have chief jurisdiction.

Although Mr. John S. Martin, the new Minister of Agriculture, has to win his spurs, he brings with him a reputation of being one of the best known poultry men in the Dominion, and he has the educational qualities needed to round out his other qualifications for the position.

Of the other members of the Cabinet it can only be said that they are on trial. The appointment of Dr. Forbes Godfrey, for example, as Minister of Labour and Health will not be regarded with approval in some quarters, but Dr. Godfrey has a chance to make good in the position and justify his appointment, which is looked upon as chiefly due to his loyalty to his leader.

Ontario as a whole will wish the new Ministry success. Barring political accidents, the Cabinet now selected by Hon. Mr. Ferguson will have control of the affairs of the Province for at least four years, and the manner in which its duties are carried out means much to every citizen.

ENGLAND GETTING ON.

(New York Times.)

The ability to "muddle through" is a national characteristic which continues to stand Great Britain in good stead. With no blowing of trumpets or any very clear notion, apparently, of how all the things that need to be are going to be done, the British people and Government continue to pull themselves out of trouble. The unemployment situation, for example, has for more than two years been regarded as menacing. Only a few months ago bands of unemployed men and women were marching upon London, demanding an interview with the Prime Minister in person and holding great meetings of protest when their request was refused. The Government admitted that it had no definite plan, although it ventured a few proposals, but in one way or another the number of unemployed has been going down week by week. A strike of farm laborers drifted along for a month or so, to be finally settled by a practical compromise in which, oddly enough, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald appeared as mediator. The British war debt to the United States was an irritating subject which the British taxpayers did not like to hear discussed, but a working arrangement for the payment of the loans was finally reached and that sore spot ceased to hurt.

The English Government seems now to be recovering its political influence on the Continent. When the Poincare Ministry came into power in France, eighteen months ago, a section of the French press rejoiced that the "weak yielding" to Lloyd George's persuasions would cease; and when French troops occupied the Ruhr and France set about executing parts of the Treaty of Versailles for herself, the "isolation" of Great Britain was spoken of as an accomplished fact. The short-lived Government of Mr. Bonar Law, if it had a policy, did not proclaim it. Nevertheless, Britain floundered along. There was no breach with France, though the Ruhr policy was not approved. Contact with Berlin was kept up, but German shortcomings and evasions were not condoned. Now, it would seem, the practical bunglers of Downing Street are making progress. The French agree to another conference of all the Allies, and this is plainly the result of British urging.

As for Russia, formal recognition of the Soviet Government seems as far away as ever, but the British representatives stay on at Moscow, Russian representatives remain at London, and trade between the two countries is unfettered. The traditional British sympathy for Greece has not been extinguished, but Venizelos gets only a cool reception at London and the Greeks are reminded that their house is not in order. The Lausanne conference drags its slow length along, and from time to time the British delegates declare that the limit of concessions has been reached; but in a day or two another difficulty has been "adjusted" and the threatened ultimatum is postponed.

Meanwhile British trade, shipping and finance are getting into a stronger position month by month. The English may have no beautiful and logical "programs," but they have something better—a large store of common sense.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The Michigan Pikers are not coming to Ontario after all, but, fortunately, thousands of others tourists are.

Kingston is busy celebrating its ancient history, and, incidentally, its ball team played here Saturday as if some of its members had as lengthy a career as their home city.

According to some anglers we have interviewed, both the fish and the mosquitoes are biting well.

With the Wynadotte King as Minister of Agriculture, the poultry interests of the Province expect to be able to do a lot of crowing.

Too many cooks spoil the broth, and many people seem to think one Cooke too many may spoil the Hydro.

A Toronto Sunday paper has been conjuring up visions of what would happen to the new Union Station if a storm wave were to hit Toronto. The wave is about as likely to eventuate as the station is to be used.

CASH GRAIN.

MONTREAL, July 9.—(Canadian Press).—Trade in cash grain in the local market Saturday was quiet. There was a little better feeling in flour. The tone of the mill-feed market remains steady, but the rolled oats market was quiet. The egg market retains its easy feeling of the early part of the week. Total receipts from May 1 last to date were 233,140 cases against 172,272 cases for the same period a year ago. The butter market closed firm. Total receipts since May 1 have been 45,241 packages smaller than in the same period last year. There is considerable more activity in the cheese market. Total receipts from May 1 to date have been 9.802 boxes less than in the same period last year.

CHICAGO WHEAT.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 9.—(Canadian Press)—Conditions likely to develop Black rust had a bullish influence on the wheat market Saturday, and so too did gossip that farmers were selling more slowly than usual at this time. Prices closed unsettled, a shade to ¼ cent higher with September 103 3-8 to 103¾ and December 106¾ to 103 3-8. Corn finished 3-8 cent to 1 1-8 cent higher, oats showed 1-8 to 5-8 cent gain and provisions were unchanged to 5 cents off.

Twenty miles and more to the gallon, is the common performance of the Willys-Knight.

And the sparing manner with which its sleeve-valve motor consumes fuel, is only the beginning of its economy.

This marvellous engine actually improves with use. No valves to grind—no carbon to clean. Carbon only increases compression. Many owners have reported 50,000 miles and more without a single engine adjustment. And a Willys-Knight engine has never been known to wear out.

Thus powered and distinguished by beautiful streamline body design, the Willys-Knight offers remarkable value at conservative price.

The seven beautiful new models won immediate public acceptance, as evidenced by orders from all over the Dominion in such numbers as to tax production capacity.

How John and Marjorie Married

On John's Small Salary

JOHN is employed in the office of a well-known Toronto manufacturer. In 1918 he became engaged. Three years later—June 11, 1921, was set as the wedding day.

In 1920 the business slump came and John found the date of his wedding fast approaching without any betterment of his position or salary To be sure he was earning enough to pay the expenses of running a home—but if anything happened to him, Marjorie—his fiancee, whom he so badly wanted to marry—would be left penniless. He thought of insurance, of course, but he figured he could not afford to take out a large enough policy to make it worth while.

One day he was startled when a North American Life man called on him and told him how low the rates were on a $10,000 Straight Life policy. He found he could afford it—and, to make a long story short, he took out the policy and married Marjorie.

Today they both declare "We're the happiest couple ever, thanks to that wonderful day when our problem was solved by the North American Life man."

You, too, will be astonished at the remarkably low rates and special provisions of a North American Straight Life Policy.

Amazing Facts Given By Mrs. Ruth Thornton

"Since taking Tanlac I've regained the thirty-five pounds I lost while sick and five pounds besides," declared Mrs. Ruth Thornton, 717 Asumption St., Windsor, Ont.

"At the time I got Tanlac a case of the 'flu' had brought me down to where I was only a shadow of my former self, and so weak I could hardly walk across the floor. My stomach caused me more misery than words can tell. My nerves were so completely unstrung I just dreaded to go to bed, for I couldn't sleep. Even to sweep the floor was a burden to me.

"But Tanlac has made me so well and strong my housework is like play to me. My appetite is enormous, my food digests perfectly, and I sleep the whole night through and never hear a sound. My friends tell me I am the picture of good health, I never can praise Tanlac enough for the good it has done me."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

Tanlac Vegetable Pills are Nature's own remedy for constipation. For sale everywhere.

COBOURG AND DISTRICT

COBOURG, July 9. — A pleasant event took place during the past week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mann, Baltimore, when the members of the congregation and choir of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church assembled in honour of the recent marriage of their daughter, Ethel May, to Mr. Clarence Butters.

At an opportune moment, Mrs. A. G. Mann, the choir leader, read an address, and Mr. Walter Leach, the chairman of the Board of Managers, presented the popular bride and groom with a purse.

Miss Moffatt and Mr. Frank Clapperton also spoke briefly.

After enjoyable games and music, lunch was served. The address was as follows:

Mrs. Clarence Butters.

Dear Ethel,—We who are gathered here this evening represent the wide circle of warm friends at Baltimore and vicinity, to which you may lay a well-deserved claim. We have come to spend a pleasant social evening with you and your husband, and to present our congratulations and good wishes to both.

Furthermore, we desire to express to you, Ethel, our appreciation of the part which you have played in the social life of the community and of the loyal and capable service you have rendered in various departments of church work.

In social circles you have entered heartily into every form of innocent amusement and by your energy and good humour, merry wit, kindness, and courtesy, contributed largely to the success of every social enterprise and greatly to the enjoyment of every social occasion in which you had a part.

Your faithful and efficient performance of the duties of organist, duties to which you have so freely given of your time and talent for five years, has been perhaps the outstanding feature of your church work—yet the Sabbath School, Mission Band, and Young People's Missionary Society have all felt the impetus of your earnest efforts, and have been materially aided thereby.

We are all very glad, indeed, that your marriage has not meant removal from our locality and consequent severance of old ties.

You are still one of us, and in so far as your new duties and responsibilities permit, will be one with us throughout the coming year as in the days of yore.

In conclusion, we ask you to accept from the congregation of St. Andrew's this little gift, not as being in any sense remuneration for your services, but simply as a token of love and esteem

The gift is accompanied by the earnest gifts of all hearts that the blessing of God may ever rest upon you and your life partner; that to you may come only such trials and sorrows as are the common lot of all; and that your lives may be crowned abundantly by the lasting happiness and real success which comes only to those who serve God truly, by serving well their fellowmen.

Signed on behalf of the choir,
Isabelle Mann.

Signed on behalf of the congregation,
F. Clapperton,
Walter Leach.

Mrs. Butters made an appropriate reply.

Other Events at Baltimore.

The crowd at the Methodist strawberry festival on Tuesday evening was not so large as usual, for which the disagreeable state of the weather doubtless accounted largely. But the berries were good and the other dainties delicious, while the programme was excellent. This consisted of many musical selections, interspersed by recitations, etc., the whole contributed by the orchestra from Cobourg.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Weir, of Belleville, who have been through this part of the country on a motor trip, were recent guests with his sister, Mrs. Peter Newton, Craig-Miller Farm.

We are very sorry to report the continued illness of Mrs. N. Chapman. Her many friends hope there will soon be a decided change for the better.

We are sorry to say that Mrs. Lean is quite ill.

AUTO HITS BUGGY MEN FIGHT ARREST

Charged With Drunkenness Driver and Companion Were Fined $110

LINDSAY, July 9.—Friday evening at midnight two men from Toronto, summering at Bobcaygeon, while driving an auto on the outskirts of the village, crashed into a buggy containing Mr. and Mrs. Coulter, of Verulam. The buggy was badly damaged and the occupants shaken up. Provincial Constable Storey happened to be in the village and he proceeded to the spot and placed the two men under arrest. They put up quite a fight, but were finally subdued and placed under arrest.

Two charges, one of intoxication, and the other with being in charge of a car while drunk, were preferred against them. Police Magistrate Bradford imposed fines amounting to $110 in all. They will also be obliged to pay for the damages done the buggy, etc., as well as for the injuries sustained by Mrs. Coulter.

OBITUARY

MRS. T. D. HUGGINS, Sr.

The funeral of the late Mrs. T. R. Huggins, Sr., was held Friday afternoon from the family residence in South Monaghan. Mrs. Huggins, who before her marriage was Miss Mary Ann Murney, was in her sixtieth year and was a life long and highly respected resident of South Monaghan. Besides her husband she is survived by three daughters, Mrs. William Murney and Mrs. Norman Heigh, of Peterborough, and Mrs. Edward Heigh of South Monaghan; two sons, David and Thompson Huggins, of South Monaghan and five brothers, Fred and Charles Murney of New York, Edward of South Monaghan, William of Millbrook and Jack of Bailieboro.

MRS. ROBT. N. SCOTT.

The death occurred suddenly at her home, Chemong Road, Sunday afternoon, of Sarah A. Milburn, wife of R. N. Scott.

While she hadn't been well for the last six months, death was totally unexpected, she having taken a stroke Saturday night and passed away Sunday at four o'clock. The deceased was a member of the Bridgenorth Methodist church.

She was a daughter of the late Isaac Milburn of Smith and Mrs. Milburn.

Besides her sorrowing husband, she leaves to mourn her loss one son, Ernest A., and three daughters, Ruth, Muriel and Gertrude; also three brothers, Thomas H. Milburn, of Saskatchewan, Edgerton of Los Angeles, Cal. and Isaac, Chemong Road, and two sisters, Libbie and Hattie.

The funeral will be held from the family residence, Wednesday at two o'clock. The services will be conducted by Rev. Mr. Edgar and Rev. P .H. Neville. Interment in Little Lake cemetery.

SAMUEL SMITHSON.

The death occurred yesterday afternoon in Bailieboro, of Samuel Smithson, in his 82nd year, a resident of the district all his life. Mr. Smithson was born at Benfort and was well known in Lindsay and Fenelon Falls. He was a member of Christ church, Bailieboro.

There are left to mourn his loss, his wife, Mary Waterman, three sons, Wilfrid, 266 Sherbrooke street; George, 107 Rubidge street, and Albert, of Port Colborne, and two daughters, Mrs. John Creba of Kerrobert, Sask., and Mrs. William Lunney, of Port Hope township. Two brothers, Joshua of Otonabee, and John, on the homestead, and two sisters, Mrs. Richard Parker of Bailieboro and Mrs. William Waterman of Bensfort also survive.

The funeral will be held on Tuesday, July 10, with private service in the house at 1.30 and a public service in Christ church at 2 o'clock. Rev. Canon Allen of Millbrook, will conduct the services.

Interment in St. Paul's cemetery, Cavan.

Bright colored shawls of crepe de chene with fringe borders of the same shade as the shawl are popular for summer evening wear. One can purchase a large white square of crepe de chene, edge this with a wide white fringe and have a shawl suitable for many evening occasions. If one wishes a certain color, it is best to make the shawl in white and have it dipped, as it is often difficult to find colored fringe of a desired shade.

Calvin Gray arrives in Dallas and prepares to break financially the well-known Henry Nelson, who is his enemy. Gray becomes friendly with the Brinkow family, who own oil wells. Allie Brinkow, the daughter, loves Gray, but he is in love with Barbara, daughter of Tom Parker. Bud Brinkow, son of Gus, runs away from school. Gray follows to bring Bud home and finds the boy in the hands of an adventuress. Bud resents interference and he and Gray fight until Bud is knocked unconscious. Gray and an associate, Mallow, bring the son of Bud's lady friend to Bud's hotel.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY

"By Jove! She's splendid!" he chuckled. "Buddy, I—I like that woman."

• • •

It was midafternoon of the next day. Mrs. Fulton, after a restless night, was packing her trunks. She halted her labors for a second time to scan a brief note that had arrived a few moments before and ran as follows:

DEAR MRS. FULTON—I am not really such a bad sort as you consider me, and I'm genuinely interested in that boy of yours. Let's cry quits and have a serious talk about him and—perhaps other things.

Sincerely yours,
CALVIN GRAY.

She was thus engaged when there came a knock, and in answer to her voice the writer entered.

"Mrs. Fulton, I have learned that life is a mixed affair, and that most of our actions are the results of conflicting motives. Yes, and that we ourselves are products of conflicting forces, good and evil. Few of us are as good as we would like to have people believe nor as bad as we appear. I wonder if you will believe me when I say that I—like you."

"Certainly not."

"Nevertheless, I do. For one thing, you are a good fighter and a good loser. I try to be, but I fear I lack your spirit. I would not have hurt you willingly."

The woman tossed her head and turned away; when she spoke, it was wearily: "I might have known I couldn't make the jump. I never did win a big race. A good loser, eh? Well, I've had enough practice at it. How is Buddy? Hurt, I suppose. His young life is blasted; he'll never trust another woman."

"He is standing it pretty well, and is greatly cheered by the fact that he can see out of his left eye practically as well as ever. He is going back to the oil fields and learn the business. I am going to put him to work. What are you going to do with Bennie?"

"Do with him? What can I do with him?"

"He is a bright boy."

"I'm bright, too, but I have all I can do to get by."

"I'd like to help you make a man of him."

"What? You? How?"

"I'd like to put him in business and teach him that there is no profit in short-changing customers. I'd enjoy giving the boy a hand up, but—he is more than I'd care to tackle alone."

"There's Mallow to help you. He'd be a refining influence." The mother's lip curled.

"How about you?"

"Me?"

"Isn't the—sort of life you are living becoming a bit tiresome? Aren't you about fed up on uncertainties?" The object of these queries drew a deep breath; her eyelids flickered, but she continued to stare at the speaker. "Worry brings deeper wrinkles than old age. Wouldn't you like to tie to something solid and be able to show Bennie that you are, at heart, the sort of woman I consider you? He'll soon be getting old enough to wonder if you are what he thinks you are or if—"

"I suppose you learned this—bayonet practice in the army," Mrs. Fulton said, hoarsely.

"Anybody can make a good living in a country like this if he cares enough to try. I'll back you if you need money."

"And—what's the price?"

"My price? Oh, I'd feel well repaid if some day Bennie acknowledged that I was a 'regular guy,' and if you agreed."

"Is that all?"

"Quite all. Is there something you do—well?"

"I can cook. I'm a good cook. Women like me usually have hobbies they never can follow—and I have two. I can make a fool of a stove, and I—I can design children's clothes, wonderful things, new things—"

"Will you come to Wichita Falls and start a restaurant and make good things to eat, if I supply the money and the customers?"

"Will I!" The speaker's face had flushed, her eyes had begun to sparkle.

"Then it's a bargain," Gray declared, gayly. "Why, you'll get rich, for it is the chance of a lifetime. I'll guarantee patronage; I'll drum up trade if I have to turn sandwich man and ring a bell. Leave the details to me."

THIS TOKEL WAS A SICK MAN, THIN AND WHITE.

Margie Fulton sank slowly into the nearest chair, regardless of the fact that it was piled full of lacy, white, expensive things; her voice quavered, broke, as she said: "Gee, Mr. Gray! I figured there must be some decent men in the world, but—I never thought I'd meet one."

CHAPTER XXIII
The Game of Wits

A NEW strike in one of the western counties had become public, and a brand-new oil excitement was born overnight. Trains were crowded, roads were jammed with racing automobiles; in the neighborhood of the new well ensued scenes to duplicate those of other pools. For the first week or two there was a frenzy of buying and selling, a speculation in oil acreage and town lots.

The Nelsons, of course, were early on the ground, for in spite of the father's contention that they could ill afford, at the moment, to tie up more money in unproductive properties, the son had argued that they must have "protection," and his arguments had prevailed.

Now, oddly enough, this new oil discovery did not develop as had been expected—in fact, the excitement died out quickly—and when Henry Nelson undertook to dispose of his holdings he was faced by a heavy loss, for Gray was offering adjoining acreage at low prices.

Following this unhappy experience, the scandal about the Jackson well became public—the Atlantic Company having at last located the leak in its pipe line—and the whole Red River district enjoyed a great laugh.

Miss Parker, of course, was deeply chagrined at her connection with the fraud; nevertheless, the banker felt his flesh turn cold at the narrowness of his escape.

About this time a big gusher blew in north of the Louisiana fields, and wise oil men began to talk about Arkansas and quietly to gather in acreage. Less than a week later one of Nelson's field men brought into the bank a youth who owned some property in the latter state. This youkel was a sick man; he was thin and white; he had a racking cough, and he knew nothing about oil except from heresay. All he knew was that he would die if he didn't get to a warmer, drier climate, but the story he told caused Henry Nelson to stare queerly at his field man. That very night the latter left town.

On the third night thereafter, in answer to a telegram, Nelson and the Arkansas farmer slipped unobtrusively out of Wichita Falls. It so happened that Brick Stoner, en route to Hot Springs for a little rest, was a passenger on the same train.

Stoner returned in due time, much rested, and he brought with him a large check to the firm's account.

"We timed it to the minute," he told McWade and Mallow. "That gasser couldn't have come in better if we'd ordered it. Nelson's dickering under cover for more acreage near what he's got, but I tipped off who he was."

"He fell easy, eh?"

Stoner grinned. "He was so pleased with himself at swindling an invalid, and so scared somebody would discover those seepages that he couldn't hardly wait to sign up. If it hadn't of been for the general excitement, he might of insisted on time to do some exploring, but he's pulled a rig off another job and he's sending it right up."

"We've got some good news, too," McWade asserted. "Avenger Number One is trying hard to come in."

"No?"

"I tell you Gray's got a rabbit foot. If we continue to trail along with him, I'll be losing you as a partner, Brick."

"How so?"

"Why, I'll be turning honest. It seems to pay."

"Um-m. Probably I'd better keep all this Nelson money and leave you—"

"Oh, not at all," the junior partner said, quickly. "That isn't an oil deal, strictly speaking, for you say there ain't oil enough on the land to grease a jackknife. I look on it as a real-estate speculation."

With a laugh Stoner accepted this explanation, and then announced that he was hungry for his breakfast.

This time Mallow spoke up. "I'm bally-hooing for a new joint; Fulton's Fancy Waffle Foundry. Follow me and I'll try to wedge you in. But you'll have to eat fast and pick your teeth on the sidewalk, for we need the room." In answer to Stoner's stare, the speaker explained his interest in the welfare of Wichita Falls' newest eating place, and en route thereto he told how Margie Fulton came to be running it. "Gray did it. He got the Parker girl to help us, and we had the place all fixed up by the time Margie got here. She's tickled pink, and it'll coin money—if it isn't pinched."

"Pinched?"

"Sure! Bennie's the cashier, and he palms everything from dimes to dishtowels. Force of habit! Better count your change till I break him of short-changing the customers."

It was a blue day for Henry Nelson when Avenger Number One came in, for it made necessary immediate drilling operations on his part. And the worst of it was the well was not big enough to establish a high value for his holdings. It was just enough of a producer to force him to begin three offsets and that, for the moment, was an undertaking decidedly inconvenient.

I. O. O. F. MADE PILGRIMAGE TO REMEMBER DEAD

Deposited Flowers on Graves of Members of Order in Little Lake Cemetery on Annual Decoration Day.

BIG CROWD OUT

Members of the Independent Order of Oddfellows to the number of over 200, representing Peterboro Lodge 111, and Otonabee Lodge 13, marched yesterday to the Little Lake Cemetery, wh they decorated with flowers the graves of their departed brethren. This c mony is an annual pilgrim e of th Order, keeping green the memory of those who have passed fro their ranks.

Marshalled by the veteran Colonel W. J. Miller and l.d by the Salvation Army Band, the Oddfellows marched from their hall to the cemetery chapel, where a service was conducted by Rev. A. J. Langford, himself a member of the Order. The devotional exercises were led by R. J. Martin, and the b d led the singing of "Jesus, Lover of My Soul."

A Call to Service.

In his appropriate and touching address, Rev. A. J. Langford called on his hearers to take up the task left unfinished by the dead, and appealed for a wider outlook on the needs of humanity than the strict laws of the Order demand. The purpose of the ceremony attending Decoration Day, he said, is two fold: It is to pay respect to the departed brethren and their work and also to instil the lesson of man's mortality. "We remember the brothers who were with us in the days that are past, who have left their work incomplete. We have fall n heir to the things which the began. In remembering them we remember their bereaved wives and children and our duty to them. Thou h we place bouquets on their graves we must remember that our most important and essential outlook is for the present. That spiritual life which we have through God must find expression in our earthly relationships. The Order of which we have the honor to be members not nly meets and fraternizes with men in the lodge but our thoughts reach out to those who have been left bereaved by those who passed on."

Give Flowers in Life.

It is not wise to wait until death has taken them out of this life to show our regard for those whom we respect, the speaker said.

It is a far better thing to cherish them while living. "Personally, I think I would rather have the bouquets when I can enjoy the blossoms and smell their fragrance and see their beauty."

Man is linked together in a wonderful fashion in life, and every organization that has for its objective good will and fraternity is the expression of the life which comes from the Spirit of God and is begotten of that Spirit. The great Brotherhood of Man exists because of the Fatherhood of God.

"God gives us a real man's job in life," the speaker continued. "We have too often pleaded for the easy way of life, we have prayed that it might be well with us. Do we ever plead for a real hard task? If we have in us the spirit of heroism and courage we will plead for a hard task for the good of humanity. We have a great deal to learn from the men who were overseas. If they had a hard task they did not try to get out of it—their prayer was to play the man . We should be willing to consecrate our powers for the solution of the problems of life; to help in the cause of true brotherhood."

In Flanders' Fields.

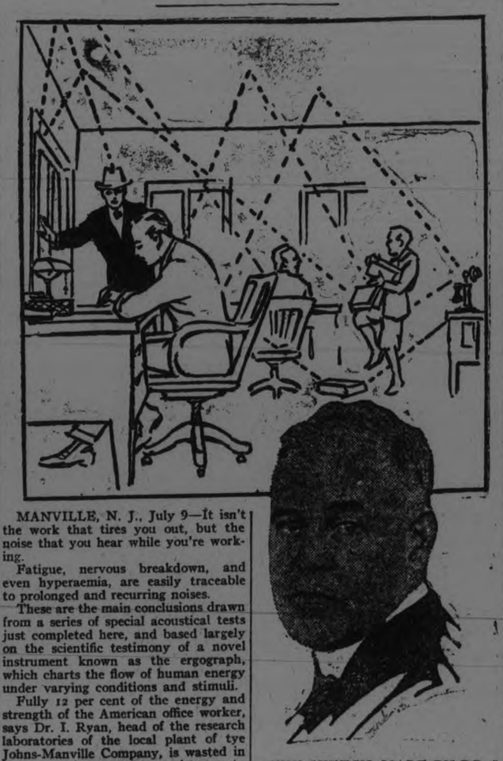
Reviewing the work of the order, Mr. Langford summed up its object as a desire to do good. "We should add a little to what the circumstances of life require us to do," he said. "We have all our personal obligations as the society has its obligations, but we should reach out beyond that to help some needy brother who has no particular claim on us. Many a man and woman is falling to-day because of the need of a helping word. Many a man is longing for another to show a brotherly interest in him. Cherish the memory of the men who went before us and handed these obligations to us." Quoting the poem, "In Flanders' Fields" where the poet wrote "To you from failing hands we throw the torch," the speaker declared, "There is nothing else for us to do but to take it up. Every human need is a divine challenge to be a hero in the cause. You and I cannot accomplish the great task but if we do our little bit our Heavenly Father can accomplish it through us. As we stand in this City of the Dead let us consecrate ourselves to the great task remaining before us, and with high hope look to the earnest expectation that we shall be united with those who have gone before."

FOREST FIRES RESULT FROM CARELESS AUTOISTS

CLEVELAND, July 9 (Associated Press).—One hundred thousand motorists of Cuyahoga county have been asked by the Cleveland Automobile Club to join in a movement to keep camp and picnic sites clean and undefaced and to protect the countryside from the danger of fire.

In a statement the club suggests that the motorists adopt the slogan, "Clean up as you go." It is pointed out that in recent years there has been a growing tendency to litter the countryside with rubbish, especially during the warm months. "Not only is the natural beauty of the countryside desecrated," the club says, "but there are even more serious aspects of the situation. More than 1,000 forest fires were started last year by automobilists who left camp fires burning or threw lighted cigarettes, cigars or matches into grass

MODERN OFFICE IS SPLENDID FATIGUE INCUBATOR



MANVILLE, N. J., July 9—It isn't the work that tires you out, but the noise that you hear while you're working.

Fatigue, nervous breakdown, and even hyperaemia, are easily traceable to prolonged and recurring noises.

These are the main conclusions drawn from a series of special acoustical tests just completed here, and based largely on the scientific testimony of a novel instrument known as the ergograph, which charts the flow of human energy under varying conditions and stimuli.

Fully 12 per cent of the energy and strength of the American office worker, says Dr. I. Ryan, head of the research laboratories of the local plant of tye Johns-Manville Company, is wasted in an unconscious nervous resistance to unnecessary noise.

Sounding Boards

The noise he blames on the inherent acoustical weakness of the modern office building, in which the desire for cleanliness, simplicity, structural strength and creation of office rooms which are often ideal sounding boards. The hard, flat surfaces of walls and ceilings, he says, have little capacity for sound absorption, and thus lend themselves perfectly to the phenomenon of reverberation. Sound waves travelling at the rate of about 1100 feet per second are reflected back and forth many times before their strength is dissipated, mingling with and accentuating a hundred other noises, running all the scale of discord from grating to rasping, creaking, hissing, and banging.

"Human beings work best," says Dr. Ryan, "under conditions of quiet. When there must be sounds, the sounds should be musical and rhythmic, since it is a well known fact that rhythm is stimulating.

Have No Rhythm

"The unfortunate fact is that few of the sounds in an office have either the rhythm or the high frequency of vibration necessary to produce a musical tone.

"Concentration in a modern office is a very tiresome effort, and is possible only when a person is in good health and fresh for work.

"This always causes discomfort, and often a marked impairment of hearing. Even without this extreme effect, physicians are agreed that these noises always cause fatigue and lessen efficiency."

THE SKETCH, MADE BY DR. I. RYAN (AT RIGHT) SHOWS HOW SOUND WAVES PRODUCED BY DROPPING BOOKS, RINGING TELEPHONES, CONVERSATION SLAMMING DOORS, ETC. BOUND AND REBOUND ABOUT THE ROOM OF A MODERN OFFICE BUILDING. THESE NOISES CAUSE FATIGUE, DR. RYAN SAYS.

OVERPRODUCTION LOOMS AS CURSE OF MINE INDUSTRY

Finding Facts About Coal Industry Takes Harder Digging Than Mining the Coal Itself.

By HARRY B. HUNT

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Finding the facts about the coal industry takes harder digging than mining the coal itself. That is the experience of the United States Coal Commission, appointed by President Harding early last October.

After nearly nine months of digging, during which time they have piled up thousands of pages of hearings, the commission is assaying its findings and will present them about July 1 in a "preliminary" report covering the problem in the anthracite fields.

The facts to be presented, covering only a few pages, will compare with the vast mass of testimony taken like the few gems from a whole mountain of earth in a South African diamond diggings.

Bituminous Next

Following the submission of this anthracite report, the commission will dig in again on the bituminous situation in the hope of being able to give Congress, when it convenes in December, recommendations that will assist in shaping legislation to insure peace, prosperity and plenty of coal.

Early in its experience, the coal investigators found they could get nowhere in public meetings where operators and miners faced each other across the table. At these meetings,t he speakers produced oratory, not facts. Each side tried to capture headlines.

As a result, public meetings and composite group meetings were virtually dispensed with. Instead, the individual groups have been brought in, put through the third degree, dismissed and brought back again for rebuttal after their evidence had been countered or contradicted by others.

Policy to be Shaped

By long and patient checking of fiction against fact, of opinion against demonstrated experience, it is believed the few conclusions reached will stand as milestones to mark the path to an ultimtte national policy toward the coal industry.

The present unprecedented prosperity in the anthracite industry will play little part in shaping the tone of the report. For present conditions are on no permanent footing. By the time the commission's report is issued, indeed, a meeting of miner delegates will have convened at Scranton, Pa., to consider "demands" to be made when the present agreement with the operators expires this September. The prospect is not for entire harmony.

Meanwhile, however, the position of the public is considerably improved over one year ago. For anthracite production today is outstripping all previous records, with a 100,000,000-ton year in sight if production is maintained at the average for the first five months of the year.

To June 9, 45,192,000 tons had been mined this year, with the weekly output hanging close to 2,000,000 tons. The greatest output of any previous year was in 1917, when under the stress of war necessity a total of 99,611,811 tons was produced. The commission's investigations have covered three major factors of the coal problem—mining, transportation and marketing.

In the anthracite field, these three have been found to be so tangled as to make analysis most difficult. For the eight largest anthracite producing companies, mining 75 per cent. of all the hard coal, are directly owned or controlled by railroads. This railroad ownership naturally complicates the problem when fair regulations of transportation and marketing are to be prescribed. This situation also has enabled these companies to pile up "grossly exorbitant profits" under conditions and at prices where independent, privately owned mines could only show a "reasonable" return.

Complicat'ons Grow

While concentrating recent activities on the anthracite situation in order to formulate preliminary findings in advance of the expiration of the present anthracite agreement, the commission nevertheless has made considerable headway in its study of the bituminous industry. Here complications multiply. The differences in the mining, labor and economic problems are so great that two problems must be considered almost entirely separately.

Each bituminous coal district, and in some districts almost each mine, has its own customs and problems, determined by the quality of the coal, thickness of seam, attitude of the bed, conditions of mining, available markets, freight rates, labor, policy, etc. Still more involved are the wage rates.

Overdevelopment of the bituminous industry and recurrent labor troubles are regarded as two of the prime factors supporting present high coal prices. How to end the first and stop the second are the two big problems the commission must answer.

Even in times of maximum demand, it is found the bituminous mines as a whole do not work full time. The capacity of present bituminous mines is in excess of 800,000,000 tons a year, but the country even in its periods of greatest prosperity and activity never has been able to absorb more than 579,000,000 tons.

This condition of overdevelopment, commission members state, means unemployment or intermittent employment and a direct loss of earning power. It explains the miner's need and demand for a higher daily wage than for most other industries.

Findings are Serious

The net result of this overdevelopment is the keeping in the industry, as miners, of perhaps 200,000 more men than would be required to produce all the coal we need, and heavy expense to operators in maintaining the excess investment. These two factors alone contribute heavily to the present high cost of coal to the consumer.

The seriousness of the conclusions finally to be announced are hinted at by the members of the commission in a recent summary of its studies which states:

"The commission believes that the public interest in coal raises fundamental questions of the relation of this industry to the nation and of the degree to which private right must yield to public welfare.

"It may be that both private property in an exhaustible resource and labor in a public service industry must submit to certain modifications of their private rights, receiving in return certain guarantees and privileges not accorded to purely private business or persons in private service."

AMERICAN WRITER USED POISON PEN

Scurrilous Letter Reflected on Lady—President Authors' Society Charged.

NEW YORK, July 9.—George Maxwell, President of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, who was indicted recently on a charge of writing scurrilous letters reflecting on Mrs. Allan A. Ryan, voluntarily surrendered yesterday to District Attorney Banton. After being served with a bench warrant by Detective Sergeant John Cunniffe, Maxwell was arraigned before Judge Koenig of General Sessions in chambers and released in $5,000 bail. He will be arraigned for pleading this morning.

Maxwell, carefully groomed, appeared at the Criminal Courts Building at 2 o'clock, accompanied by Nathan Burkan, his attorney. While Maxwell was posing for the photographers Burkan explained that Maxwell arrived in Montreal on Friday on the steamship Montcalm from England. Asked what his next step would be, Burkan said:

"I intend to move for the inspection of the Grand Jury minutes and for quashing the indictment. We are going through this thing to the very end and seek the punishment of the guilty person. I am asking the District Attorney to make an investigation for the purpose of showing that Mr. Maxwell did not write the 'poison pen' letters and that somebody else did."

Jealousy Said To Be Motive

Maxwell's friends, it is said, are satisfied as to the identity of the author of the letters. Experts who have examined the letters in his behalf were reported to have said that twelve typewriters had been used. Jealousy was said to be the motive. Maxwell made the following statement:

"The charges against me are viciously false and I am absolutely innocent of them. I have returned voluntarily without request, not only to vindicate myself but to unearth and bring to justice the guilty parties, who have made my life miserable and who have tortured me and my friends during the last six years with these scurrilous epistles. Those who know me well, will readily admit that I am frank, plain and outspoken, and if I have occasion to condemn or criticise another I do not hide behind masked letters.

"I deeply resent the dastardly and cowardly attacks that have been made against me and the feeding daily to the public press of highly sensational and extraordinarily spectacular accusations, innuendoes and insinuations of and concerning me. These were unfounded fabrications, made recklessly and willfully, in bad faith without any attempt previously to investigate or corroborate them; all with a view to bringing disgrace and discredit upon me and to serve the wicked ends and ulterior purposes of others.

"I have not yet had an opportunity to be heard nor to explain or clear away the fictions which have been conjured up against me and made the basis of the charge. When I sailed abroad there were no charges pending; otherwise I would not have left these shores. Until the indictment was actually found I was unaware of any accusation against me.

Ready to Waive Immunity

"From the outset my attorney voluntarily laid before the authorities a mass of anonymous letters that had been received by me and my friends. He requested of the District Attorney's office that the most exhaustive investigation be made, in order to run down and apprehend the actually guilty persons, and offered to co-operate in every way to that end. He also produced witnesses and furnished all information which I had caused to be made by the Federal authorities some five years ago. He offered to have me return forthwith, and, although there were no charges then pending against me, to have me sign a waiver of Immunity and to answer all questions. He furnished evidence that these letters had poured in on me at a time when I was so seriously ill that I could not even rise from my bed, which illness my doctors attributed to the worry caused by them, finally giving instructions that they be withheld and not delivered to me. He further gave evidence of the fact that when I was out of this country similar missives were mailed in New York City to me and my friends at various foreign addresses.

"That the charges are ridiculous is proved by the letters themselves. They show that I was the principal object of the fiendish and venomous attacks—all with a view and for the sole purpose of ostracizing me socially and in a business way. Thirty years of a very active business life, full of important responsibilities, ought to be some proof of my sanity. I grieve beyond measure for those of my friends who have so innocently been drawn into the scandal and who have been subjected to such disagreeable and extremely unpleasant notoriety."

Mrs. Ryan Friendly in Paris

Maxwell said that he had met Mrs. Allan Ryan recently in Paris and that her manner had been friendly. Several questions put to Maxwell were answered by his attorney.

"Mr. Maxwell never saw the letters written to Mr. Ryan," Burkan said in answer to a question. "He sailed for Europe on May 7 and the letters were mailed on the 10th."

"Had Mr. Maxwell had any disagreement with Mr. Ryan prior to the receipt of the poison pen letters?" he was asked.

"Mr. Maxwell never had a disagreement, but three weeks before Mr. Maxwell sailed Ryan made scurrilous attacks in statements to friends of my client," Burkan said.

Maxwell denied that he had met Mrs. Ryan through Mrs. Louis Rodney Page of Philadelphia or the Countess lie, both of whom were said SantaEula to have received "poison pen" letters.

District Attorney Banton commented as follows:

"Mr. Burkan has information which he has asked us to consider. We will do so. He thinks that information will the mystery. So far the mattersolve is still a mystery to us if we assume Mr. Maxwell did not do it. The information offered so far tends, I am told, to exonerate Mr. Maxwell—and of course it may tend to implicate some one else. We haven't gone that far yet. If the information tends to show that a mistake was made, I'll right the mistake. I would move to dismiss the indictment—I would be the first one to do it, and I'd do it as quickly as possible if we're wrong.

"If there is other evidence that should be presented to a Grand Jury, we have the Grand Jury ready and wait—

POST'S BED BUG POISON

Post's Bed Bug Poison is composed of carbolic acid, Methyl Hydrate and Corrosive sublimate. When this preparation is used according to directions, it is sure death to bed bugs, cockroaches and insects of all descriptions. Two or three applications are all that is necessary, but as it is very poisonous this preparation should be kept out of the reach of children.

AMERICAN OCEAN COMMERCE WANING.

Merchant Fleet Lies Idle and Rusting—No Buyers.

HOG ISLAND, Pa., July 9 (United Press).—In the great wet basin here 102 vessels, once America's war-time merchant fleet, lie at anchor or are tied to docks.

The fleet is for sale, with no buyers because of the waning in American ocean commerce. Meanwhile the ships are slowly rusting to death. Smokestacks are streaked with rust and the paint is fading fast.

Little work would be required, however, to make the fleet again throb with life. Perfect engines lie in the holds of the ships. A little paint, fuel in the bunkers, and a general "touching up" is all that is needed to put the vessels into sea-going shape.

In the midst of the American fleet lie three German vessels, the Von Steuben, that was once owned by Crown Prince Wilhelm; the Nansemond and the Mercury. These three were seized by the government during the war.

The best of attention is given the idle fleet. A force of 250 men take care of the ships and five vessels are used as "mother ships."

BIRTHRATE IN GERMANY FELL

And As Births Decline the Storks Which Made Their Homes in Roofs Are Disappearing.

BERLIN, July 9 (United Press).—Big German cities—for the first time in history—are bringing fewer children into the world than French big cities.

And at the same time the dog population of Germany is increasing by leaps and bounds, since folks who might otherwise be fond parents are alleged to be turning their affections toward the canine world.

Of course the increased security attained by having a dog in the house is not disregarded in these days of unprecedented criminality here, but this does not account for the increase of dogs—in Berlin, for instance, from 53,000 in 1898 to 135,674 in 1921; 170,745 in 1922; and approximately 200,000 at the present time.

The figures showing a lessened birth rate include 46 of the big cities of Germany for the first three months of 1923 during which only 69,631 births were recorded against 78,049 during the same period last year. The average birth rate for the ten greatest French cities per 1,000 population for the year 1922 was 17.5 which has thus surpassed Germany with 16.8 for the first time.

Incidentally, the stork is actually disappearing from Germany. For years a great flock of these birds have made the straw roofs of eastern Prussia their camping headquarters. Today only a few of these long-legged fowls inhabit this region.

Unsolved Mysteries

WHO DESIGNED THE GREAT SEAL

Like so many other points connected with the early history of the United States, the identity of the designer of the Great Seal—together with its actual origin—still remains among the unsolved riddles of America, for it has baffled all attempts at solution for nearly a century and a half.

Briefly, all that is known of the Seal itself, of which only the obverse was ever cut, is that it was adopted by an Act of Congress of June 20, 1782, that a seal in accordance with this act was soon after cut in brass and that the earliest known impression therefrom appears on a commission to General Washington, dated in September, 1782, giving him full power to negotiate exchanges of prisoners. There is no record of the cutting of this seal and it is impossible to say by whom it was cut, but the work was probably done in Philadelphia. In this seal the eagle was slim and very sketchily drawn, the shield was long and narrow, with a straight upper line, the olive branch was without fruits and the border was foliated. This Great Seal remained in use for 49 years.

That it was an Englishman who suggested the design appears probable from the fact that, in a letter written in 1818 by Thomas Barritt, an antiquarian of Manchester, England, to his son in the United States, he says: "My friend, Sir John Prestwich, Bart., told me that he was the person who suggested the idea of a coat of arms for the American States to Ambassador John Adams, which they have seen fit to cut on their moneys." But, while Sir John Prestwich may have made certain suggestions for a design, these do not appear to have influenced the final result in the slightest degree, for, at the time he made them through Adams, 'he essentials of the design for the seal were already before Congress.

In addition, the different features of the seal had been in common use in America for some time. The bundle of 13 arrows is to be found in the North Carolina currency of 1775. In the Maryland currency of the same year appears a hand grasping an olive branch with 13 leaves and, on a $50 bill issued in the motto "Perennis." The 13 stars surrounding an eagle are on the Massachusetts copper penny of 1776 and the 13 stripes are part of the seal of the Board of Admiralty adopted May 4, 1780.

It will therefore be seen that the Great Seal of the United States of America is a combination of all of these, with no one particular person to be credited completely with their arrangement, though the names of William Barton and Charles Thompson, secretary of Congress, have been most prominently mentioned in this connection.

The present seal was recut in 1903 by order of John Hay, Secretary of State, as the seal then being used was becoming worn with age. This is the fourth seal of its kind, the design never having been materially changed from the cutting of the first Great Seal in 1782.

NORTH MONAGHAN NEWS HAPPENINGS

NORTH MONAGHAN, July 9.—Miss Thelma Blake, St. James' Street, is visiting friends in Bethany.

Miss Lizzie Blake, St. James' Street, is visiting her sisters, Mrs. Walter Price, and Mrs. William Morton, in Bethany.

Eva Stevens, Dorothy Whittington, Grace Kelk, Elwood Johnston and Earl White were among those who passed their final examinations successfully in North Monaghan School, Section 3.

One of the prettiest flower gardens in this vicinity is to be seen at the home of Mr. Alec Turner, Park Street South. Large white and pink peonies are arranged effectively, and many other varieties of bloom, make this garden a charming spot. Earlier in the season, the hedge was one mass of tiny pink rose blossoms. One of the best features of this garden is that it is not shut off from the public's view, but is open for all to see and admire.

Baseball, Swimming, Canoeing and Lake Trips Are Daily Features.

MANY VISITORS.

The boys staying at the Rotary camp with the YM.C.A., under the supervision of Fred McNeely, continue to have one round of sustained joy and the best time of their young lives Swimming, baseball, canoeing, campcraft and trips around the lakes are the order of the day. Each day is ended around a huge camp fire built on the shore, and in the glow of its flames yarns are swapped, new friendships made, old ones strengthened and new hopes born.

The outdoor life is giving the boys a fine tan, which they will be sure to show with pride to their less fortunate fellows on their return to the city. Not a few have learned to swim and many can now paddle and control with skill, that creation of the Redman, the canoe.

Baseball is not taking a back seat either, although it is being crowded a little. Everyday the boys hike back to the diamond behind the camp for a game.

Wednesday afternoon the boys crossed the lake and played the George street campers a game of soft ball. The game ended in the most exciting part. The "Y" boys, two runs behind, were staging a rally at the end of the fifth, when, with two men on bases, one of the Babe Ruths of the team broke the one and only bat, leaving the game undecided. Both teams were confident that they would have won, so a game at a future time was arranged.

The postponed game was played yesterday and the George street team was the victor by the score of 16 to 14. Costly errors and 'boners' were the causes of the defeat. The 'Y' team led until the sixth by a comfortable score of five runs. Then came the blow up and the 'Y' boys emerged with the small end of the score. Although the game was exciting all through, good sportsmanship was always shown. The George Street campers are to return the visit soon and play a game of hardball, at which the "Y" boys claim to be more adept.

The whole of Stoney and Clear Lakes have been explored by the "Y" boys. The camp motor boat, Freda, has made this possible. This worthy little boat, with her chugging single and lonely cylinder, pulls the laughing and joyous youngsters, towing the major portion in the two "cruisers." Juniper Island, Mount Julian, Burleigh Falls, South Beach, and Young's Point have been visited among other places. A trip is made to Kawartha daily.

The Y.M.C.A. camp and the girls at the Y.W.C.A at Gladhalken have combined on some of these jaunts.

On Friday the camp was visited by four of the Rotary Annes. The ladies brought magazines and a box of "kisses," sugar refreshment. They also inspected the camp and plan to supply curtains and those little home-like touches which only a woman's hand can supply to any surroundings be it a home or a bunk house.

Sunday was visitors' day and many of the boys' parents and friends took advantage of the fact. The following visited the boys and expressed surprise and pleasure at the extent and nature of the camp and the evident good times being enjoyed by the boys: Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Perrin, Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Allison, Margaret Allison, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Barnes, Mrs E. Tuck, J. Smith, Mrs. F. Stanley, Mr and Mrs. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ruth, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Devey, Miss H. Crow, Miss M. Sedgwick, G. G. Winterbottom, Mr. and Mrs. Waterfield and children, Mrs. Jackson and Mrs. Armstrong.

John Ward and J Ashmore spent the week end at the camp.

CANON SCOTT WAS ELECTED CHAPLAIN

G. W. V. A. Named Nova Scotia for Next Convention—Constitution Amended.

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 9. — (Canadian Press).—Next year's convention of the Great War Veterans will be held in Nova Scotia, it was recorded at the closing session of the Dominion convention here Saturday. Fort William extended an invitation, but a number of delegates felt that the association is honor bound to go to Nova Scotia, which previously had relinquished its right to this year's gathering. Canon Scott was elected honorary chaplin. Several amendments to the constitution were accepted. One provides for the election of an honorary president and two honorary vice-presidents. Another creates the office of an assistant to the Dominion president. The offices of the Dominion secretary and the Dominion treasurer will be combined. Canon Scott will be asked to make a tour of the branches, and prominent citizens will be requested to undertake similar work to provide opportunities for general instruction and entertainment, and also additional revenues for the association. It was the feeling of the convention that the junior organization should be founded with the idea of educating children to carry on the G.W.V.A. work in after years.

MILLBROOK AND THE DISTRICT

A Reduction in County Taxes From Last Year —News of Interest.

MILLBROOK, July 9. — The July meeting of the town council was held on Friday evening, all the members being present and Reeve Wood in the chair. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and on motion confirmed. The usual accounts, amounting to about $500, were passed.

The report re equalization of taxes for school section No. 11 between Cavan and Millbrook, was received and filed. Formerly the rate was: Cavan 26 mills, and Millbrook 74 mills, according to the report submitted Cavan is now held responsible for 30½ mills and Millbrook for 69½ mills. The report was signed by Inspector Odell of Cobourg, Jas. Paul of Cavan, and J. J. Clarke, of Millbrook.

A communication was received from County Clerk McNaughton of Cobourg, re amount of county taxes for which Millbrook is responsible, the total being $1607.20, a reduction of about $200 from last year. The county rate is practically 8 mills this year.

Reeve Wood was instructed to purchase tile for crossings to complete the work from Allen's hill as far as C. Thorndyke's corner.

Lang-Sayles: That a cement sidewalk be built to replace the present board walk in Collin's Lane, same to be continued to join the sidewalk on Centre street, thus eliminating the muddy crossin (in wet weather) that has inconvenienced pedestrians using this thoroughfare from King St. The proposed walk to be three feet three inches wide.

A cement crossing is also to be built from the Post Office to the north side of King street.

Councillors Sayles and Stinson, who weer appointed a committee to purchase opera chairs for the town hall reported that the safe could not be secured under $2 each, hence total of about $400 would be required to furnish the hall. No action was taken on the report which was received and filed.

StinsonSayles: That permission be given B. R. Raper for the erection of balcony in front of his property on King street providing cement pillars be placed at the outside edge of the cement sidewalk at that point.

On motion the council adjourned to meet again at the call of the reeve.

Kenneth Thirtle met with a serious accident on Friday while driving with a load of laths to Campbellcroft station. One of the stakes holding the load in place broke and the horses taking fright started to run away. Kenneth was thrown from the wagon and both legs run over and quite seriously injured. He is now in Dr. Turner's hospital for treatment.

Rev. S. C. Moore, B.A., B.D., Bowmanville, was a visitor in town over the week end, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. P. I. Bentley on Saturday, and of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hamilton, of Zion. Rev. Mr. Moore was pastor on the Cavan South circuit several years ago He is now enjoying a month's holidays from his pastorate at Bowmanville, the Methodists and Presbyterians of that town holding union services while their respective pastors are on vacation

The cadets from here under Lieut. R. E. Doxsee, who were at Barriefield camp, returned home on Saturday. Lawrence Ingram was a successful competitor in the rifle shooting bringing home a silver cup as a trophy of his skill along that line.

The official returns for East Durham in the recent election give A. J. Fallis, Liberal-Conservative candidate, a majority of 1034 .Two townships, Hope and Cavan, gave S. S. Staples, U.F.O. candidate, a majority, the former of 159, and the latter of 48; Port Hope favored Fallis by a majority of 680; Manvers township by 359, and Millbrook by 202.

Rev. Dr. Workman, of Toronto, made a brief stay in the village on Saturday, while on his way to Lindsay, where he was taking charge of the services in the Cambridge St. church on Sunday. Dr. Workman stated that he assisted with the ceremonies in connection with the opening of the Methodist church here 41 years ago the first of July, being the pastor of the George street church at that time. The corner stone was laid by the late Senator George A. Cox when the church here was opened An invitation was extended to Rev. Dr. Workman to be present, and take some part in the Old Boys Reunion in Millbrook next month.

The annual meeting of the District Women's Institute will be held in the town hall, on Wednesday, July 11th at 2.30 p.m. Reports for the year will be received and important business transacted. Mrs. T. A. Skitch of Bailieboro is the district president, Mrs. John Allen, Millbrook, 1st vice-president, Mrs. A. C. Beatty of Garden Hill, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. J. R. Eakins, Millbrook, secretary treasurer; assistant secretary, Mrs. H. Armstrong, Millbrook, and Mrs. S. Jemison, Bethany, district director. Lunch will be served at the close of Wednesday's meeting and a social hour enjoyed before the visiting delegates leave for home.

Ominous Vesuvius Has Burst Many Times

Two hundred and twenty-five miles slightly northwest across the Tyrrhenian Sea from Mount Etna, near Giarre, stands Vesuvius, within sight of Naples. Both are treacherous volcanoes.

Until three months ago both had been comparatively quiet for years—Etna for 13, Vesuvius for 17. Strangely at about the same time each commenced to rumble. And then, just a few days ago, Etna burst forth, belching a river of hot lava, searing towns into oblivion.

As a result of what is happening to 1,000,000 persons who lived within the shadow of Etna, peasants dwelling along the sides of Vesuvius are turning inquiring eyes to their own giant sentinel, standing uneasily on the mainland in the Bay of Naples.

Civilization High

For more than 25 centuries, a highly civilized community has densely populated the vicinity and slopes of Vesuvius. Etna is older, but Vesuvius has supplied a great deal of the intelligence upon which geological theories of volcanic action are based.

Successive eruptions have caused a variation in the height of Vesuvius. In June, 1900, it was some 4275 feet above sea-level. After the violent eruption of 1906, however, it was reduced until now it averages only 4000 feet.

It consists of two distinct portions. On the northern side a high semi-circular cliff, reaching to 3714 feet—half circles cliff, reaching to 3714 feet—half encircles the present active cone. It descends in long slopes toward the plains below. Monte Somma is the name by which this precipice is known, and it forms the wall of an ancient pre-historic crater.

At the time of its greatest dimensions, history says, the volcano was probably twice as high as it is now.

Centuries ago, a colossal eruption blew off the upper half of the cone.

Surface Shr'nks

Science does not know definitely what causes volcanic eruptions. The theory most accepted is that, as the earth's surface shrinks in response to the contracting effect of cooling age, and warps to the "earth tides" which cause a twice-a-day rise and fall of about 12 inches in the surface beneath our unconscious feet, the pressure on certain spots is lightened enough to cause great masses of the interior rock to melt.

How the liquid rock gets out is another thing science does not know. Probably as one writer said some time ago, it is squeezed through a fissure in the brittle crust.

These hot gasses eat through the adjacent rock and form a vent for the liquid rock. It may flow out quietly and peaceably, or burst forth violently, as in the case of Etna and awakening Vesuvius, believed to be connected by a subterraneous volcanic strata.

VERDURE COVERS ENTIRE PROVINCE

Alberta is Huge Carden With Record Prospect—Wheat Headed Out.

CALGARY, Alta., July 9.—(Canadian Press).—Alberta is just one huge garden, according to crop reports athered at the week-end from every section of the Province. Never has the oldest timer seen so heavy and lush growth, not only of cultivated grains, but of wild grass. Land that has been burned brown for years is covered with thick verdure, which makes ideal pasture for cattle and horses, while the wheat stand is nothing less than marvellous, eclipsing that of 1915, when Alberta made the world's crop record with an average yield of more than 33 bushels to the acre. If present indications become actualities, yields of 45 to 50 bushels will be common, and 60 bushels will not be unusual. Much of the wheat is now headed out, and the rest is in shot blade.

FRANCE WILL NOT ALTER HER POLICY

President Millerand Declares Policy is One of a Long, Hard Pull.

CLERMONT FERRAND, July 9. — (Canadian Press).—France will not change her coercive policy towards Germany, was the declaration made yesterday by President Millerand at the celebration of the centenary of the birth of Blaise Pascal, French geometrician, philosopher and writer. The President said the country must remain united behind the Government. But, he added, "Let us not hide the truth from ourselves that this policy is one of a long, hard pull."

"Just as the army had held out against the Germans to the end," M. Millerand continued, "so must France now be resolved to hold out to the end—that is to say, a quarter of an hour longer than our adversary."

SUCCESSFUL OUTCOME NEAR EAST CONFERENCE

LAUSANNE, July 9.—(Canadian Press).—An accord has been reached between the Turks and the Allies and peace probably will be signed this week. Thus the Near East Conference, which has been in continuous session for more than three months past, had a successful outcome. For a considerable period the settlement hung in the balance on the question of the Ottoman debt, concessions and the evacuation of Constantinople and other Turkish territory by foreign troops. Both sides were forced to give way in the measure at the end, and it was apparent at the first session yesterday that the termination of the discussion was close at hand.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

A Box Social at Trent River—Baseball League Standing — Personal Mention.

CAMPBELLFORD, July 9. — The Memorial Committee of Trent River has unanimously voted the box social of Friday evening, 6th July, a success, both from a financial standpoint and as a measure of enjoyment. A large crowd from this town attended

The evening led off with dancing until the crowd had gathered, and at ten o'clock A. L. Riendeau auctioned off the boxes successfully. J. Ernest Birks of Campbellford donated a beautiful box of chocolates, which was auctioned off, bringing a substantial sum.

Mr. W. B. Ritchie, of Havelock, chairman of the Reception Committee, also donated a beautiful cake, which sold well.

A square dance was held after the sale of boxes, in which the older people took part. It was reminiscent of bygone days, when a small pavilion was opened on Wight's lawn.

The feature of the evening was the large and beautiful cake donated by Stover's Maple Leaf Bakery, of Campbellford. Tickets were sold for this, the lucky number being 31, held by Miss Ileen Taylor, of Toronto, who is holidaying at Lloyd's Cottage. The committee feels greatly indebted to Mr. Stover for this donation, which figured remuneratively in the success of the social.

The chairman, A. H. McKeel, was pleased to see Campbellford so well represented, as were the other committee members at witnessing such a good turn-out from their particular towns.

The proceeds of the evening will go towards financing Trent River's war memorial which is now under construction, the sod having been turned on 2nd July by Mrs. John H. Scott, president of the Ladies' Aid of Trent River. Among those assisting in the erection of the memorial are Messrs. Watters and Kilbank of Trent River, 79 and 74 years of age, respectively. And not alone is age cognisant of the significance of the memorial. Some of the Trent River youths around the age of ten worked laboriously handling stone, and while, when the war ended, they were perhaps too young to understand its meaning, it is a certainty they understand the surpose of the monument they are assisting in erecting.

Many of the farmers are to be congratulated for their assistance and willingness in hauling stone and gravel, many of them leaving their having and giving a day or two to this work.

The memorial, when completed, will be unveiled with appropriate ceremonies.

New S. A. Officers.

There has been a change of the officers in charge of the local corps of the Salvation Army, Capt. Ding has been transferred to Port Hope and Lieut. Hawkins goes to Haliburton. These officers have been in charge of the work here for the past ten months, and have been successful in building up a strong organisation for a town the size of Campbellford.

The new officers are Capt. Isabel Froude, who came from Oshawa, and Lieut. Flora Hurst, who last year was stationed at Bowmanville. They assumed charge of the work here yesterday, and were given a hearty welcome by the members of the corps.

Council Meeting.

The regular meeting of the Town Council will be held to-night.

Mrs. Harold Rutherford.

One of the largest funerals ever held in this district was that of the late Mrs. Harold Rutherford, which took place on Sunday from her late residence near Stanwood to Rylestone Church, where service was conducted by the pastor, Rev. J. J. Black, who paid the highest tribute to the loving Christian example and life of the deceased and the loss sustained by the community, the church, and the home in her passing.

The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful, testifying to the high regard in which the deceased was held.

The pall-bearers were cousins of the deceased, Messrs. Will. Allan, John McKeown, S. Meiklejohn, Fred Rutherford, Reginald McCullough, and Mr. Robb.

The remains were laid to rest in the family plot in the Rylestone Cemetery.

The Methodist and Presbyterian churches, as has been the custom of the past five years, are holding union services during July and August while Rev. C. F. McIntosh, M.A. B.D., of St. Andrews conduct the services during July.

The morning service was held in St. Andrews church, when Rev. M. McIntosh preached a very appropriate and helpful sermon from words found in Psalm 133, verse 1 "Behold how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity." Very pleasing music was rendered by St. Andrews' choir in charge of their efficient organist, Mr. Fred Wigglesworth. The quartette "Jesus I my cross have taken" sung very sweetly by Mrs. Ernest Cochrane, Miss Lila Ballantyne Messrs. Fred Wigglesworth and Alex. McDonald with Mr. E. E. Dolman at the organ was much appreciated. The evening service in the Methodist church was equally well attended when Rev. Mr. McIntosh chose as his text "I Thessalonions, Chapter 5, verse 23" and the very God of peace sanctify you wholly; and I pray God your whole spirit and soul and body be preserved blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ." The speaked emphasized the all round development of life the body mind and spirit St. Andrews' choir had charge of the music and rendered very sweetly the anthem "Tak my life and let it be."

Peterborough Whitewashed Kingston-Belleville Beat Cobourg

BELLEVILLE CREW HERE SATURDAY

The Petes' Greatest Rivals Will Be the Attraction in This Week's Game.

The Petes' greatest rivals and the team to beat for the second half honors, the Belleville outfit will be here on Saturday for their first local appearance in the second section of the Big Four race and there promises to be fireworks when they clash with the Petes. With the assistance of Umpire Si Dell and some shaky fielding by the Petes, Belleville won their last game here by a one run margin, but the Solomon outfit have apparently hit their stride since then and have played snappy ball in their last three fixtures. They realize that they cannot afford to drop any home game to Belleville and the neat win registered by the Trunks in Cobourg Saturday shows that the Solomon crew will also have to grab off the odd game on foreign fields as well to be in the running for the second half. At present the Petes are a game in front as follows:

	Won	Lost	P.C.
Peterboro	2	0	1000
Belleville	1	1	.500
Kingston	1	1	.500
Cobourg	0	2	.000

Saturday's game should be about the liveliest of the season.

THOMPSON WON CANADIAN TITLE

Defeated Redvers Mackenzie on Saturday For the Amateur Golf Championship.

KANAWAKI, P. Q., July 9. — (Canadian Press).—Needing only a foot putt to give him a half and the amateur golf championship of Canada, Redvers Mackenzie, Montreal Country Club, threw away his chance for the title when he missed and the honor passed to W. J. Thompson, Mississauga. The putt was missed on the last hole of the afternoon round of the final of the Canadian amateur golf championship tournament here Saturday when Mackenzie was one up on Thompson. Two extra holes were played and Thompson won the second on the 38th hole of the match. Thompson was only up on his opponent once during the game and that was when he won the hole which secured for him the match and the championship. As golf went, the match was not remarkable. Both players erred consistently during the day, principally in the afternoon. Thompson's putts were very weak, while Mackenzie sliced badly on his tee shots. It had been Mackenzie's great putting which had secured and preserved for him his lead until the end, and it was the irony of fate that it deserted him when it meant everything. As a piece of sporting drama, however, the game left nothing to be desired. After the morning round Mackenzie had a lead of three. In the afternoon he began to slip and Thompson got the match squared at the eighth. Mackenzie went ahead again at the ninth, but at the tenth they were on even terms once more. Thompson should have taken the thirteenth and got a lead, but he missed a short putt. Mackenzie took the sixteenth and had his lead of one when he approached the, for him, fatal eighteenth. After a brilliant display at the first extra hole, when he won a halve by a big putt, Mackenzie failed completely on the second extra hole and had to concede it and the match.

COBOURG WAS EASY FOR BELLEVILLE

Fans Attempted to Throw Umpire Menzies in the Reservoir — Score Was 7 to 1.

COBOURG, July 9.—(Special)—Belleville easily defeated Cobourg here Saturday 7 to 1. The visitors showed to much better advantage than on their previous appearances here this season and played errorless ball throughout. Jack Williams was on the rubber for Belleville and the locals could do very little with his offerings, getting only seven scattered hits Cobourg's only run came in the ninth when Drennan hit to third, stole second and scored on Derry's long double to centre. Belleville scored four in the second on H. Mills double, J K. Williams hit to right, Schafer's bad throw of Hagerman's grounder and Meagher's short hit to left.

In the fourth Belleville drove Jahren from the mound, Hagerman getting a home run, Ross a double and Brownscombe a single. Derry replaced Jahren and pitched fine ball, Belleville scoring only once off him in the seventh on H. Mills' double and Drennan's bad error of an easy grounder. Belleville scored seven hits off Jahren and four off Derry. Jahrne fanned three, walked one; Derry fanned two. Williams fanned six and walked two. Centre-fielders Ross and J. Kenney had a busy day in the field, both having several hard catches. Skitch had a sensational catch off Hagerman's bat in the fifth it being a feature of a bad day for Cobourg.

Umpire Menzies of Lindsay was poor on the bases and his decision in the sixth on Skitch in calling the runner out when Meagher who had covered the bag for the throw from Mills dropped the ball, so enraged the spectators that some of the more rabid fans jumped the fence and attempted to escort his umps to the reservoir in the south of the park to give him a bath.

Score by innings:
Belleville ..... 040200100—7 11 0
Cobourg ..... 000000001—1 7 4
Batteries—Belleville: Williams and Hagerman; Cobourg: Jahren, Derry and Jackson.
Umpires—Sullivan and Menzies.

REDS MADE IT SIX FROM NEW YORK

The Championship Giants Have Lost Six Straight Games to Cincinnati — St. Louis Shut Out Brooklyn.

NEW YORK, July 9.—(Canadian Press)—Cincinnati's home run hitting enabled the Reds to take the second game of the series yesterday from the New York Giants, 5 to 3. It was the sixth straight victory the Reds have scored against the Giants and Luque, the Cuban star, who twirled a masterful game, accounted for his third triumph of the season over the Champions. Causey and Burns put Cincinnati in the lead with circuit clouts in the second and Fons' home run drive clinched the game in the eighth. Score:
Cincinnati ..... 030000011—5 12 1

BILL JOHNSON WON MEN'S TENNIS TITLE

Defeated Francis T. Hunter—The King and Queen Present For the Finals.

WIMBLEDON, July 9.—(Canadian Press).—Wm. J. Johnson of California won the world's tennis championship on grass courts in the presence of the King and Queen and 20,000 other spectators by defeating Francis T. Hunter, New Rochelle, Saturday, in straight sets, with a loss of only four games out of twenty-two. The scores were 6-0, 6-3, 6-1.

Johnston handled Hunter's fierce forehand drives with ease. Striking a sizzling pace from start, he won the first set without the loss of a game, giving up only a dozen points to Hunter. In the second set Hunter got some of his hard smashing volleys and drives past Johnston and gained a lead of three games to two.

But Johnston soon forced him back to the defensive again and kept him there until he had won nine straight games, to put himself within one game of the championship. Then Hunter won his own service, by succeeding in escaping another love set defeat.

HEAVY COATING OF WHITEWASH APPLIED TO KINGSTON PONIES

Petes Won Saturday's Fixture 10 to 0, Heckman Getting His Second Shut-Out in Succession Over Ponies.

GALLAGHER FAILS.

The Petes shot out in front in the second half of the Big Four section of the Central Ontario League race on Saturday afternoon and incidentally extracted sweet revenge for the 9-0 kalsomining they received at the hand of the Ponies on their last trip to Kingston, by beating Batstone, Gallagher and Company at Riverside Park by 10 runs to nil.

It was the second consecutive shut out game Heckman has hurled against Kingston and the Ponies have as a matter of fact failed to register a run against the Petes hurler in the last twenty-four innings they have faced him. They scored two runs in the third inning of their first game here this season and that pair of markers is all the registering they have done in their three appearances at Riverside Park. Heckman was invincible in the pinches Saturday and although the visitors secured ten hits off his delivery and threatened to score three or four times the necessary hit was never forthcoming. The Ponies got at least one man on the runways in every innings except the fifth, in the sixth had the bases full with two out, in the eighth had men on first and second with one down and in the ninth had second and third tenanted with two hands retired but in every case Heckman caused the next batters to po up or roll weakly to the infield.

The Petes were in behind this steady pitching with almost flawless fielding and the combination was too much for the Ponies. Ansaldo had the feature play when he tore past second and gathered in a high bounder from Evans' bat on the run tagging Cherry as he came down the line from first and then whistling the ball into Comolli's hands for a lightning fast double play. Shaughnessy and Wolfe in the outfield disposed of seven Kingston batters between them, Johnston made a smart play on Batstone's roller in the first and Collins tore off a couple of nice stops and throws that helped.

Gallagher, Kingston's southpaw who allowed the Petes only one unearned run in his last two starts against the Solomon outfit was called upon to stop the homesters on Saturday, but he had nothing to do it with. The big left-hander lacked both control and smoke, passing five men and hitting another and when he retired from the rubber at the end of the sixth inning the Petes were in front 8 to 0. Moore the slow-moving right-hander who pitched the last two innings yielded a couple more totally unnecessary counters.

As was the case with Kingston when they walloped Manager Solomon's crew 9 to 0 in the Limestone City several weeks ago the Petes got the breaks on Saturday, this accounting for the lopsided score over a team that had made the homesters travel all the way to the finishing post in their other two games here. The Petes for instance were lucky in the sixth innings to have two sharply hit grounders stick close to the turf and tear through Teeple's legs hot hits, instead of bounding into the shortstop's hands and resulting in a double play. The second of these lucky hits came with the bases loaded and before the ball came back to the infield three more runs had scored. Without these breaks of course, the Petes would have won anyway, but the margin would have not been so one-sided. The Ponies gave up the fight altogether in the later stages and in the last inning there wasn't even a coacher on the sidelines.

There was no score in the first. Nicholson first up for Kingston was easy on a fl yto Wolfe and Daley died the same way. Twigg singled past second but Johnston made a fast play on Batstone's hard hit roller and got the batter at first.

Peterboro lost a good chance. Legon drew a pass and went to second on a passed ball, the third strike or Johnston. Swanston singled to left and stole second. Ansaldo walked, packing the bases. Wolfe's best was a high fly to Batstone and Comolli fanned.

In the second Cherry got a lucky hit on a ball that bounded over Collins' head. He went to second on Evans' roller to Comolli on which the batter was retired and remained there while Teeple fanned and Rice fouled out to Swanston.

The Petes went out in order, Heckman on strikes and Shaughnessy and Collins on respective grounders to Batstone and Teeple.

Gallagher first up in the third was hit and Teeple ran for him. Nicholson sacrificed. Daley struck out. Teepl reached third on Swanston's low wide throw to catch h im off second. Twigg's low fly was taken on the run by Comolli.

The home crew got more than enough to win in their half. Legon started th e inning by bunting and was safe when Evans' foot was off the bag. Johnston bunted for a sacrifice but Gallagher threw Legon out at second. Swanston's high fly was taken by Teeple. Ansaldo singled on a line to left. Wolfe's high fly dropped safely back of first for a hit scoring Johnston. Ansaldo went to third and Wolfe reached second on the throw to the plate. A wild pitch scored Ansaldo, Wolfe going to third. Comolli was walked and on a double steal Wolfe romped home. Heckman also drew a pass but the fun ended when Shaughnessy hit to Batston, forcing Comolli at third.

A double killing engineered by Ansaldo featured Kingston's fourth. Batstone gave the Ponies a bad start by fanning but Cherry hit safely to centre. Evans' roller bounced over Heckman's head but Ansaldo took it on the run, tagged Cherry and headed Evans off at first, a lightning fast play.

For the Petes, Collins flied to Cherry, Legon fanned and Johnston was tossed out by Gallagher.

The Ponies expired in order in the fifth. Teeple fanned, Rice boomed a fly to Shaughnessy and Wolfe was under Gallagher's drive to centre.

The Solomon outfit met a similar fate. Swanston fanned, Ansaldo hoisted one to Teeple and Wolfe lined into Twigg's hand.

The visitors had a good opening in the sixth, but the final punch was lacking. After Collins had thrown out Nicholson and Daley, Twigg doubled to right centre, Batstone walked and Cherry singled over second, Johnston saving a run by knocking the ball down. With the sacks populated, Evans raised a high fly to Johnston for the third out.

The Petes had a lot of fun in their half. Comolli walked and Heckman burned a single through Teeple's legs. Shaughnessy bunted for a sacrifice but Rice elected to try for Comolli at third and lost him, filling the bases. Gallagher plugged Collins in the back, forcing in Comolli. With the infield in Legon slashed a hot one through Teeple, Heckman, Shaughnessy and Collins scoring, while the hitter reached second on the throw in. Johnston bunted and Gallagher thre to third too late to get Legon. Johnston stole second. Swanston lined in Teeple's hand and Legon was doubled off third. The run getting was not over yet, for Ansaldo ripped a double over third scoring Johnston, Wolfe singled and Cherry's perfect throw to the plate nipped Ansaldo.

Teeple first up for Kingston in the seventh singled to centre but Rice fanned and Gallagher also failed to connect, the third strike hitting him as he swung at the ball. Nicholson's drive to right centre was taken nicely by Shaughnessy.

Moore was on the rubber for Kingston when the Petes went to bat and Comolli greeted him with a red hot single past Batstone, going to second on a passed ball. Heckman walked. Shaughnessy hit to Batstone, forcing Heckman at second. Shaughnessy stole second. Batstone made an inglorious mull of Collins' easy fly, filling the bases. Legon hit to W. Evans whose throw home hit Comolli and the runner scored. Johnston's sacrifice fly to centre enabled Shaughnessy to register. Swanston flied to Cherry.

Kingston wasted two hits in the eighth. Daley opened with a single to right. Twigg flied out to Shaughnessy. On a hit and run play Batstone singled through short as Ansaldo run over to cover second. Cherry hit to Ansaldo, forcing Batstone at second, Daley going to third. Swanston threw Cherry out by a yard when he tried to steal second.

The Petes perished in order, Ansaldo flying out to Cherry, Wolfe grounding to Gallagher and Comolli being robbed of a hit by a nice stop by Batstone.

In Kingston's last frame Evans lined to Shaughnessy and Moore was thrown out by Heckman. Rice singled to centre and Gallagher followed with another safety on which Rice reached third and Gallagher second on the play to get Rice. The belated rally was shot down when Johnston camped under Nicholson's high fly to short right field.

VETS DEFEATED FOR CHARITY CUP

Hard Fought Game Was Won By the Thistles By a Score of 4 to 1.

With a defeat tallied against each team the Vets and the Thistles met in the Phelan Football Charity Cup tie at the Oval on Saturday afternoon, with the Scots winning a hard fought game by 4 goals to 1 before a good crowd of spectators.

The Thistles won the toss and made the Vets face the hot sun. The opening stages showed good football and each team made unsuccessful raids on goal. F. E. Wade beat the Thistles' full backs for a fruitless corner. McAlpine trapped the ball nicely to McMillan who shot for ard to Richmond. He lifted the ball forward and beat the backs on the run to open the scoring with a left foot drive. At this reverse the Vets worried the Thistles' defence but repeatedly put over the bar. At the other end Bishop gave away a throw in; Shewan centred to Richmond, who beat Griffin all the way with a high shot under the bar. Twice in succession Jim Sharman shot hard for goal. First one low ground shot which Scott saved magnificently, then again a middle high shot which was also saved. On a run down the wing by Shewan and Hutton, the outside right placed the ball exactly at Richmond's foot and quick as a flash he beat Griffin for the third time. Both teams played nice football and time and again the Vets would initiate splendid moves towards the Scots' goal, but the Thistle defence made no mistake with each clearance. Chambers of the Vets made a good impression by his individual efforts at goal. A few minutes later Stott was in difficulty in goal and the spectators claimed a goal but the referee ruled otherwise. Half ti ie, Thistles 3, Vets 0.

On resuming, the Thistles faced the sun. Dyer was replaced by Williamson at full back, Dyer going forward. The Vets were the more aggressive this period and from twenty yards out Blowers compelled Stott to go down on his knees to save a low ground shot. At last Dyer had a try at goal, Stott saved, but the ball went back to Blowers, who beat the Thistle goal keeper while out of goal. Nice combination by the Thistle forwards transferred the play to the Vets' goal where Williams' missed a great chance. The hero of the game was undoubtedly Stott, who was picking the ball from every angle. This made the Scots look dilatory in play, who seemed content with their score, and Vets settling down to the game. F. E. Wade and J. Wade tested Stott again. Quick as a flash Hutton beat down the field, left Blowers on the run and shot across the goal. Burgess caught the ball in the corner, but he centred into goal for Hutton to head through the fourth goal. Play went from end to end with each team making desperate efforts to score. The ball was in mid-field as the final whistle sounded full time.

Goal scorers: Richmond 3, Hutton 1 for Thistles. Blowers for Vets 1.

The teams:

Thistles: Stott goal; Rae and Ralston full backs; Jackson, McMillan and McAlpine, half backs; Shewan, Hutton, Richmond, Williams and Burgess, forwards.

G. W. V. A.: Griffin, goal; Dyer and Bishop, full backs; Edwards, Burrows and Blowers, half backs; F. E. Wade, Chambers, J. Wade, Williamson and J. Sharman, forwards.

Cleveland Set New Record for Baseball

CLEVELAND, July 9.—(Canadian Press)—The largest score ever made by an American League team was made Sunday afternoon when Cleveland defeated Boston in the first game here by 27 to 3. The previous record was 24 to 2, set by Philadelphia against Detroit, May 18, 1912. The Indians also tied the record by scoring in every inning and came within one run of tying the American League record by scoring thirteen runs in the sixth inning.

Cleveland also won the second game 8 to 5.

PHILADELPHIA WON NINTH INNING RALLY

Came From Behind After Two Men Were Out — Cleveland Won Hard-Hitting Contest.

DETROIT, July 9.—(Canadian Press)—Philadelphia won from Detroit yesterday 7 to 5, by scoring three runs in the ninth inning after two men were out. Sheer hit to Rigny in the ninth for what should have been the last out and the Detroit shortstop fumbled the ball. Two singles and a double followed. Harris outpitched four Detroit hurlers. Score:

New York 6, St. Louis 4.

ST. LOUIS, July 9.—Canadian Press)—New York won yesterday's game from the Browns 6 to 4 by piling up a lead during the earlier innings which the locals were unable to overcome despite their last inning rally during which Bush was driven from the box. Pruett started the game for the Browns but was batted out in the third inning. Danforth, Bayne and Root followed him to the hill. Babe Ruth was an easy victim to the left hand hurlers of the Browns getting one single in four trips to the plate. Score:

Chicago 4, Washington 2.

CHICAGO, July 9.— (Canadian Press)—Charley Robertson, whose suspension was raised by Manager Gleason yesterday, engaged Walter Johnson in a pitching duel and Chicago defeated Washington 4 to 2. Johnson held the White Sox to five hits but they made them all count in the scoring. Robertson was hit harder than his opponent, but in only two innings were the visitors able to get more than one hit. Score:

C. G. E. LOST TO OSHAWA SENIORS

Free Hitting and Poor Support Responsible For the Defeat—Score Was 19 to 4.

OSHAWA, July 9.—(Special)—Peterboro C.G.E. intermediates and Oshawa Central League team filled in the only open date at Alexandra Park for the month with an exhibition game and the Lift Lock City lads stepped out of their class, as the score just about indicates the play, although Frost and Rose the slab artists were given ragged support. Rose while covering the third sack had a bad afternoon and Barrie at second was also off. Frost pitched the first five frames and Oshawa collected six two base wallops and five singles, which accompanied by two walks and four errors were good for 13 runs. Rose was sent to the rubber in the sixth and he issued four passes, his help behind him had three errors and he was touched for four hits, for a total of six runs. Dainty worked on the rubber for Oshawa in the first five frames and let the Petes down with two hits and one run, when Morrison finished and although he had nothing but the nerve, the Easterners only collected two hits which along with three errors and a couple of free tickets were good for three runs.

The score by innings was:
Peterboro .... 001000120— 4 4 8
Oshawa ..... 31333123x—19 16 6
The lineups were:
Peterboro—Rose, 3b and p; McCarney, cf; Griffin, rf; Ross, c; Dugan, 1b; Jackson, lf; Ranger, ss; Frost p, cf; Barrie, 2b.

Umpires—Dell at the plate; Patton on the bases, both of Oshawa.

KEENE GIRLS DEFEATED

The Sixth Line Girls won from the Villiers girls by a score of 7 to 6 in one of the best soft ball games of the season. The victory leaves the Sixth Line team at the top of the league, as it is the only team which has not lost a game. A large crowd turned out for the game and both teams were well backed by their respective supporters. The next game will be played in Ke[illegible] on July 10.

The players were:

BATTLING SIKI WON IN SECOND ROUND

Knocked Out Marcel Nilles, Who Was Considered the Best Heavyweight in France.

PARIS, July 9.—(Canadian Press)—Battling Siki yesterday knocked out Marcel Nilles a French light heavyweight pugilist in the second round of what was to have been a fifteen round battl.

Nilles in May was knocked out in the eighth round by Georges Carpentier, the light heavyweight. He was considered by followers of the ring to have been France's best heavyweight.

Siki's hard head and his "steel" ribs provd immune to an onslaught from Nilles in the first round. The white man carried the battle to the negro throughout this session, with Siki bent nearly double in a crouch and assimilated all Nilles handed out to him. The judgment of those about the ringside was that Nilles was sure to be the winner of the one-sided contest.

Over-confidence from his showing, Nilles came from his corner at the clang of the gong for the second as if it was his intention immediately to finish off his opponent and have the affair ended. The shifty Senegal man, however, went into a clinch with Nilles and pushed him into a corner. Then, as they broke away, Siki swung his left to the jaw of the white man. Nilles went down, face foremost as though he had been struck with an axe.

Before the fight Siki was enraged over the decision rendered Saturday by the Judge of the civil tribunal, giving Edmond Lapart an injunction forbidding the promoters to pay over to Siki any part of the purse or stakes accruing from the match. The black man, because of the court's decision was fighting merely for "glory."

TWO HOMERS.

ST. LOUIS, July 9.—(Canadian Press)—Babe Ruth of the New York Americans got his second home run of the day and his eighteenth of the season in the eighth inning of Saturday's game with St. Louis. There was no one on base on either occasion and both drives were off Van Gilder.

The Babe made his first homer of the game in the first inning.

PRISONED WORLD WAR VETERANS ABNORMAL

More Than 20 Percent Suffering From Disabilities Traceable to Their Military Service.

(By HERBERT LITTLE)

MADISON, Wis., July 9.—On facts reported by experts from personal examinations into the mental and physical condition of 290 veterans of the World War in three Wisconsin state penal institutions, Governor John J. Blaine has started an attempt to have similar investigations carried out in other states of the union.

Sixty per cent of these ex-soldier inmates were mentally abnormal, Dr. William F. Lorenz, director of the state phychiatric institute, and W. S. Middleton, university surgeon and chest specialist, reported.

More than 20 per cent were suffering from disabilities traceable to their military service.

Gov. Blaine appealed to Attorney General Daugherty to have such a survey conducted for all ex-service men in federal prisons, but Daugherty refused, declaring there was no money available.

The American Legion has recognized the survey and commended it, and an executive committee of that body at Indianapolis recently adopted a resolution, urging similar surveys to be carried on in the states, and in the federal prisons, covering the cases of all ex-service men.

Many Are Transferred

The report of the experts recommended that the ex-service men found suffering from mental diseases should be transferred to suitable institutions for treatment, that those having curable ailments should be given immediate treatment; and that efforts should be made to give vocational training commensurate with the mental ability. Gov. Blaine has used the information in causing many of the men examined to be transferred to suitable institutions, or pardoned for certain treatments.

"We believe that many of our findings apply to all prisoners," the experts said in their report. It was also claimed that the war experiences of the soldiers caused in many mentally irresponsible minds a great disregard for property rights that landed the soldiers in jail after they got into "civies."

"To help himself when in need was common practice, particularly overseas, and the property of organizations were commonly disregarded," the report said. "A shortage was made up by stealing from a nearby organization and not infrequently with the knowledge of commanding officers."

The report called attention to the large number of inmates of the Green Bay reformatory, who were convicted for stealing automobiles.

"Being hard up," or "economic stress," as the experts called it, was associated with the crimes for which the men were committed in 36 per cent of the total of 134 cases at the state prison at Waupun, in 26 per cent of the 91 cases at the reformatory at Green Bay, and 32 per cent of the 65 ex-soldiers at the house of correction at Milwaukee.

Physical disabilities which the experts thought could be traced to military service was found in 73 out of the total of 290 ex-soldiers.

Many Feeble-Minded

At the reformatory 15 per cent of the men examined were classed as feebleminded; at the house of correction 26 per cent; at the state prison 31 per cent.

In addition, 29 per cent at the reformatory, 25 per cent at the state prison, and 23 per cent at the house of correction were classified as "psychopathic personalities," most of whom were of the so-called incurable criminal type.

At the house of correction .65 per cent of the young ex-soldiers were unmarried; at the state prison 53 per cent. At the reformatory, where much younger men are jailed, 86 per cent were unmarried.

All the feeble-minded persons examined were found to have pleaded guilty and to have been sentenced without trial.

More than half gave histories of disrupted families during their childhoods.

Alcoholism was blamed by 34 per cent of the inmates of the house of correction as being directly connected with their arrests and convictions; by 27 per cent at the state prison, and 18 per cent at the reformatory.

Two Drug Addicts

Only two drug addicts were found in the 290. Both were at the state prison.

One of the conditions that is keeping a number of the inmates in prison, the report noted, was that a $100 fee is required by a lawyer to get a pardon application before the governor. Many were found who were carefully saving their money until they could hire a lawyer to present their cases.

"In some instances this situation worked to the disadvantage of men who seemed, in our judgment, to get the most hopeful cases for reformation," the report said. "Most of these conditions can be remedied by full investigation of such cases and proper treatment for curable inmates.

Forced to Bare Heads.

The Franco-Belgium answer to Germany's refusal to acknowledge the responsibility for the recent bombing outrages in the Ruhr are reported to have been begun throughout the occupied areas. At Witten and Gladbeck military bands play the Belgian National Anthem while German citizens are forced to stand bareheaded. At Witten and Wetter German Red Cross nurses have been barred for a fortnight from visiting sufferers in the jails because a prisoner escaped last week.

CABINET DISCUSSION.

LONDON, July 9. — (Canadian Press). — Reparations formed the subject of discussian at this morning's meeting of the British Cabinet and steps were taken to collate the views of Ministers who over the week-end had given intensive study to the question. It is expected that the opinions of different schools of thought will crystallize within a day or two in simultaneous statements on the subject in the House of Commons by Premier Baldwin and in the House of Lords by Lord Curzon. In diplomatic quarters the successful termination of the Lausanne Conference and the settlement of the Sarre Valley question by the League Council at Geneva are regarded as slightly facilitating the favorable issue in the reparations situation.

INSTALLING A NEW CURTAIN AT ROYAL

Mr. J. Kline and Mr. W. S. Tefft are in the city installing and painting a new front curtain for the stage of the Royal Theatre. On the new curtain will be painted a scene from Venice. Mr. Kline, who is responsible for the art work, has been with the Keith Studios for the last five years, and his work is widely and favourably known. Mr. W. S. Tefft was connected with The Examiner many years ago.

In a few days Mr. Tefft will call on some of the local merchants in regard to advertising locations on the new curtain.

EXAMINER TEAM LOST THE GAME

The Examiner baseball team was hopelessly trimmed by the Lock Works in a burlesque game played Saturday afternoon immediately after the Central League fixture. The game only went five innings and the final score was 14 to 1. The Printers were exceptionally lucky to get the one. The Examiner team was handicapped by the loss of some of its players and the injury of others. The players were:

EARLY DAYS ON STONEY LAKE

(Special Correspondence)

STONEY LAKE, July 9 — As one watches the steamers carrying loads of holiday makers on every trip one wonders who discovered Stoney Lake and made a resort of it. History says Champlain was the first white man to travel through this region but we have no record of his return. Many years ago probably sixty years or more ago, young people addled up the river, portaged at Young's Point rapids and found their way to the islands to camp and fish and live the simple life for a week or so in the summer. with the building of the locks at Young's Point about 1869 navigation was opened between Lakefield and Stoney Lake and small steamers began to make occasional trips and excursions became popular.

McCracken's Landing, Burleigh Falls and Mount Julian were ports of call and found it a very convenient way of getting freight as it cut off many miles of the overland route.

In 1883 the Stoney Lake region received a real "boost" when the American Canoe Association decided (by invitation of the Peterboro Canoe Club) to hold their annual camp there. The camp made its headquarters at Juniper Island where a camp store was established to meet the needs of the campers. The entire region was unknown and unexplored territory to all but the immediate district of Peterboro and a small manual was issued to the members of the Association by the Peterboro members of the committee. It is very clear in its description of the routes whereby the camp could be reached and the points of interest which could be taken; among these were Eel's Creek, Jack's Creek, the Blue Mountain, Fairy Lake, Mount Julian and Eagle Mountain.

The camp was held from the 10th to the 24th of August 1883 and the first regatta was held at Juniper Island on August 21st, 22nd and 23rd of that year. The course for the races was on the north side of Otter island and for the sailing races a triangular course with points at Otter island, Robinson Rock and Bear Island (Bona Vista). The races were run off in a leisurely manner and the prizes were remarkable for being simple and inexpensive so as to prevent jealousy and keep the events strictly on the lines of amateur sport. The commodore for 1883 was E. B. Edwards of Peterborough and among the members are several who are among the grand old men of Stoney Lake viz: O. W. Dumble. George Cochrane and J. D. Collins and others. There was a brief list of honorary lady members all from the States but one, viz: Mrs. Edward Leigh of Toronto, (Mrs. Leigh died in Lakefield last winter). This was the first regatta held at Juniper and evidently it proved to be an unqualified success and was the beginning of the gala events held now at Juniper and also at other points on Stoney Lake. Among the members of the Association from Peterboro and district were:

MIX TURNS KNIGHT TO WIN A LADY'S HAND IN THE LATEST FILM.

Are you fond of books like "Ivanhoe"? Do the tales of King Arthur awaken deep interest in your thoughts? Does your imagination glow when you read about bold knights of the golden age who paid homage to fair ladies, and stood ready to attempt any deed, no matter how dangerous or foolhardy to prove their valor and love? Suppose thees things could happen now

A Fox production, "Romance Land," starring Tom Mix, relates the adventures of a man and a maid on the Western plains. Both of them become inspired by the stories describing the times when knighthood was in flower. The resultant events are said to furnish an exceedingly novel and entertaining photoplay.

There is some well done "broncho busting,' a chariot race, and a whirlwind stage coach contest, according to advance information received.

When "Romance Land' comes to the Royal Theatre for three days, starting to-day, everyone in Peterboro will have the opportunity to see a modern knight of the saddle go forth to win the hand and favor of his fair lady.

TILDEN DEFEATED.

GLENCOE, Ills., July 9 (Canadian Press). — Manuel Alonzo of Spain defeated William T. Tilden of Philadelphia, and world's most famous tennis player, 8-6, 11-13, 6-3, 6-1, here yesterday at the Skokie Country Club before a crowd of 3,500 thrilled spectators by displaying a brand of net play that had Tilden on the defensive during a great part of the match for the Illinois open state singles title.

Tilden played marvellous tennis, but the untiring persistence and the dogged determination of the fast-moving Spaniard wore him down.

Alonzo's cross-court drives were perfect, and his rallies to the net forced Tilden to extend himself on every shot. His placements and his wonderful driving force gave Tilden one of his worst defeats.

BIG JUNIOR GAME ON CARDS TO-NIGHT

The first of a series of games to decide the Junior City League honours will be played to-night at 6.15 at the Riverside Park, between the Lakeviews and the Adanacs, who have ridden rough shod over the other junior teams and now have the field to themselves. The series should be productive of some great ball. Lakeviews will start Whitehouse, their star left hander against Adanacs to-night. Whitehouse who has three or four shut-outs to his credit, did not give the Adanacs a hit or a run the last time he faced them. Jeff Hardill will likely be the Adanac gunner, although both McPherson and Lefty Turner are going good. The fans should not miss this junior series, the second game of which will be played on Thursday.

Mr. E. F. Mason's motion seconded by Mr. Jas Lynch submits this request for transportation and office help to the Council and authorizes the immediate resumption of the milk tests.

Buys Office Equipment

The Board decided this morning to pay the Red Cross Society the sum of $125 at which they valued the fittings of the office which they had furnished for the public nurse whom they had engaged a year ago. Mr. Mason expressed the opinion that the Board was morally bound to purchase these articles from the society for the reason that the Board had encouraged them in their plan to the extent of promising to assume the cost of the nurse eventually. "From stand point I'd say accept their price."

"It would look rather small for us to argue over a little matter with an organization like the Red Cross that does so much" remarked Mr. Lynch who seconded Mr. Mason's motion for the purchase of the fittings including window blinds, rug, stationery and other articles.

WESTERN MINERS PREPARE STRIKE

CALGARY, July 9. Canadian Press —The labor organizations in Western Canada will meet in conference this week to discuss the Nova Scotian strike situation, and according to William A. Sherman, president of District 18, of the United Mine Workers, there is little doubt that the coal miners at least will go out on a sympathetic strike.

Mr. Sherman stated to the Canadian Press this morning that he believed that a general conference of all labor bodies would certainly take place at the end of the week, either in Calgary of Winnipeg.

"In view of the use of troops in the Nova Scotia strike," he said, "there is little doubt in my mind what will be the result. There is such a thing as the officials of No. 18 not being able to control their membership."

WILL NOT BE TOLERATED.

"My hope is that the soldiers there may be withdrawn at once, and I am making all efforts possible to ensure that result," says a telegram from Mr. Murdock, which asked Mr. Sherman to advise "Your membership to be patient."

Mr. Murdocks telegram was in reply to a wire sent to him by Mr. Sherman stating that indications in Western Canada coal fields were that "membership would not be controlled by the officials unless steps were taken to improve the conditions in Nova Scotia."

In his reply to Mr. Murdock today Mr. Sherman said that "use of troops in labor disputes in any part of Canada will not be tolerated by organized labor organizations of the Dominion."

NEW RECORD BY ENGLISH ATHLETES

Annual Games Held at Stamford Bridge Gave Indications of Olympic Possibilities.

LONDON, July 9 (Canadian Press). — A number of English Amateur Athletic Association records were broken in the annual games on Saturday at Stamford ridge which give the first view of Great Britain 1924 Olympic possibilities.

The winners were:

100 yards dash—E. H. Liddell, Edinburgh University, 9 7-10 secs. An A.A.A. record.

220 yards dash—E. H. Liddell, Edinburgh University, 21 3-5 secs. Beating the record established at Stamford Bridge in 1900.

Quarter-mile—W. E. Stevenson of Princeton and Oxford, 49 3-5 secs.

Half-mile—G. Griffiths, Surrey A. C., 1.56 3-5.

Mile—H. B. Stallard, Achilles A. C., 4 min. 21 3-5 secs.

Two-mile steeplechase — Hodge, Surrey A.C., 11min. 13 3-5secs.

Two-mile walk—G. H. Watts, Surrey Walking Club, 14min. 24secs.

120 yard hurdle—F. R. Gaby, Polytechnic, 15 1-5 secs., a record.

Hammer throw—H. C. Nokes, Achilles A.C., 161 feet 4 1-2 secs.

High jump—H. Lewden, Stade Francaise, 6ft. 4in., a record.

The best English jump was by U. T. Probert, Polytechnic, 5ft. 10in.

Pole vault—Lewden was the only competitor.

Broad jump—H. M. Arbrahams, Cambridge, 25ft. 8 3-4in.

Javelin throw—J. Dalrymple, Bedford County A.C., 148ft. 9 1-2in.

Mile relay—Surrey A.C., 3 minutes 6 3-4 seconds.

Navy blue is more popular than black at present for the street dress. Browns are shown in the early fall exhibits and it is predicted that every shade of brown will be popular.

Skirts wil be shorter for fall. Already they are being worn about nine inches from the floor. Chinese embroideries are ousting the Egyptian prints on the new gowns. It looks as though King Tut would have few followers this fall.

LOCAL ONTARIO CUP TIE GAME

Thistles and Vets Will Meet Next Saturday Afternoon.

A meeting of the P. and D.F.A. was held last Friday evening in G. W.V.A. rooms, when the directors and a large number of representatives were present.

Mr. J. Cairns, president, occupied the chair and read the letter received from G.W.V.A. football executive .He explained the reason why he sanctioned the meeting, also characterized the communication from G.WV.A. as intimidation and gave his personal opinion.

Various members of the Board on the subject, which ultimately resulted in the Vets withdrawing the letter and stating "that they did not wish to over-rule the governing body, P. and D.F.A." thereby giving the Board an opening for an amicable adjustment.

Mr. Whatley received a telegram from R. Muir, secretary O. F. A., stating that as long as they could name the winner by July 21st it would be satisfactory, also giving the local body another week to play the game.

With all the necessary information at hand, the Board of Directors only took part in the discussion relative to the change of date and fostering soccer. It was unanimously agreed to change the date of Ontario elimination series from July 7th to July 14th. The matter of playing grounds was left with each club executive.

SOCCER NOTES

WEDDING BELLS

WHITE—GRAY.

A very pretty wedding took place at Bethany Tabernacle at half-past two o'clock this afternoon, when Dorothy, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Gray, 489 Aylmer Street, became the bride of Joseph Arthur White, only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. White, of Windsor, formerly of Peterboro.

The bride, who entered the church on the arm of her father, to the strains of the Wedding March, played by a cousin, Miss Lillian Naish, was charmingly attired in a gown of grey silk canton crepe, with shoes and stockings to match. Her veil was caught with orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of ophelia roses. She wore also the gift of the bridegroom, a diamond pendant.

The bridesmaid, Miss Mae Robinson, wore a lovely costume of Princess Mary blue silk canton crepe, with large leghorn hat trimmed with pink, and bouquet of pink carnations.

The best man was Mr. Thomas Dutton, of this city.

After the ceremony, a dainty luncheon was served at the home of the bride's parents, after which Mr. and Mrs. White left on the 5.30 C.N.R. train for Toronto, Niagara Falls and Buffalo. They will reside in Windsor.

The bride travelled in a suit of navy tricotine, with small cocoa-colored hat and grey shoes and stockings.

The gift of the bridegroom to the bridesmaid was a bar pin, set with pearls, to the best man a pearl tiepin, and to the organist a gold bracelet.

OBITUARY

MRS. FRANK REYNOLDS.

The death took place in Toronto General Hospital, Private Pavilion, on Saturday night, of Martha E. Maitland, dearly beloved wife of Frank Reynolds, 769 George street, Peterborough. The deceased, a loving wife and mother, who will be sadly missed in her home, was also a faithful member of George street Methodist church.

Survivors left to mourn her loss are her sorrowing husband, one daughter, Mrs. George Conboy of this city, and one brother, George, of Toronto.

The funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon of this week, at half-past two o'clock, from the family residence, 769 George street, to Little Lake cemetery, Rev. W. Harold Young officiating.

SMILES

The bathing beauties are flocking to the water on their see legs.

These days the promise to love, honor and obey their impulses.

What makes a cat madder than seeing the dog catcher loafing?

A fool laughs when his wife gets mad, while a wise man runs out and takes in a movie.

ORANGE ORDER ANNUAL PARADE

Service in St. Andrew's Church Drew Big Crowd of Brethren.

The Orangemen of the city and district turned out in an impressive parade last evening, to attend evening service at St. Andrew's church. Numbering nearly five hundred, including the two sister lodges joining in the celebration, they marched from Victoria Hall to St. Andrew's church, led by the band of the Salvation Army, returning later in the same way along the same route, via Rubidge and Hunter streets. County Master E. H. Brown, of Peterborough, led the parade, which was composed of three city lodges, No. 50, No. 80 and No. 1175, the North Monaghan Lodge No. 2440, Otonabee Lodge No. 321, Nassau No. 45, and two sister lodges from the city; Vimy Ridge and Eastern Star. Visitors from Lakefield and Millbrook also joined in the procession, and a number of Juveniles from city and visiting lodges.

The sermon at St. Andrew's church, where union services were held of the congregation of Trinity Methodist and St. Andrew's Presbyterian churches, was preached by Rev. A. J. Langford, who based his discourse on the incident in the Old Testament, where Gideon delivered Israel from the Midianites. The sword of the Lord and of Gideon was likened, in its modern application ,to the work of the Orange Order.

The Order, which received its name as a sort of nickname at the time when a condition of affairs in Britain constituted a struggle between the King and the Parliament, and the followers of William, Prince of Orange, received their title through association with him, had also acted as a sword of the Lord in other ways.

In its modern application, the work of the Order should be that of encouraging good, honest citizenship and the building up of the country in all things that would make for civil and religious liberty.

Canadian Stock Exchange — And Mines — New York Stock Exchange — And Curb Prices

To-Day's Quotations and Opinions and Reviews of the Markets.

NEW YORK, July 9—(Special.)—The stock market at the opening to-day was fairly active and firm, most of the Rails were higher than Saturday's close.

Steel Common was unchanged, while Studebaker was up fractionally at 103 1-4. Sentiment in the street continued good with the spectacle of three days of advancing prices in the closing days of last week. Pan American Petroleum sold above 60, the best price on the present rally, while the "B" stood at 56 1-2, was also at the best price recently and at the above last week's low. The market continued firm in the first hour with trading not very active. Several specialties featured the early session, notably Schulte Stores, which sold above 99, adding over a point to the five point advance of Saturday. Schulte is showing remarkable gains in business sales, so far being 25 per cent. ahead of the same period in 1922.

Steel stocks were inactive, but Crucible selling above 65, four points better than the low of last week. Steel manufacturers are convinced that full operations can be maintained on the present orders for the next several months and that by that time new business will begin to exceed shipments.

The Oils were better, notably California Petroleum Common at 21 3-4. Developments of a favorable character in connection with the Oils are expected shortly. While trading in the first hour was rather dull, the list was firm, disregarding further selling in Delaware and Hudson, which brought it down to 96 from the initial price of 95 3-4. Vice-President Williams of the company, announced that no change was contemplated in the dividend, as rumors has held it.

"I believe," he added, "that the decline in the stock is only another raid such as had been made periodically before. Many earnings were remarkably good and June even better."

Opeing prices included:

Anaconda 39 5-8; Reading 71 3-4, off 1-8; N.Y.C. 98 3-8, up 3-8; New Haven 11 3-4, up 1-2; Pan Petroleum B 56 1-2, up 5-8; United States' Steel 91 7-8; North American 20 1-4; U. S. Rubber 42; Southern Pac. 83 7-8, up 1-4; Studebaker 103 1-4, up 1-4; Bethlehem Steel 45 1-2, off 1-8.

Are Good Standard Stocks Worth Buying

That question is in many persons' minds just now, and the opinion of RELIABLE Brokers is that stocks are really CHEAP, judging from the condition of industrial business. However financial markets have been heavy and traders are discouraged. Is not this the time to buy? Certainly good DIVIDEND PAYERS are remarkably cheap. Phone us or call and we 'll discuss the many questions with you to our mutual benefit.

LOCAL VETERANS PARADED SUNDAY

Graves of Seventy-five Men Decorated With Flags and Flowers.

Members of the Great War Veterans' Association yesterday paraded to Little Lake Cemetery, where the graves of former comrades were decorated with flags and flowers.

About seventy-five men who served with various branches of the British Army or Navy now lie in their last resting-place at Little Lake Cemetery.

The ceremonies of the parade were so ordered that in addition to the decoration of the graves, tribute was paid to all of those who fell, either by land or sea or air. The men of earlier days who fought for the preservation of the Dominion were remembered in the decoration of the monument of Captain Edward T. Brown, who made the supreme sacrifice in the quelling of the Riel Rebellion, and whose monument now stands in Central Park.

The members of the G.W.V.A., as well as many other returned men of the city, fell in in front of the Cenotaph shortly after 2 o'clock. During the playing of a funeral selection by the 57th Regimental Band the Cenotaph was decorated with wreaths and flowers in memory of the fallen, by President Harvey Staunton and Past President Robert Muir, after which the Last Post was sounded.

The parade then moved to Central Park, where the monument of Captain Brown was decorated and the Last Post again sounded.

From Central Park the veterans marched to Little Lake Cemetery, here a brief service was conducted by Rev. W. R. Courage, who in his address paid a glowing tribute to those who fell and to the motives which prompted them to rise all that the Empire might stand.

A lament played by Pipe-Major Grant and the sounding of the Last Post closed this brief but impressive ceremony.

The veterans then divided into two parties under the command of the president and secretary, and decorated each grave. A small Union Jack was placed on each grave and the flowers from relatives, friends, and comrades piled around it.

It is intended eventually to place at the head of the grave of every man who died through service, a marble cross, a replica of the crosses which have been erected over the graves of those Canadians who lie in France.

This work is being done by the War Graves Commission, and it is hoped that some of the crosses will be in place before the next annual decoration day.

Efforts are also being made through the local branch of the G.W.V.A. and the local Federal member of Parliament to have "The Cross of Sacrifice" erected in the Cemetery in the very near future. This stone will be a replica of the Vimy Ridge Cross and would be erected on some central plot to commemorate the names of all Canadians who fell.

Through the volumns of The Examiner the officers of the G.W.V.A. wish to express their thanks to the Rev. W. R. Courage, to the members of the 57th Band, the members of the Bugle Band, all those who sent flowers and wreaths, and those who turned out for the parade, as well as all others who in any way contributed to the success of the occasion.

The graves of those former service men who lie in St. Peter's Cemetery will be decorated next Sunday.

Want Ad Tips by John T. Bartlett

AN AD-TAKER ANSWERS QUESTIONS LIKE THESE

The questions which are put up to an ad-taker in the course of a busy day are surprisingly numerous and varied. Here are a sample bunch from a typical day's work:

"I want to rent my house. What ought I to say?"

"My Want Ad has run a week. I haven't obtained a buyer. Why have not I?"

"How many times should I insert this Want Ad?"

"Im thinking of running a Want Ad to sell some old furniture. I want to know if you think the furniture is good enough to sell?"

"I haven't time to write a Want Ad Will you write it for me?"

"I've lost a piece of jewelry. Is the chance of recovering it through a Want Ad worth the price of one?"

"How many of the people who run Want Ads get what they use the advertising for?"

When you buy merchandise at the stores you expect the salespeople to be able to answer your questions. That is part of their work. Just so, it is a part of the work of an ad-taker to supply newspaper readers with information about the Want Ads. Ad-Takers are trained to do it. Their principal mission is this: to aid the advertiser. You can count on their advice being accurate and dependable. It is worth money to you and you should use it.

The inquirers received courteous replies to every one of the questions asked above, and to many others One man was shown just how to write a Want Ad to rent a house. An ad-taker showed what was probably wrong with the message which didn't get results, and how to correct it. Many advertisers were told how long they should run their messages. The person who had lost a piece of jewelry received valuable advice.

When you are in perplexity on a point touching the Want Ads, "Ask an Ad-taker." He'll gladly give you sound advice.

CLERGYMAN IS VICTIM NAVAL MAN'S ATTACK

Officer Knocked Minister Through a Glass Door For Kissing His Wife in a Meadow.

"FATHERLY DISPLAY"

BOSTON, July 10. — (Canadian Press.) — Lieut. Wesley McLaren Hague, of the United States' Navy, admitted to-day that he had engaged in a scuffle with Rev. George Lyman Payne, yesterday, in the course of which he knocked the clergyman through the glass panel of a door in the offices of the Greater Boston Federation of Churches on Beacon street. He said his anger had been aroused when the clergyman, after admitting that he had kissed the Lieutenant's bride of two months, had insisted that it was merely a display of fatherly affection.

"I believed he needed a thrashing and I gave it to him," said Lieut. Hague. "I considered the matter had ended right there and I want it to end there."

Rev. Mr. Payne, who is executive secretary of the Church Federation, said that Hague had attacked him through misunderstanding of occurrences while the Lieutenant was on duty at Baltimore. He officiated at the marriage of the Lieutenant to Miss Priscilla Redgrave, of Baltimore, while he was assistant rector of Christ Episcopal church at Cambridge. Shortly before the marriage he baptized Miss Redgrave.

While the Lieutenant was away Rev. Mr. Payne took Mrs. Hague for an automobile ride to Belmont. He admits that while they were strolling through the meadow he kissed her on the cheek.

Yesterday afternoon Lieut. Hague visited offices of the Church Federation, ignored Rev. Mr. Payne's outstretched hand and swung at his chin. The two grappled and the clergyman crashed through the glass door.

Rev. Mr. Payne is married and the father of two sons at Harvard.

ROCHESTER RECEPTION FOR FATHER J. R. CLANCY

Peterborough Boy Honored Following Celebration of Second High Mass.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 10.—High mass at the Church of the Blessed Sacrament here was celebrated Sunday morning by the Rev. J. Raymond Clancy, of the Society of the Holy Cross, who was ordained on June 24 at Notre Dame, Ind., this being Rev. Clancy's second high mass, his first having been celebrated at his home in Peterborough, Ont. A number of his relatives in Rochester assisted at the mass here yesterday morning. Four cousins of Father Clancy, all priests, were assistants of the celebrant at the mass. They were: Rev. Victor McFadden, of Parry Sound, Ont.; Rev. George Predmore, of Industry, N.Y.; Rev. Walter McCarthy, of St. Ambrose Church, ths city, and Rev. Neil Hogan, of Ithaca, N.Y. Rev. Thomas Connors, pastor of the Church of the Blessed Sacrament, this city, also assisted. Rev. M. J. Nolan, of St. Andrew's Seminary, preached the sermon. Father Clancy began his theological education in St. Andrew's Seminary here before going to Notre Dame. A reception for Father Clancy was held last evening from 8 to 10 o'clock at the home of his cousin, Mrs. M. J. Tierney, here, at No. 42 Rowle Street. Mrs. Tierney and her son and daughter, Harold Tierney, and Mrs. Herbert Airy, attended the ordination and brought Father Clancy back to Rochester by motor.

THE WEATHER.

Little complaint can be made regarding hot weather this summer. On but two days has the temperature been up to 90 degree, or over, namely 94, on Sunday, June 24th, and 90 degrees on June 20th. Likewise last summer was cool and pleasant and had but two days of 90 degrees or over, Sept. 5th holding the record with 91 degrees. There is a feeling of exhilaration and freshness in the air on these beautiful summer mornings that only the early riser (usually the man who has a garden to work, or the milkman) knows of. In this connection I recall the statement of a well-known gentleman, himself an early riser, with a bevy of grown-up daughters, who said to me that he doubted if any one of his daughters had ever seen the sun rise. It is possible there may be others. If so they have missed some delightful experiences. The hushed calm of the breaking day is like entrance to a new life.—W. P.

JOINT DEFENSE THE OBJECTIVE TODAY'S TREATY

Jugo-Slavia and Roumania Signed Defensive Military Pact Reinforcing Little Entente.

BUILD UP STATES

BELGRADE, July 10. — (United Press).—Jugo Slavia and Roumania to-day signed a defensive military treaty supporting the Trianon Treaty of Paris and reinforcing the Little Entente.

A joint defence against Bulgaria is seen in the move which further builds up the Franco-Phile bloc of the Balkan and Eastern European States. General Lerond, of the French army, recently inspected both the Jugo Slav and the Roumanian forces, advising them on the projected increases of their military arms.

Roumania, while long a member of the Little Entente, has not been an active one nominally. She agreed to back the other members, Poland, Serbia and Czecho-Slovakia, but it was felt that in a crisis she could not be counted on.

Bulgarian disorders, however, have forced her to unite in view of the fact that she holds much Bulgarian territory captured in the world war.

DRURY ACCEPTS HIS BACK TIME

Renounced $3,000 a Year on Accepting Office—Reverts to Old Rate.

TORONTO, July 10.—When Premier Drury assumed office in November, 1919, he intimated his intention of reducing his own salary from $12.000 to $9,000 per annum. He continued to draw the latter amount until after the recent elections.

Having been rejected by the people, and his ideas of economy being banished too, Premier Drury decided to revert to the original $12,000 per annum, but to date his increase as from November 1 last, which is the beginning of the Provincial financial year. Mr. Drury, accordingly, gave instructions to Hon. Peter Smith, Provincial Treasurer, to issue a cheque for the arrears at the rate of $3,000 per annum, the amount from November 1 to July 15 next, when his term of office expires, being $2,125. The cheque was duly made out and paid to the Premier.

His salary, like that of the other Ministers, is fixed by statute, and his surrender of the $3,000 per annum during the greater portion of his reign at Queen's Park was purely voluntary.

No Cabinet Meeting.

There was no meeting of the Cabinet yesterday. Hon. W. E. Raney, asked if the question of Mr. Drury's salary had come before his colleagues at all, replied in the negative, adding that it was a matter purely for the Premier himself to decide.

One member of the Cabinet, who did not desire to be quoted, remarked facetiously that Mr. Drury was recently up against a very expensive election campaign, and that he no doubt needed the extra money.

Moving Day.

There is every indication of moving day at the Parliament Buildings, so far as the members of the Cabinet are concerned. It is taking some half-dozen fair-sized cases to get Premier Drury's belongings away to Crown Hill. The Premier has necessarily accumulated considerable private papers since he took office on November 14, 1919, and these will go with him into his retirement, Having been "in residence" also at Queen's Park, Mr. Drury has a large number of personal effects which, it is stated, constitute the major portion of the contents of the packing cases.

"This is all I am taking away," said Hon. W. E. Raney, with a smile, as he pointed to two small cardboard boxes, which, he added, contained newspaper clippings and some of his purely personal papers. "Every record is being left," the Attorney-General emphasized.

FOUNDER KU KLUX KLAN IS PROUD OF REGALIA

TULSA, Okla , July 10.—(United Press).—William Joseph Simmons, founder and emperor of the present Ku Klux Klan, addressing a gathering here last night, denied the reports of disaffection in the ranks of the Order, and declared: "It's nobody's business what kind of costume is worn by the Ku Klux Klan. I have no apologies to make for that mask," he said. "It's going to stay right where it is."

Moving Foundation and Everything!

It is taking one month and will cost $50,000 to raise and move this 25,000-ton school house a distance of 500 feet, at Hammond, Ind. On the old site will be erected a million-dollar hotel and bank building. The moving contract stipulates that not one brick must be cracked, and to guarantee fulfillment, the movers put up a $100,000 bond.

THUNDERSTORM SWEPT LONDON

Fire Dept. Responded to Forty Alarms and Many Houses Destroyed.

LONDON, England, July 10. United Press. — The worst thunderstorm in the memory of living man swept London this morning, causing great damage throughout the city. Forty five alarms were responded to by the city brigades and the drenching rain and the terrific thunderclaps were reminiscent of the air raids during the great war.

The lightning was exceedingly vivid and many houses were struck and destroyed.

All traffic on the streets was held up and small rivers were running in dirty streets.

DRUGGISTS WOULD MODIFY THE O.T.A.

Declare it is a Burden and the Pharmacy Act is Non-Protective.

TORONTO, July 10. — The All-Canada Drug Convention, which brings together for their annual meeting delegates from the Canadian Pharmaceutical, Ontario Retail Druggists and Allied Trades Associations, opened yesterday in the King Edward Hotel, Toronto.

The gathering will last all week and is largely attended by delegates from all parts of Canada, many of whom are accompanied by their wives.

O.T.A. Hard on Druggists.

In his address, President W. Meek congratulated those druggists who had been elected to the Legislature. He felt that these men, E. A. Wigle of Goderich, Frank Spence of Fort William, and A. C. Garden of Hamilton, would help in bettering the conditions under which druggists work. He referred to the success of the deputation which went to Ottawa after the last convenion, with the request that cheaper alcohol might be made available for manufacturing purposes.

Subsequent interviews with the Ontario License Commissioners, however, had not been able to further relieve the druggists from the oppressive restrictions of the O.T.A..

Speaking of the inequalities of this Act, Mr. Meek recalled to his hearers the case of E. A. Rae, a highly respected Woodstock druggist, who had been prosecuted for selling a bottle of Wilson's Invalid Port Wine. Although the conviction had been quashed on appeal in the County Court, such prosecution, the speaker declared, bordered on persecution.

Discussing this same topic, F. S. Mearns, solicitor for the druggists, felt that the O.T.A. goes too far in disciplining druggists. On the second offence, a druggist not only has to pay the usual penalty which goes with the infringement, but also loses his certificate, and the judge in trying the case, has no discretion in the matter.

A delegate asked what the attitude of the Board of License Commissioners was in connection with the sale of wine by druggists, and was informed by Mr. Mearns that such sale could be made when the druggist had reason to be satisfied that the wine was to be used for medicinal purposes.

New Pharmacopoeia.

"We are suffering to-day because British pharmacopoeia is not adapted to our Canadian needs. There should be an Imperial pharmacopoeia in the compiling of which Canada should have a voice, or else we should have one of our own," said W. J. McMullen, addressing the Druggists Convention here to-day.

Mr. McMullen said that the Ontario College of Pharmacy had offered a "formulary" to the Association, and he believed the organisation was now for the first time prepared to accept the responsibility for the formulary for the general guidance of the profession

War Veterans Gain On Beer With Kick

LONDON, July 10. United Press —The expert testimony of the Middlesex Memorial Pensions Committee is that beer—real beer with a kick—helps to cure tuberculosis.

Consumptive ex-service men who drank the most beer, looked the better fellow, gained weight faster and were far healthier than those who went light on half of bitter and Guinness' stout.

One war veteran who went dry for a fortnight suffered a collapse and lost 12 pounds.

ANTHRACITE MEN DISCUSS DEMANDS

Operators Disappointed by Miners Refusal to Agree to Propositions.

ATLANTIC CITY, July 10, Canadian Press. — Operators and miners of the anthracite coal fields of Pennsylvania, planned to take up to-day in sub-committee a detailed discussion of demands presented to coal companies by the union men for incorporation in the proposed new wage contract.

The action of the miners in refusing to agree at this time to a proposition to avoid suspension of production in the event that the contract has not been made by the end of August, was disappointing to the operators, some of them declared to-day.

Miners declined to act on the proposition at this time on the ground that there was ample time to negotiate a contract before the present agreement expires.

CANAL WORKERS BUSY DOING SUMMER WORK

The busy season is in full swing for the workers on the Trent Valley Canal. Last week the Government tug, "J. B. McColl," started on its task of painting the buoys, and is continuing this week. The "Bessie Butler" is engaged on the usual task of repairing wharves and looking after other Government property on the upper reaches.

Jack Smith, harbormaster at George Street wharf, is seriously ill and confined to his home.

Better See Once Than Hear Often

A Chinese proverb says "it is better to see once than to hear a hundred times," meaning that what goes to the brain through the medium of the eyesight has a more lasting effect than the spoken word. That is the idea behind the reiterated appeal, in different modes, of the written advertisement. You might hear about the advantages of a certain type of pastry flour or coaster brake a hundred times, and forget all about it. If you see it attractively described in print, the impression lingers.

Moral: If you want to sell, or rent or buy, patronize the advertisement columns of The Examiner. It pays.

A FATAL BLOW FOR STRIKERS

Men's Wives and Union Demand an Immediate Return to Work.

LONDON, July 10. United Press. The striking dockers received a fatal blow to their cause last night when a resolution was passed at the annual conference of their union condemning the strike. The immediate effect on the strikers has been that at an early hour this morning they decided to approach the union with a view to reopening negotiations and asking the committee of enquiry to investigate the cost of living with a view to urging changes in the wage scales based upon such costs.

The lack of financial support and the attitude of the men's wives who demanded an immediate return to work, have been important factors in ending the strike.

WAS EXPELLED FROM THE STOCK EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, July 10. Canadian Press. — Harvey A. Willis, head of the brokerage firm bearing his name was expelled to-day from the Consolidated Stock Exchange for "nullifying the effect of a client's order by taking transaction on his own account."

Willis had been a member of the exchange since December 12, 1917. The Committee on Ways and Means which investigated the charges against him, found th e was guilty of "obvious fraud or false pretence" in having on many occasi..., as shown by the evidence, indulged in the practices complained of.

MR. EARWIG, FIRST COUSIN OF COCKROACH, IS CUTTING CAPERS ON COAST

PORTLAND, Ore., July 10.—The earwig is no kin of the earmuff—

But Portland and Seattle folks are sitting up nights, feeding him.

The earwig is a species of cockroach capable of destroying all vegetation. Science calls him "euplexoptera."

A few years ago he reached Seattle in a shipment of plants from Holland. People didn't take him seriously then — but two years ago his depredations in Seattle caused consternation there and amusement here. But there's no laughing, now that the earwig has entered the Rose City.

City, State and Federal authorities are combined in a fight to check the pest. Private organizations are raising special funds, and agricultural college experts are cooperating with entomologists.

For a few weeks after hatching, the coy earwig crawls only at night and is fond of soft foods. Meal, filled with strong poisons, is being distributed nightly by special crews. All efforts are being centered in putting this drive over—for after a few weeks, the earwig is impervious to poison, gas or anything but a club. Some have been placed in a bottle, the bottle corked—and they were still alive ten days later.

In the earwig, nature combined the objectionable proclivities of the cutworm, caterpiller, cockroach, bedbug and body louse. He destroys foliage, orchard fruit, makes nests under carpets in homes, infests clothing and carries disease germs.

Therefore, Portland and Seattle are sitting up nights, carrying food to the little earwig. And to prevent a spread of the scourge throughout America the Government is lending every assistance possible.

THE PESKY EARWIG.

WILL ATTEMPT OFFSET BREAK WITH BRITAIN

If Necessary Other Countries Will Aid France in March Against Germany.

SITUATION SERIOUS

PARIS, July 10th. United Press. —Dr. Edward Benes, Foreign Minister of Czecho-Slovaki, left for London last night in an attempt to mediate between France and Great Britain.

The Tribune learns from a high authority that Dr. Benes will inform British statesmen that if it comes to an open break between the two countries over reparations, Poland, Jugo-Slavia, Czecho-Slovakia and Roumania will suppo.t France, and the armies of these countries will be ready to march against Germany, if necessary. On the other hand, Dr. Benes, who saw Premier Poincaire yesterday afternoon is working desperately to prevent France taking more drastic counter measures which would start all Central Europe shaking.

PILGRIMS VISIT SHRINE SCOTLAND

LONDON, July 10.— (Canadian Press.)—Thousands of devout persons and curious people from various parts of Scotland and England are daily making pilgrimages to the little village of Carfin, near Motherwell, where the mecca of religious attraction is the reproduction of the famous grotto of Lourdes in France. The grotto as constructed under the direction of the Notre Dame De Lourdes Institute, close to the Roman Catholic chapel of Carfin. There are stories of marvellous cures effected on pilgrims to this grotto.

INTERESTED IN FIGHT BANK CLOSED DOORS

GREAT FALLS, Mont., July 10.—(Canadian Press).—Stanton Banks Trust Company of Great Falls closed its doors yesterday. George H. Stanton, president, was prominent in the financing of the Dempsey-Gibbons fight at Shelby, Mont., on July 4th.

The bank closed its doors in voluntary liquidation. Failure to meet the morning's clearings and realize upon its assets was given as the reason. The institution had a capital of $250,000 and deposits of $600,000. Geo. H. Stanton announced the bank was solvent and every dollar would be paid to the depositors.

Dr. Albert Abrams Will go to Russia

MEXICO CITY, July 10. Canadian Press. — Dr. Albert Abrams, a prominent blood specialist of San Francisco, will go to Russia in September to treat Premier Lenine, it was announced by members of the Abram party which arrived here to-day. Dr. Abrams has been invited by the Russian government, they said.

PHEASANTS FOR THIS DISTRICT

Hatched by Domestic Hens and Will be Turned Loose in the Woods.

A number of men who are interested in this district's resources of game, not only fish and flesh, but also fowl, have been carrying on a little experiment among themselves with a view to restocking this district with pheasants.

Upon application to the Department of Game and Fisheries they obtained setting, of pheasant's eggs, fifteen eggs to a setting, from the Government reserve at Eugenia Falls and substituted them for the common hen's eggs in the hatching this Spring. One man who received two settings has twenty-three pheasants out of a possible thirty. Another flock numbers nineteen and others have been similarly successful. These chicks are getting their start in life from their staid old domesticated mothers, and as they grow older they will be placed out with farmers and eventually gravitate to the woods and the wildness to which nature calls them.

The pheasant is a game fowl about the size of a partridge and with a long brilliantly plumed tail. It is said to have been a numerous species throughout this province at one time but in recent years has been threatened with extinction except for the protective and fostering care and efforts of the government. They are said to be prolific and it is believed that if these chicks survive they will rapidly multiply under the strict enforcement of the law that admits no open season. Among those who are making an effort to rehabilitate these splendid game birds in this district are members of the Peterboro Gun Club whose efforts appear to be well on the way to success.

MINERS' LEADERS APPLY FOR BAIL

Habeas Corpus Proceedings Brought on Behalf President and Secretary.

HALIFAX, N.S., July 10.—(Canadian Press).—Dan. Livingstone, president, and James B. MacLachlan, secretary of the United Mine Workers, District 26, were before Justice Chisholm in the Supreme Court this morning on habeas corpus proceedings, their counsel, J. A. Walker, making application for bail.

The application was opposed by Attorney - General Hon. W. J. O'Hearn.

Two applications were made, one for bail under the completion of the preliminary examination, was continued until to-morrow, and the other for bail until Thursday of this week, when the preliminary examination is scheduled to be resumed, was still under consideration at noon.

SCHOOL CADETS WIN.

The Peterborough High School Cadets have been successful in the annual competition of Military District No. 3, and are to be heartily congratulated on winning such a splendid prize as the Laura Secord Candy Shop Shield, which was presented on behalf of the company by Mr. C. H. Ellston, secretary-treasurer, at Barryfield in Kingston on Friday last. General Emsley, commanding officer of the district, was present and heartily congratulated the Peterborough Cadets for their success in this competition. The shield bears the name-plate of the High School Cadets, and is on exhibition during the week in the Laura Secord Shop on George Street in Peterborough. We are indeed proud of the success of our school in having brought this honor to the city.

EGG DEALERS IN QUANDARY ABOUT GRADE

No Specific Regulations Issued Yet Regarding New Standards—Who is Responsible?

NOW IN EFFECT

Federal regulations regarding the grading and marketing of eggs for local consumption went into effect yesterday, but no considerable difference can yet be noted in the retail or wholesale stores.

The Examiner made enquiries this morning in several of the wholesale and retail grocery stores in the city, and found that no definite instructions have yet been received by the dealers. They are willing to comply with any regulations, but up to now do not know just what is required of them.

The law states that the producer must sell to the dealers according to grades, and that the dealers must in turn pass the eggs on to the consumers in the same way. This would place the responsibility for the separation of the eggs into grades upon the farmer. The wholesale grocers do not wish to accept that responsibility, for it would be a very expensive proposition to handle all the eggs and sort them into classes. The eggs are at present being sold according to the following grades: Fresh, specials (strictly new laid); fresh, new laid; cooking No. 1: cooking, fresh No. 2; storage. There is a diversity of categories in the different stores.

New Provisions.

It is provided under the Live Stock and Live Stock Products Act that every case or container of eggs for sale must be marked on both ends with the name and class of egg contained therein. This provision applied previously only to import, export and inter-provincial trade. The standards called for cover both the weight and quality of the eggs. It is claimed by the Department of Agriculture in behalf of the new system that these standards applied to shipments for export have given Canadian eggs an enviable reputation on the British market.

One Peterborough dealer said today that a system of buying and selling eggs by weight would be far in advance of the present system of trading by the dozen. In buying by weight full value can be assured, and the present uncertainty would be done away with.

EUROPEAN TRIP FOR LUCKY VET

Wins Trip to Battlefields and $1,000 Spending Money.

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 10. — Canadian Press. — George Townsend, of Fernie, B.C., a member of the Great War Veterans' Association, will make a post war visit to the battle fields of France and Flanders, with his travelling expenses paid and $1000 to spend in Europe.

His name was on the winning ticket, Number 2078, which was drawn last night at the close of the contest which began last March, in connection with the publicity campaign for the G.W.V.A. reunion week in Vancouver.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Dear Sir,—In Monday's issue of your valuable paper I read with interest Dr. Sutton's Conference with our local Board of Health and I wish to ask the question, why should the Peterboro Milk Products or any one else have the right to make special arrangements with Dr. McNair regarding the inspection of their milk if conditions at the source of supply are not proper then all the pasturization and clarification ever introduced will not make the milk pure, especially after bacteria has been developing for hours, as usually is the case, where milk is hauled for miles. If the cow is tubercular why pasturize the cow not the milk. Now, we as citizens, have a right to demand pure and wholesome milk. We also have a right to see to it that no attempt is made to monopolize so important a product whereby both producers and consumers might suffer. After nineteen years experience in handling and manufacturing of milk I want for my own use, pure milk just as it was created and intended to be used. Practical education always outweighs theoretical education.

Yours truly,
W. H. MERRILL.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir: The mistake at Echo Bay, Algoma, by which the poll was closed at five instead of six o'clock, reminds us of the fact that probably no election in Ontario caused more complaints than the late one, all the way from people who appeared and got their names put on only to find that they were not on the voters' list on polling day, to the irate citizens who were unable to find polling places that had been changed from preceding elections.

It is to be hoped that the new Ferguson government will take immediate steps to give the electors a fair and reasonable chance to vote when election day comes around. The whole scheme, especially in urban centres, of getting up the lists and making known the places of polling, ought to be revised.

ELECTOR.

METHODISTS HAD SOCIAL IN BAILIEBORO CHURCH

BAILIEBORO, July 10. — Although the rain continued to pour down until after seven o'clock on Monday evening last week, a large crowd gathered on the Methodist Church grounds and sat down to a bountiful supper, such as the ladies of the Methodist church are noted for, and the waiters were kept busy until nine o'clock.

A booth was built on the grounds and was operated by Mr. S. R. Nichols, assisted by Misses M. White, Z. Gainer, L. Earle and J. Dawson.

After the supper had been served, the Cobourg Methodist orchestra gave a splendid program, consisting of solos, quartettes, readings, while a twenty-piece orchestra furnished excellent music. Rev. A. F. Pollock, of Ottawa, accompanied the members of the orchestra and gave a brief address during the program. The pastor, Rev. R. M. Patterson, also gave a splendid address.

Strength Returns to E. S. Johnston

Dreco makes such improvement in Mr. Johnston's health that he discards cane. Is better in every way after five years' suffering.

The experience of Mr. E. S. Johnston, of 425 Spadina Avenue, Toronto, is a typical example of the health-building qualities of Dreco, the famous herbal remedy.

"For five years I had suffered from arthritis," says Mr. Johnston. "I had terrible pains in my hips and knees and my ankles were very swollen as were also my hands. My kidneys and liver were also in very bad condition and I often had sharp pains shooting across the small of my back. In fact, every muscle was sore and painful. I sometimes feared rheumatism of the heart as the pains were so intense. The least exertion caused shortness of breath. I could scarcely walk without the aid of a cane to get up and down stairs was almost impossible.

"I have tried almost every kind of medicine but seemingly could not build my system up at all. I was discouraged and had lost faith in every kind of medicine. My wife, however, had read of the wonderful benefit many people were receiving from Dreco so I decided I had better give it a trial. And truly, in just five weeks' time I have improved 100%.

"My pains are not so severe and the swelling in my hands and ankles is nearly gone. I now enjoy my food and feel the benefit of the nourishment I am now deriving from it. I rest better and can go about without my cane. Dreco is the first remedy ever to go to the root of my troubles. My wife is also elated over my experience with Dreco thus far and we can heartily recommend it."

Dreco by toning and regulating the organs puts them in proper working order and a general improvement in health results. Dreco contains no mercury, potash or habit forming drugs but is prepared from roots, herbs, bark and leaves of established value.

Dreco is being specially introduced in Peterboro by Bond's Drug Store. It is also sold in Lakefield by E. H. Northey, and by a good druggist everywhere.

INCREASE IN CANADA'S DEBT DURING MONTH

Monthly Statement Issued By the Finance Department Yesterday — Increase in Receipts Also.

THE FIGURES.

OTTAWA, July 10. — (Canadian Press).—An increase in the net debt of Canada during the month of June amounting to $2,026,062, is shown in the monthly statement issued through the Finance Departffent yesterday. On June 30, Canada's net debt was $2.409,001, 572, as compared with $2,406,399,510 on May 31. The increase in the net debt when the figures of June 30, 1922 ar compared with those of the present year, is $11,589,657.

Total revenue for June 1923, was $30,146,746. For June 1922, this total was $28,525,463. There was, therefore an increase of $1,621.283 in revenue. Ordinary expenditure on the other hand fell from $29,773,102 in June 1922, to $27,014,810 in the month just ended. For the three months of the fiscal year which ended on June 30, the revenue of the Dominion amounted to $119.506,118 as compared with $110,361,267 in the same three-month period of 1922.

Total ordinary expenditures for the three-month period in the present year were $72,788,678, as against $75,774.474 in 1922.

Revenue from customs for the month of June this year was $10.382,-154 which is a slight increase over the figures for June 1922 which show total customs collections of $10,033,-552. Excise yielded $3,420.350 during the month which was also a small increase over the 1922 total. Inland revenue collections amounted to $10 525,123 an increase of more than three million dollars over June 1922, when total inland revenue collections were $7,009,929. Income tax collections during June 1923 were $1,349-213 as compared with $1.520,864 in the same month of 1922. The principal item in the ordinary expenditure column is a payment of $13,523,164 for interest on the public debt. For this purpose a total of $16,101,804 was extended in June 1922. The total amount paid in interest on the public debt in the three months of the fiscal year which have elapsed is $48,-168,991 as compared with $51.077,874 in 1922. Expenditures on pensions in June 1923, were $2,724,006 as against $2,884,987 in June 1922. Soldiers land settlement expenditures during the month amounted to $137.301 and soldiers civil re-stablishment $947,966.

Still a Chance For Wheat Pool This Year.

SASKATOON, Sask., July 10. — Canadian Press. — Promises of moral support toward the formation of a voluntary pool to handle the 1923 wheat crop have been received by the Farmers' Union of Canada from the United Farmers of Alberta, Premier John Bracken, of Manitoba; Premier C. A. Dunning of Saskatchewan; H. W. Wood, the President of the U. F. A., and others.

Aaron Sapiro, the famous co-operative marketing organizer, telegraphing from San Francisco Sunday, said that a wire from Winnipeg leaders suggesting that nothing could be done this year was not the correct view. He said he was confident that if a co-operative marketing program were demanded by the farmers bodies it could be carried out this year.

H. W. Wood wired from Calgary that the U.F.A. and the Alberta government would accept practical co-operation from Saskatchewan of Manitoba but in any event they would proceed with an Alberta pool.

Premiers Bracken and Dunning have expressed approval of the Sapiro plan and Premier Dunning adds that he can promise moral support of the Saskatchewan government.

Body Found Was Not That of Lieut. T. B. Null.

PORT LEAMINGTON, Ont., July 10.—(Canadian Press.) —The body of a man found partly buried in the sand on the shores of Lake Erie, near here, yesterday, was identified last night as Albert A. Yost, about 35 years old, an employee of the Goodyear Rubber Company, Akron, Ohio.

First reports indicated the body was that of Lieut. T. B. Null, missing balloonist.

WHOLE QUESTION OF REPARATIONS WILL BE PLACED BEFORE HOUSE

Statement Promised For Thursday May Result in a Definite Policy on the Vexed Question.

FRANCE'S ATTITUDE.

LONDON, July 10 (Canadian Press). — Prime Minister Baldwin's announcement in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon that it might be possible for the Government to make a statement on reparations on Thursday eased British public opinion, which has been manifesting increased impatience over the failure of the Cabinet to commit itself to a definite policy.

It is anticipated that the Premier's statement will furnish Parliament and the public with a clear-cut, comprehensive analysis of the whole subject. This may afford the Opposition groups in the House opportunity for open debate, and it is considered likely that before the week is out the Ruhr controversy will have entered a new and broader phase. Whether this will involve separate action on the part of Great Britain in dealing with Germany, no one in authority would say.

The whole subject of reparations, and Britain's probable course, is enveloped in thick mists of diplomatic reticence, word apparently having gone forth from Foreign Secretary Curzon that neither France nor the public shall have any information as to what the Government will do. For the moment, therefore, the newspaper correspondents are forced to interpret the situation for themselves and they are indulging in cautious speculation.

The opinion prevails in official circles that France is playing for time, believing that Germany will capitulate before Great Britain can take independent action.

France, according to these circles, is convinced that Germany is now on the verge of collapse economically, and that with her commercial disintegration the passive resistance, upon the cessation of which France has been so insistent, will automatically disappear.

Great Britain, however, feels that Germany, although sorely pressed by France, still has an abundant reserve of vitality, and that she will ultimately weather the present storm. It is on this account that some British authorities favour separate measures in dealing with Germany.

Whatever turn the situation takes this week, it is considered likely that Great Britain will renew her suggestion for the appointment of an international commission of experts to examine into Germany's resouces and determine her capacity to pay. It is regarded as not improbable that the committee of experts appointed last year of which J. P. Morgan was a member, may be asked to serve again.

British officials do not say how they expect to overcome the French opposition to such a commission. They realise the value a neutral member like Mr. Morgan would have in such an international body, and, indeed, do not attempt to disguise their hope that the United States Government may yet see fit to lend its vast moral and active support to Great Britain in settlement of the aggravating reparations problem and in dispelling the present economic darkness which overshadows all Europe.

It would not surprise political observers here if Thursday's discussion in the House led ultimately to the circulation of a thesis of dealing with Germany alone and spreading it before the United States and other neutral countries, as well as France, Italy and Belgium, for their verdict. One British official summed up this possible eventuality by saying:

"In such a case we would say to France: 'This is our plan. If you will act with us we will welcome your aid; if you don't, we must go alone.'"

Lip sticks are now being sold in Paris flavored with fruit essences, such as orange, peach and strawberry.

Western Miners Were Difficult to Restrain.

CALGARY, Alta., July 10. — (Canadian Press.)—It is with difficulty that he is restraining the miners of District 18, United Mine Workers of America from walking out in a sympathetic strike as a result of the handling of the Nova Scotia strike by authorities, stated William A. Sherman, president, in a wire sent yesterday to Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor.

Meantime, according to Mr. Sherman, the locals in District 18 continued to demand immediate sympathetic action, which means a general walkout in the district.

The plans for the Western Canada labor conference on the Nova Scotia strike are being formulated by Mr. Sherman. This will include all labor organizations and the policy of the miners' leaders is that no action should be taken until such a meeting is held.

Cheese Exports From Montreal Show Decrease.

MONTREAL, July 10.— (Canadian Press.)—The exports of cheese from the port of Montreal for the week ending July 7, 1923, were 44,-326 boxes, which show a decrease of 3,926 boxes, as compared with the previous week and an increase of 9,300 boxes with the same week last year, while the total shipments from May 1, 1923 to date have been 69,-378 boxes smaller than the corresponding period for 1922, and 303,328 boxes less than that for 1921. The exports of butter from here for the week ending July 8, 1923, were 67,-217 packages, of which one vessel carried to Liverpool 46,394 packages which was one of the largest cargoes that ever left this port. The total shipments from May 1, 1922 to July 8, 1922, were 94,940 packages, while so far this season only 10 packages have gone forward. The exports of eggs last week were 500 cases, making a total for the season to date of 2,750 cases as against 1,600 cases for the same period last year, showing an increase of 1,150 cases.

DRUG TRADE IS AIDED BY MANY YOUNG WOMEN

Respectable Looking Girls Who Are Free From the Habit Are Being Freely Used to Smuggle Dope.

HARD TO CATCH.

OTTAWA, July 10. —(Canadian Press.)—Respectable looking young women free from the drug habit, are the most elusive dope runners with whom the Canadian authorities are called upon to cope.

This opinion was expressed yesterday by F. W. Cowan, head of the Narcotic division of the federal Department of Health, when his attention was called to the recent conviction of a Toronto dope pedlar who had been making use of the mails to obtain his supply of drugs.

Mr. Cowan did not think that the practice of sending opium or its derivatives through the mails was very extensive in this country. He pointed out that even bona fide importation of narcotics had been barred from international mails by agreement at the Universal Postal Union Congress, held in Madrid in 1920.

The Narcotic Division chief claimed that the big dope distributors were employing innocent women to carry their wares from place to place in Canada. It was hard to detect these amazonian runners because they were not drug addicts and made it a point not to be seen in the company of those who were known to the police as victims of the habit.

Officials of the Narcotic division believe that Welland, Thorold and St. Catharines have been seized upon by the dope ring as strategic distributing points. There is a large foreign population in that district and aside from the local demand for the drug it is an easy matter to smuggle it into Hamilton, Toronto and other large centres over the border. Contrary to the popular belief Windsor is no longer considered by the anti-narcotic forces as one of the main pivots of the illicit traffic. A considerable amount of dope changes hands in London, federal authorities belive and other smaller cities and towns are favored as clearing points because the police have fewer drug addicts to contend with.

Uniform Game Laws For All Provinces.

WINNIPEG, July 10.—(Canadian Press.)—Uniform game laws for all the provinces of the Dominion will likely result from a conference held here last Friday and Saturday according to an announcement made yesterday. The conference was attended by representatives from provincial and federal governments.

An uniform open and closed season throughout Canada was advocated and M. B. Jackson, chairman of the British Columbia game commission was appointed to draft a schedule of seasons which would be suitable for all provinces. A standard method of identifying and marking pelts and the banishment of poison in killing fur bearing animals with the exception of timber wolves, which may be poisoned by government experts, were discussed and recommendations will be placed before the governments represented.

It also decided to recommend the prohibiting of game meat marketing.

LAST-MINUTE APPOINTMENTS.

There is no quarrel to be found with the announcement that the new Ontario Government intends to treat all appointments made to the civil service by the Drury administration since election day as patronage.

Unless the exigencie. of the case required an immediate appointment, and the positions filled by the expiring Government recently do not seem to be of that nature, there has been absolutely no justification for the placing in office of any more officials by an administration dismissed at the polls by the people of the Province.

The verdict on June 25th was a complete condemnation of the U. F. O. Government, indicating that the electors of Ontario had lost any confidence they may have had in the ability of the Drury forces to successfully administer the affairs of the Province.

In the face of such a decision it is presumption, to say the least, for the Government which goes out of office a week from today, to fill important positions in the civil service.

Courtesy alone should have compelled Mr. Drury and his associates to refrain from making appointments of this nature,but seeing that considerations of that kind have not prevented the last-minute selection of officials for the vacancies, the course to be taken by the new Government is a natural and quite justifiable one.

Discredited Ministries have no logical reason to make appointments after the voice of the people has been heard.

EASTERN ONTARIO REPRESENTED.

The announcement that Mr. Jos. R. Cooke, M.P.P. for North Hastings, is to be a member of the Hydro-electric Commission is satisfactory from an Eastern Ontario standpoint in one respect inasmuch as it gives this section of the Province what it has always lacked —direct representation on the body governing power matters in Ontario.

Eastern Ontario has always felt, and not without considerable reason, that it has not received the consideration in power matters that it deserved, and there is reason to hope that the presence of a representative of this district on the Hydro Commission will ensure closer attention being paid to the needs of this portion of the Province.

The fact that Mr. Cooke is an Eastern Ontario member perhaps compensates this section of Ontario for his views on Hydro matters, views that are directly opposed to the opinion of most of the municipalities which are partners in the public ownership Hydro scheme.

Mr. Cooke is one of those individuals who believe that the users of Hydro light and power in the cities should be taxed in order that funds may be provided for the extension of the Hydro lines in rural districts.

That is doctrine that is, to say the least, unpopular in the municipalities, and Mr. Cooke's adherence to such views makes his selection as a member of the commission somewhat of a surprise.

Probably, however, the feeling that there is little danger of his persuading his colleagues to agree with him led to his being chosen in spite of his—from a Hydro viewpoint—unorthodox belief.

THE VETERANS' AMALGAMATION.

The most important feature of the Dominion convention of the G.W.V.A. at Vancouver was the decision to enter into amalgamation with the other organizations of returned soldiers in Canada, thus completing a unification of the various veteran bodies.

Belated as is the joining up of forces, there is little doubt that the proposed union will be much better equipped for dealing with the problems affecting ex-service men and soldiers' dependents than were four or five individual organizations acting independently of each other and often working at cross purposes.

It would have been much better for the interests of returned soldiers had the amalgamation been effected several years ago, and better still, had there never been more than one organization.

The division of opinion caused by the bonus agitation was a body blow to the chances of a smooth-working representative linking together of the men who fought for Canada.

Thousands of ex-soldiers, disgusted or bewildered at the various policies advanced by different veterans' societies, decided to disassociate themselves with all of them.

The result is that, even with the joining of all the principal organizations, a far too large proportion of former members of Canada's overseas forces will be found standing aloof from the movement.

Once consummated, however, the using of the different bodies should enable a constructive policy to be inaugurated that will commend itself to those who have hitherto been indifferent, and it may yet be possible to weld Canada's veterans as a whole into an organization that will function effectively.

The prospects are such as to earn for the G.W.V.A. the congratulations of their friends upon the step they have taken and to warrant hopes for the success of the undertaking.

"A DEAD TOWN ON SUNDAY."

"This is a dead town on Sunday, so that's why I get down to Detroit as often as possible for the week-end."

That is the opinion of one young man in London, and it may be the opinion of many more, says the London Advertiser. He considered this was a "dead town" because there was no amusement here on Sunday, no ball games, no movies; the town was locked up for the day, and there was no place for him to go.

Age may bring to that young man an appreciation of other things—it often does. There is that period in life where youth calls for action, excitement, pleasure, [illegible] it is willing to pursue it seven days a week. [illegible] is that it is not [illegible] into [illegible] sense that can label chaff as such and lay it to one side.

Without arguing the point, let us take another case, a Londoner. Quite early Sunday morning he was up and around. He drove his car out to one of the hospitals on the outskirts of the city; he was welcomed there, as he came frequently. In a few minutes he came out leading a man whose eyesight had been the price of his service to his country. They got into the car, and on the way back he stopped at another house where an old man who walked with difficulty was taken in. He drove to the church he attended, and saw that both these people were safely up the steps and seated. The service over, he took them home, the only outing of the week for them, and the one they most desired and most enjoyed.

We found this man later in the afternoon sitting beside a young man in one of the city hospitals. He had brought some flowers from his own garden, and a couple of magazines. He talked kindly to him, left him much more cheerful than when he came in.

Where he went after that we don't know. It would be on some errand of mercy or kindness.

Did he find it a "dead town"? His blind friend and his old-man companion might have had he seen nothing ahead of him but a trip to Detroit to get a touch of "life."

Did this busy man find the town locked up on Sunday? His blind friend and the old man would have been locked up if he had not cared for them.

Is there any argument—is there a chance for a word of controversy—as to which of these two had the greatest week-end?

A LESSON IN TOLERANCE.

Goshen, in Orange County, saw a remarkable sight on Wednesday. The Knights of Columbus held a Fourth of July meeting in a Presbyterian Church. Roman Catholic ushers led Protestants and Jews to their seats. A Catholic priest introduced the principal speaker, who was the Grand Master of the Free Masons of this State.

The cause of this gathering, which was as amiable and pleasant as if all those present were of the same faith, was the shadow of the Ku Klux Klan. Any attack on religious freedom draws together for mutual defense not only all the units attacked, but all persons and organizations to whom that freedom is precarious. As Justice Tompkins said in his speech at this meeting, "Our democracy cannot endure unless all classes, creeds and races are allowed to live and work and worship freely and peaceably under the equal protection of the law."

Year by year Americans of various creeds and races learn to understand one another better. The meeting at Goshen was symbolic of the broadening of the human mind, and it was significant of the way tolerance unites its followers against a common foe. —New York Herald.

WHY NOT LAPOINTE?

It is rather a pity that Mr. Ernest Lapointe is not going to the Imperial Conference. We say this in no spirit of banter, but quite sincerely, because Mr. Lapointe seems to typify a phase of feeling in Canada which should be heard at the conference—and should do a little listening too.

That incisive London journal, Truth, has just published a comment on the Lapointe policy as regards the signing of the Halibut Treaty which reveals what even Liberal opinion in Great Britain is thinking of it. After describing the incdent as "significant" and "a startling innovation," it adds:

"But really we have no cause to complain so long as Canada understands that if, unfortunately, any dispute should arise regarding the observance of the treaty, it will be no concern of ours. At the moment a little hitch has occurred in consequence of the proposal of the United States Senate to amend the treaty, by making it binding upon the rest of the British Empire. To this we must reluctantly demur. Whatever the future may bring forth, we have not yet arrived at the time when we can let Canada make treaties for Great Britain."

To this, it is easy to make a sharp rejoinder, viz: that "we have arrived at a time when we cannot let Great Britain make treaties for Canada." Thus can we cross rhetorical swords; and, as the sparks fly, unthinking and uninformed peop'e in both countries will enjoy the "kick" of a forensic cocktail. It is great fun, quaffing the heady sort of histrionic champagne — this "Canada is a nation" draught—this delated echo of the ancient battle against poor old "Downing Street."

But it is poor business. We are like a young and struggling merchant who could have his notes endorsed by an old and wealthy house, but who tosses his head and chooses to sign his own "paper" alone. Some day or other, he will pay for his "independence" by soaring interest and sinking credit.

Still as this spirit exists in Canada and is strong enough to dominate the course of a Dominion Cabinet, it is highly important that it should be enabled to make itself very clearly heard in London—and should then hear what London has to say about it. The spokesmen for Great Britain will make a grave mistake if they resent this attitude or petulantly try to punish it by playing tit for tat. That is not the way for experience to meet youthful ambition.

London should see in this enterprising and self-reliant spirit precisely that evidence of awakening to responsibility in one of the cubs of the lion that promises best for the future of the Empire. We want to try our wings. Well and good. Great Britain, hoary with centuries of hard experience, will soar beneath us as the eagle does beneath the fluttering eaglets to see that we come to no fatal harm. She will not be angry—she will be proud. Soon enough we will learn that there is more to international treaties than the affixing of signatures, and that it can be very convenient to have behind them the weight of an Empire of four hundred millions instead of only the backing of eight million of even the most virile people on earth.

Canada can never be taught the worth of her membership in the Empire by "telling" her. The new generation of Canadians must learn by venturing out into the world alone and taking the consequences. The Lapointes should be invited to London to state their case and hear the reply. It would do London good to learn what Canada is thinking, and it would do Canada good to learn what London knows.—Montreal Star.

Another Cut Made in Wholesale Sugar Price.

NEW YORK, July 10.— (Canadian Press.) — Another slash was made in the price of refined sugar in the local market to-day, which caused refined granulated to drop as low as 8.75 by one refiner, or 1 1-2 cents below the high price of the season and 1-2c. below last week's close.

The drop was due to re-offering of 2,000 tons of refined sugar which had been shipped abroad but was returned because no foreign market could be found. The slack domestic demand also was a contributing factor.

CHICAGO WHEAT.

CHICAGO, July 10. — (Canadian Press.)— Wheat averaged lower in price yesterday chiefly as a result of fine weather for the harvest and because of enlarged receipts from the new crop. The Government report as to all grain was about as expected. Wheat closed unsettled at a range which from 12c. net decline, extended to 1-4c. advance, with July and September, $1.03 1-2 to $1.03 5-8 and December $1.06 1-8. Corn finished 1-2c. to 2 3-8c. up; oats at 1-8 to 5-8c. gain, and provisions unchanged to 5c. down.

WINNIPEG CATTLE.

WINNIPEG, Man., July 10.—(Canadian Press.)— Receipts 2,430 cattle and calves; 1,450 hogs, and 77 sheep and lambs.

With the general run of cattle offering on the market yesterday of poor quaulity trading was dull with bidding showing a decidedly weaker undertone. A few good light weight killing cattle and good quality feeders sold in line with the week end close.

The hog market was steady, thick smooths weighing up at $8.25 and select bacons at $9.07 1-2.

A few good killing lambs made around $12.00, with fair to good lightweight sheep ranging from $5.00 to $7.00.

EGG MARKETS.

OTTAWA, July 10. — (Canadian Press.)—Receipts are reported lighter and the proportion of extras very much less as a result this grade is firmer and higher. It is reported in Montreal and Toronto that eggs are still arriving from the prairie provinces. The market continues dull and weak for undergrades.

Toronto jobbing prices unchanged. Country markets steady, shippers paying 18 to 20 and making sales of straight gathered at 20 f.o.b. candled 21 to 22.

Montreal carton extras 32, extras 30, firsts 26, seconds 21 to 22.

Winnipeg dealers quoting 18 for straight receipts delivered.

Saskatchewan dealers quoting 14 to 15 delivered loss off, receipts light, quality poor.

Alberta receipts light, quality fair. Dealers quoting delivered cases returned extras 19, firsts 17, seconds 16.

British Columbia local fresh 21 country points.

Rye—No. 2 C.W. 65 5-8.

CASH GRAIN.

MONTREAL, July 10.— (Canadian Press.)—A feature of the domestic grain market for Canadian western oats was the good inquiry for this line, and a moderate trade was done in car lots on spot and prices were were unchanged. The improved demand for flour noted at the end of last week was maintained. A fairly good enquiry obtains for millfeed and there was no change in the condition of the rolled oats market. The feature of the local market for baled hay was the weaker feeling and prices were off $1 a ton. There was a steady demand for eggs. The potato market was quiet. Prices were up 1-2 cent a pound for butter. The undertone in cheese was firm.

SEVERAL FATALITIES

REGINA, Sask., July 10.—(Canadian Press).—Four drownings and a man found dead in a shack is the toll of Sunday's fatalities in Saskatchewan reported to the provincial police late yesterday.

The drowned were: Herman Schmitz, 35, Lake Lenora; Pte Jack Ross, 16th., Canadian Light Horse; Mike Kalmakoff, Buchanan; and Patrick Lipsett 18, Milestone. John Bean of Swift Current, farmer was found dead and police are investigating.

GUNSMITH WAS CONTRADICTED BY OWN WORDS

Oscar Haynes Fared None Too Well at the Hands of Counsel For Defence in the Delorme Trial.

TESTED BULLETS.

MONTREAL, July 10 (Canadian Press).—Cross-examination of Oscar Haynes, local gunsmith, continued from yesterday morning, took up nearly all of yesterday afternoon at the trial of Rev. Father Delorme, charged with the murder of his half-brother Raoul.

The gunsmith complained of the poor light in the Court-room, which, he claimed, rendered it impossible for him to identify what particular bullets had been fired, whether from the priest's Bayard revolver, another Bayard, a Browning, and a Mauser.

Alleyn Taschereau, K.C., counsel for the defence, several times was given contradictory answers by the witness, who excused himself on the ground that he was being asked to do in a few minutes, and in a poor light, what really required lengthy microscopical examination under a good light.

Finally, Mr. Haynes was sent in care of High Constable St. Mars into a nearby room, where he spent some considerable time in examining a tray of bullets, including those found in the body of the victim.

On the return of the witness into the Court-room, Mr. Taschereau took up cross-examination, and Haynes stated, in contradiction to his earlier evidence, that one of the bullets marked with an "x" at the bottom had been fired by another revolver than that of the abbe. They were further, he said, all bullets from the National factory.

This reply, Mr. Taschereau pointed out, did not tally with that of Detective Lajoie, who had testified that two of the bullets were Winchester make.

Haynes then declared that he had not previously made a test before detectives, but only a demonstration. This statement did not agree with the stenographic record of his earlier evidence in the case. He was now positive that the bullet described by Detective Lajoie as Winchesters were all from the National factory in Belgium.

Speaking of the test that he made on 21st January, 1922, witness said that in the presence of Detective Lajoie on that date he had fired a shot with the priest's Bayard revolver, and on recovering the bullet he found a characteristic scratch on it such as exists on the bullets found in the body of the victim. On 25th February, following, he again fired shots with the abbe's revolver and compared the bullets so fired with the one fired on 21st January previous. He had not produced these bullets in Court in support of his evidence because the scratches "could be seen with the naked eye."

Asked why, if they could be seen with the naked eye, he found it necessary to take the bullets out of the Court-room and examine them three or four times, "and make mistakes at that," Haynes said: "If you put yourself in my place you would make more than three or four mistakes."

Pressed by counsel to admit that he had made the same mistake in June, a few days before he was examined as a witness, when he had fired with Abbe Delorme's revolver and had seen nothing that looked like what he had seen on the bullet on 21st January, 1922, witness said, "No, sir, it is false."

He added that to the best of his knowledge he had made no tests since those of 25th February, 1922.

In further cross-examination he strenuously denied once more that he had made further tests with the abbe's revolver last month.

Dr Wilfrid Derome, Court autopsist, was then recalled, and R. L. Calder, Crown Prosecutor, continued examination.

Dr. Derome took a bullet other than one fired from the priest's revolver, placed it on a specially constructed carriage permitting of the bullet being easily pivoted lengthwise, and showed it to the jury under a microscope. This magnified the bullet nineteen times. Nothing specific could be seen on this bullet, which was examined by all the jury, and this showed a supplementary scratch or "characteristic."

FEDERAL WARRANT DELAYING ARREST

Murrell Still Lingers in San Francisco While Authorities Barter.

TORONTO, July 10.—(Canadian Press).—Although General Williams Commissioner of Provincial Police has received from Ottawa a federal warrant for the arrest of Sydney Murell, at San Francisco, wanted in London, Ont., on a murder charge, the Provincial Department will probably not send its men after Murrell until the end of this week.

Diplomatic proceedure in case of this kind dictates that, not only shall local Canadian authorities have federal authorities for securing possession of their man on American soil, but the American authorities must also receive a federal warrant authorizing them to give up their man. It is to await receipt at San Francisco end of this authoritiy that the Provincial authorities are holding back at this end for few days.

The Federal document which has been received at the parliament buildings is a formidable looking document, signed by the Governor-General and decorated with impos-

WATCH OUT

There is a rather cruel deception being practiced on women who desire Palmolive Soap. Common soaps are shaped and colored like it. Some are given names which sound like Palmolive. But they offer you nothing of what you seek, which is benefit to your complexion.

Palmolive has won millions of users by its remarkable aid to beauty. The demand has spread almost the world over—wherever beauty lovers exist. Its unique results have made Palmolive the world's leading toilet soap.

What you prize in Palmolive is the skin effects which ordinary soaps never brought you. Then don't be cheated of them. Don't let somebody make you think that a like-looking soap is Palmolive.

Another value you get in Palmolive is a 25-cent quality for 10 cents. That is due to enormous volume.

A beauty soap—a scientific toilet soap for 10 cents is unique. You are cheated of that extra value when you get an imitation. Nothing in all ages has compared with a blend of palm and olive oil for skin beauty.

Never in a soap has that blend been perfected as it is in Palmolive Soap. That is why it won supreme place with beauty-loving people.

Be sure you get it. Look carefully at the name and the wrapper. Otherwise an ordinary soap may be substituted, and you will think that Palmolive has deteriorated.

CHURCH PARADE OF APSLEY ORANGEMEN

Big Turn-Out of Members of Order—Good Salmon Fishing in Loon Lake.

APSLEY, July 10.—The Apsley L.O.L. 1072 held their annual church parade on Sunday afternoon to St. George's Church and had a good turnout of members, fine weather favoring the gathering. The Rev. C. Spence preached an appropriate sermon, impressing upon the members their duty of adhering to the higher ideals of the Orange order in seeking the Kingdom of God and his righteousness and all the lesser things for which they were striving would be added unto them.

Salmon Fishing Good.

Salmon fishing continues good at Loon Lake and is already attracting several visitors. Among the successful anglers of the fair sex are Marjorie and Cicely Spence and Myrtle Windsor, who, unaided, captured five fine fish weighing about five pounds each, which seems to be the average weight of the salmon here. One was caught on an ordinary trolling line with a spoon bait. Over fifty fish have been taken in this week with copper lines and archer spinner.

Visitors.

The following guests registered at the Union Hotel during the week: [illegible] Niagara Falls; W. G. Stewart, Windsor; Geo. Hart, London, England; W. E. Beederwolf, Montecello, Indiana; C. Jordan, Volant, Pa.; Chas. L. Brederwolf, Fort Wayne, Indiana; S. G. Worton, Duquesne, Penn.; Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Salisbury and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Eisenhart of Cleveland, O.

WARN THE MINERS NOT TO INTERFERE

Strikers Obstructed Traffic in Colliery Towns—Will Not be Tolerated.

SYDNEY, N.S., July 10.—(Canadian Press.)— Col. Eric W. MacDonald, Commissioner of Provincial Police, personally served a warning on district headquarters of the United Mine Workers, that interference by pickets with traffic in colliery towns will not be tolerated. Col. MacDonald's action followed two incidents at No. 2 colliery at New Aberdeen, the largest colliery in Canada, and seat of Phalen local, which is the most radical local of U.M.W. in district 26. In the morning pickets threw a switch against an engine which was attempting to haul several cars of coal into the colliery yard. In the afternoon, a heavy sleeper was placed in the way of a car in which a company of troops were riding near No. 2.

In Sydney, Steel Corporation representatives stated that some twelve hundred men out of the three thousand or more employees, are at work. In the steel plant and throughout the colliery fields, the day was free of disorders. At Sydney mines, several hundred men endorsed a resolution passed at Glace Bay on Saturday night, declaring determination to remain out of the pits until Dan Livingstone and James B. McLachlan, President and Secretary of District 26, are set free.

CRUSHED TO DEATH.

SUDBURY, July 10. — (Canadian Press).—George Yawney, aged 33, a native of Poland, was crushed to deather in the C.P.R. yards here yesterday afternoon by a steam shovel.

FELL TO HIS DEATH FROM TORONTO BRIDGE

TORONTO, July 10.—(Canadian Press.)—Falling from the new Gerrard street bridge yesterday afternoon, William Cuthbertson, aged 30, employed as a laborer, fractured his skull, when he struck the railway tracks, thirty feet below. He died a few hours later in Western Hospital.

BIG LUNGE CAUGHT NEAR BOBCAYGEON

Measured Fifty Inches and Weighed Twenty-Seven Pounds.

TORONTO, July 10.— (Canadian Press.) — These are days of fish stories. These are days when disciples of famous Izaak return to the haunts of men with stories of famous battles by lake and stream. But this time there comes a fish story with a real basis.

While fishing yesterday in the placid waters of Pigeon Lake, near Bobcaygeon, a real fisherman's honors came to Mrs. W. R. Deemar, of Tarentum, Penn., who is summering, with her husband, in pleasant districts of Ontario. While handling a trolling line, she hooked a lunge which is destined to make history in stories of fishermen of that district. When finally landed, after a prolonged tussle, the denizen of the waters was found to tip the scales at 27 pounds 3 ounces, a new record even for the oldest fisheman of that district. The lunge measured some 50 inches in length and 18 inches in girth.

Yesterday's prize was exhibited at a local hotel.

Rubber gloves for house-painters, to avoid any risk of infection, was a recent suggestion of a London coroner.

SCHOOL ISSUE CAMPBELLFORD

Matter Will be Submitted to the Ratepayers Again —Campbellford Council Meeting.

CAMPBELLFORD, July 10—The school question will be submitted to the taxpayers for their final decision as to whether an additional $28,800 is to be expended on the new building just as soon as the necessary by law can be prepared. This matter was presented to the Town Council at the regular meeting last night by the members of the Board of Education who held a special session earlier in the evening to prepare the necessary resolution. Charles Benor, the trustee recently appointed by the County Council, was in his place for the first time and the other members present were Chairman Douglas, Trustees Birmingham, Bygott, Lynch, Loucks, Irwin, O'Sullivan and Dr. Watson.

The resolution to request the Council to submit the bylaw was introduced by Trustee Lynch and seconded by Dr. Watson. It carried without debate and without opposition.

When the Council Met

When the Council met, after the Trustees had vacated the room, Reeve Anderson occupied the chair in the absence of Mayor Meyers and the other members present were: Deputy Reeve Wilkinson, Councillors Burke, Dorie, Allan and Carter. When the request from the Board of Education was received it was stated by the Reeve that the Council had no alternative in the matter but under the statute the bylaw must be submitted. The motion to submit the bylaw was fathered by Councillors Allan and Burke. It will be at least four weeks before the necessary preliminaries can be complied with and the special election held.

Underwriters Find Fault

The Underwriters Association sent in a report on the fire fighting equipment of Campbellford, based on the inspection made by an official of the Association last spring. Among the improvements recommended were the following:

That the force of 17 men, including the chief now employed be increased to at least 20 and that the chief be placed on full pay and required to live in the fire hall.

That no single roofs be allowed in the fire limits.

That the storage of oils be regulated.

That the engineer be kept at the pump house and not required to leave it to attend to other civic duties.

That the new motor truck be equipped with a stronger engine; that the brigade carry a full 1000 feet of hose and be furnished with longer ladders.

That the fire hall should be separated from the pump house.

That the number of fire alarm boxes should be increased from four two on each side of the river, to at least eight.

That there should be a night patrol man and that he be furnished with a watchman's clock.

To Confer with Commission

On motion of Deputy Reeve Wilkinson and Councillor Burke, it was decided to file the report for further consideration. Mayor Meyers will be asked to arrange a joint session of the Council and the Light and Power Commission for further discussion as it was felt that the points raised fall principally under the jurisdiction of the latter body.

New Plan of Town

Surveyor James of Toronto, reported that it would cost at least $1,000 to prepare a new map of the town as recommended by Registrar Willoughby at Colborne. This matter was referred to Town Solicitor Humphries. Dr. Watson, who was in the room, suggested that before the new map is completed some of the streets be named with some regard to uniformity as at present there are important thoroughfares that are known under three or four designations.

To Inspect Sidewalks

The Council will meet at 5 o'clock this afternoon to inspect sidewalks in which repairs are needed, among these being the walk in front of Dr. Watson's residence and the one leading up the hill to Christ Church cemetery.

The Garry Street Sewer.

There was a long discussion over beginning work on the Garry street sewer. Tenders for this work were received some time ago, the lowest being that of John Hall, whose offer was $5797. No action was taken and because of the delay Mr. Hall withdrew his tender.

Deputy Reeve Wilkinson stated last night that Mr. Hall had told him that he was willing to re-submit his bid at the same figure provided the council authorized him to go ahead at once.

At the last meeting of the council Mayor Meyers gave it as his opinion that the work could best be carried out under the supervision of Street Foreman Fox, by day labor, and Councillor Allan held that it was only courtesy to the Mayor to delay action until his return.

Deputy Reeve Wilkinson insisted that the majority of the council was greater than any single individual, and added that the street laborers are busy enough now without taking up sewer construction. If there is much further delay it will be impossible to finish this work until winter.

Councillor Carter was in favor of building the sewer by day labor instead of by contract.

A motion by Deputy Reeve Wilkinson and Councillor Dorie, that provided Mr. Hall sends in his tender at the first offer, he be given the contract, the work to start at once, was carried on the following division:

Yeas — Deputy Reeve Wilkinson, Councillors Burke and Dorie, and Reeve Anderson.

Nays — Councillors Carter and Allan.

New Teams for Foreman.

On motion of Deputy Reeve Wilkinson and Allan it was decided that when the term of service of Street Inspector Fox expires that the council advertise for applications for the position, Mr. Fox's offer to be considered with the others. No one had any criticism to offer as to Mr. Fox's services but it was that possibly an overseer could be secured for less money and that he would not be kept on the payroll throughout the entire winter. Mr. Fox is at present engaged by the year.

Walk to Cemetery.

J. M. Arnold suggested that a cinder path be built from the end of the sidewalk at the corporation limits to Mount Pleasant Cemetery and this was laid over for future consideration.

To Connect with Sewer.

Mrs. James Jackson was given permission to connect a private sewer from her property to the new sewer on Booth street. For this privilege Mrs. Jackson offers to pay the same frontage tax as other residents whose lots are located on the Booth street improvement.

Chance for the Band.

A communication was received from the managers of the Toronto exhibition asking the council to make it possible for the town band to take part in the musical competition to be held at the big fair on Aug. 30, when a a number of valuable cash prizes will be awarded. This competition is always an annual feature in Toronto.

The communication was referred to Bandmaster R. T. Cowell and the band members for discussion, and report as to whether it would be possible for them to go to Toronto, to be sent back to the council. If the members are willing and can get leave of absence from their employment for the occasion an effort will be made to provide the necessary funds as the councillors were unanimous in the opinion that to have the band at Toronto would be an excellent advertisement for Campbellford. The band here has been pronounced by competent authorities to be the best military musical organization in Central Ontario, and would certainly have no difficulty in upholding the reputation of their town even in a competition that would include the leading bands in Ontario.

Special Meeting Friday.

In order to clean up several important matters of public business, the council will meet again in special session Friday night at 8 o'clock.

HON. JAMES MURDOCK DEPLORES SITUATION

TORONTO, July 10.—(Canadian Press.)—In a letter read last night, at the monthly meeting of labor political representation committee, Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, stated that he deplored the use of troops in the Sydney strike. He said that the labor department was unaware that troops had been requisitioned, and that they were on their way to the strike area before the department was made acquainted with the fact that assistance of soldiers had been requested.

"Personally," said Mr. Murdock, "I feel just as strongly as you do in this matter."

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

New Floor Being Laid on the Bridge — Personal Mention.

CAMPBELLFORD, July 10. — The bridge across the Trent River was closed to vehicular traffic at 8 o'clock last night, and remained so until 6 o'clock this morning. It will be closed for the same hours tonight.

That portion of the bridge, the western end, which is under the jurisdiction of the Government, as it spans the Trent Canal, is being refloored, and a large gang of men were busily employed all night placing the heavy deal timbers. It is figured that the work will be completed to-night, when that part of the structure will then be as good as new.

Only a small portion of the flooring is taken up at once. In the event of a fire on the west side, planks could be laid to permit the passage of the motor truck with very little delay in the work of the brigade.

Seymour West Institute.

The annual meeting of Seymour West Women's Institute was held at Bethel Church on Tuesday afternoon at 2.30, the first vice-president presiding. The meeting opened by singing "The Maple Leaf," followed by the Lord's Prayer, repeated in unison. Mrs. Robert McCullough introduced and welcomed the speaker, Miss Hopkins, following which a fine miscellaneous programme was presented. Song, "O Canada," by a number of girls; reading by Miss Margaret Garneau; song by Miss Ruby Dunham, "I Am in Heaven When I'm in My Mother's Arms." Miss Hopkins gave an excellent address, her subject being "Things That Make Life Worth While." Mrs. Gordon Shearer sang in fine voice, "I Remember Where the Morning Glories Grow," followed by a reading by Miss Josephine McConnell, "The Land of Beginning Again." "Just Before the Battle, Mother," was rendered by Mrs. Dixon in rich voice.

A hearty vote of thanks, moved by Mrs. David Stillman, seconded by Mrs. Thomas Dunham, was tendered Miss Hopkins for her helpful address.

Rev. M. L. Hinton, in a gracious little speech, expressed his pleasure at being present.

A very dainty lunch was then served, and the meeting closed with the National Anthem.

Owing to the inclemency of the weather the attendance was not as large as was expected, there being only fifty-five in attendance.

Band Concert.

The citizens were given a musical treat again last evening, when the Band, under the able leadership of Mr. R. T. Cowell, rendered the second of their outdoor band concerts. The band is certainly a valuable adjunct to our town, and is a band of which we are all proud. These weekly concerts are looked forward to and enjoyed as they were last year, and are a treat to all the lovers of good music.

Personals.

CATTLE STARVED LOCKED IN MILL

Eleven Head of Prime Condition Cattle Strayed From Pasture to Die.

MARMORA, July 10. — Charles Sopha, a farmer, who lives near Marmora, missed eight head of 3 year-old and three head of 2-year-old cattle from his pasture some days ago and searched for them in vain up to last Saturday. On that date he found them in a deserted mill on the Ayhart farm, every one of them dead.

It is believed that the animals made their way into the mill to escape from the heat and that by some means the door became shut. The unfortunate animals were unable to get out and, lacking food and water, slowly starved to death. The cattle were all in prime condition, ready for the market, and Mr. Sopha's loss is estimated at over $500.

BODY OF PRINCE FOUND IN HOTEL

Unnamed Woman Arrested by Scotland Yard Detectives.

LONDON, July 10. — (United Press). —Bleeding from numerous mortal revolver wounds the body of Prince Aly Kamel Fahmy Rey, Egyptian noble prominent in London society, was found in a room in the Savoy Hotel, early to-day.

The Prince was clad in night attire. An unnamed woman was arrested by Scotland Yard detectives, this morning, after the prince had died upon arrival at Charing Cross Hospital.

A TORONTO BOY LOST HIS LIFE IN LAGOON

TORONTO, July 10. —(Canadian Press.) — Maurice Kingelin, aged fourteen, was drowned yesterday afternoon, when he dived into the Island lagoon, where signs warn the bathers of the danger of weeds. Young Kingelin had partaken of lunch, when he walked out to the landing, undressed and jumped into the water.

STILL SEARCHING FOR MISSING MAN

Port Stanley Fishermen Out on the Lake Early To-day.

PORT STANLEY, July 10 (Canadian Press). — Fishermen of Port Stanley, more than a score of them, were out on Lake Erie again early to-day gathering their catches, and scanning the rippling surface for Lieut. T. B. Null, missing aeronaut, or his body.

The organised search for Lieut. Null, companion in the naval balloon A-6698 of L. J. Roth, whose body was found in the balloon basket yesterday, has virtually been abandoned.

But it was a fisherman who found the body of Lieut. Roth hanging from the basket into the water, and smaller craft are slowly patrolling the fishing grounds, hopeful of writing the final chapter of the story that began at Indianapolis, on 4th July, when the A-6698, with other balloons, set out in the national elimination race.

Some of those who studied fragments of the water-soaked log of A6698, pretend to see in the few decipherable entries, an heroic epic of lake and air. Piercing out the log as best they can, these lake men believe they can reconstruct, with fair accuracy, the flight, storm wrecking of the balloon, and death of the two naval officers.

Lieut. Null leaped overboard into the storm-tossed lake, giving himself as human ballast in an effort to save the life of Lieut. Roth, the pilot, according to the story they see in the log.

Tracing the flight, they believe the storm Thursday night or Friday morning, drove the big bag perilously close to the waters of the lake. The two lieutenants tossed overboard all the ballast. The bag rose, but, caught in the fury of the storm, was again forced toward the water.

The clothing, and everything remaining that could be thrown overboard, were removed, but the danger did not lessen. Then Lieut. Null leaped from the basket and sank from sight, believing that the balloon, relieved of his weight, would rise and give Roth a fighting chance for his life.

Later, Lieut. Roth began hacking, cutting and chopping at the ropes that held the basket to the bag. His only hope of safety lay in getting the basket clear from the bag, which, buffeted by a wind of gale proportions, was dragging it through the water.

He succeeded, but was probably so weak from his exertions that he was unable to take advantage of the small measure of safety provided by keeping inside the basket, and was tossed about until he drowned.

An indelible pencil was used in writing the log, and the words in most cases are but a purple blur. The story of the tragedy, as pieced together here, is based on the condition in which both the bag and basket was found, weather, direction of wind and a few decipherable purple scrawls in the log.

BAGGAGE SEARCHED ON MONTREAL TRAIN

Passengers Indignant and Will Take Matter to the Authorities.

TORONTO, July 10. Canadian Press. — Important developments are likely to result from the experience of passengers on the Canadian National train from Montreal at the week-end.

Revelations were made when several passengers found that their grips had been tampered with. When spoken to the porter said that "provincial officers" had been on train during the night and had made an inspection of the grips in a general search for liquor.

The passengers are not sure that the search was made by officers of the provincial police and intend to take the matter up with Queen's Park.

Provincial police will investigate.

TWELVE HOUR DAY IS OUT OF DATE

Anthracite Operators Association Wishes to Eliminate Practice From Industry.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., July 10. —(Canadian Press.) — Anthracite Operators' Association formally abandoned the twelve hour day as "incompatible with American standards."

"We are," said Samuel Warner, spokesman for the operators, in the joint wage conference, "entirely conscious that the idea that a man be required to work twelve hours a day, is not deemed compatible with American standards.

"In view of the fact that we feel that elimination of practice is dear to the hearts of United Mine Workers, and the fact that, measured by public standards, the twelve hour day is out of date, we say to you frankly that we will join with you to work out, as soon as practicable, a plan of organization by which this practice can be eliminated from the industry."

Heaven is a place where a man is fired for getting to work on time.

OFFER FOR BABE DYE.

TORONTO, July 10.—(Canadian Press).—A despatch from Buffalo last night stated that the Buffalo International Baseball Club has been offered $22,500 by the New York Americans Baseball Club for Babe Dye, the famous Toronto hockey and baseball star.

You'll Get Rid of Blackheads Sure

There is one simple, safe, and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads, that is to dissolve them. To do this, get two ounces of peroxine powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear. Blackheads are a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions that form in the pores of the skin. The peroxine powder and the water dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition.

THE OLD GARDNER SAYS

There are few garden vegetables which yield so large an amount of food for the space occupied as curly Scotch kale. This is a vegetable for fall use, however, not being at its best until it has been touched by frost. It endures cold weather so well that plants often survive the early storms and remain in good condition up to Thanksgiving, or in the warmer sections until Christmas. Seeds can be started now. As plants of kale grow rather large, an abundance of room should be given them. In order to avoid wasting space, lettuce may be planted between the rows.

Some of these reckless autoists think a train should take to the woods when it sees them coming.

COBOURG AND DISTRICT

COBOURG, July 10.—There have been many community gatherings during the past week at Victoria Park, a beauty spot, which yearly attracts more people. A party of Scarboro G.W.V.A. and 130th Regiment motored down and spent a very enjoyable reunion here. They were joined by friends from other parts of Ontario. Sergt. Major Pidgeon was with the forty and another well known member was George Moore, a member of the 130th and Poppy Day organizer. They enjoyed a very pleasant reunion.

Tuxis Boys Camp.

The Tuxis Boys Camp at Richardson's Point is now a thing of the past. The boys put in a very enjoyable time. Not the least of the many satisfactory arrangements made for their comfort and pleasure was the securing of Mr. Clarence Wilson, Centreton as caterer and head cook. He looked after the needs of the boys well. Mr. Wilson has taken over Tower Farm at Rice Lake and will conduct it this season.

The camp at Richardson's Point this year was not nearly as large as the Rice Lake camp last year, but it was most enjoyable. The Cobourg Rotary Club put the grounds in the pink of condition and made all ready for the boys happiness and well being. It is proposed to open the camp next year for boys of twelve years and over. The very best instructors available were present to give instruction and profit. Walter Knox, the former Olympic coach proved to be the right man in the right place, in the development of athletic events, and put on some special instructive stunts that were much appreciated. Robert McClure of the Central Y.M.C.A., Toronto, was on hand. Messrs. Hudson Stow and J. H. Horning, gave interesting talks on astronomy. On one evening there was an illustrated lecture that was much enjoyed. Rev. Canon Sawers, rector of St. Peter's church, conducted the Sunday afternoon service, which was addressed by Mr. C. F. Plewman and was attended by some one hundred and fifty visitors.

The grounds will be used throughout the summer season. They have been admirably equipped and fitted up by the Cobourg Rotary Club to whom much credit is due. The Cobourg Company of Girl Guides go to camp there this week. After that the junior boys go, and the Port Hope Rotary Club has secured the use of the grounds and will open a camp there for Port Hope boys, in August, it is understood. The Point is situated about five miles east of Cobourg at a beautiful spot on the lakeshore.

Tag Day Coming.

The ladies of the L.O.B.A. are preparing to hold tag day here on July 12. The proceeds are for the memorial fund.

Big Excursion Parties.

The two big car ferries, Ontario No. 1 and Ontario No. 2 are very busy these days. In addition to an abundance of freight, they are handling numerous excursion parties. A large crowd visited town on Saturday.

Gathering at Camborne.

The strawberry festival held on Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Jibb was very successful. There was a large crowd present. The ball game between a Newtonville team and the Camborne-Coldsprings Community Club team, was an attractive feature and added its quota to the enjoyment of the day. It resulted in a score of 6-4 in favor of Newtonville. Tea was served on the lawn by the ladies of the congregation, who understood so well how to prepare and serve delectable viands. There was an abundance of berries and cream, and other good things. Hall's orchestra from Cobourg that is always so much enjoyed, gave a musical programme and there were interesting addresses.

Personals.

Mr. Wm. Kert, Hamilton, formerly of W.H.A. Semple's pharmacy, was in town for a few days at the week-end.

Mr. Alex Allison is in town visiting his brother, Mr. O. F. Allison this week.

Mrs. Frederick Rogers and daughter, Freda, Toronto, were recent guests of the Misses Wood, King street. Miss Freda is remaining for a month.

Mr. and Mrs. Hare and children, Toronto, came down to visit at the home of her mother, Mrs. Glenn, Bond street. Mr. Hare returned on Monday but Mrs. Hare and family are remaining for a few days.

Two-faced frocks are the latest word from Paris. Their fronts are entirely different from their backs. For instance, the front may be used in straight-lined effect, while the back has a skirt with three tiers of ruffles. Again the back may be tucked from head to foot, while the front is entirely plain.

POLICE ON LOOK OUT FOR PHONOGRAPH AGENTS

The provincial officers of No. 5 district, headquarters at Belleville, have been advised to watch throughout Eastern Ontario for W. H. Larkin and F. J. Newton, who are alleged to be "working" merchants in villages and towns on a phonograph record and needle game. They sell phonograph needles, receiving various prices and, take orders on a certain number of records which are to be sold on a commission basis. They also promise to ship a phonograph free of charge on which to test the records. The machines and records are never delivered. The two men use stationery with the firm name "Phonograph Needle and Cabinet Co., 587 Yonge street," but the firm has not been located by the provincial police department.

TROOPS OCCUPIED NUMBER TWO MINE

Aeroplane Scouts Overhead as Soldiers Take Charge of Mine.

HALIFAX, July 10 — (Canadian Press). — Dominion No. 2 in the heart of the colliery district was being occupied to-day by infantry and cavalry, assisted by an aeroplane scouting overhead, according to private advices reaching here to-day. Hon. D. Cameron, Provincial Secretary, when asked to comment on the report said it was his understanding that troops were already in control at Number two.

About five hundred troops and provincial police occupied number Two mine and Sterling mine at Glace Bay. There were no disorders

Infantry went from Sydney on nine flat cars of Sydney and Louisburg railway and mounted troops and provincial police went by road. First troops to leave city were Royal Canadian Dragoons. Steel Company announced this morning that an additional 122 men had been employed to-day at Steel plant.

Employees of Brasd'or Coal Company Toronto Mine, at North Sydney stood in favor of striking in support of demand for release of McLachlin and Livingston mine worker officials.

All miners in Pictou County Coal area with exception of those employed by International coal and railway company at Stellarton are on strike to-day in protest against the arrest of Dan Livingson and James McLachlin mine workers officials and the presence of troops in Cape Breton. About eighteen hundred men are affected.

TODAY I AM REAL WELL

So Writes Woman After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Jamestown, N. Y.—"I was nervous, easily excited and discouraged and had no ambition. Part of the time I was not able to sit up as I suffered with pains in my back and with weakness. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, both the liquid and tablet forms, and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash for inflammation. Today I am real well and run a rooming house and do the work. I recommend your medicine to every woman who complains, and you may use my letter to help any one else. I am passing through the Change of Life now and I keep the Vegetable Compound in the house, ready to take when I feel the need of it."—Mrs. ALICE D. DAVIS, 203 W. Second St., Jamestown, N. Y.

Often some slight derangement may cause a general upset condition of the whole system, indicated by such symptoms as nervousness, backache, lack of ambition and general weakness. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will be found a splendid medicine for such troubles. In many cases it has removed the cause of the trouble.

Want Ad Tips by John T. Bartlett

'DOES MY ADVERTISING PAY?'

What kind of customers, one-time or repeats, are you seeking with your Want advertising? Maybe you are not clear in your own mind. The answer to that question is mighty important. With it before you as a yardstick, it is simple to determine whether your Want Ads are losing money, are "getting you by," or are making money for you.

Some Want advertisers are sincere sale sellers. They have a house, or an automobile, or used furniture, or something else, to sell. As they make but a single sale to a customer—are not in business, so that the single customer can repeat—they should put the cost of their Want advertising against sales made immediately; a quick comparison tells them whether the advertising paid.

Where repeat customers are involved, the situation is more complimented, not so easily understood. In fact, there have been advertisers who really obtained excellent returns who gave up advertising thinking it did not pay them. They made the mistake of putting first sales, only, against the Want Ad cost.

One of the biggest of all problems with business men is obtaining new regular customers. When Want Ads bring a new customer out to the roadside market, into the furniture store; to any business selling articles which in their nature repeat, what the Want Ad has really done is not merely to make the first sale, but to make all the sales which are made then and later to the new customer. He may buy twice, a dozen times, a hundred times.

Learn how many times, roughly, customers brought by Want Ads buy on an average later, the average amount they buy. Put this total against your Want Ad cost. Then you will have the real answer to the question, "Does my advertising pay?"

MANY WEDDINGS IN COBOURG DISTRICT

COBOURG, July 10.—Friends from Coldsprings, Cobourg and other points were at Port Hope recently attending the marriage of Gladys Eleda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McBride, to Harold V. Fox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Fox, Port Hope Rev. J. W. Baird officiated, the marriage taking place at the home of the bride's parents. The bride was given away by her father and wore a suit of sand Poiret, with sand georgette hat and corsage of roses. The groom's gift was a fox fur. She was unattended. A reception was held after the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Fox left later for a trip to the Thousand Islands. They will reside in Port Hope.

Macdonald-Stewart.

The marriage was solemnized at Tyrone, Durham County, on Wednesday, July 4, Rev. W. T. Weckett officiating, of Miss Elizabeth Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Stewart, Tyrone, and Mr. William J Macdonald of Cobourg. Mr. and Mrs. Macdonald left for Salmon, Ark., and other points to spend the honeymoon.

Kingsley-Meakins.

On Saturday last in St. Bartholomew's Church, Toronto, the marriage was solemnized of Gladys Meakins, youngest daughter of Mrs. Meakins, formerly of Cobourg and the late Walter Meakins of Toronto, and Mr. Harold B. Kingsley, Toronto. Rev. Canon Morley, assisted by Rev. H. Pashler, officiated. Mr. W. Perry of Cobourg gave the bride away. She wore a pretty gown of ivory crepe de chine and georgette, trimmed with pearls, with embroidered veil and orange blossoms, and carried ophelia roses. Miss Annie Ridge, of Toronto, was bridesmaid. A number of Cobourg guests attended the marriage.

Magee-Patterson.

The marriage took place at Bowmanville at the home of the bride's uncle, Mr. M. Comstock, of Margaret Marjory, daughter of Mrs. Patterson and the late David Patterson, formerly of Cobourg, and Mr. G. L. Magee of Toronto. The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, wore ivory satin and lace and carried bride's roses. Mr. and Mrs. Magee left after the ceremony for a trip and will later go to Chicago to reside.

Staples-Spargo.

A marriage of interest to many friends in this locality, as the bride with her parents was a resident of Camborne for four years, took place at the home of Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Spargo, Bowmanville, last Saturday afternoon, when their daughter, Ella May, was married to Mr. R. J. F. Staples of Toronto. The bride's father officiated, assisted by Rev. S. C. Moore, B.A., B.D., Bowmanville. and Rev. Dr. Pascoe. The bride wore a pretty gown of orchid crepe and black picture hat. She was attended by Miss Jessie B. Tuite of Belleville as bridesmaid, and Mr. D. H. Blatchford, Toronto, was best man. After their wedding trip the bride and groom will take up residence on Sunnieside avenue, Toronto. The groom is a popular soloist and was for some time connected with Albert College, Belleville, but is now on the staff of Jarvis Street Collegiate Institute and tenor soloist of St. James' Square Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Staples is a graduate of Grace Hospital, Toronto, and a former teacher of household science at Albert College, Belleville.

Snowdon-Crago.

Rev. R. A. Delve of Smithfield, Northumberland County, officiated at the marriage on Wednesday last of Bessie Greta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Crago, Maple Cliff, Darlington Township, and William Lloyd Snowdon, son of Mr. Samuel Snowdon of Maple Grove. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore ivory Canton crepe, with radium lace, trimmed with pearls. Her embroidered veil was arranged with orange blossoms and she carried roses. The groom's gift was a sunburst of pearls. The pianist, Mrs. G. F. Annis, and the soloist, Mrs. Chas. Snowdon, received pretty bar pins. After the wedding luncheon Mr. and Mrs. Snowdon left for a trip to St. Mary's and other points, before taking up residence at Maple Grove.

BELGIAN SOLDIER WAS REPORTED SHOT IN BACK

BRUSSELS, July 10. (United Press Despotch).—A report from Duisberg that a Belgian soldier was shot three times in the back and killed by an unknown assailant on Sunday has caused city-wide indignation here. It was near Duisberg that twenty Belgian soldiers were killed by a bomb recently.

BULLETS SHOWN TO JURY TO-DAY

Delorme Case Continues With Examination of Dr. Derome.

MONTREAL, Que., July 10. — (Canadian Press)—The first witness this morning was Dr. Wilfrid Derome, morgue autopist. whose examination of the bullets? which have figured in case, was continued by R. L. Calder, K.C., Crown Prosecutor. He showed the jury two bullets taken from body of Raoul Delorme at the first autopsy. Alleyn Taschereau, K.C. counsel for the defence, when the rifling grooves and a "characteristic" scratch alleged to have been made by Abbe's Bayard automatic were pointed out, drew attention to a hair in the magnifying glass. Dr. Derome explained this was for measuring. He next showed the jury a bullet extracted from the body when it was recently exhumed. He described the delicate process by which he had measured the grooves and scratch on the bullets.

Dr. Derome gave it as his opinion that the scratch on bullets was an accident of revolution of the bullet in the weapon.

Cross examined by C. P. Cahan, K.C. of Counsel for the Defence Dr. Derome said he thought he was qualified to give evidence on fire arms.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS ARE IN CONVENTION

BRANTFORD, July 10.—(Canadian Press). — With representatives present from various local lodges from Fort William and Windsor, and on west to Ottawa on the east, the 51st annual convention of the Grand Lodge of Ontario, Knights of Pythias, held its first session in the Brantford Knights of Pythias hall this morning. The convention will be in session in Brantford to-day and to-morrow.

Grand Chancellor in his statement points out that the order in Ontario reported a gain in membership during the past year, while comparison with reports of previous years, showed that result of labors during terms just ending, is most gratifying.

Mayor Billo extended a civil welcome.

Embarrassing Hairs Can be Quickly Removed

(Beauty Culture)

Hairs can be easily banished from the under-arms, neck and face by this quick, painless method: Mix into a stiff paste some powdered delatone and water, spread on hairy surface and in 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and it will be free from hair or blemish. Excepting in very stubborn growths, one application is sufficient. To avoid disappointment, buy the delatone in an original package and mix fresh.

A Thought

Honor thy father and mother; which is the first commandment with promise; that it may be well with thee, and thou mayest live long on the earth.Eph. 6:2,3.

In general those parents have the most reverence who most deserve it; for he that lives well cannot be despised—Johnson.

THEY CALLED HIM AN "OLD PILL"

THAT was years ago when he packed a terrible grouch, a mighty irritable stomach and a liver that refused to do the things that all good livers should. No wonder his friends called him an "old pill" and stayed away.

But that was years ago—long before he discovered Beecham's Pills and learned that two at bedtime can bring sunshine into a man's life. Today, he's an optimist, a hero to his wife, and a staunch believer in Beecham's Pills.

The cheer that Beecham's Pills bring into a man's disposition, is the incomparable cheer of sound digestion, active liver, and the regular habits that make good health.

At All Druggists—

TOBACCO'S EFFECT TESTED.

Medical Men Find that Smoking Aids Digestion.

That smoking may be regarded as an aid to digestion was indicated by Dr. J. W. Crane, in an address delivered recently to a Western University audience at London, Ont.

Dr. Crane said that he had at one time advised his students not to use tobacco, believing that it weakened digestion, but tests had shown that the saliva of a smoker digested starch better than that of a non-smoker. Starch is a constituent of many foods.

From another point of view Sir James Cantlie, the renowned British medical authority, also regards tobacco as an aid to digestion. "Tobacco," says Sir James, "has its good effects in digestion in lessening the effects of worry."

NEVER WASH YOUR HAIR WITHOUT OLIVE OIL TO MAKE GLOSSY

Juniors Battle to Scoreless Tie--Changes in the Schedule

KINGSTON OUTFIT DUE FOR SHAKEUP

Meeting Held Yesterday Afternoon—May Use City League Players.

KINGSTON, July 10.—Special)—Kingston's team in the Central Ontario baseball league is due for a good shaking up. This was apparent yesterday when members of the executive of the local team in the Big Four spent several hours trying to sign up players from the City League teams. It is stated that the executive will make almost a clean sweep of the present players. They are not at all satisfied with the showing the team made at Peterboro on Saturday and feel that in order that Kingston may be able to make good in the second half of the series new blood must be put into the team. So far the managers of the teams in the City League have made no announcement as to their decisions. As far as can be learned the city league executive is strongly opposed to giving over any of their players. They think the seniors have had plenty of opportunity for a month past to select intermediate men and give them a chance and that any such action as is desired might wreck the City League to determine, however.

In referring to the action being taken to secure new players, the British Whig says:

"Billy" Hughes, the Queen's University trainer, is the man the Kingston baseball players need to put them in shape to win the second round of the Central Ontario League. "Billy" made a championship rugby squad and he could put ginger into the baseballers.

SOCCER NOTES

The Thistles football team will hold a practice game at the Exhibition Grounds tomorrow afternoon at 6.15.

The G.W.V.A. team will hold a practice tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock at the Oval. The practice will be followed by a general meeting to be held in the G.W.V.A. Hall at 8.15.

There will be no game on Thursday evening, but next Thursday, July 19, Quakers and Thistles will play off the postponed game of June 5.

Best-kept homes in Cleethorpes, England, this summer will receive prizes from the local council.

Changes Made in Riverside Schedule

The scoreless tie game played by the Lakeviews and Adanacs last evening necessitates some changes in the schedule of games at Riverside Park. The Juniors wish to declare a winner this week and in order to do so at least two more games will be necessary and it is planned to play these games on Wednesday and Friday. The Mercantile League game scheduled between the Lock Works and Bankers for Wednesday night has been swapped for the City League game scheduled for Thursday. The Central Leaguers will then give up an hour of their practice on Friday for the Juniors to work in the third game.

On Saturday afternoon the Mercantile Leaguers have given up their game scheduled to take place immediately after the Central League fixture in order that the Football Association may get in a game. The Mercantile League game scheduled for this date will be played next week.

The new schedule will be:

Wednesday, July 11.—Adanacs vs Lakeviews.

Thursday, July 12.—Lock Works vs Bankers.

Friday, July 13.—Lakeviews vs Adanacs.

Saturday, July 14.—Football, Vets vs Thistles.

PHILADELPHIA WON BY STRONG FINISH

Took the Odd Game of the Series From Pittsburgh—Changes Made in New York Line-Up.

PHILADELPHIA. July 10.—(Canadian Press).—A strong finish in the closing innings of yesterday's game gave Philadelphia a 4 to 2 victory over Pittsburgh and enabled the locals to take the odd game of the series.

Behan pitched a splendid game after the first inning and was never in danger while Morrison weakened in the seventh when four hits accounted for three runs. Score:

Pittsburgh . . . .200 000 000—2 9 0
Philadelphia . . 000 000 31x—4 10 0

JUNIOR RIVALS FAIL TO SCORE IN FIRST GAME

Great Pitching Duel Between Whitehouse, of Lakeviews, and Lefty Turner, of Adanacs.

HITS ARE SCARCE.

Lakeviews and Adanacs played a scoreless seven innings tie at Riverside Park last evening in the first game of the series to decide the Junior League championship, the game being called at the end of the all-stretch frame on account of darkness. The two rival junior aggregations put on a great exhibition of ball and the remaining fixtures in the series should be liberally patronized and should produce some clever baseball.

Last night's game was an air tight pitching duel between two crack southpaws, Adanacs selecting Lefty Turner to oppose Frank Whitehouse the Lakeviews' clever left-hander and the two had a merry battle. Three hits are credited to the Lakeviews and two to the Adanacs, but only one hit on each side was clean and the pitchers had the batters pretty well tied in a knot all evening. Whitehouse had a wide margin in the strike out column, whiffing ten as compared with four by his opponent but otherwise honors were even and both pitcher had the Indian sign on the attackers when a hit would have meant a run.

The fielding on both sides was clean cut and fast, a running catch by Sage of a foul fly at a critical moment and a nice play by Collins on a similar ball being features.

The two teams meet again tomorrow night and every ball fan in town should see the clash. Either team should make a good showing in the O.B.A.A. Junior series and those who have been watching them in action, expect the winners to go a long way.

In the first for Lakeviews, Cameron grounded to Hardill and L. Lebarr popped to Batten. Moore doubled over McPherson's head but Whitlow was easy on a roller to the box.

For Adanacs, McPherson rolled to short, Hensley flied out to Whitlow and Collins grabbed Wilgar's foul fly.

Collins started Lakeviews second by rolling to Hardill, Whitehouse fanned and Fitzgerald hoisted out to Hensley.

The Adanacs had their best chance of the game in their end of the frame. Turner started with a clean single to right and Sage drew a walk. Batten fanned but Whitehouse lost Rogers' roller and the bases were full with one out. Whitehouse got out of the hole nicely by fanning Hardill and Hall, giving the Lakeview twirler three strike outs in the inning.

In the third for Lakeviews, McIntyre was thrown out by Batten, Wilgar tossed out J. Lebarr and Cameron hit to Turner and was out at first.

For the Adanacs, McPherson struck out, Hensley gave Moore an easy fly and Wilgar rolled to Whitehouse.

Lakeviews made a bid for a run in the fourth when L. Lebarr first up got a life on Batten's fumble and Fitzgerald was hit. Hall made a nice catch of Whitlow's long foul fly. A passed ball advanced the runners a base, but Collins' fly was nailed by Hensley and Moore fell over the bag and was doubled at second when the shortstop tossed to Batten.

Adanacs died in order, Turner flying to Whitlow, Collins making a nice grab of Sage's foul fly and Moore tossing out Batten.

Turner disposed of the Lakeviews himself in the fifth, fanning Whitehouse, throwing out Fitzgerald and whiffing McIntyre.

Whitehouse went him one better in the Adanacs half of the inning by striking out Rogers, Hardill and Hall in a row.

Nobody reached first on either side in the sixth. For the Lakeviews, J. Lebarr struck out, Cameron rolled to Batten and Turner threw out L. Lebarr.

In the Adanacs end of the frame, McPherson hoisted to Fitzgerald, Hensley struck out and Moore handled Wilgar's grounder nicely.

The Lakeviews had a good chance in the seventh but Turner pulled out nicely. Moore, first up, got a double on a long drive to right which Rogers made a good try for. Whitlow fouled to Wilgar and Collins got a lucky single on a pop fly over Turner's head, Moore going to third. Collins stole second. Sage pulled off a fine running catch of Whitehouse's foul fly and Fitzgerald hit weakly to the box and was thrown out by Turner.

For the Adanacs Turner flied to L. Lebarr and Sage stuck out. Batten scratched a hit on a bunt past Whitehouse. He was caught off first a moment later when Lebarr dropped the ball in tagging him. Rogers, however, fanned and the game was then called on account of darkness.

Superman

TY COBB

NEW YORK, July 10.—(United Press)—Tyrus Cobb, more or less successful trainer of a fiery bunch of real Bengal Tigers out in Detroit, probably will be breaking baseball records when all sport writers are in the old men's home.

Cobb came up to Michigan from Georgia pines eighteen years ago. Since that time he has coralled the following records.

Most home runs, 1,741.

Most games played in the American League, 2,304.

Most years played in the league, 18.

Greatest number of hits, 3,266.

Greatest American League batting average, around .375.

American League record for extra base hits.

Batted for .400 or better for three seasons, consecutively.

Made 200 or more hits per season for 17 consecutive seasons.

That's not a bad record for a man to retire on. He smashed previous marks held by Willie Keeler, Honus Wagners, Jess Burkett and other famous stars. But Cobb isn't preparing to retire. Some days ago he was batting .335, and enjoying it.

There have been remarkable records for time and endurance, but Cobb seems to have broken most of them. Old-timers like Joe McGinnity, Jess Willard and Merkel have staged "come-backs" but Cobb never went anywhere he could come back from.

BOTH FIGHTERS ARE CONFIDENT

Willard and Firpo Both in Tip-Top Form For Thursday's Bout.

In advance of their bout to determine which shall have the privilege of challenging Jack Dempsey for the world's heavyweight championship, Jess Willard and Luis Angel Firpo are very confident. If confidence counts for anything, they both would win. The men who have been supervising their training are equally sanguine. Jack Skelly has been looking after Willard at his camp in Yonkers and Jimmy DeForest has been overseeing Firpo's preparation at Long Branch. The boxers and their trainers issued the following statements:

JESS WILLARD—I realize that Firpo is a great fighter. I know what he can assimilate punishment and stand up under it. I know, too, that he can hit hard with his right. But I feel sure that I will be able to defeat him, and defeat him decisively enough to be given a chance to regain the heavyweight championship of the world. I have sought that chance ever since Dempsey defeated me at Toledo. I realize that this is the last step in my comeback and I intend to make the most of it. If I win, Dempsey will not be able to refuse to meet me. I think the public will demand that he give me a bout. That will make me fight just that much harder against Firpo.

LUIS ANGEL FIRPO—I will win sure. I confidently expect to knock out Willard. I realize that he is a big, strong man; that he has a very good left hand; that he can hit a terrific blow with his right. But I believe that I can hit harder than Willard and I do not think he will be able to stand up under my blows. I expect to win quickly. This fight means a great deal to me. It means an opportunity to fight for the world's championship, and that is what I have longed for ever since I started fighting. I have trained hard and I am in excellent condition. If Willard beats me he will have to be a better man than I am. I will offer no excuse if Willard wins.

JACK SKELLY—Willard is in better condition than at any time in his career and when Willard is right he can beat anyone. He is right and I am convinced that he will win. Jess has worked like a Trojan. He weighs less than at any other time since he fought Jack Johnson in Cuba and won the world's heavyweight championship. He is in much better condition than he was when he fought Floyd Johnson, and I think everyone will agree with me that that is saying a great deal. He is faster on his feet and with his hands, and he is punching harder. I expect him to win and win decisively.

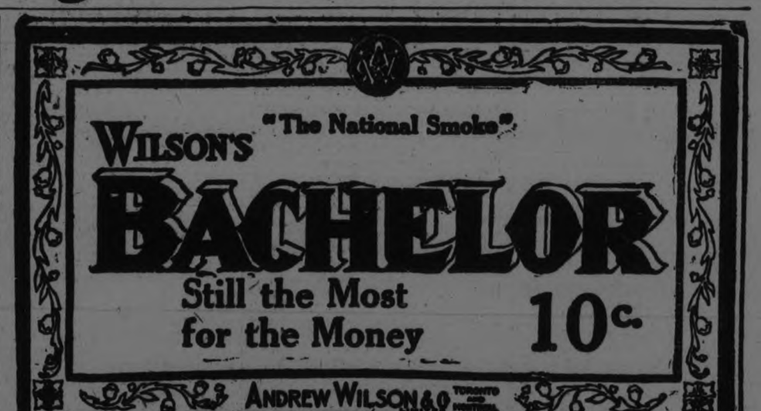
JIMMY DeFOREST—If condition can win for a fighter Firpo will win decisively and quickly. He is in just as good condition as Jack Dempsey was at Toledo, and that is saying about the last word as far as in condition is concerned. He is tireless. He could fight twenty rounds at top speed without being fatigued. He has learned a great deal. He is 100 per cent. better boxer than he was and his defense is greatly improved. He always could hit, but I think he is hitting harder now than ever. He realizes that Willard is a tough customer, but that doesn't bother him in the least. He is brimful of confidence, and so am I.

GAME PROTESTED.

MILTON, July 10. The Burlington Club has protested the Halton County League game played at Acton on June 30, in which Acton defeated Burlington team by 6 to 5. The Burlington Club claims that Acton used Goyer, the crack Guelph pitcher, under the assumed name of Reid. Goyer is the pitcher Guelph got from Belleville.

READY FOR WILLS.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, July 10—Canadian Press. — Negotiations for the next heavyweight championship battle between Jack Dempsey and probably Harry Wills, the negro, will be opened with the New York promoters within the next few days, Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, announced here as he prepared to leave for New York yesterday.



BELLEVILLE KEEN TO WIN BOTH ENDS OF CENTRAL RACE

Will Be Here on Saturday With Williams Ready to Hurl Against the Petes.

When Belleville clashes with the Petes at Riverside Park on Saturday, the best and most exciting game of the season should be the result. Belleville are not satisfied with winning the first half, but are out to make it safe by grabbing the second as well, thus avoiding the risk of a play off. They showed their best form of the season at Cobourg last Saturday and beat Dick Turpin's crew hands down on their own lot and they expect to clean up on Kingston tomorrow and come here on Saturday and wallop the daylight out of the Petes. Williams is being saved for Saturday and they figure the Indian can turn the trick. The Solomn outfit has looked like a much improved ball club in its last three starts, however, and they will be out on Saturday to get away to a good lead in the race by taking a fall out of their old rivals. There is always excitement when the two teams get together but Saturday's game promises to be even more full of pep than usual.

All Arrangements For Willard-Firpo Fight.

NEW YORK, July 10 (Canadian Press). — The last possibility of a hitch in arrangements for the bout between Jess Willard and Luis Angel Firpo, gigantic heavyweights, at Boyde's Thirty Acres, Jersey City, next Thursday, was removed yesterday when Promoter Tex Rickard announced he had obtained a permit from the Jersey City Building Department for use of the big amphitheatre, safety of which had been questioned.

Rickard said he had made all the repairs required in order to ensure safety.

Advance ticket sales, Rickard said, had exceeded $250,000.

Down to 239 pounds, 9 pounds less than when he knocked out Floyd Johnson two months ago in the first bout of his come-back campaign, Jess Willard yesterday afternoon went through a nine-round workout after through nine rounds of ring exercises.

Firpo also went through a nine-round workout after a two-mile road iog in the morning and some boxing instructions from his trainer, Jimmy Deforest.

Sarazen Leading For U. S. Championship.

INWOOD, N.Y., July 10 (Canadian Press). — Gene Sarazen, golf wizard of Briarcliffe Lodge, turned the difficult Inwood Country Club course twice yesterday in 148 strokes, the lowest card of any of the eighteen who led a field of ninety and qualified for the 1923 United States National Open Championship to be played on Friday and Saturday. The field was the first of four that will attempt to qualify. Sarazen had a 73 in the morning and 75 in the afternoon.

Those who negotiated the 36 holes in the 160 yesterday won places in the final 72 hole plan.

Emil Loeffler, of Pittsburgh, Pa., open champion, set the first low mark for the others early in the afternoon, turning in a card of 152. This was equalled by Francis Gallett, the young Scottish professional of Port Washington, N.Y., who, with Sarazen, had led in the morning round with a 73, one over par.

Jock Hutchison, of Chicago, got in with a 152.

Canadian Won Prize at Opening of Shoot.

BISLEY CAMP, July 10 (Canadian Press Cable). — Splendid weather conditions prevailed at the opening of the Bisley meet, held under the auspices of the National Rifle Association, but later in the day a strong wind interfered somewhat with the shooting.

Canada took one prize yesterday, Sergt. A. E. Paddock, of the Royal Hamilton Regiment, Hamilton, Ont., winning the 200 yards sweepstakes with a possible.

The Whitehead Memorial Cup Competition, ten shots each with match rifles at 1,000 and 1,100 yards, resulted in a win for Col. Maurice Blood, London, with a total of 92, his score of 48 at the 1,100 yards distance, placing him one point ahead of Col. Hofton, another veteran, who scored a possible at 1,000 yards.

ROCHESTER BACK IN FIRST PLACE

A Double Victory Over Jersey City Put Rochester at the Top of the Heap — Toronto Won From Reading.

ROCHESTER, July 10. Canadian Press. — Rochester went back into first place in the International League yesterday by defeating Jersey City in a double header, while Baltimore lost to Buffalo. The first game was a pitchers' battle with Wisner having the better of it, and Rochester won 5 to 4. In the second game Rochester mixed bases on balls with hits to win easily, 10 to 4. The score:

First game—
Jersey City .. ..000000112—4 7 1
Rochester .. .. .01100003x—5 9 1

Lynch and Freitag, Wisner and McAvoy.

Second game—

Split Double Bill.

SYRACUSE, July 10. Canadian Press. — Newark and Syracuse split even in yesterday's double header, the visitors winning the first encounter, 6 to 5, and the home club the nightcap, 6 to 1. Fred Brainard's hom run in the centre field fence in the seventh inning decided the issue in the opener while the Stars had little trouble in winning the second game. The scores:

First game—
Newark .. ..203000100—6 11 1
Syracuse .. ..003002000—5 8 2

Ellis and Devine; Parks, Riviere, Frankhouse and Niebergall, McKee.

Second game—

Buffalo 9, Baltimore 4.

BUFFALO, July 10. Canadian Press. — Buffalo won the opening battle with Baltimore yesterday 9 to 4. Lefty Werre was a puzzle to the Orioles, showing weakness in the 7th and 8th only. The score:

Baltimore .. ..10000210—4 7 2
Buffalo .. ..00302301x—9 12 0

Parnham, Frank and Styles: Werre and Urban.

Toronto 3, Reading 2.

TORONTO, July 10. Canadian Press. — Onslow's two base hit and a single by Thomas in the eighth inning gave Toronto a 3 to 2 win over Reading here yesterday afternoon. Freddie Thomas had tied the game up with a home run.

The score:
Reading .. ..000010010—2 8 1
Toronto .. ..00000201x—3 6 0

Batteries, Enzmann and Lynn; Reynolds and Vincent.

THE OLD ATHLETES ARE NOT HAS BEENS

Many of the Old-Timers Have Shown a Surprising Ability to "Come Back."

NEW YORK, July 10.—(United Press).—It's getting to be a compliment instead of an insult to call anyone an old man nowadays.

Since Jess Willard did his one act sketch entitled, "The Comeback" by knocking out Floyd Johnson for the benefit of the Milk Fund and Jess Willard. It seems as if all the old men in the universe are rising up against youth.

Just a few days ago old "Iron Man" Joe McGinnity, 52 years old, spat a yard of tobacco juice into a hotel cuspidor out at Dubuque and decided he would pitch a four-hit game and win it from the Marshalltown club of the Mississippi League 1 to 0.

It's been twenty years or more since the "Iron Man" was the idol of New York fandom. They still talk about him in the Bowery saloons and mention his sacred name in the same fragrant breath with Steve Brodie. But the young fans had forgotten him. They heard of him only as some vague character who did more for baseball in New York than any other with the exception of John McGraw and Christy Mathewson. They thought surely he was dead.

McGinnity, it seems, is managing the Dubuque club in a minor league and still is contributing his share in the battle to establish the ultimate supremacy of age over youth.

Then, of course, Fred Merkle is only batting .472 in his first twenty-seven games in the International League. Merkle—the same man who failed to touch second in a game that meant the world series some years ago, but who touched every pitcher in the league for more than his share of base hits many seasons.

Long ago the steam went out of Joe McGinnity's arm. Long ago the springs were rusted in Fred Merkle's legs. But McGinnity has lost none of his cunning, and Merkle has nothing wrong with his batting eye.

Both were forced out of fast company because they had slowed up and were getting too old.

There are dozens of men in the smaller leagues who are conquering the inevitable depredations of age and can still walk up to the plate and sock a baseball as good as anyone or curve them around the corners with the best.

STAR PLAYER IS TRAINER OF TEAM

Marmora Lacrosse Team Excels Because of Coaching by Ed. Donnelly—Soap Company Expands.

MARMORA, July 10. — Some people are trying to account for the excellent showing made by the Marmora lacrosse teams, juniors and juveniles, this year, and they have struck a stride such as the pre-war veterans of the game maintained in this village year after year. The reason for the splendid work which is keeping the boys in the lead is not far to seek.

Both teams this year are being trained by Ed. Donnelly, who is employed in the refining and smelting mill at Deloro. Mr. Donnelly is from Montreal, and years ago was one of the star players on the world-famous Shamrocks. He loves the game as he did in the days of his youth, and he inspires his pupils with the same enthusiasm which carried him triumphant through so many contests.

Marmora's Baby Industry.

Marmora's infant industry is feeling the need of expansion, and with a trade that is constantly growing, will soon be compelled either to move or to put up an addition to its present plant. The Vegetable Oil Soap Company was started by local capital six months ago, and began business without asking anything in the way of concession from the village. At the head of the concern is a native son of Marmora, W. F. Bowen, who had a long business training as sales manager of one of the largest soap manufacturing companies in Canada before he returned home to go into his present enterprise. Ray D. Wescott is superintendent and chemist of the plant. The company manufactures a high quality of toilet soap entirely free from animal oil, and their product now goes from coast to coast in Canada and to the English market.

Of course the formula by which this soap is made is a carefully guarded secret, but in their circular to the trade the company claim that all the ingredients in the manufacture are the purest and whitest that can be obtained. It is manufactured by the semi-boiled process, and no foreign material, such as talcum, resin, water-glass or clay, are used.

With physicians and surgeons and in hospitals the increasing use of this soap is the best guarantee that it standard of purity is as high as that claimed by those interested in its manufacture.

WORLD CHAMP BEAT HART IN 8 ROUNDS

Big Crowd Saw Bout—Wolgast Earned Draw With Joe Lynch.

PHILADELPHIA, July 10.—(Canadian Press.)—Benny Leonard, lightweight champion of the world, last night defeated Alex. Hart, of Lorrain, Ohio, in the opinion of the majority of sports writers at ringside, in an eight round bout at the National League baseball park. Approximately 30,000 people saw the match.

Bobby Wolgast, of Philadelphia, earned a draw, according to sports writers, in his eight round bout with Joe Lynch, New York bantamweight champion.

DROPPED OUT OF SIGHT IN OSHAWA

Alfred Thickett Attended Soccer Game Last Thursday and Has Not Been Seen Since.

OSHAWA, July 10. — Alfred Thickett, 123 Brock Street East, a well-known resident of Oshawa, left home on Thursday evening about 7.30 o'clock to attend the Ontario Cup soccer match at Alexandra Park, and did not return.

His mysterious disappearance was reported to the police, who are working on the case, although they have little information from which to discover any clue as to the man's present location.

Mrs. Thickett and family are at a loss to know of any reason why her husband should suddenly disappear. He is said to have been in good health, with no cause to worry.

Several local citizens remember holding a conversation with him at the park during the progress of the game, and declared that nothing unusual occurred which would account for him being missing.

With the police having the matter in hand, it is thought that developments will be made soon. Mr. Thickett is a prominent workman at the General Motors, and is an enthusiastic football followed. His attendance at the game on Thursday evening was not unusual, as he has been in the habit of attending practically every match. What became of him after the game, however, remains a mystery.

NEW MATERIAL KINGSTON BALL

Three Players Taken From City League—Manager Batstone Resigned at Executive Meeting.

KINGSTON, Ont., July 10.—(Special.)—At a meeting of the executive of the Kingston club, in the Central Ontario Baseball League, Harry Batstone, the playing manager, resigned, and "Flat" Walsh, of hockey fame, was appointed in his place. Batstone will remain with the team and play third base. Walsh, for several years has been goal-tender for the hockey team at Sault Ste. Marie. He is a Kingston boy and for many years played in City League baseball teams in this city, holding down first base.

Players Promoted.

The Kingston team, in the Central Ontario League, has corralled three players from the City League, so it was stated this morning, and the executive is still hunting in the City League for more players. The men secured are Nickle, second baseman for the Hustlers, Bennett, a pitcher with the Athletics; and Purvis, first baseman with the Tanners. Baseball fans in general appear to be well pleased with the action taken by the executive to shake up the team. There is plenty of good material in the City League and it is felt that they should be given a chance to make good.

PRIZE FIGHTER IS LOOKING FOR FIGHT

NEW YORK. July 10.—(Canadian Press).—Hughie Dwyer, Australian light weight champion, is due to arrive in Vancouver, on July 15, en route to New York City. Dwyer is accompanied by his backer and friend, Archibald Hodgskinson, millionaire sportsman of Australia, who is prepared to back Dwyer for 20,000 pounds against any lightweight in the world.

Dwyer the day he lands in Vancouver will issue formal challenge to the winner of Leonard-Tendler con-

MACKEY'S FAR AHEAD WHEN CONTEST STOPS

Mackey's and Lakefield put on a wild and woolly East Peterborough League contest at King Edward School grounds last evening, Mackey's leading by team 18 to 4; in the fourth, when the Lakefield team left the field.

Henry hurled for Mackey's. Kennedy giving up mound duty to go behind the bat, where he did good work Weaver and Fitzgerald twirled for Lakefield. The fielding was "awful."

LACROSSE

The Juniors go to Marmora tomorrow for the first return game of the schedule. They will leave Johnnie Sutherland's store on Simcoe St. around one o'clock, and the following are due for the trip: Jack LeBarr, Bob Miller, Johnny Ward, Jack Killoran, Jack O'Toole, Ald Johnston, Lionel Brown, Fred Jones, Williams, Mein, McDonough, Curtis and Dundas.

Lou Lebarr is playing with the Lakeviews in the knockout series with the Adanacs, and cannot accompany the lacrosse team. Bert Todd may go along with Harry Tudhope to look after the team.

BANTAM AND MIDGET GAMES

The Belmont-Curlers Bantam Game will be played at the Prince of Wales grounds on Wednesday evening.

On Friday evening at the King Edward School Grounds Curlers and Hillcrests will play in the Midget series.

Are Good Standard Stocks Worth Buying

That question is in many persons' minds just now, and the opinion of RELIABLE Brokers is that stocks are really CHEAP, judging from the condition of industrial business. However financial markets have been heavy and traders are discouraged. Is not this the time to buy? Certainly good DIVIDEND PAYERS are remarkably cheap. Phone us or call and we 'll discuss the many questions with you to our mutual benefit.

Canadian Stock Exchange — And Mines | New York Stock Exchange — And Curb Prices

To-Day's Quotations and Opinions and Reviews of the Markets.

NEW YORK, July 10.—(Special.)—The stock market was fairly active, with prices slightly lower at the opening to-day. An exception to the general trend was Atchison, which was up 5-8 at 99 5-8, while New York Central recorded a gain of 1-8.

Sentiment in commission houses assumed a cautious attitude for traders, recommending that the market be watched for signs of a reaction, while some houses compiled lists of dividend payers which they said should be bought for investment around the present levels.

Estimates on the crops and their values, indicating a $1,000,000,000 gain over 1922, was a constructive development market wise.

The market turned irregular shortly after the opening with stocks giving ground.

The pressure was not heavy, but sentiment was affected adversely by the unexpected reduction of 25 cents a barrel in Pennsylvania crude oil prices.

Oils, naturally gave ground more readily than the others, but stocks appeared to be well taken on the offerings. The recession did not get far and the general list was around the opening levels near 11 a.m. Corn Products showed resiliency, recovering one point from 117 1-2 on comparatively few trades.

Delaware and Hudson was also in better demand and at 102 1-4 was 2 1-4 above the opening. Presence of a short interest in the issue was indicated by the fact that the stock is loaning at 1 16 premium. Other rails held firm.

Opening prices included Studebaker, 103 3-4; New Haven, 12 1-8, up 1-4; United States' Steel, 91 1-4, off 1-8; Chandler, 50 3-4, off 1-4; Bethlehem Steel off 1-4; N.Y.C. 97 5-8, up 1-8; Pan American Petroleum 59 3-4, off 3-8; American Telephone 122 3-8; Consolidated Gas, 59 1-2, off 3-8, Delaware and Hudson, 100, off 1-4.

Do you know Baseball?

by Billy Evans

Q.—Where was Gene Tunney born, how old is he, and when did he lose his title? P. A. K.

A.—Tunney was born in New York City 25 years ago. He lost his light heavyweight title to Harry Greb on July 4, 1922.

Q.—Is a first baseman to be charged with an error if he fails to touch first base and the batter is safe as a result? FRANK.

A.—The first baseman should be charged with an error if he neglects to touch first base although having ample time to make the putout.

THEATRES

The pictures of the ex-Kaiser in his "twenty-acre cage" at Doorn Holland, now showing at the Capitol Theatre are very interesting. The war lord is older. His famous moustaches have developed into a beard, his swagger has changed to a nervous walk and he uses a stick as he goes quickly along the walks of his domain, hastily covering the distance in rapid strides, as if bent on some exigent errand that must be accomplished immediately. Occasionally he glances furtively into the shrubbery A guarded house gives entrance to the castle grounds, where the "madman of Europe" walks with hasty, uncertain steps, or runs chasing his dachsund, or works in the low-built woodshed. Here are flower-beds in the form of the Iron Cross, and here is the chapel, capable of seating twenty persons, where the ex-Kaiser preaches in the old arrogant manner. His house of fourteen rooms is quite ordinary in appearance.

"Grumpy' is the feature picture, with Theodore Roberts in the title role. An old man is the central figure in this production the "old Bullivant" who wears a shawl to protect him from draughts, has a hatred of cushions, and makes the life of his fat butler miserable. An old criminal lawyer, he works out to his own satisfaction the theft of an enormous diamond which gives the story suspense and thrills. "The two Gardenias" might easily have been the title of this picture, as the whole fabric of the tale weaves itself about a couple of lovly white flowers, one wound about by a woman's hair. With a romantic element in its unfolding, an elusive criminal of the "Raffles" order, and the quick mentality of the partially crippled old man, it is a picture of interest and merit, which holds the attention to the last. Roberts, in a splendid characterization of old "Grumpy," does some fine work, with a good suporting cast. Written from the famous stage play, "Grumpy" is a picture well worth the seeing, just a little different from the ordinary run, with a central theme of theft of a wonderful stone and the mental workings of an old, alert mind.

The comedy is a conglomeration of laughs and giggles, in its delineation of the various trials and sorrows of the life of a book agent and his victims.

TOM MIX NEW PLAY AT ROYAL RIOT OF THRILLS AND MIRTH

Could the gallant knights of the days of "Ivanhoe" but see the array of armor-begirt adventurers who disported themselves on the screen last night at the Royal they would grit their teeth and wax green with envy. Certainly, if spirits come back to earth, they would have placed their names, long renowned in song and fable, in the lists of the tourney. Tom Mix, in this latest Fox Production, "Romance Land," seemed to be the reincarnation of one of those dare-devil Knights of yore come to earth again to give the Twentieth Century an example of the chivalry that obtained in the golden days of romace.

The atmosphere of the picture seems to be imbued, like the two main characters of the screen story, with the inspiring thoughts that come down to us through Walter Scott's "Ivanhoe" and the tales of King Arthur. The portrayal given by Tom Mix and the girl are of the highest calibre. The rest of the cost meets every requirments. The photography is particularly well done. The tournament scene, handled in true Western fashion, is glowing with excitement.

Seldom has a photoplay met with such an enthusiastic reception The producer has made good every promise sent out in advance of this season creation. For sheer entertainment fo a well spent evening, go to the Royal to see "Romance Land."

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Calvin Gray comes to Dallas, the avowed enemy of Colonel Henry Nelson, banker. Gus Briskow, who strikes oil, asks Gray to help the family over the rough spots. Allie Briskow, the daughter, falls in love with Gray, but he loves Barbara Parker. Bud Briskow, son of Gus, runs away from school and Gray follows to bring him home. Bud, in the hands of an adventuress, resents interference. He and Gray fight until the boy is struck unconscious. The son of Bud's lady friend is brought to Bud's hotel and the girl and Bud part company. Gray offers to help the girl.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY

Bell Nelson was even more dismayed at the prospect than was his son, for upon him fell the necessity of raising the money. "Hell of a note," the old fellow grumbled, "when a wet well puts a crimp in us! A little more good luck like this and we'll go broke."

"We can't afford to let go, or to sub-lease—"

"Of course not, after the stand we've taken. There's talk on the street about the bank, now, and—I'd give a good deal to know where it comes from." The junior Nelson had heard similar echoes, but he held his tongue. "I never did like your way of doing business," the speaker resumed, fretfully. "We've overreached. You wanted it all and —this is the result."

Now Henry Nelson was warranted in resenting this accusation, for it had ever been Bell's way to pursue a grasping policy, therefore he cried, angrily:

"That's right; pass the buck. You know you wouldn't listen to anything else. If we're in deep, you're more to blame than I."

"Nothing of the sort." Old Bell began a profane denial, but the younger man broke in, irritably:

"I've never won an argument with you, so have it your own way. But while you're raising money for the Avenger offsets, you'd better raise plenty, for Gray is going to punch holes as fast as ever he can."

"Who is this Gray? What's he got against you?"

"We didn't get along very well in France."

"Humph! I suppose that means you fought like hell. And now he's getting even. By the way, where am I going to get this money?"

"That is up to you," said Henry, with a disagreeable grin, whereupon his father stamped into his own office in a fine fury.

Not long after this father and son quarreled again, for of a sudden a perfect avalanche of lawsuits was released, the mysterious origin and purpose of which completely mystified Old Bell. The Nelsons, like everybody else, had unsuccessfully dabbled in oil stocks and drilling companies for some time before the boom started, also during its early stages, and most of those failures had been forgotten. They were painfully brought to mind, however, when Henry was served with a dozen or more citations, and when inquiry elicited the reluctant admission from the bank's attorney that a genuine liability existed—a liability which included the entire debts of those defunct joint-stock associations in which he and his father had invested. This was enough to enrage a saint.

Henry argued that he had invariably signed those articles of association with the words, in parentheses, "No personal liability," and he was genuinely amazed to learn that this precaution had been useless.

The driller he had sent up to Arkansas in charge of his rig one day came into the office in great agitation. The man's story caused his employer's face to whiten.

"Salted! I—don't believe it." Nelson seized his head in his hands. "Oh, my God!" he gasped. Misfortunes were coming with a swiftness incredible. Salted! Victimized, like the greenest tenderfoot! A small fortune sunk while the whole country was still chuckling over the Jackson scandal! This was a nightmare.

Henry was glad that his father was in Tulsa in conference with some other bankers over that Avenger offset money, otherwise there was no telling to what extreme the old man's rage would have carried him at this final calamity. And that whining, coughing crook, that bogus farmer, was in Arizona—or elsewhere—out of reach of the law!

"Does anybody know?" Henry inquired, after he had somewhat recovered his equilibrium.

"Nobody but us fellows."

"You—you mustn't shut down. You've got to keep up the bluff until —until I get time to turn."

"You going to bump off that land to somebody else?"

"What do you think I'm going to do?" Nelson was on his feet now and pacing his office with jerky strides.

"YOU ARE TAKING A BIG RISK, MR. GRAY."

"Well—it's worth something to turn a trick like this."

"How much?"

But the field man merely smiled and shrugged, so, with a grunt of understanding, Henry seated himself and wrote out a check to bearer, the amount of which caused him to grind his teeth.

Now it was impossible to dispose of a large holding like that Arkansas tract at a moment's notice. In order to evade suspicion, it was necessary to go about it slowly, tactfully, hence the financier moved with as much circumspection as possible. His careful plans exploded, however, when he met Calvin Gray a day or so later.

Gray had made it an invariable practice to speak affably to his enemy in passing, mainly because it so angered the latter; this time he insisted upon stopping.

"So your luck has changed, hasn't it? That Avenger well of mine has put a good value on your property, I congratulate you, Colonel."

"Humph! I don't believe in luck," Nelson mumbled. "And the Avenger isn't enough of a well to brag about."

"So? You don't believe in luck? It seems to be our lot invariably to differ, doesn't it? Now, my dear Colonel, I'm not ashamed to confess that I am deeply superstitious, and that I believe implicitly in signs and prodigies. You see, I was born under a happy star; 'at my nativity the front of heaven was full of fiery shapes,' as it were. Comfortable feeling, I assure you. Take that incident at Newtown, not long ago; doesn't that prove my contention?"

"What incident?"

Gray's brows lifted whimsically. "Of course. How should you know? There was a clumsy attempt to do me bodily harm, to—assassinate me. Funny, isn't it? So ill considered and so impracticable. But about this Avenger matter, if you find it inconvenient to offset my wells as fast as I put them down, perhaps you'd consider selling—"

"Inconvenient?" Nelson felt the blood rush to his face at this insufferable insult, but he calmed himself with the thought that his opponent was deliberately goading him. After all, it served him right for permitting the fellow to stop him. "Inconvenient! Ha!" He turned away carelessly.

"No offense, my dear Colonel. I thought, after your Arkansas fiasco, you might wish—"

"What Arkansas fiasco?" Nelson wheeled, and in spite of himself his voice cracked.

"Ah! Another secret, eh?" Gray winked elaborately—nothing could have been more deliberately offensive than that counterfeit of a friendly understanding. "Very well, I sha'n't say a word."

Without another word the banker passed on, but he went blindly, for his mind was in black chaos. No chance now for secrecy; he was in for a bit of hell.

He managed to kill the story in the local papers, but it appeared in the Dallas journals, which was even worse, and for the first time in his life he found himself an object of ridicule.

Nelson, senior, returned from Tulsa bull-mad, and he came without the money he had expected to get. What went on in his office that morning after he sent for his son none of the bank's employees ever knew, but they could guess, for the rumblings of the old man's rage penetrated even the mahogany-paneled walls.

CHAPTER XXIV
A Great Temptation

GRAY had once told Barbara Parker that there was no one quite like him—a remark more egotistical in the sound than in the meaning. Unusual in many ways he probably was, but, like most men, the discovery that his prodnest virtues were linked with vices of which he was ashamed struck him as extraordinary. As if nature were not forever aiming at a balance.

In spite of the fact that he was impulsive, headstrong, swift in most things, this girl possessed the unique faculty of rendering him acutely self-conscious, and it annoyed him the more, therefore, to find how timorous he could be in putting her feelings to the test.

There was more than one well by this time; Avenger Number Two and Three and Four were going down, and offsetting the first Avenger were three of Nelson's rigs. "Bob" studied the situation briefly, then, with a dubious shake of her head, she announced:

"You are taking a big risk, Mr. Gray."

"You mean these new holes may come dry? Of course, but I believe in crowding my luck. I don't know any other way to work."

"You have been lucky, haven't you?" She stared at him with a detached, impersonal interest. "Everything is coming your way, even down in the Ranger district."

"Oh, I have my share of troubles. I lost a crooked hole, recently—had to skid the derrick and start over. Then a pair of chaintongs was dropped into another hole—"

"Somebody must have it in for you." When Gray nodded, "Bob's" face lit up with surprise. "Really. Do you suspect someone in particular?"

"I know."

"You have always impressed me as a—a man of destiny. I think fate has selected you as an instrument with which to do big things. That's why I'm always a bit overawed by you."

"Overawed?" Gray laughed. "Why, I feel the same with you. If you knew how little I am, how little it all signifies, except as a means to an end. If you only knew what it is that I want so much more than oil, or money, or—"

MARK DROPS IN VALUE CAUSING FOOD RIOTS

BERLIN, July 10. United Press.—As the German mark slumped to the unprecedented low of 280,000 to the dollar, food riots occurred in Berlin suburbs on Monday.

Enraged house wives entered the shops, smashed windows, evicted the proprietors and plundered supplies.

Last week's numerous salary increases have already been wiped out by the drop of the currency, and future riots are feared.

THE OLD GARDNER SAYS

It is more work to rake up a lawn than to mow it, and raking is not necessary if the cutter is used twice a week. Very short grass clippings improve the lawn if allowed to remain and decay. But when the clippings get longer they smother the grass where they fall and the greensward takes on a burned appearance. If the mowing of the lawn is neglected for a week or ten days, the clippings should be raked up by all means. They will be relished by chickens when green, or can be used as a mulch for the flower or vegetable garden.

AMERICAN ENTERPRISE

An American, gazing at the stupendous and lace-like masses of the Spanish cathedral of Toledo, said to his guide: "How long did it take to run up this affair?"

"Five hundred years, senor," the guide answered.

The American gave a contemptuous laugh. "Five hundred years! Why, over in God's country we could build a structure like that and have it fall to pieces on our hands, all inside of two or three years."—The Christian Evangelist.

WOULD RESTORE KING TO FRANCE

Royalist Supporters Are Working to This End — Activity of Monarchists Is Marked.

(By CHARLES P. STEWART)

WASHINGTON July 10.—No one occupation in the world has suffered more from post-war conditions than the profession of kingship.

Yet now, in some quarters, it's showing promise of a comeback.

The activity of French monarchists has been the topic of discussion—yes, and of an outbreak of physical violence—in the Chamber of Deputies lately.

In Hungary, Admiral Horthy claims no more than the title of regent, presumably pending the coming of age of Prince Otto, son of the late Charles, who lost the dual throne of emperor-king of Austria-Hungary when the central powers went down to defeat.

Plot in China

Bulgaria has remained a monarchy but it is generally understood that the revolution which overthrew Premier Stambulisky and put Prof. Zankof in his place was engineered by King Boris, to get some power to go with his position.

There's been Bourbon talk in France for years, but up to the past few weeks it has been limited to a small group of fanatics. Now, through adoption by the so-called "camelots du roi" of Fascist methods and open attacks on leading radicals, it is learned that Louis Philip Robert, Duke d'Orleans, an exile in Belgium, thinks of making a serious bid, as King Philip VIII, for the throne of his ancestors.

In Germany the "boring from within" of royalists like Ludendorf is no secret. If not the ex-kaiser or the crown prince, then the enthronement of one of the latter's younger brothers is their idea. Plans for restoration of Prince Rupprecht in Bavaria is an even stronger movement.

Will Boris Govern

The Hungarians never have pretended even that they were contented without a king. Beaten, they simply have accepted the inevitable—for the time being. Otto will not be eligible until he is 18 and he has 10 years to wait. Then—it remains to be seen what will happen.

In 1912 the then baby emperor of Chin China "resigned political power" and Yuan Shih Kai became president, but it was specified that "the imperial title is not abolished." The emperor—he still retains the title—is 17 now. An attempt was made in 1917 to put him actually on the throne. It was suppressed quickly. Now it is said another conspiracy is hatching. The republican government is weaker than it was then.

OBITUARY

MRS. ROBERT JORY

The death occurred this morning at her home on Chippewa avenue, in Lakefield, of Julia M. Dench, wife of Robert Jory.

The deceased, who had been ill for several months, was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. R. Q. Dench of North Douro Lodge, and was in her 61st year. She was held in the highest respect by the members of the community where she spent her life.

Survivors are her husband, one sister, Miss Frances Dench of Fowler's Corners, and one brother, B. Q. Dench, of North Douro Lodge. Mrs. W. R. Morris of this city is a cousin.

Funeral notice later.

W. H. WILSON.

Lindsay Post: An aged and respected resident of Lindsay passed away at the Ross Memorial Hospital yesterday morning in the person of the late W. H. Wilson, who for sixteen years past has been a resident of the town.

Some weeks ago the deceased took ill and was taken to the Ross Hospital on Friday last. Last January he was predeceased by his beloved wife, and some eight years ago lost his son, who was at the time a resident of the West. Left to mourn his loss are two daughters, namely: Mrs. W. H. Brokenshire, of Lindsay, and Mrs. H. R. Seymour, of Bobcaygeon. One sister, Mrs. Robert Wilson, resides in Peterboro.

The late Mr. Wilson for a number of years lived on the homestead north of Cambray, at Islay, retiring some sixteen years ago, when he moved to Lindsay. He was a member of the Queen Street Church.

A fat man is one who wishes he could be weighed and found wanting.

Mr. James Sutherland, 382½ Water Street, has received a letter from his daughter, Mrs. Thomas G. Ranton, of Boston, which, among other things relates the wonderful progress that has been made by Mr. Sutherland's grand-daughter, Mary Ranton, in her studies. She has finished her sophomore year examinations at Radcliffe College with honors, and is on the Dean's honor roll. She is taking a special advance French course in Harvard this summer, and this fall will start her junior year at Radcliffe. Miss Ranton expects to obtain a scholarship and eventually become "Minister of Music." So far she has included in her studies the following languages: French, German, Latin, Italian and English. She sings in the church choir, and is an active worker in the Sunday school. Her many Peterboro friends will be pleased to hear of her progress.

Dr. Phyllis Young, daughter of Dr. T. W. H. Young, of this city, has commenced the practice of medicine at 303 Stewart street, after a very successful course of studies at Toronto University, upon which she has received many congratulations.

Rev. A. G. Doner and family left this morning by motor car for a week's visit to Gormley, Ont., after that owing to the enforced absence of Rev. A. W. Roffe, Canadian Supt. of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, Mr. Doner will take charge of several Alliance Conventions in Western Ontario, which will take up his time for some weeks. During his absence Mr. M. Billester, of Toronto, will take charge of the work in Bethany Tabernacle.

IN MEMORIAM.

WEAVER.—In loving memory of Mrs. Thomas Weaver, who died July 10, 1922.

Dear mother, you have gone from here,
The Saviour thought it best
To take you to His heavenly home
To dwell among the blest.

Just one year ago to-day
Your loving Lord called you away,
Where you always longed to go
From a world of sin and woe.

She was a mother, kind and true,
A patient, loving mother, too;
She always was so kind to all,
Ready to answer any call.

SALAD RECIPE

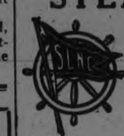
This is a good salad to serve as a main luncheon or supper dish. Any cold meat may be used, but chicken of course, is the best, and perhaps lamb comes next.

Sometimes one has a piece of lamb left which is not sufficiently large to slice, and yet it is too nice a piece to chop. Cut this into very small thin slices. For two cups of these pieces add two tablespoons oil and one tablespoon vinegar (that left from mint sauce is excellent). Add also one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth tablespoon pepper and a little grated or chopped onion. Let this stand in a cold place until serving time.

Cut cold boiled pottaoes into small cubes and over these put a little French dressing, cold peas or green string beans and two peeled tomatoes cut into eighths should be treated in the same way.

Serve the meat in the centre of the platter and surround it with lettuce and the vegetables, alternating the vegetables, having potatoes, then peas, then tomatoes. Sprinkle all with finely chopped parsley and pass mayonnaise or boiled dressing if desired.

LAKEFIELD—STONEY LAKE STEAMERS



Will leave Lakefield for the Lake on arrival of Morning, Noon, and Evening G.T.R. Train, which leaves Peterborough at 8.30 a.m., 12.25 noon, and 5.40 p.m. Steamers will leave Stoney Lake to connect with Morning and Afternoon Trains for Peterborough.

TROTSKY SETS OUT HIS VIEW IN BOOK FORM

Blossoms Out With a New Book on Culture Which the Army is Taking Up.

EVERY DAY LIFE

MOSCOW, July 11. United Press. Culture for the Russian masses is urged by Leon Trotsky in his new book "Questions of Everyday Life."

The "Pravda," a Moscow newspaper, has printed one of the chapters which deals with the various standards of life in Russia and sets forth the views of the war minister regarding culture in the army.

Trotsky points out the necessity of cultural education for the masses, contending that Russian workmen have never absorbed culture from the Russian bourgoisie, like western workmen, and therefore there is not the same close contact between the two classes.

Consequently the political victory of the Russian revolution has been must easier and always will be easier, to attain than in any western country, Trotsky concludes. However history shows that nothing was ever gained cheaply, and Russians must pay heavily for a "cultural victory."

Pravda quotes from Trotsky's work: "We need culture now in our work, life and everyday experience. There is only one serious point to divert our attention from this achievement. It is the necessity or defending our country and consequently we must develop an army. Even now in tents our army is devoting itself to the work of raising its cultural standard."

FOOD PLENTIFUL IN ENGLAND YET

Strikers Returning to Work, But Union Leaders Insist Walkout Solid

LONDON, July 11. — (United Press.)— Despite a strike of meat handlers in sympathy with the dock workmen, who are on strike throughout England, Smithfield market supplies were plentiful to-day. It is feared, however, that if the strike continues, the country's food supply may be seriously impaired, however. A partial strike of the meat handlers was on at midnight but apparently it was half-hearted and unofficial. Dockers at many points are declared to be returning to work, although union leaders insist the strike solidarity has not been impaired.

THREE INJURED IN AUTO SMASH

Broadside Collision Hurled Car Containing Party Twenty Feet.

TORONTO, Ont., July 11.—(Canadian Press.)—Motor car driven by Samuel John Wonders, was badly smashed and Mrs. Samuel Wonders, 5, Samuel J. Wonders 56, and Mrs. Victor Stephenson, 37, seriously injured, when it was struck in a terrific broadside collision by another car driven by Howard Murray, on Central Lakeshore road at about two o'clock this morning. The women are stated to be very seriously hurt.

As a result of the impact, Wonders' car was hurled about twenty feet aaginst the cement curbing of the car tracks.

Two Drowned When Schooner Capsized.

HALIFAX, N.S., July 11.—(Canadian Press.)—The auxiliary schooner Arequiba, of Shelburne, capsized yesterday off the coast and two men, Sinclair Thorburn of Shelburne, and Harold Hemeon, of Liverpool, were drowned. Information to this effect came to C. H. Harvey, agent of the Marine and Fisheries Department, by radio, from Captain James of the steamer Rosalind. The Arequiba, a small fisherman, carried a complement of five men, those saved being S. C. McLean, Port Saxon; J. Thorburn, Shelburne, and Calvin Deane, Rose Bay. The survivors were picked up in their dory fifteen miles southwest of Liverpool buoy at five-thirty yesterday afternoon in a strong west-southwest gale and heavy seas, and taken to Little Hope, where they wished to be set afloat in their dories to make land at Port Mouton.

Mr. Harvey has telephoned the tragic news to Shelburne and Liverpool.

CANNED STRAWBERRIES.

If you wish your strawberries to be red after they are canned, add two tablespoons of vinegar to each quart of strawberries when canning.

A Beer and Wine Vote Taken Today

WINNIPEG, July 11 (Canadian Press). — With ideal weather conditions prevailing throughout the Province, the electorate of Manitoba went to the polls to-day to decide whether the sale of beer and light wines with meals in hotels as sponsored by the Beer and Light Wines League should be law.

Early reports did not disclose the same interest as manifested in the recent voting held on 22nd June.

The central polling booths in Winnipeg reported only a few voters.

The polls close to-night at 8 o'clock.

WORKER BEATEN UP BY PICKETS

Federal Minister or Labor Criticizes Calling Out of Troops.

SYDNEY, July 11. — (Canadian Press) — John McPherson one of the maintenance workers, at No. 1. Colliery, Dominion, was beaten up by by strike pickets there early this morning when on his way to work. No other clash with pickets occurred. It is stated semi-officially that movement of coal is expected to begin to-night. Total number of men now at work in Sydney Steel plant is about thirteen hundred.

DEMAND RECALL TROOPS

OTTAWA, July 11.—(Canadian Press).—Immediate recall of troops from Cape Breton area, and if necessary. calling of special session of Dominion Parliament to deal with matter, is asked in letter sent by executive council of Trades and Labor Congress of Canada to Prime Minister MacKenzie King under yesterday's date. Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, received a copy of letter. Executive council asks that committee of royal commission be immediately appointed in with widest possible powers to fully investigate every circumstance of con dition in any way connected with or leading up to calling out of and presence in Cape Breton at this time of militia forces."

Representation of workers is asked on commission.

LEADERS RELEASED

HALIFAX, N.S. July 11.—(Canadian Prss). — Dan Livingstone, District President and J. B. MacLachlan, District Secretary of the United Mine Workers of America, two strike leaders arrested at Glace Bay last week on charge of spreading false information were to-day released on bail by Mr. Justice Chisholm following, their producton in supreme court on Habeas Corpus proceedings. Bail was fixed in sum sum of $2000 each and two sureties of $2,000 each, the men to re-appear in supreme court on Tuesday morning of next week.

This means that preliminary hearing scheduled for to-morrow must be adjourned until decision is reached by the full bench of the supreme court. Bail had been refused in Magistrate's court. G. S. Harrington, K.C., of Sydney to-day, joined himself with defence. The two sureties accepted by Court were Dr. A. C. Hawkins and Charles McIvor, both of Halifax.

TROOPS NOT NEEDED

OTTAWA, Ont., July 11.—(Canadian Press).—In telegram forwarded to Alex. S. McIntyre, vice-president of striking Cape Breton miners' organization Tuesday night, Hon. James Murdock, Federal Minister of Labor stated that his department for several days had been endeavoring to induce provincial authorities to withdraw troops in strike area, telegram was made public today.

Discussing strike situation this morning. Minister expressed personal view that use of troops where not absolutely necessary was a mistake. He doubted whether outlook in Sydney had ever justified calling militia although that was matter which provincial and local authorities were in best position to decide.

On Monday night the Department of Labor wired McIntyre urging that his organization should call off strike and leave its differences with employes to be settled by negotiations. In Minister's telegram it was pointed out that miners had violated an agreement which did not expire until January .

BUY AMERICAN COAL

SYDNEY, N.S. July 11.—(Canadian Press)—British Empire Steel Corporation issued following official statement last night.

"American coal can be delivered at Montreal much cheaper than Acadia coal can be sent by water, and it is intention of corporation to protect its commitments by buying American coal to apply on contracts. Water shipments will therefore have to be discontinued from Pictou Landing, and other disposition made of vessels now chartered for Pictou Landing—Montreal trade, unless speedy resumption of work takes place at the Acadia colliers.

"It is regretable that this promising trade should cease so early in attempt at its revival, and strike, if continued will result in short time operations when men finally return to work.

"In any case, however, corporation announces its intention to protect its sales."

ANNUAL REPORT SCHOOL DOCTOR WAS SUBMITTED

Shows Nearly 3,000 Physical Examinations — The Largest Number of Defects Arose From Defective Teeth — The School Attendance 95 Per Cent.

ACCOUNTS PASSED.

The report of the School Medical Officer, Dr. A. W. McPherson, submitted to the Board of Education, and received last night, shows that 2892 physical examinations were made during the school year, and of these 112 were in June. Dr. McPherson's report follows, in part:

The work of the year consisted principally of making as complete an examination of each child as the conditions would permit, noting the minor and major defects and sending out defect slips in all cases that were considered important from the standpoint of health.

The number of examinations for the year was 2892, and the number of defect slips was 987. These were made up principally of defective teeth, enlarged tonsils, defective vision, faulty nutrition, round shoulders and enlarged thyroid in that order of frequence.

The number of defect slips returned was 333. Of these about 92 indicated that treatment was being received or would be given. The defects were: Tonsils 48; vision 26; teeth 18.

Light Epidemics.

This year we were comparatively free from scarlet fever and diphtheria, but had to contend with measles and influenza. Fortunately both were of a comparatively mild type.

Since last report the following practical work was done with very little expense to the city:

Tonsils and adenoids removed	11
Glasess supplied	4
Teeth cared for	3

The thanks of the Board are due to Dr. Buchanan and Dr. McCullough, to Mr. Albert Fowler, and the dentists who so kindly and cheerfully did the work without cost.

Report for Apr .

PRINCESS MARIE WAS CHARGED WITH MURDER

Prisoner Was Allowed to Ride to the Coop in a Taxi Instead of the Black Maria

LONDON, July 11.—(By Charles McCann, United Press).—Friends of the beautiful Princess Marie, held in jail here, charged with the murder of her husband, Prince Ali Fahmy of Egypt, will attempt to obtain her release on bail, it was learned today. Their efforts probably will be fruitless, as persons held on a charge of murder usually are not permitted to be freed on bond.

The Princess was reported about to undergo an operation early this week, and if an operation is necessary she will be compelled to content herself with a room in the prison hospital. The authorities do not seem willing to accede to the requests of the Princess for special privileges. They have granted her only one concession. Yesterday, when she was leaving the hotel for the jail she asked that she be permitted to ride in a taxi cab instead of the "Black Maria," and the police consented.

The inquest into the Prince's death will be held to-morrow. It was learned to-day that the Princess embraced Mohammedanism to overcome the objections of the Prince's family, who opposed the marriage on religious grounds. The Prince was found mortally wounded in his suite at the Savoy yesterday morning.

DELORA MINES GIVE EMPLOYMENT TO FIVE HUNDRED AT PRESENT

An Expanding Industry Four Miles From Marmora Represents a Romantic Link With the Past—Pioneers Paved the Way.

HANDLE COBALT

(By a Staff Reporter).

DELORA, July 11.—The Delora Refining and Smelting Company, now acknowledged to be the biggest concern of its kind in the world, with still unlimited possibilities in the way of expansion ahead of it, had a modest beginning over a quarter of a century ago. Like all pioneers in a rocky and hilly country, the early settlers of the vicinity of this thriving village had their early dreams of hidden wealth and believed that the stones around them that interfered with agricultural enterprise were rich with gold and silver deposits. Shafts that were sunk into the hills by infinite labor are to be seen anywhere.

The mining of gold and other minerals was eventually undertaken on a systematic basis, and a mill was erected to reduce the ore. This was carried on with varied success for a number of years, but finally the promoters were forced to the conclusion that gold and silver did not exist in paying quantities. They found themselves with a well equipped plant on their hands and no raw material in immediate prospect.

It was then that the outfit at Deloro marked the first great stage of its development, when it became what it has remained until this day, an important adjunct, the real finishing agency of the Cobalt mining industry. The ore is brought from the north and is refined at Deloro. It seems like a long haul for the raw material, but either this had to be brought from Cobalt or the material used in the refining process would have to be shipped on to Cobalt. The proposition was about as broad as it was long, and the deciding factor was the fact that the plant at Deloro was already established.

The community is perfect in itself or at least complete. The mill gives employment to upwards of 500 men, all of whom are well paid, and some in receipt of handsome salaries, and this represents a supported population of upwards of 2,000. The employees are comfortably housed either in boarding houses conducted by the company, or in private residences. It is a community in which every provision is made for the entertainment and education of those who reside there. Deloro has good schools and churches, an extensive playground, all forms of athletic sports, both summer and winter. A stranger coming from a large city to reside here finds a renlica of the life that he has left behind him, and loses no sleep yearning for the fleshpots of Egypt. The mill in a place where in the matter of employment college graduates are at a premium so that there is an intellectual atmosphere about the village that is seldom found in a place of similar size.

The Keeley Mine.

The Deloro plant is also an adjunct of the famous Keeley mine, the "hole in the ground," into which the management of the Farmers' Bank passed the resources of that institution, and so brought about the most spectacular, if not the most disastrous, bank failure in the

Raney May Resign in Favor of Drury

CHATHAM, July 11 (Canadian Press). — The Chatham Daily News is publishing a story to-day that the Hon. W. E. Raney will resign his seat in East Wellington in favour of Premier Drury.

This rumour is based on the stories pertaining to the conference of West Kent U.F.O. Executive, which is to be held here on Saturday night.

At this meeting, it is understood that a form of resolution suggested at the recent conference in Toronto will be presented endorsing Drury as the leader of the Opposition in the new Legislature.

A MOTOR BICYCLE TOOK WRONG TURN

Plunged Through a Plate Glass Window and Landed Driver in the Hospital.

While riding a motor bicycle on Brock street yesterday evening, Alan Trussler lost control of the machine which ran on the sidewalk at the corner of George street and crashed into the window of John D. Craig's furniture store. Trussler was cut about the hands and arms, and was removed to the hospital.

The young man was proceeding west on Brock street and intended turning north on George street. While making the turn his side-car left the ground throwing him off his balance.

He succeeded in pushing it down once, but it again jumped, causing him to lose his balance and swerve on the sidewalk. Trussler was taken to the clinic where Dr. J. H. Eastwood attended to his injuries. He was later removed to Nicholl's Hospital. The side car, which was taken from the police station, by the young man's father, was only slightly dented. At the time of the accident Trussler was travelling at about eight miles an hour.

THEATRE LOSSES NOT OVER $40,000

This Amount Was Spread Over 116 Houses — Reorganiza ion Possible.

TORONTO, July 11. — Mrs. Theresa Small, wife of Ambrose J. Small, the missing theatrical magnate, stated last night that contrary to reports circulated to the effect that the Grand Opera House property would revert back to the estate, she had received no intimation of such from the Trans-Canada Theatres, Ltd., and was therefore, not anticipating that anything of the kind would take place. Pending the meeting of Trans-Canada shareholders to be held in Montreal next week she did not feel in a position to state definitely what would be done, but expressed the opinion that the action rumoured was very unlikely.

It is learned that the loss sustained during the past season by Trans-Canada Theatres, Ltd. did not exceed $40,000. This amount was spread over the 116 theatres under the control of the Montreal Syndicate, and was incurred during a season which was a dull one for the theatre business generally. While the syndicate has gone into voluntary liquidation it is considered more than probable by those interested that this was done with the sole object of permitting a reorganization, as a $40,000 loss on a season by a corporation capitalized at several million dollars, would not be of sufficient importance to warrant it being dissolved.

SOCIETY MADE A PROFIT OUT OF WAR BONDS

Children's Aid Society Met and at Close of Meeting Made a Trip to Burleigh Falls.

WARDS VISITED

The Board of Management of the Children's Aid Society held its regular monthly meeting yesterday afternoon in the board room of the Chamber of Commerce, the President B. F. Ackerman, in the chair, and the following members present: Mesdames Gibbs, Fanning Welsh, Wright, Devey, Hodgson, Messrs. Edgar. Powell, Stocker, Meyers, Cummer, Rev. P. Costello, Dr. D. C. King.

Mr. Edgar reported the placing of insurance to the amount of $10,000 on the new Shelter premises, Messrs. Hill Weddell and Hills, receiving $5,000. and $5,000 to Messrs Ackerman and Dawson. Mr. W. P. Adamson of the firm of Adamson & Dobbin had been requested to attend the meeting and give the Board some information regarding needed repairs to the roof of the main shed building on the new grounds. It was decided to appoint the property committee a committee with power to act, to investigate conditions, and call for tenders for repair work. The Board also decided to re-imburse Mr. D. Rogers husband of the matron at the Shelter to the extent of $25 for extra work incurred in moving. The matron has already been voted the same sum at a previous meeting. for extra work in placing the children in the temporary Schneider premises, and then removing once more to the new home.

Mr. G. W. Powell reported 5 applications during the month at the Shelter; one child (not a ward) sent to the industrial school; approximate mileage covered. 500 miles, and 8 places visited outside the city. Two were placed out; 1 returned to the Shelter. Wards visited; 15.

The County Council which had been asked to increase their grant of $600 to the Children's Aid Society, to amount to $1,000, had granted them $800.

Mr. Powell recommended that arrangements for the annual tag day be made earlier than in previous years. Mrs. J. S. Fanning was appointed convenor with power to name her committee of workers.

The Matron, Mrs. D. Rogers, reported 16 children in the Shelter during the month of June; one brought in. and five sent out. There was no sickness during the month.

Letters of thanks were recommended to be written by the secretary to Dr. T. P. McCullough, Brock street who had given free service in treatments to restore the voice of a small inmate of the Shelter, and to Mr. Joseph Wearing, the Society's solicitor, who had taken great pains in seeing that the title and all papers in connection with the transfer of the new property to the Board, were in excellent shape.

Profit on Bonds

Mr. C. S. Cummer, the treasurer, reported the sale of War Loan bonds for the purchase of the Popham property, at a price which netted the Society a profit of over $300 The Victory bonds amounting to $7,600, had been sold for $7,915. There had also been a profit made on the sale of other securities held by the Society.

The following accounts were reported by Mrs. W. H. Gibbs, and ordered paid:

J. M. Heard, $15; Higgins Hardware Co., $5.95; Grafton Co., $2.34; Sanitary Ice Co. $5; Robson and Penrose, $15; J. Charlton, $1.95; R. Denne $1.50; J. Nazimok, $2.25; G. W. Powell $3.90; Telephones, $5.98; W. J. Edwards, $5.97; S. Kemp $3.50; Mrs. W. H. Girven, $5.15; E. H. Dinsdale. $7.25; W. P. Thomas (painting) $65.00; R. Neill $5.36; Cleaning house at 617 George street, $14.00; E. L. Payne, $2.90; Mr. Schneider $65.00; J. J. Turner and Sons $6.00. Total $239.

After the business meeting, the Board adjourned in a body by motor to the Darcey House, at Burleigh Falls, where they were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Darcey. The latter who is a member of the Board, proved a delightful hostess and the Board enjoyed a fine dinner and pleasant evening at Burleigh.

It was decided last evening to appoint Mrs. J. Holmes a member of the Board of Management.

THE EMILY OIL PLANT HAS BEEN DISMANTLED

LINDSAY, July 11.—The plant of the Northern Development Company, which has been used in oil drilling operations on the Perdue farm, has been hauled to Lindsay by Mr. Les Maunder for shipment to the States. It is understood the company spent some $16,000 in their venture in the township.

FRENCH DECIDE ABANDON STAND

With Britain About to Announce Lone eparations Policy — France Recedes From Attitude.

LONDON, July 11. — (Canadian Press).—France moved to-day to prevent a threatened rupture of the Entente over the reparations, on the eve of the announcement of a new British policy, which is believed to involve a separate settlement with Germany. The French Government took steps to avert the break. Britain having failed to dissuade France from her Ruhr policy, was about to announce her intention of making her own reparation agreement with Germany. France has now offered to recede from her aggressive stand, if it can be done without loss of face. This is understood to have been the gist of a conversation between the French Ambassador and Lord Curzon, the Foreign Secretary.

AMERICA BACKS BRITAIN.

NEW YORK, July 11.—(Canadian Press).—A special despatch from Washington to-day says:

"The United States may be found actively backing the new British reparations policy which Premier Baldwin is expected to lay before the House of Commons before Thursday. Secretary Hughes is keeping in the closest touch with all phases of its development. A great number of despatches has accumulated at the State Department, and as a result, Ambassador Harvey was summoned back to Washington from his home at Deal, N.J.

EARLY SETTLEMENT STRIKE PROBABLE

Conference Between Government and Union Leaders Was Harmonious.

HALIFAX, July 11.— (Canadian Press).—Further indications that an early settlement of the Steel Workers strike in Sydney is more than possible were contained in a brief official statement given out by the Government yesterday, following a conference between International Representative Rupert Curtis of the Steel Workers Union and Premier Armstrong with members of his Government.

The statement merely gives out the information that Mr. Curtis came to Halifax in pursuance of an offer given by the Government early in the strike of its good offices in effecting settlement, and that, following most harmonious discussion, it was decided that the Premier would go to Sydney tonight, and personally appear in whatever mediation scheme may be arranged.

Curtis expressed decided willingness to reach an early settlement that would bring about cessation of hostilities between steel workers and employers.

Make a Real Event of Acquatic Meet

TORONTO, July 11. — (Canadian Press).—Following the announcement that the Leander crew of England would row in Canada next month, arrangements are being made to make their appearance here a real event event in Canadian aquatics. Yesterday a committee was formed to take charge of the regatta at the Canadian National Exhibition the first week of the Fair.

All the leading crews of the United States and Canada will participate, and efforts are being made to have Walter Hoover, United States oarsman, and Hilton Belyea, Canadian sculling champion, to appear in the singles.

COMMITTEE ON APPOINTMENTS HAD BUSY DAY

The Board of Education Accepted J. Wearing's Resignation and Selected W. A. Richardson to Replace J. W. Worth.

APPOINT TEACHERS.

The resignation of Joseph Wearing and the appointment of W. A. Richardson of the Advisory Industrial Committee to replace J. W. Worth on the Property Committee and on the Board were salient features of the postponed monthy meeting of the Board of Education held last night. Mr. Wearing's position will be filled at the next meeting of the Board which will take place in September.

Regarding the Board's building plans, J. A. McKone reported that the Building Committee is being held up by the Industrial Committee. "The plans have been approved by the Department of Education in every way," he said, "but no further action can be taken until we get the sanction of the Industrial Committee." Mrs. W. R. Morris promised to do her best to get that Committee together to take action.

Mr. R. F. Downey resigned his position as Principal of the Central School, and in accepting his resignation the Board on motion of J. M. Greene and J. Wearing instructed the Secretary to write Mr. Downey expressing regret in the loss of his valuable services. He was described as one of the City's best principals, and one who had done good work for the children during his many year's service.

Other Resignations.

Other teachers whose resignations were accepted were: Misses Rae, Caldwell and Welsh. Miss Runnings was granted leave of absence for one year, and Miss E. Thomlinson was relieved from teaching at the Normal school on account of ill-health.

The Committee on Appointments, Chairman Dr. F. C. Neal, submitted the following recommendations, which were accepted.

First—That in view of Mr. R. F. Downey's resignation as Principal of the Central School, the following transfers be made:

Mr. K. S. Wightman, Principal of the Prince of Wales School to succeed Mr. Downey as Principal of the Central School.

Mr. G. S. Mattice, Principal of the King Edward School to be Principal of the Prince of Wales School.

Mr. R. L. Bolton, Vice-Principal of the King Edward School to succeed Mr. Mattice, as principal, at a minimum salary of $2,000, with increase according to schedule.

Second—That Mr. H. H. Langford be appointed to the Public School Staff at Vice-Principal of the King Edward School at a minimum salary of $1,500, with increase according to schedule, and duties to commence in September, next.

Third—That the following lady teachers be appointed to the Public School Staff at minimum salaries of $900, with increase according to schedule, and duties to commence in September, next: Miss Maccie Nelson, Miss Ethel Huffman, Miss V. R. Buckham, Miss May McNevan.

Mr. Wearing Resigns.

Mr. Wearing's written resignation, accepted by the Board, read as follows:

I hereby tender my resignation as a member of the Board and while I very greatly regret the necessity for giving up this work which I am particularly interested in I feel bound to do so for two reasons, first because I have come to the conclusion that as City Solicitor I am probably now an officer of the Council and am therefore not qualified to sit any longer on the Board, and second, because I feel that I cannot now give the attention to the work of the Board which its importance demands

The fact that the project endorsed

DELORA MINES

financial history of Canada, and at one time played an important part in forming the political complexion of the nation. After the bank had gone into liquidation, after the depositors had received their percentage and the shareholders had come across with their double liability, the Keeley mine began to show traces of hidden wealth. Whether these will ever develop according to the prospectors of the original promoters, remains to be seen, but one thing is certain, ore from that mine is being received at the mill here and is yielding a fair return of silver.

Ore From Cobalt.

There is no question as to either the present or the future of the ore which comes from the mines at Cobalt, and which is made to yield everything of value which it contains while passing through the furnaces in the Delora plant. The miners at Cobalt have representatives constantly at watch here to see that all the silver extracted is accounted for. There is little trouble or loss due to theft on the part of the workmen. A man might steal a ton of silver, if the opportunity offered, and find it, owing to the difficulty of disposing of it, as useless to him as if he were marooned on a desert island with this treasure.

Ore Yields Arsenic.

One of the most valuable by-products obtained from the ore is arsenic, which is freed in the shape of gas and is caught as it forces its way to the top of the electric-heated furnace. The dross flows from one aperture in the furnace, the precious metal from another, and this is put through another smaller furnace, from which it is ladled and poured into moulds, where it is allowed to cool. Everything in the immense plant moves with the regularity of clockwork.

Where Paris Green Is Made.

Away off in one corner of the grounds is a separate building, in which the Paris green of commerce is manufactured by the ton, hundreds of thousands of pounds being sent out annually to the trade. This is the citadel which stands between the Colorado beetle and the total destruction of the potato crop of the world.

For the marketing of the silver extracted from the ore, the avenue is assured, but the arsenic and Paris green goes to Britain, other parts of Europe and Japan, the arsenic being used chiefly in the manufacture of paint, as well as in the drug trade. The only serious rival this plant has as a producer of arsenic is a concern in Oregon.

When Stellite Was Invented.

For years this company was producing cobalt from the ore, and for this by-product there was no market. Edward Haynes, known to fame as the inventor of the first automobile, a horseless vehicle which was built in Kokomo, Indiana, and which is now carefully preserved in a glass case in a museum as an example of the development of modern inventive genius, was brought here to experiment with Cobalt. With infinite patience, this scientist labored at his task, and the result was that out of cobalt he succeeded in manufacturing a metal which was called stellite, and which is as bright as silver and harder than the highest grade of steel. It is manufactured here on an extensive scale, and is used for the parts of automobiles in which long wear is essential. The Ford people at Walkerville are now the Deloro Company's largest customers for this output. German auto manufacturers have also sent in orders.

Cobalt For Cutlery.

During the war this company opened a new branch, the manufacture of cutlery from the stellite that Mr. Haynes had invented. It is claimed that this material is superior for the purpose to the finest silver, and the samples of the stock on hand would, to the uninitiated at least, bear out the assertion. At all events, it would require an expert metallurgist to detect the difference.

Mr. Haynes some time ago sold out his interests here and returned to Komoko, where he re-engaged in the automobile business.

PLANS CONTINUED FOR ADVERTISING.

Sign on Kingston Highway to Point Way to Peterboro—Some Difficulties.

Another step forward with arrangements for the erection of the large advertising sign for the city and lake district on the Kingston Highway was made when the Directors of the Motor League, including Mr. W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P., and Ald. W. J. Meyers, met Mr. H. J. Moore, Forester, Department of Public Highways, at Welcome, and went over the situation, and decided upon the site owned by Mr. J. Jones, farmer, on the south side of the Highway, about 100 yards from Welcome.

Although the deputation felt that the regulations regarding the erection of signboards on the Provincial Highways were very desirable and would have the effect of eliminating the indiscriminate erection of signs which heretofore have been erected, irrespective of the effect on the safety of the travelling public, it was considered that there would be a distinction made between commercial advertising and advertising carried out by municipalities in support of the campaign started by the Province for the development of tourist traffic. This difference being made with a slight advantage given to the municipal advertising, which in every case would be approved of by the Department, would have a tendency of encouraging the advertising of the various districts, particularly the summer resorts, by the municipalities, and assist very materially in showing our visiting tourists that in Ontario can be found very easily "The Lake-land Playground."

No doubt this proposed change in the existing regulations will gain the attention of the local member, and some action will be taken.

MANY WITNESSES IN DELORME TRIAL HEARD

Trial of Montreal Priest on Charge of Murder Was Somewhat Speeded Up Yesterday.

FEW CLASHES.

MONTREAL, July 11 (Canadian Press). — A stream of witnesses passed through the witness box yesterday afternoon in the trial of Rev. Father Delorme, charged with the murder of his half-brother Raoul.

The first was Albert John Kelly, Superintendent of McGill Observatory, who testified that on the night of Friday, 6th January, 1922, when the murder was alleged by the Crown to have been committed, and on Saturday when the body of the victim was found on Snowden Avenue, the temperature did not at any time reach below zero, nor was there any rain or snow during these two days.

Further extracts from the Observatory records will be furnished to cover 8th and 9th January, so that it can be seen what snowfall was registered during those days when the blood-stained cap and the supposed blood-stains were found on the Cote St. Michel Road.

David Cote, inspector of the Roads Department for the district, which covers 190 St. Hubert Street, the abbe's residence at the time of the murder, was called, and stated that the sidewalks on St. Hubert Street were slippery on the afternoon of 6th January, 1922.

August Diarel, a shoemaker, who had been 48 years in the business, testified that a pair of brown shoes belonging to the victim, had been worn very little or else with rubbers.

Eugene Laflamme, Court Bertillonist, placed in evidence a photograph of a car reported to him as having belonged to Abbe Delorme.

Arthur Charbonneau, tailor for the past thirty years, gave evidence on the stitching of three quilts, one of which had been found wrapped about the victim's head at the time of the murder, while the others had been taken from the beds of Rosa and Florence Delorme. He testified that in his opinion all three quilts were machine stitched by the same person with the same machine. He judged this by the irregularity of the stitching. In cross-examination he could not say what make of machine had been used. It had been done with a domestic machine, in his view.

Lucien Turgeon, employee of the Legare Automobile Company, was called. He was a demonstrator and repair man. Up to last August his firm had been selling a certain car, and he knew them well. He identified the photograph of the abbe's car as a brougham of that make resembling a sedan. It could develop a speed up to 45 miles per hour. It was fairly silent in changing gears, and not noisy when the engine was running, while the car was motionless. He declared that it was more rapid than an open car in the wind and his own experience with the running of similar cars. In appearance the machine was notable with its "French nose" and V-shaped windshields. While there were other cars with these characteristics, such cars were very rare in 1922. He stated that in 1922 there were from 200 to 250 such cars in Montreal.

Detective Pigeon was recalled and re-examined by R. L. Calder, K.C., Crown Prosecutor. He testified that when he was examining the abbe's house on 9th January he had no suspicion that the priest was connected with the crime, hence he had not warned him when he was questioning him.

This led to long argument between counsel as to the admissability of his evidence.

The Court declared that the question at issue was as to whether the accused made his declarations to the officer at that time either freely or voluntarily, and that although His Lordship was absolutely without doubt on the point, he would adjourn decision on the point until this morning.

Mr. Calder then went on to interrogate the witness on his questions to Lily Delorme.

Here C. H. Cahan, K.C., for the defence protested that if the Crown was seeking to show through the witness that Lily Delorme on any other occasion said anything different from or inconsistent with what she said on the stand that must be ruled out, since Lily Delorme had been called as a crown witness, and the invariable rule was that counsel could not call a witness and then controvert what he or she had said by showing that the witness on another occasion said something else.

This led to lengthy argument between counsel, the Crown asserting that she was a hostile witness and could therefore be controverted. To this the Court agreed.

Witness then declared that Lily Delorme had stated in the presence of himself and three other officers that she had gone out on the afternoon of 6th January.

Alleyn Taschereau, counsel for the defence, then pleaded that the Crown "must not be unfair to this little girl." The probability was that she did not fully understand the questions put to her by Crown Prosecutor Calder.

Mr. Calder said he would "assign the little Lily for to-morrow," when he would question her in the most formal manner.

The Court then adjourned.

United States Loaded Heavily With Antiques.

PARIS, July 11. Canadian Press.—The United States is heavily loaded with "antiques" and the Louvre, in Paris, and the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York, have been buying curious pieces for years, Jean Vigouroux told the court yesterday at the opening of his trial on charges of diverting funds and art treasures filled by Parisian Antiquarian Geo. Joseph Demotte, whose New York branch was formerly managed by Vigouroux.

PICTON MINERS JOINED STRIKE CAPE BRETON

Springhill Men, However, Decide Not to Come Out--Mine Number Two Occupied By Troops.

NO DISORDERS.

SYDNEY, N.S., July 11 (Canadian Press Staff Correspondent). — While the greater number of the Pictou Countycoal miners, numbering about 2,400 men, joined the strike of Cape Breton miners yesterday, and Springhill miners in Cumberland County were considering what their attitude should be, the chief development in the Cape Breton area was the removal of 500 military and Provincial police from Sydney to No. 2 Mine at Glace Bay.

The force included detachments from the Royal Canadian Regiment. The Dragoons and Mounted Police went to Glace Bay by road and the infantry were moved by the Sydney an Louisburg Railway.

The movement was quiet and the occupation of No. 2 Mine and its vicinity was not even verbally questioned, Colonel Eric McDonald, the Commissioner of Provincial Police stated.

Under the protection afforded, coal cars were taken into No. 2 power plant without the interference which had marked these efforts since the beginning of the strike, Colonel McDonald said.

He announced following the occupation of the mine that interference with men or coal entering the plant would result in the arrest of those interfering.

It is presumed that under the present protection relief will be given to the officials now manning No. 2 plant.

REMAIN ON THE JOB.

SPRINGHILL,N.S. July 11 (Canadian Press).—The miners of Springhill at a meeting held here last night to decide their action in connection with the coal strike in Nova Scotia, decided by a vote of 187 to 27 to remain on the job and comply with the policy of the International Executive, as expressed in the instructions of John L. Lewis, International President.

More Miners Discard Tools in Nova Scotia.

NEW GLASGOW, N. S., July 11.—Canadian Press. — More than seven hundred miners were added to the list of strikers by the action of the Westville men last night who declared in favor of joining the other Pictou county miners in their sympathetic strike with the Sydney Steel workers.

A RECORD FLIGHT

EDMONTON, Alta., July 11.—(Canadian Press).—What is said to be a new world's record for racing pigeons has been established by a pigeon released here on May 28, which reached its home loft in San Antonio Texas, a distance of 1,832 miles on July 3, according to word received yesterday. The furthest distance known to have been flown before is 1,589 miles.

A HARD JOB TO MAKE A PROFIT OUT OF WHEAT

Royal Grain Commission Told of Difficulties Encountered By the Western Farmer.

PRICE TOO LOW.

LETHBRIDGE. Alta., July 11.—(Canadian Press). — Farmers in southern Alberta who have dealt in wheat options have made more money than by tilling the soil. This statement was made at the morning session of the Royal Grain Enquiry Commission here yesterday by Lawrence Peterson, Taber farmer, and member of the Alberta legislature. Mr. Peterson said the chances for farmers obtaining a profit on their wheat crop this summer in Alberta were not bright. General overhead charges, combined with high freight rates made wheat selling unprofitable at the present prices for wheat.

Local buyers for elevator companies, Mr. Petersoin said were instructed to always avoid shortages. "The agent always weighs in favor of the company," he said. "When the agent only had a small overage he is checked up severely. When he has a good overage he stands a good chance for promotion with a raise in salary."

W. Green, local miller giving evidence, said he did not agree wholly with the opinions of James Stewart and F. W. Riddell. That a pool would tend to decrease fluctuations and would stabilize wheat prices but there was a glut on the market at the early part of the season.

"A pool would tend to stabilize wheat prices, but there is no great glut on the market in the fall," Mr. Green said.

"Not more than fifty per cent. of Canada's wheat is sold during the early part of the season," he said.

Mr. Green said the present system of marketing was the most efficient that could be possibly found.

"Then why are the farmers finding it so difficult to make money on their wheat?" George Van Allan, counsel for the Alberta government asked.

"The European buyer won't pay the prices to which we are entitled," Mr. Green replied. "If the European buyer could afford to pay what we should bet and if the freight rates, which are too high should be reduced the farmer would be able to make money."

Several other farmers wers heard at the session, which was of short duration. The commission sits at Claresholm. Wednesday.

Too much meddling by arm chair agricultural experts was blamed by Boyden, a farmer from Wilson Siding, for some of the troubles under which farmers were laboring.

Mr. Boyden said the man who had not followed agriculture for a living and who criticized and sought to advise farmers was either a person possessing tremendous nerve or ignorance.

"The trouble with farming to-day is not in production," Mr. Boyden said. "Producers probably have something to learn but the main trouble today is found in the marketing and handling of wheat after it has been produced."

W. A. Hamilton, a local farmer, favored the wheat pool as a cure for many of the ills suffered by agriculture to-day. He said some farmers in years of over-production would have been better off had they not tried to grow any crop at all, but had let their hand lie idle. He was convinced that there was something radically wrong with the marketing system.

Crop Conditions Are Far Above Average

CALGARY, Alta., July 11.—(Canadian Press.)—"Just like a garden. I never saw Alberta looking better," was the statement of Grant Hall, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who arrived in Calgary, on an inspection trip, accompanied by D. C. Coleman, Winnipeg.

The party will go to Edmonton today, where Mr. Coleman will have a conference with Sir Henry Thornton, and Provincial Government officials on the marketing of Alberta coal in the East.

Asked as to the company's plans for electrification of the Mountain division of the railroad, Grant Hall said the company was looking into the matter but no decision had been reached.

REGINA, Sask., July 11.—(Canadian Press.)—A suspicion of black rust on leaves of wheat at Central Butte is reported by correspondents to the Saskatchewan Co-operative Company and is noted in the crop report issued yesterday. It is pointed out that the rust has not touched the stem of the wheat.

Practically all districts report crop conditions far above the average and many claim the best ever. Little damage is reported from hail or heavy rains.

RESTRICTIONS ON CATTLE TO BE DISCUSSED

If Desired Legislation May Be Introduced to Put All Dominions on the Same Footing.

AT CONFERENCE.

LONDON, July 11.— (Canadian Press Cable.)—Rt. Hon. Sir Robert A. Sanders, President of the Board of Agriculture, replying in the House of Commons yesterday to the question of whether it was intended to introduce legislation to place all other dominions in the same position as Canada in regard to the importation of cattle, said that the Government had conveyed to the dominions other than Canada that if the question of removing the restrictions on the importation of cattle from their territories was raised at the Imperial Conference and if mutually satisfactory arrangements were reached, legislation would be introduced to give effect to such arrangements. The general question concerning the restrictions on the importation of live stock into various parts of the Empire, including the United Kingdom, was being placed on the agenda of the Imperial Conference as a subject of discussion, he said.

Replying to further questions Sir Robert said that he was quite aware that there was a good deal of feeling in Australia against the distinction drawn between Australia and Canada in this matter and it was for that reason that they wished to discuss the matters with the dominions before any decision was announced. The Government, he continued, would judge what were mutually satisfatcory arrangements. He added that the agricultural interests have already been consulted.

EX-CONSTABLE ARRESTED.

LINDSAY, July 11.—Acting on information forwarded from Toronto, Provincial Constable Storey made a trip to Swamp Lake accompanied by Officer Hartnett, on Sunday evening. About two o'clock on Monday morning they arrived in town with Samuel Massey, an ex-member of the Toronto police force under arrest on two charges of fraud. The man, who is wanted in Toronto, was taken to that city.

MANY CHANGES TO BE MADE IN FRENCH ARMY

Great Attention Will Be Given to the Development of Modern Air Forces and War Materials.

OTHER BRANCHES.

PARIS, July 11.— (Canadian Press.)—The plan for the re-organization of France's army of 660,000 men, was distributed among the members of Parliament yesterday by Colonel Jean Fabry, Reporter for the Chamber Army Commission. It contemplates a modernized force based on the lessons of the Great War, with serious attention to new developments in aviation and war materials.

Aviation and gas, the report says, are menaces of the future. Germany, by force of circumstances, must seek her field of action in the air, therefore France must be strong there.

"We are preparing the army for war, which we are resolved to prevent," continues the report, "but we must be ready to strike the first blow. France is now superior to other nations in aviation, except perhaps, bombing planes, but she cannot rest satisfied, and must not be content with machine guns in the air, for perhaps the time is near when aerial cannon will appear."

M. Fabry presents three conclusions:

First—"France, so long as she bases her existence and respect for her rights upon the prestige of her strength, must, because of her will for peace, maintain a strong army."

Second—"That the army, solidly constructed upon the lessons of the war, ought to be definitely guided toward the utilization of and search for more perfected armaments than those with which the enemy can be equipped, so that the army may retain the preponderance of force we are going to give it."

Third—"The time may come when those who must decide whether to refuse or accept, or even anticipate war, will have to bear a heavy responsibility and because of the very brutality and efficacy of the first blow struck, it is important to give them, instead of receiving them."

The plan, which is the third and final stage in the re-organization of national land and air defence, provides for thirty-two divisions of infantry, each with four regiments and detachments of cavalry, engineers and artillery, the cavalry being reduced to five divisions. Reserves would be formed by thirty regiments of cavalry and forty-eight regiments of artillery. The army would include also a great number of technical units.

The aviation force would be composed of 132 combat squadrons, 76 observation squadrons and 34 auxiliary service squadrons, with a personnel of about 33,000.

The plan is based on eighteen months' service, each class of conscripts furnishing about 250,000 men, with 100,000 professional soldiers constantly in the army.

The officers would be reduced about one-fifth from the period before the war, there remaining 107 generals of division and a total of about 30,000 officers.

A table, comparing the proposed organization with the army at the end of the war shows a slightly less percentage in the infantry, hospital service and administrative employees, and a greater percentage of tanks ,artillery and aviation. The cavalry numbers more than at the time of the armistice, but is reduced from waht had been originally intended.

The total army will number 660,000 and will be composed of 461,000 French troops, 189,000 Colonials and 10,000 foreign legionaries. It is proposed to have these Colonial forces more closely interwoven with the French troops.

London Council Voted to Have Sunday Games.

LONDON, July 11.— (Canadian Press Cable.) —As a sequel to the long standing controversy in the press anent Sunday playing in the local parks, the London County Council yesterday decided to continue to allow games in the parks on Sunday as introduced last year, the amendment favoring the withdrawal of the permission being defeated by 83 to 33. During the debate on the amendment several of the Sabbatarians contended that the people of London did not want Sunday games and expressed fears that the British Sababth would be destroyed, resulting in a return to a seven-day week with Sunday trading.

Those in favor of Sunday playing urged that play did not desecrate the Sabbath, but rather kept the young people from morbid thoughts and promoted a vigorous body and a healthy mind.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 11, 1923.

A NEW MEMBER.

The appointment of Mr. W. A. Richardson, of the Peterborough Canoe Company, as a member of the Board of Education to complete the term of Mr. J. W. Worth, whose resignation was made necessary by his departure from Peterborough, will be received with satisfaction by the many citizens who know Mr. Richardson's qualification and who have confidence in his ability to do good service on the Board.

One of the younger executives in Peterborough, Mr. Richardson has given ample evidence of his energy and progressiveness and it is felt by those who have come in contact with him that he will make his presence as a member of the Board of Education felt as he has in the world of business and industry.

He has been a member of the Advisory Industrial Committee of the Board for some years and has been more than once nominated to stand for election.

Mr. Richardson brings with him to the Board of Education an understanding of the city's requirements in regard to technical education, a general knowledge of Peterborough and its conditions and the experience and training gained by successful participation in business.

He should make a very valuable member of the school Board and there will be a general feeling that the members of the Board have made a wise choice in selecting Mr. Richardson as Mr. Worth's successor.

MR. WEARING'S RESIGNATION.

While the absence of Mr. Joseph Wearing from the Board of Education, where he has given good service, will be regretted, there will be a general belief that the City Solicitor has acted wisely in tendering his resignation to the board.

The calls upon his time and services in connection with his work as City Solicitor are enough to prevent him from devoting himself as assiduously to the duties involved in membership on the Board of Education as he would wish, and when, as happened a few nights ago, meetings of the City Council and the Board of Education are being held on the one evening his attendance at the gathering of the board becomes impossible.

Under the circumstances Mr. Wearing's decision to devote himself exclusively to his duties as City Solicitor is probably best for himself, for the city and for the Board of Education.

It will be necessary for the latter body to appoint another member in Mr. Wearing's place for the balance of his term, and that is a matter to which earnest consideration should be given.

The appointment cannot be made until the next meeting, which permits an opportunity to survey the field of possibles closely and to make a choice in the interests of the city in general and the cause of education in particular.

DR. McPHERSON'S REPORT.

The mere fact that the report of Dr. A. W. McPherson, the school physician, shows that nearly 1,000 Peterborough children out of 2,892 examined during the year were suffering from health defects of some kind or another, is sufficient justification for the carrying on of this work in the schools of Peterborough.

The report indicates that defective teeth, defective tonsils, defective vision, faulty nutrition, round shoulders and enlarged thyroid were the most common defects found

Until the present system of inspection was adopted most of these defects would have gone unnoticed, and the children would be bound to suffer in after life because these faults had not been corrected when there was a fair chance to do so.

Many a child in the past has been considered stupid when in reality his trouble was caused by a combination of faulty vision and a reluctance to admit his inability to see clearly.

Simlarly too, cases of mal nutrition have not been detected by the parents and in this connection it should not be forgotten that often the children who are found to be suffering from lack of proper nourishment come from good homes, and not as might have been expected from families in poor circumstances.

There is a wide field of opportunity open to the medical and nursing work being carried on in Peterborough's schools and the full effects will not be realized until later.

Better educated and healthier adults should be the result of the systematic inspection of the school children of today.

SPEEDERS AND SPEEDING MAGISTRATES.

While traffic accidents and the running down of children by motorists continue to be a feature of everyday life in the larger centres, it is rather surprising to read of the long list of speeders who are fined each day in the Police Courts and to find that the majority of such offenders escapes with a fine of $10.00.

In Toronto yesterday 183 speeding cases were dealt with in less than an hour, and nearly all of the guilty parties were let off with a $10 fine.

There does not seem to be much chance of stopping reckless driving if violations of the speed laws are to be tried at the rate of more than three a minute and if only nominal fines are collected.

It could not have been possible for the Toronto magistrate to have investigated the circumstances surrounding many of these cases, and probably the majority of those tried pleaded guilty without putting in an appearance at all.

That means that there was no opportunity given of picking out the most flagrant offenders, and that the usually careful driver who happened to get beyond the speed limit a mile or two was given exactly the same punishment as the reckless individual who made a speedway out of a city street.

The complaint is not, of course, that the minor offender was fined $10, but rather that the really careless driver escaped with a similar amount.

So long as people can avoid appearance in court and can be sure of nothing worse than a small fine, it is to be feared that the traffic squad—and the coroners and undertakers—will have a lot of work to do.

MERIT SYSTEM APPROVED

Those politicians who—openly or secretly—are in favor of a return to the spoils system will derive little comfort from the report of the parliamentary committee which has been investigating the working of the Civil Service act, says the Hamilton Spectator. The committee, after long and careful inquiry, gives unqualified endorsation to the merit system and the method of appointment by competitive examination. There is absolutely no encouragement for those who are yearning for a revival of the good old days of patronage. In all essential particulars the Civil Service act is approved; some recommendations are made of a nature to facilitate the working of the act and to improve existing arrangements, but its main principles are upheld.

There will be general satisfaction at the outcome of the committee's deliberations. Beyond question, an attempt has been made by some parliamentarians to discredit the merits system in order that they might get back, if possible, their old-time privileges. Many legislators, in fact, make no disguise of their desires in this respect. They must, however, reconcile themselves to altered conditions; the electorate is in no mood to restore a prerogative so charged with abuses and injustice. The rewards should go to those who, by ability and industry, are entitled to them, irrespective of their political preferences, not to those who may have done service of an interested nature to a political party or individual. That is only fair and right.

Nevertheless, there were proven defects in the operation of the Civil Service act, and the remedies suggested ought to be promptly applied. The act should be made so good that the mouths of the critics will be stopped. Having inaugurated right principles, the perfecting of details of administration is a comparatively simple matter. The danger that the whole reform might be abandoned at the behest of the opportunists and time-servers has passed. The Civil Service commission continues to function, and will no doubt welcome the suggestions made for its improvement.

SHELBY AND KANAWAKI

Recently at the little Town of Shelby, Montana, two men of powerful physique and a certain animal courage, tried to batter one another into insensibility for money.

On the same day and almost at the same hour a dozen or more men, supple of limb and hard as nails through clean living and exercise in the open air, played a game of skill and endurance to decide who shall be champion golfer of Canada.

The prize at Shelby was not an award to the "victor of the games." There was a cold-blooded contract drawn up before-hand which stipulated that Jack Dempsey should get a king's ransom for his share of the pummelling, whether he was knocked into insensibility or succeeded in pounding consciousness out of his opponent. The plans of the promoters went agley and Mr. Dempsey received a paltry quarter of a million dollars for his forty-five minutes of smashing at his adversary, while the latter must find his pecuniary reward in appearing before gaping crowds at cheap vaudeville houses and in a slice of the moving picture rights.

The men who fought at Kanawaki were battling for no money prize, but for the right to be called for one year the amateur golf champion of Canada, and incidentally for a little silver mug, the emblem of the title. They matched their wits and their skill for five long hours during any moment of which a false step might have proved fatal to their hopes. The fight at Shelby was like a bloody encounter between primitive savages, belaying one another with club or cestus; that at Kanawaki was the dual between brilliant swordsmen, with the quick thrust and parry of the rapier, the guard and lunge of the masters of the foils.

In the club-house of one of the oldest golfing clubs in Britain there is a tablet in the place of honor to the men who gave their lives in the Great War and a word of remembrance for those who served. It records that of the playing strength of the club amounting to 475, no less than 461 offered themselves for active service. Flanked on each side of the tablet are the photographs of two famous struggles on the last green of championship meetings. The juxtaposition of the tablet and the scenes is not without significance. This morning the Great War Veterans of Arizona assembled to pass a resolution deploring the fact that Mr. Jack Dempsey had won his battle. The Veterans remember that Mr. Jack Dempsey had his chance to fight in a real battle when the Hun threw his glove across the face of every American man—and woman—in 1917, and he showed his true worth then. The kind of fighting that was done by the Doughboys, the Tommies and the Poilus in France was not the sort to suit Mr. Dempsey. There was no money in it for this brand of champion, no posing in the spotlight, not even the applause of the little Town of Shelby.

Less than seven thousand people visited the Montana town. The satisfactory feature about this crowd at Shelby is that it was a mere handful compared with the packed masses of former fights, while at Kanawaki the crowd was larger than in previous years. Is it possible that men and women are beginning to see through the tinsel of these prize fights, to rub below the surface so skilfully larded over by propaganda and to catch a glimpse of this tawdry battle in its true light, its commercialism, its vaudeville and its bestiality?

Which was the better game to watch, Shelby or Kanawaki?

"Jack dug a hard right into Tom's stomach and then landed another right on the same spot. Gibbons swung a right to the jaw and staggered Jack with a left to the head."

"With the score all square, Bredin drove from the thirty-seventh tee and went away to the right a distance of two hundred and fifty yards on to another fairway, while Stan Thompson drove straight and clean down the course. Bredin had one hope of saving the game and he risked everything with a brassie and sent his ball high over the trees until it stopped dead on the far edge of the green. It was one chance in a hundred and it won him the hole and the match and perhaps the championship."

The Shelby fans were disappointed at the tameness of the blood-fest, but the gallery at Kanawaki saw par golf. And between par golf and fist fights the choice must be determined by individual temperament.—Montreal Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The easiest way for the Sydney strikers to get rid of the troops would be to end the strike and go back to work.

The report that the Kingston ball team is to be shaken up recalls the fact that they were pretty well shaken up here on Saturday.

Figures show there are 5.7 motor cars for every 100 inhabitants in Canada. The trouble is, most of them come along when you are trying to cross a street.

Col. Currie does not land in the new Cabinet. What is the matter with the Toronto Telegram?

The head of the Government Advisory Fuel Committee takes all the pleasure out of this beautiful July weather by warning Canadians to get in their supply of fuel for next winter.

The Examiner's complaint that the Ontario Government pamphlet advertising the charms of this Province does not do justice to Stoney Lake in particular or the Kawarthas in general is endorsed by summer resort proprietors and others interested in the district.

The numbers of cars with American license plates, however, indicates that Stoney Lake is able to attract tourists without the assistance of the Government literature.

There are demands being made for the heads of the Gregory Commission on a silver platter. Still it might be just as well to have the long-waited report before the official decapitation takes place.

Port Arthur's Mayor evidently does not want his community to be a second Shelby. And, accordingly, has declared that Jack Dempsey wouldn't be allowed to light there. Possibly His Worship knows how hard it is to raise $300,000 in Port Arthur.

TENNIS BALL FATAL DIET FOR "HIPPO"

CINCINNATI, July 11.—The person who threw a tennis ball into the cage of "Zeeko," gigantic hippo at the Zoo, caused the death of that animal, famous as the largest specimen of his kind in captivity in America. This fact was revealed at a post mortem conducted by General Manager Stephen of the Zoo. The tennis ball was found wedged in the huge beast's stomach, where, unable to pass further through the narrow opening, it formed a fatal obstruction, which resulted in "Zeeko's" death. The animal weighed about two tons and a half and was valued at $5,000.

CHICAGO WHEAT.

CHICAGO, July 11. —(Canadian Press.)— Wheat tumbled in price yesterday to $1 00 a bushel—a figure once considered ideal from a farmer's point of view, but at present said to be well below the cost of production. Prospects that the domestic spring crop would be ready to harvest before being overtaken by black rust had much to do with yesterday's break, as did the fact that the first car of new wheat to reach Chicago this season has arrived. The market closed weak, with all months at a new low price record for the season, including September $1.00 to $1.00 1-4, and December $1.03 to $1.03 1-8. Corn finished 1-2 to 1 3-8c. down; oats a shade to 1 1-8 and 1 1-4c. off, and provisions at a setback ranging from 5c. to 40c.

EGG MARKETS.

OTTAWA, July 11. — (Canadian Press.)—Receipts are again reported lighter but ample to meet immediate consumptive demand. Prices on the better grades are firm and weak on the undergrades.

Toronto carton extras 38, extras 34, firsts 27 to 28, seconds 22.

Montreal carton extras 31, extras 29, firsts 35, seconds 21.

Western markets unchanged.

New Brunswick country points straight gathered 25 to 26, jobbing St. John 28, retailing 35.

Prince Edward Island country points straight gathered 19 to 21, retail Charlottetown 23.

WINNIPEG CATTLE.

WINNIPEG, July 11.—(Canadian Press.) — Receipts, 995 cattle and calves, 380 hogs and 7 sheep.

With the carry over from Monday, cattle offerings totalled 1,800 head.

Medium grade offerings on the cattle market were in poor demand at 25 to 50 cents below Saturday's close. Top grades moved in fair demand at fairly steady prices.

The hog market was unchanged. Packers were bidding $8.35 for thick smooths and $9.18 for select bacons.

The sheep and lamb market was inactive.

WAS ALMOST A NERVOUS WRECK

Says Wincarnis Restored Her Health

"Ten months ago I began to lose my strength. My household duties became burdensome. I felt exhausted after the slightest exertion. Then my nerves got so bad that at the slightest noise I used to tremble, my legs would shake and my heart beat violently causing me to gasp for breath. One afternoon a friend called to see me and she was shocked at my pitiable condition. She went out and bought a bottle of 'Wincarnis' and gave me a dose right away. I continued taking 'Wincarnis' three times a day and its effect has been almost miraculous. Gradually but surely my strength came back, a color came into my cheeks, my nerves grew steady and it seemed as if I had taken a new lease on life. Today I am a very happy woman because I am well."

HASTINGS MEETING OF BIBLE SOCIETY

Union Gathering on Sunday Heard Talk By Missionary From India.

HASTINGS, July 11.—A union meeting in the interests of the Bible Society was held on Sunday evening in the Presbyterian Church. The chair was taken by Mr. W. M. Fowlds, President of the society, and on the platform were Rev. D. A. Thomson and Rev. M. L. Hinton, together with the representative of the society, Captain Godfrey, who has spent ten years in India in the work.

After the opening exercises, the speaker was introduced, and took his text, "I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ, for it is the power of God unto salvation." After giving some idea of the conditions existing in India, he related some thrilling experiences which the missionaries have been called on to endure, and told of the millions who were stil in heathen darkness. The address throughout was one of especial interest, and was listened to with rapt attention.

The Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. Plant, then gave an account of the amount collected by this district during the past year, and named the collectors for the ensuing year.

Heavy Hay Crop.

The farmers are busy harvesting the hay, which is unusually heavy and is being put in in excellent condition.

Personal.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Baker have been visiting friends in Marmora.

CAVAN PASTOR'S FAREWELL TALK

Rev. G. S. Rorke, Leaving Active Ministry, Will Reside in Peterboro.

CAVAN, July 11.—Rev. G. S. Rorke preached his farewell sermon to an attentive congregation on Sunday evening. He keenly felt the fact that in severing his connection with the congregations with whom he had labored to preach and live the teachings of Jesus Christ, during the past three years, he was also leaving the active ministry.

After the service the choir led in singing "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

One pleasing feature of Mr. Rorke's retiring is that he will reside in Peterborough, where his Cavan friends will have many opportunities of meeting him and his family.

On Wednesday Mr. Rorke moves out and Mr. Richards, the new pastor, will take his place.

Rev. Mr. Beckle of Bethany goes to Castleton, where Rev. Mr. Richards has been stationed.

Personal.

George Rorke continues to improve in health.

Mrs. Lloyd Sutton is visiting friends in Toronto.

Miss Josie Sutton, with Dorothy and Ralph Edmison, have been spending the past week on the farm with her brother, Mr. Lloyd Sutton.

Mr. Reginald Sutton is home for vacation.

THIEVES STRIPPED CAR WRECKED ON ROADSIDE

LINDSAY, July 11.—A broken fence rail, about five feet in length, and lying on the Madoc Road, was disastrous for a touring car on Sunday evening, when it threw the machine into a ditch, tearing off a front wheel. The car, which is owned by Mr. George T. Woodley, furrier of this city, was being driven towards Madoc by Leslie Woodley at the time of the accident. Although on the right side of the road, travelling north, the car was thrown into the ditch at the left side of the road. No one was injured.

The car was left there over night, the accident occurring about 9.30 o'clock, and during the night thieves stole all four tires coil, headlight bulbs, radiator cap and oil caps, besides a lady's woollen coat.

This morning Mr. Woodley notified the Provincial police and they are investigating the case to-day.

The accident occurred about one mile and a half north of this city.

CENTENARIAN SCALES 14,109 FOOT PEAK

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., July 11.—Patrick Murphy is slowly adding to his record the distinction of being the only centenarian to scale Pike's Peak, whose altitude is 14,109 feet. He began Saturday at noon and yesterday was half-way up. A cog train crew offered him a

PRESENTATION TO MISSION LEADER

Bethany Young Ladies Honor Departing Pastor's Wife—L.O.L. Parade.

BETHANY, July 11.—On Friday evening the members of the Young Ladies' Mission Club of the Methodist Church gathered at the parsonage to give a small parting gift to Mrs. Beckel before going to her new home at Castleton. Mrs. Beckel has been the W.M.S. representative in the Mission Club for several years and acted in the capacity of superintendent of the club. Miss Irene Staples read short address and Miss Priscilla Howden presented Mrs. Beckel with a beautiful silver pie server, engraved with the initials "Y.L.M.C., Bethany." Mrs. Beckel was taken completely by surprise, and though deeply moved by the thoughtfulness of the young ladies, made a suitable reply to the gift address. The address read:

"Mrs. Beckel.

"Dear Mother of Our Mission Club,—As it has come to the time when we must sever relations with each other, we wish to make our appreciation of your loving helpfulness known. We knew and understood your inability to be always present with us at our various meetings, but we want you to know that whenever you were able to be with us we loved your bright, cheery manner. It was an inspiration to us to do more and better work, so we ask you to accept this gift in the spirit that it is given as a slight reminder of the times we have spent together. We wish you, Mrs. Beckel, and the children, every success in your new field of labor and we hope you may early find your little nook among the young people, the same as you have done with us, and may God's presence ever be with you.

"Signed on behalf of the Mission Club—Priscilla Howden, President; Irene Staples, Secretary; Mabel Challice, Treasurer."

Orange Parade.

The Orangemen of Lodge 1022 marched from their lodge room, headed by the band, to the Methodist Church on Sunday evening, where Rev. J. E. Beckel addressed them. Mr. Beckel took for his lesson the last part of the 6th chapter of Ephesians. His address dealt with the obligations of the Orange order.

The hymns, choir anthems and a selection by the male quartette were all in keeping with the occasion.

Owing to the Orangemen's service in the Methodist Church, service was withdrawn in the Presbyterian Church.

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

CAMPBELLFORD WANTS RAILWAY SPAN OPEN

Town Clerk Will Take the Matter Up With Headquarters in Montreal—A Boom in Real Estate

CAMPBELLFORD, July 11. — Town Clerk McGregor has been instructed to write to the headquarters officials of the National Railway at Montreal, asking that steps be taken to put in operation again the spur of the system which runs through this town, forming a roadway from the depot to the river. Efforts to have the spur re-opened have been made before, negotiations being carried on with Division Superintendent McMillan at Belleville. A short time ago a communication was sent the latter officials calling attention to the fact that the clay and gravel was slipping from the embankment at the Saskatoon crossing and covering the sidewalk. The company was requested to raise the stone wall a foot or two so as to do away with the nuisance.

Mr. McMillan has not, it seems, been able to find time to answer this communication and he has been dropped from the list of the town's correspondents. For that reason the town has decided to leap over his head and lay their case in question before the head officials.

It is about 18 months since the railway company ceased operating the spur. They gave as their reason that the overhead bridge at Ranney street and the culvert at Booth street were no longer safe for the passage over them of an engine and that the amount of business derived from the spur did not warrant any outlay for repairs. A deputation went to Belleville and after a conference with the officials, returned with the ultimatum that the line would not be re-opened unless the railway people were guaranteed 24,000 worth of business in a year. The town was ready to meet this condition, and then other complications arose. The company maintained that the bridge and culvert were no longer safe for traffic.

An incident that occurred last week accounts for a revival of the agitation to have the spur re-opened. J. W. Robertson Ltd., Montreal, had a 70-ton steam shovel stored in one of the buildings of P. J. Kelly, through whose premises the spur passed, and this Mr. Robertson desired to move to Ivanhoe. The railway people refused to send an engine to draw the shovel from the storehouse to the main track on the ground that the bridge was not safe, so that Mr. Robertson had to employ horse power to move it. The transfer was made Saturday and the hefty steam shovel crossed the bridge and culvert without causing a creak or sag in either. It was halted on the bridge for some time and there is was photographed by F. C. Bonnycastle.

The spur in operation would be a benefit to the business men of the city. It would be of especial advantage now the new High school building is in process of construction, as material could be brought from the depot and delivered on the site.

Orangemen to Celebrate.

The 233rd anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne will be celebrated here to-morrow, when lodges of the Orange fraternity are expected from all parts of Northumberland, Hastings, Peterborough and Victoria counties. The headquarters of the visiting brethren will be a Cole's Opera House, and the parade will form at 1.30 on Dr. Macoun's land opposite that building. At 1.30 the procession will start for Beatty's Grove, out the Hastings road, where the intellectual part of the programme will be disposed of. The speakers announced for the occasion are: J. F. B. Belford, M.L.A.-elect, Rev. Rural Dean Clarke and the other clergymen of the town, and C. L. Owen, ex-M.P. Mayor Meyers will act as chairman.

Every care will be taken to provide for the wants of the visitors and the ladies of the Methodist church will serve meals during the afternoon and evening. Refreshment booths will be erected, too, in various parts of the town and the local brethren have received from the Council the necessary authority to decorate the town in keeping with the event. A large platform has been erected in the grove, which is an ideal spot for an outing of this kind.

Naming the Streets

Now that a new map of the town is to be prepared it is proposed that these streets be named so as to prevent confusion. At present there are two Booths streets in the town. Centre street conveys the idea of a central location whereas that thoroughfare lies on one side of the municipality. Bridge street becomes Tice street, when it crosses the bridge on its way west and in other sections further out is indifferently known on Sebastapol street and the Hastings Road. Other designations have neither local nor historic significance while the manner of others are suggestive of the early years in a community when the thoroughfares are referred to in terms of convenience.

In this connection it has been suggested that when the new plan is prepared the houses and business places he numbered. This could be done at a nominal cost to each property owner who could obtain the correct location of his building from the town clerk. The figures required to number a building could be obtained for a few cents. Under present conditions it is difficult for a stranger to find any particular location and it is also difficult for a prison familiar with the town to direct an inquirer.

The proposed improvement also includes the pulling up of street names at least on the principal corners.

Campbellford's Boom

Probably the expansion planned and announced by the Campbellford Cloth Company is responsible for it but whatever the reason, Campbellford is enjoying a boom in real estate and more building operations are in prospect. The price of lots has gone up in all sections of the town and house rent, too, is also on the upgrade. A. J. Meyers R. J. Allan and Ed. Plummer have recently purchased vacant lots on the south western district, and it is understood that all three will erect residences which will be offered for sale or to rent.

Death at Cannington

Friends are sympathizing with Mrs. I. A. Humphries in the death of her sister, Mrs. Harry Keslick of Cannington which took place on Monday. This makes a double bereavement in the family in a very short time, her father, Mr. Woodward also of Cannington having passed away a few months ago. Mrs. Humphries was called to Cannington recently due to her sister's illness and with Mr. Humphries will remain there for the funeral which takes place on Thursday.

The German government protested diplomatically against tht insult and an inquiry was opened. The officials declare that one of the assailants was an American.

SIX QUARTS CHERRIES SELLING FOR QUARTER

ST. CATHARINES, July 11 (Canadian Press). — Never has Niagara District seen such a wealth of cherries as this year, particularly the later varieties, and because of the low prices and the inability to get pickers, a great deal of the fruit must rot on the trees, as happened in the case of plums last year.

Orchards of Niagara District are red with desirable fruit, and on the market here, the cherries are selling as low as 25 cents and 30 cents a six-quart basket.

BARNYARD HEN MUST CONFORM TO STANDARDS

New Grading Regulations Puzzle to Hens — Must Be Right in Size, Shape and Color.

POOR BIDDY.

Someone has said that this is an age of standardization. It looks very much as if the desire for efficient production is going to provide some thinking for our old friend, the barnyard hen, and it is a popular belief, also, that the hen hasn't many brains to think with. The cackler who used to make so much fuss over the production of her daily contribution to the breakfast table won't be as spontaneous as heretofore. For the egg-grading regulations say: "No longer will a hen that produces 200 eggs or more be specially valuable as a breeder unless her eggs weigh at least 2 ounces each."

Before Biddy begins to boast, then, she will have to discover, by expert examination, whether the egg she has just laid is of good quality, and grades well up in size, shape and color. If her owner wants white eggs, a producer of mottled samples will be frowned upon, and the formation of social classes among the poultry inhabitants of the chicken run will certainly commence when one feathered hen begins to realize her responsibilities, in advance of other less open-minded birds who still think that the production of an egg a day fulfills their duty to mankind. For, "Something more than mere numbers of eggs is now required from the hens."

Such minor matters as shape of egg and texture of shell are now considered of prime importance. "The proof of the pudding" may be in the eating, but evidently, from now on, the proof of an egg will be in its ability to stand up to an inspection of its size, shape and color.

However, to a mind occupied with the puzzling question as to the very best method of imparting an inkling of their new responsibilities to these addle-pated birds comes a ray of hope in the remark that "All the qualities of size, shape and color are hereditary, which greatly simplifies the problem." All that the hen must do, then, is to follow in the footsteps of a conscientious parent, and produce the same quality of egg that distinguished the day of her mother.

It is all in line, probably, with the modern attitude, that "it pays to advertise, but you have to have the goods."

Wheat Prices Had Set-Back Yesterday.

CHICAGO, July 11. — (Canadian Press.)—Wheat underwent a sharp setback in price yesterday, and for the first time this season the September delivery sold as low as $1 a bushel. Much of the decline came after the announcement of the arrival in Chicago of the first car of new wheat received here from the 1923 crop.

Prices closed weak at the lowest level of the day, 2 1-2 cents to 3 5-8 cents under Monday's finish. Indications that the spring wheat crop was maturing ahead of threatened damage by black rust, was largely responsible for sending prices downgrade.

A FORMER LOCAL PASTOR HONORED

Rev. R. A. Whattam Heads Bay of Quinte Conference.

The community of Colborne and especially the congregation of the Methodist Church is greatly pleased and justly proud that the Rev. R. A. Whattam minister of the Methodist Church, has been chosen the president of the Bay of Quinte Conference and it seems a happy coincident that on the occasion of the 100th anniversary of Methodism in Colborne their pastor should be president of the conference. Mr. Whattam comes of good U. E. Loyalist stock, having been born in Prince Edward County. In his religious training there is a happy mingling of good Methodist and Quaker influence. Mr Whattam taught school for a time in his native county on his way to the Ministry, which he entered as a probationer in 1899. He is a graduate in theology from Victoria University, and has from the first climbed steadily up the lines, preaching on some of the strongest circuits in the conference such as Woodville, Orono, Mark Street. Peterboro and at present the station of Colborne. Mr. Whattam's most outstanding work in the church has been his promotion of the cause of a minimum living for the ministers on the poorer circuits as secretary for many years of the Sustentation Fund. so that under his persistent endeavor the Bay of Quinte Conference was probably the first Methodist Conference in the world that ever paid all of its ministers a minimum salary. In 1918 Mr Whattam was elected secretary of conference and the same year was elected a delegate to the general conference. In 1922 he was again a member of the general conference and a few days ago was elected president of his own conference on the first ballot by the largest vote polled for a president for many years. The official wand of office, a beautiful walking stick made from wood from the altar of the Hay Bay Church, the first Methodist chapel built in Upper Canada, Mr. Whattam proudly carries it out on special walks. Being president of conference, Mr. Whattam is ex-officio chairman of the Brighton District. His many friends congratulate him and wish him full joy with the great responsibilities of his high office.—Colborne Enterprise.

THREE MEN DROWNED

MARQUETTE, Mich., July 11 (Canadian Press). — Three employees of Marquette County Road Commission were drowned near Champion yesterday when the truck in which they were riding crashed through a fence and down the steep embankment, turning over in a pond of water, four feet in depth.

The driver lost control of the truck when a mouse jumped upon the shoulder of one of the men in the front seat, who, frightened, jostled the driver, causing him to let go the wheel.

OFFICER WAS DROWNED

QUEBEC, July 11 (Canadian Press). — News reached here yesterday that Wilfred Caron, the third officer on the steamer Arctic, which cleared from here on Monday for the Arctic regions, had been drowned off Crane Island, when he fell overboard.

He had accompanied Captain Bernier on previous voyages on the Arctic.

A COMPARISON OF PETERBORO PRICES

Some Prices Are Lower and Others Are Higher—The New Fruits.

A comparison of Peterborough prices with those of Toronto for dairy products and store goods shows considerable variation. In Toronto, on the St. Lawrence Market on Saturday last, butter was 30, 35 and 40 cents a pound. On the farmers' market here it ranged from 33 to 38 cents a pound. In the stores, one may buy it for 31 to 39 cents for the creamery, and for 30 to 35 cents a pound for the dairy.

Eggs in Toronto's market on Saturday were from 33 to 45 cents a dozen. Here they were selling for 24 cents, while the lowest the stores offer is 25 cents a dozen.

On the St. Lawrence Market in Toronto on Saturday prime ribs of beef were selling at 30 cents a pound and blade ribs at 20 cents. In the low-price butcher stores here the prime ribs are 22 cents a pound and blade ribs 15 cents. Breasts of mutton were 6 cents a pound, yearling lambs were 12 cents for fronts and 20 cents for loins and 25 cents for legs. In local markets breasts of mutton were 10 cents, yearling lambs were 15 cents for fronts and 35 cents for loins and 30 cents for legs. Young lamb in Toronto was quoted at 45 cents for legs, 35 cents for loins and 30 cents for fronts. Here it is 50 cents a pound for legs, 45 cents for loins and 30 cents for fronts. Front quarter joints of veal in Toronto were priced from 10 to 20 cents a pound, loins and legs at 25 cents a pound. Here fronts are 12 cents, loins and legs 30c a pound.

New potatoes sold on the Toronto market for 20 cents a measure. They are 20 and 25 cents a measure here, according to quality. Green peas here on Saturday and in the stores were 2 quarts for a quarter. In Toronto they were 50 and 65 cents a basket.

Strawberries have been selling in Toronto and district as low as 7 cents a box, with an ordinary price from 8 to 10 cents and 12 cents as a fancy price. Here the lowest price has been 2 boxes for a quarter, and most fruiterers are asking 15 cents a box.

Cherries are selling in Toronto market for 40 and 60 cents for a small basket and 75 and 85 cents for a large one. In local stores red cherries are 15 cents a quart in most instances, or 2 quarts for 25 cents in others, and 95 cents for a 10-quart basket Black cherries are 25 and 40 cents a pound; also $1.15 and $1.25 for a six-quart basket.

Meat prices here are comparatively stationary, with an advance on steak. Spring lamb is selling from 20 to 50 cents a pound.

Blueberries and red currants are new arrivals in local fruit stores, the former selling at 35 cents a quart, the latter at 15 cents a box. Pears from California are five cents apiece.

SPLINTER OF GLASS PIERCED HIS BRAIN

Strange Death of Toronto Youth in Auto Accident Near Delaware.

LONDON, Ont., July 11.—Harry Wilson, eighteen-year-old son of Samuel Wilson, of 350 Brunswick Avenue, Toronto, a manufacturer of ladies' ready-to-wear apparel, was instantly killed on the Provincial Highway a mile east of Delaware last evening, when the family motor car smashed a wheel and overturned.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, their nine-year-old daughter and a lady friend, Mrs. Esther Kozea, of 575 West Dundas Street, Toronto, were brought to Victoria Hospital here suffering from contusions and shock, but their condition is not serious.

The accident was witnessed by a Chatham party homeward bound, and the victims were brought to London by the Chatham motorists.

It was claimed by Samuel Wilson that he was driving home from a visit to Detroit, when he met a car holding to the middle of the road. To avoid trouble, Wilson turned to the left side and got into soft earth where grading operations are being carried on.

In an effort to extricate the car, he cramped the front wheels, one of which collapsed, thus causing the car to overturn. The windshield smashed in the crash and a splinter penetrated Harry Wilson's head, causing instant death.

Young Lady Made a Double Rescue.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., July 11 (Canadian Press). — Caught as she was climbing the rail preparatory to throwing herself into the Niagara Rapids above the Falls, Jennie Campbell, aged 19, of Tillsonburg, was taken into custody yesterday across the river.

A difference between her mother and herself was given as the reason for the young woman's act.

Mothers Advise Their Daughters to Rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Keep Them in Health

A Mother's Advice Restores Mrs. Hall to Health

Lindsay, Ontario.—"I had very poor blood and was bothered with pains in my side and back. I took kidney medicine for a while without success. I got pale, weak and nervous. My mother, who has used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a number of years with very good results, advised me to take it and I did. It did me worlds of good. I have gained twenty pounds and have not felt so well for a long time. You may use this letter as a testimonial to help others if you think it worth it."—Mrs. MARY E. HALL, R. R. 5, Lindsay, Ontario.

A Sickly Child

Mahoningtown, Pa.—"I would like to say a few words about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. About a year ago I thought it would be necessary for me to take my daughter out of school. She was losing weight, was nervous, and when she would come home from school she would drop into a chair and cry, and say, 'Mamma, I don't believe I can go to school another day!' I gave her Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now she is a healthy, happy, hearty, strong girl and weighs 120 pounds. She has no difficulty in doing her 'gym' work, and she works at home every night and morning, too. I am a mother who can certainly praise your medicine, and if it will be of any benefit you may use this letter as a reference."—Mrs. GEORGE E. WHITACRE, 621 W. Madison Avenue, Mahoningtown, Pa.

Every girl wants to be healthy and strong, and every mother wants her daughter to do well in school and to enjoy herself at all times.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine for young girls just entering womanhood. Mothers may depend upon it. Remember it is prepared from roots and herbs, contains nothing that can injure, and tends to tone up and strengthen the organs concerned, so that they will work in a healthy and normal manner.

For nearly fifty years it has been used by women of all ages, and these women know its great value.

Let it help your daughter and yourself. G

LONDON, July 11.— (Canadian Press.)— The Prince of Wales, it was learned to-day, intends to visit Canada in the autumn. His visit will be a private one and he will not accept official engagements.

Nine Persons Voted Names Not on List.

Owen Sound, July 11. Canadian Press.—Believing he was entitled to permit anyone to vote whom he knew had the proper qualifications, whether their names apepared on voters' lists or not, the deputy-returning officer at No. 2 poll, Keppel township, allowed nine such persons to vote, according to a note found in the ballot box, when it was opened for the recount of ballots cast in North Grey. Proceedings were continued before Judge Sutherland and a total of 29 disputed ballots have been set aside for consideration on the last day of the recount which will probably be on Thursday.

Application for a recount was made by William Breese, the Conservative candidate. Taylor, the U. F.O. candidate, was elected by a majority of 50 according to the official count.

Marine Railway to Be Introduced in Canada.

OTTAWA, July 11.—(Canadian Press).—W. Gordon Glover of London, England, consulting engineer for the Hawthorne & Co., Limited, of Leith, Scotland, arrived here today for the purpose of introducing to Canada the marine railway or "slipway" as it is known in England, to Canadian ship-repairing firms or public bodies owning ships.

He stated there was a great dearth of docking accommodation in Canada and that his firm had sent him out as the result of definite enquiries from Canadian ship companies, who were desirious of finding out more about the method employed in England in ship-repairing.

"MARRY YOUNG" SAYS MICHIGAN'S CHAMP FATHER, WHOSE YOUNGEST, OUT OF 33, IS ONLY 14 MONTHS

BAY CITY, Mich., July 10. — "Chubby" Lucius is 91—

But he still paces the floor nights with a restless, healthy-lunged youngster in his arms.

And it isn't his grandchild, either. It's his own baby son—14 months old now.

That boy is just one of "Chubby's" brood of 33 kiddies. The rest of them range all the way up the ladder to the 67-year mark.

Lucius, you see, has been married four times. He's the father of three sets of twins by his second wife and a pair by his fourth. The present Mrs. Lucius has borne him six sons and daughters.

Most all his children have children, too. To compute the exact number of his grandchildren probably would require a statistician's expert services.

"Chubby's" paternal experiences recall those of the late "Uncle John" Shell, of Greasy Creek, Ky., who at the age of 132 had a boy of five years.

The musty baptismal records, down in Vermillion, Erie County, O., reveal "Chubby" was christened Charles L. And Christmas Day, 1832, is set forth as the date of his birth.

But none dares say "Chubby" is old. And it makes him mad as a hornet when his sons' and daughters' children call him "Grandpa."

Despite his 91 years, he's spry. He throws out his chest and goes through his "daily dozen" with the ease of a trained college athlete. He touches his finger tips to the floor, then his knuckles, without bending his knees.

And his memory! He even can describe a buckskin suit — the one with four buttons inlaid with glass and covered with brass straps — an Indian woman made him away back in 1837.

He may not be able to pass Thos. Edison's intelligence tests, for he can neither read nor write, but that's about all he can't do.

Plenty of fresh air and plenty of hard work is Lucius' first recipe for a long life Early marriage is his second.

"Stay out-of-doors all you can" he advises. "Don't be afraid of real labour. It doesn't kill anybody. And when it comes to your eats, lay off the frills. The old common grub we knew back in the '40's and '50's had it all over this high-toned stuff they are feeding you nowadays.

"Marry young. You'll be a lot happier if you do. Big families are life's greatest joy. The kids will keep you from growing old.

"Why, these young folks sit up now and tell you they can't afford to marry. Say, when I got married this last time, I only had $4.00 to my name.

"Now I've got my home all paid for. And my children haven't been denied a thing."

In lieu of any written record, the history of "Chubby's" prolific family has come down through the years by word of mouth just as the sagas of the early Anglo-Saxon bards.

Piecing together these fragments of genealogical information one discovers Lucius is of aristocratic Dutch stock. His father and grandfather, it seems, were generals in Holland's little army. His great-grandfather was a British general. The surname Charles has run right on down the line from the old British commander to Charles Jr., thirty-third member of "Chubby's" flock.

Along about January, 1931, things were not going well in Holland—especially with General Charles Lucius. The general's life had been threatened. So had his wife's.

Mrs. Lucius came to America. Her son was born soon after. She died a few months later. An aunt took the boy to Texas. Then she was killed in an Indian fight.

Charles stayed in the West. The Civil War broke out and he enlisted with the Confederates. He left St. Louis with a company of rangers recruited by Frank James, brother of Jesse of desperado fame. Hardtack was scarce with the Confederates—so "Chubby" joined the Union side.

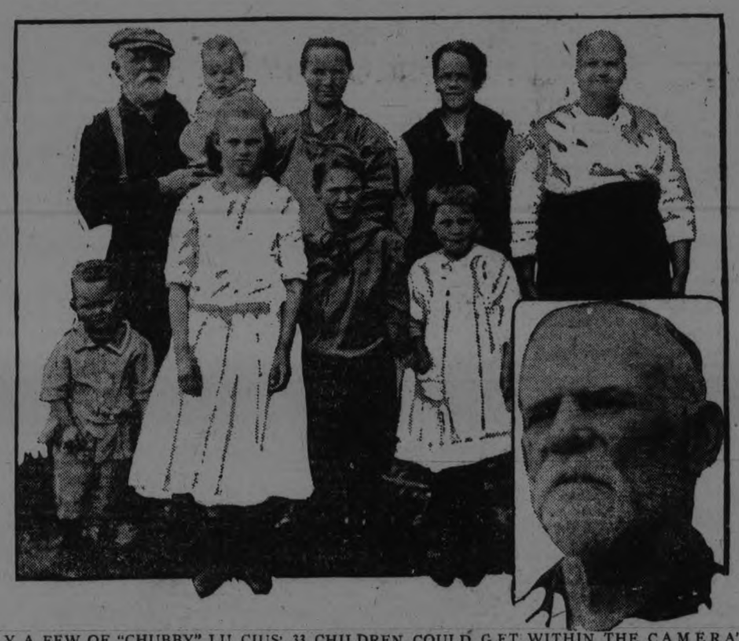
Followed two years in a prison camp. Then enlistment in a Michigan infantry regiment. After the war, while a federal guard on the Mexican border, he wooed and won a Spanish senorita. They came to Michigan on horseback.

Two years after her death a Scottish lassie from Canada stole his affections. His third wife also was a Canadian. She was killed in a gasoline stove explosion in the '90s. In 1906, "Chubby" went in for his fourth matrimonial venture. Which, from all appearances, was mighty successful.

"Well, I've still got a long time ahead of me," mused Bay City's boy of 91 summers as his interviewer rose to go.

"My grandmother was 126 when she died. One of my uncles was 115 and an aunt was 106.

"So I guess "Chubby" Lucius will be hanging around a good while yet."



NLY A FEW OF "CHUBBY" LU CIUS' 33 CHILDREN COULD G ET WITHIN THE CAMERA'S RANGE AT ONCE. BUT HERE ARE SEVEN OF VARIOUS AGES. HIS WIFE IS AT THE EXTREME RIGHT. INSET IS "CHUBBY" HIMSELF.

ANGLICANS TALK UNION WITH ROME

Bishop of London Says Union With Great Orthodox Church of East Never Nearer.

LONDON, July 11.—(Canadian Press Cable)—Bishop of London addressing delegates to Anglo-Catholic Congress here said, they never seemed to be nearer to the great orthodox church of the east, than at the present time, and they never gave up hope that Great Church, with its centre at Rome would some day lay aid ultramontane claims which in the present day made Union with it impossible for any self-respecting church. If that part of its teaching which they considered unscriptural were eliminated, Bishop said, they might be able to come to terms.

"It had never been suggested," Bishop of London, stated, "that all those joining Re-united Church, should be forced to use same ritual or even the same prayers as Roman See. and even if this were granted, it would be totally different thing to their accepting sovereignty of that See. Recent ultimatum of Pope," he added, "led one to believe that Rome too now saw its past errors."

Bishop of London, is president of Anglo-Catholic Congress, which has about 20,000 delegates, bishops, priests and laymen who are said to represent one-third of membership of Church of England. Congress is being held in Albert Hall, London.

CONSTABLE WAS IN RIGHT, COURT SAYS

Objections by Delorme Defense Overruled by Sir Francois Lemieux.

MONTREAL, July 11 (Canadian Press) — When the trial of Rev. Adelard Delorme on the charge of murdering his half-brother, Raoul, opened this morning, Sir Francois Lemieux, the Judge, rendered his decision on an objection raised yesterday by the lawyers for the defence.

Alleyn Taschereau, K.C., and C. H. Cahan, K.C., to Detective Pigeon being permitted to repeat statements made to him and fellow-detectives by the accused about his gun and other things when the search of Delorme's house was being made.

His Lordship overruled the objection.

The objection was based on the fact that Father Delorme had not been warned that anything he might say would be used in evidence against him.

"It is held in English Court decisions that a constable may ask for an explanation as to property found on a person not yet charged with an offence" said His Lordship.

YOUNG LADY'S ACT AVERTED FATALITY

GRAND MERE, Que., July 11.—(Canadian Press).—The courage and swimming ability of Miss Dorothy Lebrocq averted a double drowning in Lac des Piles near her parents' cottage yesterday, when the young lady dived into the lake and rescued her mother and Master Denis Ames, who was visiting at their home.

The boy was able to swim a little but getting too far from shore he became confused and sank several times, when Mrs. Lebrocq swam to his rescue. When she reached the boy the lad threw his arms about her neck and hampered her efforts to such an extent that both were in grave danger when Miss Lebrocq went to their assistance.

THE SLUMP IN RADIO PROGRESS

After the first spurt in radio development, the science seems to have settled down to a matter of distance and hook-ups.

Yet, there is more to be done to improve present apparatus and perfect the science than has been accomplished so far.

The lull in the process of development, like the quiet after a storm, does not mean, however, that scientists are resting after their first successes. On the contrary, more research work is being done nowadays than ever before.

But this is the quiet, plodding kind of work which retains its secret until it has accomplished something big in the development of the science. When the scientists are ready to announce their next developments, it will be like another wave in the advancement of radio.

Meanwhile radio fans are getting their fill of hook-ups and changes for their receiving and transmitting sets, in order to gain what seems to be the greatest desire nowadays—distance.

Broadcasting stations pride themselves in the distance and areas they cover with their concerts, and amateurs vie with one another in attempts to cross the Atlantic on low wave lengths. It is a general race for distance records.

Yet, ultimately, distance will have little significance in radio transmission. Broadcasters will end their race for the farthest receiver and devote more attention to the quality of their programs. For broadcasting eventually will have to be systematized and even centralized to bring out the best that is in it.

Broadcasting stations in England don't try to seek the most distant receiver possible. There, the broadcasting is divided into geographic areas and a station provided for each. And all stations are under centralized government control.

In this country, the plan is to establish a central broadcasting station from which concerts would go out to auxiliary stations in important centers. Thus one good program could be heard at the same time throughout the country.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—No doubt you are getting tired of the J. C. Smith-Reddy correspondence. I am, and this will be my last. Mr. Smith says I give away my whole case when I use the words "rights within reason."

Reason is the basis of human conduct, and when a man conducts himself within reason he is entitled to his freedom. When, however, Mr. Smith thinks it is only in reason that is to govern the absurdity of prohibiting reasonable people appears. And that is just what the Reds do.

In order that Mr. Smith may grasp the true meaning of his contention correctly, I will ask him this simple question, "Does Mr. J. C. Smith think that I have a right to invade his household and compel him —a decent, reasonable man—to do as I say and conduct himself as I dictate?"—Yours, Reddy.

FARMERS ARE BUSY CUTTING HAY CROP

NORTH MONAGHAN, July 11.—The farmers are starting to cut hay. The air is full of the scent of sweet clover and the whirr of the mowers can be heard for miles in every direction.

The raspberries and currants are ripening in due course, although a good rainfall at this period would materially help them along.

The drum and fife and can be heard of an evening practising the regulation tunes for the Glorious 12th. Some of the residents of this district have intimated their intention of spending Thursday in Cobourg, where this year's celebration will be held.

ARE COLD FOODS COOLING IN HOT WEATHER?

That depends upon their composition. A cold food, after it is digested, may be very heating to the blood and a very hot tasting food may be cooling to it, depending upon whether food is acid forming or alkaline in nature. There is no difference in the blood temperature from either but acid-forming foods give one a hot, "all in" feeling, while alkaline foods keep it so, while acid foods turn the blood acid, which burns up and destroys the vitalizing elements of the blood and mental and physical energy must run down. Acid foods are white flour, refined cereals, meast, fats and white sugar, sweets. Alkaline cereals are whole grains, milk, beans, peas, green vegetables and fruits.

Roman Meal is 400 parts in each 1,000 parts "Excess Alkali." White flour and other cereals run from 50 to 200 parts "Excess Acid." Roman Meal, therefore, maintains normal alkalinity of the blood and keeps you cool and fit upon any kind of a day. Hot Roman Meal porridge or baked products are more cooling shortly after eating than any other grain food eaten cold. But delicious, icy-cold Roman Meal BROSE-O, CHOCOLO-O, or JELL-E, can be prepared in ten minutes, served with milk, cream, whipped cream, honey, preserved or fresh fruits. These are a hot day treat, unequalled by any other food for breakfast, luncheon or supper. Prevents indigestion. Relieves constipation. At grocers.

MENACE OF LABOR GOVERNMENT JOKED.

Peers in British House Deprecate the Practice of Treating Trades Unions As Enemies.

By MILTON BRONNER

LONDON, July 11.—Frightened by the "menace" of a Labor government in Britain, many members of the older parties in Parliament would like to attack the method by which the trades unions finance the party.

It is not a new thing.

Before now the trades unions have had to battle, finally winning a great victory when the act of 1913 was passed by Parliament. Under this act a trades union takes a ballot of its members to see whether they are willing to vote funds for election purposes.

Law Attacked

After an affirmative vote is had, individual members who object to contributing can get exemption without prejudice to themselves. This, of course, is to prevent workers belonging to the old parties from giving money to the Labor party if they did not intend to support its candidates.

But the law is once more under fire. Members of the old parties now have up a bill whereby, instead of individual unionists having to claim exemption, they would have to sign a paper if they did want to pay.

The older parties have no trouble raising funds because the manufacturers and landowners always contribute heavily to the Liberal and Tory party chests; either because of political favors or with an eye to receiving a peerage from a grateful premier.

How divided public opinion, outside of the labor ranks is on this subject of trades union political contributions, was shown recently in a debate in Lords.

Lord Birkenhead, who started out in life as F. E. Smith, a brilliant attorney, warned the government against the growing 'menace" of labor socialism and asked what it was going to do about this matter of union campaign funds.

Tories Hesitant

The Tories have no intention at the present time of violently antagonizing trade unions. Labor doesn't vote solidly for Labor party candidates. In the Lancashire and Yorkshire manufacturing districts many workmen support Tories.

The government realizes that if it made a violent change in the present laws, these workmen would revolt and smash Tory candidates.

Therefore, it was not surprising to hear Viscount Peel, replying for the government, say:

"If there is a large amount of Socialist feeling and opinion in the country, it is important that it should have the fullest voice and representation in Commons."

That the Labor party is not entirely without sympathizers in the House of Lords was made evident by the speeches of Lord Haldane. Haldane, one of Britain's greatest lawyers and philosophers, a former lord chancellor and at present on the supreme law court, frankly said his sympathies were very much with the Labor party. He supported it in the last election and he would support it again not because he had a desire to see items of their progress carried out but because back of what the Labor party stood for was the very real and earnest desire for a better life for the people —a genuine seeking to promote something like equality.

Peers Laud Labor

Lord Salisbury, son of a former premier, brother of Lord Robert Cecil, and himself a member of the present cabinet, deprecated treating trades unions as enemies.

And then Earl Russell closed the debate by making light of Birkenhead's fears of a Socialist-Labor government.

COMMITTEE ON APPOINTMENTS

by the Board for the building of a Combination Extension to the Collegiate Institute is still in an unsettled condition makes me regret more keenly that my resigantion becomes necessary at the present time. Personally I would very much prefer to see no building whatever done for another year or two in the hope that business conditions may become brighter before we are actually crowded out; but whenever any extension is proceeded with it would appear to me the wisest course to build a Combination Technical and High School extension in preference to a purely High School extension for the following reasons: In the first place, the whole modern trend of education is to fit children to become happier and more useful citizens in that sphere of work in which they will eventually be found, and it has been proved that a majority of children of both sexes become much more useful in after life if their hands are to some extent trained in simple arts during the period that the attempt is made to saturate their minds with theoretical knowledge. The facilities for this at present are wholly inadequate and with the increase in attendance of pupils over fourteen become more and more inadequate each year. The Combination Extension meets this need.

In the second place the facilities here as they stand at present without adequate provision for vocational training simply mean that to a great extent the poor are being taxed to educate the rich. For the most part those who graduate from the Collegiate are children of fairly well-to-do parents, who later prepare for different professions. A great deal of the knowledge taught in the Collegiate is of very little value indeed for boys and girls entering into industrial or domestic life. The period from twelve to sixteen or eighteen years is almost wasted unless the time at school is taken up with the kind of education which best fits them for after life. I claim that an extension to the Collegiate, which makes no provision for vocational training, simply adds more burden on the working class of taxpayers for which they will get little or no benefit.

In conclusion, I believe that in the long run the combination extension will prove cheaper than a purely High School extension, because I have a firm conviction that if the High School extension is proceeded with we will then be faced with a demand for a Technical School. I wish to go on record as being opposed to building a Technical School, because I do not believe this city will need or be able to afford one for many years yet. This demand can be obviated by building a combination extension which will provide all the vocational facilities the city will require for a long time yet. The combination extension will of course cost more than a High School extension, but finally the Government grants will pretty well take care of the difference, and we need only purchase the equipment as we require it. It must be remembered also that a High School extension is paid for wholly by the city, which means that we are being taxed to provide vocational training in other cities and refuse to accept any of these taxes for ourselves. From a purely economical standpoint, the combination extension seems to have everything in its favor, although, as I said at the beginning, I would much prefer to see no building at all done for a year or so if conditions would allow.

In tendering my resignation, I wish to express my hearty appreciation of the worth of the other members of the Board. Some members will not agree with the views expressed in this letter, and I respect the attitude taken by them, although I believe it to be wrong. I have found every member of the Board zealous for the welfare of the children of our city, having an intelligent appreciation of our educational problems, and being prepared to give all the time and trouble necessary to make the schools of Peterborough the equal of any city in the Province.

In resigning, Mr. Wearing said he appreciated the spirit of the members of the Board, and his experience as one of them had done him good.

Roland Denne expressed the regret of the Board in accepting Mr. Wearing's resignation, and A. A. Fowler, chairman, said the retiring member had worked well with the other members.

Appointments to Board.

To replace J. W. Worth, who resigned on his departure to Los Angeles, W. A. Richardson, at present on the Advisory Industrial Committee, was appointed to all the positions held by Mr. Worth except that on the Finance Committee. Roland Denne and J. M. Green were the proposer and seconder. Included in Mr. Denne's motion was a proposal to appoint E. B. Fowler to the vacancy on the Finance Committee, which also carried.

Dr. G. L. Macdougall's was the only name suggested with Mr. Richardson's. Dr. Macdougall had experience as chairman of the Harriston Board of Education, but has not been long resident in Peterborough.

On motion of J. M. Green, seconded by J. A. McKone, the vacancy on the Advisory Industrial Committee was filled by the appointment of G. A. Gillespie.

Teach By Subject.

Mr. McKone brought forward a suggestion arising out of his observations in schools in other cities, which he said would increase the capacity of the school by fifty per cent. This is to adopt the system of teaching in groups according to the subjects instead of by classes. It was conceded that this is worthy of consideration, but no action was taken at last night's meeting.

Tender Awarded.

J. A. McKone, chairman, reported: "Your Supervision Committee beg to report that, as authorized, we advertised for tenders for the text books and supplies required for the ensuing year, and have awarded the contract to Mr. R. J. Soden."

Other Business.

J. M. Green reported for the Property Committee that the tender for painting the schools had been awarded George Duncan, and the work is now in progress.

The Board adjourned until September, there being no meeting in August.

There were present: Chairman A. A. Fowler, Roland Denne, Dr. F. C. Neal, J. Wearing, J. A. McKone, Mrs. W. R. Morris and J. M. Green.

TO PROVIDE SEAT FOR MR. E. C. DRURY

Caucus Will Be Held at an Early Date to Make Way for Leader.

TORONTO, July 11.—(Canadian Press).—Before the elected and defeated U.F.O. candidates meet in party caucus here July 26, the elected U.F.O. members of the Legislature are to hold a meeting to decide which one will resign his seat to make an opening for Hon. E. C. Drury.

One of the defeated members stated yesterday that the elected group are a unit in their desire to have Mr. Drury return to the Legislature and to lead them. Regardless of his downfall, they believe him to be the political Moses of the farmers of the Province.

"I think that Mr. Drury is the only man to lead the U.F.O. party," said Hon. W. E. Raney last night. Mr. Raney declined to be drawn out regarding a report that he would give up his seat in East Wellington to Mr. Drury.

JUDGMENT FOR MRS. M. CLUXTON

Action Involving Chas. McGill's Stock Transaction Disposed Of.

TORONTO, July 11— On February 10th, 1910, Charles McGill returned to Toronto after a long absence which had resulted from the circumstances which surrounded the failure of the Ontario Bank of which he was general manager. Mr. McGill reopened dealings with Erickson Perkins & Co., stock brokers, with whom he had formerly done business. Though the account was opened as a "small trading account," the transactions some days totalled $85,000, $36,000 and $93,000.

Upon the death of Mr. McGill in 1918, Erickson, Perkins & Co. brought action against Mrs. Madge Cluxton, Chicago, a daughter of Mr. McGill, claiming that the account had really been hers, and that she had given her father authority to trade for her. They sought to recover a debit balance of $6,890.49, and asked a direction that certain shares belonging to Mrs. Cluxton be sold and the proceeds applied on the debt. These shares had been deposited with them as security by Mr. McGill, who had access to his daughter's safety deposit box.

Relied On Document.

The brokers produced a document purporting to have been signed by Mrs. Cluxton and accepting any transactions by C. McGill in trust for her. Mr. Justice Kelly has given judgment holding that Mrs. Cluxton did not sign this document and dismissing the brokers' action. At the same time they are directed to restore to Mrs. Cluxton her shares of stock.

At the trial Harcourt Ferguson, K.C., appeared for the brokers, and Gideon Grant, K.C., for Mrs. Cluxton.

The document alleged to have been signed by Mrs. Cluxton on February 15th, 1910, was the important factor in the case. At the trial she positively denied that she had signed the document, or that she had any knowledge of it until years after its date, when accidentally circumstances, investigation of which resulted in the discovery that the plaintiffs had carried on, for more than four years, with Charles McGill, extensive dealings in stocks, grains, etc.

Witness Was Mistaken.

Mrs. Mary Shaughnessy, who had been in the employ of the brokers in 1910, stated that she had seen Mrs. Cluxton sign the document. In this Mr. Justice Kelly thinks she was mistaken. She was a reliable and honest witness, who gave her evidence frankly, but she is held to have been mistaken.

Mrs. Cluxton, the judgment remarks, was quite as frank in giving her evidence. According to her, she was in Chicago from three weeks before February 15th till April 4th. She was in Toronto in May or June, when she saw her father for the first time after his return from an absence of some years. Her evidence was substantially corroborated by her brother, Vernon McGill, and also by John McGill. She stated that she did sign a document in the brokers' office in November, 1913, but that document, produced at the trial, was entirely different in character.

An Old Customer.

"There are other circumstances," says Mr. Justice Kelly, "which point to no other reasonable conclusion than that the plaintiffs treated the document alleged to be signed as a mere form and regarded not her but her father as their customer. The plaintiffs for some years, ending with the occurrences which resulted in the defendant's father's absence from Toronto, had extensive stock dealings with them, and became familiar with his mode of dealing. He returned to Toronto on or about February 2nd, 1910, after this extended absence and on February 15th he was back again in the plaintiffs' office prepared to re-engage in and did then re-engage in stock transactions which defendant says were his weakness."

Dealt Heavily.

When Mr. McGill went to the brokers he first spoke of opening an account in the name of his son, but determined otherwise because his son was then a minor. He then spoke of opening an account in the name of his daughter. Though he spoke of it as a small trading account, the transaction showed how he failed to keep within those limits. In the first 13 days after opening it the transactions totalled over $25,000. In March, on one day alone, the buying transactions totalled $85,000. On one day in April they totalled over $85,000, and one on day in May over $93,000.

Bought and sold notes and other statements were issued by the brokers, but none of these were sent to Mrs. Cluxton.

No Word To Mrs. Cluxton.

"Is it reasonable to assume," asks the judgment, "that in these heavy transactions spread over a period of years, plaintiffs should have withheld from the defendant all knowledge of the dealings if they had in mind resorting to her as the one to make good any losses that might arise?

"And it is a reasonable inference that if the plaintiffs intended to hold the defendant liable they would have relied upon the informal writing loosely drawn, equivocal in its terms and unwitnessed? Business prudence as usually practiced by experienced business men would have called for something prepared with greater accuracy and formality.

"Immediately on learning in 1914 that her name was being used as a party to her father's dealings with the plaintiffs she repudiated the document and all connection with and liability for the transaction thereunder; and she demanded the return of the stock certificates for the shares which her father had attempted to dispose of, and possession of which he had obtained through having access to her safety deposit box.'

Notwithstanding Mrs. Cluxton's repudiation as early as 1914, and that with the brokers' knowledge she continued to receive dividends on the shares, the brokers did not place the account in their solicitor's hands until 1918, the year in which Charles McGill died.

Large Expectations.

Mr. Beatty, of the defendant's firm, testified that Charles McGill had told them that he had expectations of realizing a large sum from an extensive deal he had in Washington, out of which he would pay them.

"Why," asks Mr. Justice Kelly, "settle out of his personal money if the defendant were the one liable?"

Education Conference Was Held in London.

LONDON, July 11.— (Canadian Press Cable.)—The Imperial Education Conference concluded its labors here yesterday with a luncheon to the officials of the Board of Education. Rt. Hon. E. F. L. Wood, president of the board, responding to a toast, declared that his department obtained the greatest benefits from a free comparison of the experienced judgments of the other parts of the empire. He also emphasized the desirability of the personal touch between English officials and those in the outlying portions of the Empire. The necessity of this, he said, was strongly born in him both at the Colonial Office and at the Board of Education. It should be a duty, he concluded, for all delegates to harness the driving power of the conference in order to most effectively benefit the Empire.

Leading Parents to Salvation

BOWLING GREEN, O., July 11.—A girl preacher who champions flappers and sheiks.

A girl preacher who condemns flappers and sheiks.

Both mere girls—but their theories of life are diametrically opposed.

And there you have the latest from the world of the pulpit.

Every now and then the country is informed that another mere child—a babe in arms almost—has taken to preaching the gospel. The latest is Rev. Rena B. Ladd, not yet 21, a native of Bradner, O. And but a short time previous to that Mary Agnes Vitchestain, only 14 of Pittsburg, stood out a shining example of youthful courage.

But how they differ

Rev. Rena felt the religious urge because she believes modern flappers and sheiks were "much maligned." Much misunderstood

And Rev. Mary felt the call because she was convinced the world was going to hell And rapidly

Are Others, Too

Besides Mary and Rena, the past year has brought forth two other girls, both Methodists, enrolled in the quickly growing list:

Oriettz Stoddard, 13, of Miami, Okla., was ordained by the Oklahoma district conference. She was received into the conference by acclamation after the licensing committee had couched information that she had successfully passed all tests. She began religious work three years ago, as a child of 10. Unbelievable as it sounds, she immediately attracted the attention of the pastor of her Sunday school. He trained her, and soon she was delivering a sermon from his pulpit. Followed deep study—and the high honors of ordination.

Marguerite Barclay, 11, is a registered preacher of the Methodist church at Tryon, Okla. At the present time she is going through process of ordainment as a minister. She holds her congregations by preaching without notes and without manuscript.

Misunderstood

But most modern of all—in ideas, at least—is Rev. Rena.

"Young people today," says she earnestly, "are greatly misunderstood by the older folk, who are so terribly old they have forgotten their childhood entirely.

"The diversions of the younger set may seem peppery, but what is wrong with dancing and other things so long as they engender happiness, which means wholesome mental composure. That is—life It's the old heads who are all wrong. Not the flappers and sheiks."

Bryan All Wrong

Rev. Rena thinks William Jennings Bryan is "all wrong. Decidedly too radical." And in the same breath she says some awfully nice things about old Charlie Darwin, who conceived the popularly believed theory on evolution.

"Ignorance and a bumper crop of hazy memories among the older generation are responsible for this vast misunderstanding existing between youth and age today," she goes on. "Old people must have patience for others, who may be a little different."

Before actively engaging in the ministry she will enter Ohio Wesleyan University for a B.A. degree. Then will come theological studies at Boston Theological Seminary.

All of which suggests, perhaps, that Twentieth Century thought is leaning back upon Biblical lore. And thus is fulfilled the prophecy that "a little child shall lead them."

BERLIN, July 11. — (Canadian Press).—The German Government announced wage increases of officials averaging eighty per cent. Under the new pay-roll, Chancellor Cuno, ruler of Germany, gets 27,000,000 marks monthly. In other words, $20.51 a week.

QUIZ CORNER

CANADA'S WEALTH.

Q—What American tribute to Canada's wealth was recently given?

A—The Bankers Trust Co. of New York: If to other evidences of prosperity we add the fact that the people of Canada loaned their home government $2,207,900,000 during the war, we cannot escape the conclusion that the wealth of the Canadian people has markedly increased since 1914. The increase in wealth would have come anyhow, but undoubtedly was greatly stimulated by the unusual demand for Canadian products caused by the war. It is true that the two billions which the war cost Canada represents capital destroyed but the demands for her products from abroad for war and reconstruction has brought about a great development which must have largely made good this loss.

DULUTH.

Q—Who was Duluth?

A—Daniel Greysolon Du Lhut (or Duluth) was a French explorer of the Upper Mississippi after whom the city of Duluth was named. A tablet marks his residence in Montreal at the corner of St. Paul a street and Place Jacques-Cartier where he died in 1710.

UNIVERSITY OF ALBERTA

Q—Where is the University of Alberta? and what its enrolment?

A—The University of Alberta is situated in the city of Edmonton. During its last term 1283 students were registered; 336 in the first year, 265 second year, 208 third year and 104 in fourth year with 68 graduates.

Miners Still Adamant Regards New Contract.

ATLANTIC CITY, July 11. — (Canadian Press).—Anthracite operators, meeting in sub-committee with the Mine Workers yesterday to arrange a new wage contract, again proposed that the workers agree to remain at work after August 31st in the event of no agreement being reached by that time, but the union leaders made the same reply they gave on Monday.

The operators wanted such an understanding so as to allay "the public apprehension of a recurrence of the lamentable conditions of last winter." The miners said that if both sides applied themselves diligently to the task there was plenty of time to reach an agreement.

Cambridge Graduates Join the Unemployed.

LONDON, July 11. — (Canadian Press). — Graduates of Cambridge University are learning that a diplomatic training in these days of unemployment does not carry a job with it. Of the 1,500 men who finished their academic careers at Cambridge this year, half of them have joined the army of unemployed and are still hunting for jobs.

Want Ad Tips by John T. Bartlett

GETTING SECOND-BEST REPLIES, TOO.

"Johnny," explained Mrs. Stowe to the Ad-Taker, "wants a pair of black rabbits—Black Flemish Giants if he can get them."

"They're scarce in this town," piped up Johnny. "I don't know of a single person who keeps them, and nobody else knows. If I can't get the Flemish, "I'll take any b'lack ones."

Mrs. Stowe handed the Want Ad to the Ad-Taker. As he glanced through the copy with practiced eye, he saw that the message didn't square with the situation. It advertised for "purebred Black Flemish Giant" rabbits. That was what Johnny wished to get if he could, but he would be satisfied with just plain rabbits if he couldn't get better.

"There is something you can do," the Ad-Taker suggested, "that will increase the certainty that Johnny will get his rabbits from the Want Ad. As it is written, only purebred Black Flemish owners will reply. Suppose there are none in town with such to sell? There are certain, though, to be owners of black rabbits.

"What I would advise is this. Instead of 'purebred Black Flemish,' say, "Black Flemish or other black rabbits." That wording won't reduce the number of owners of Black Flemish who will respond, but at the same time will get replies from owners of black rabbits not Flemish. Insert the Want Ad, say, three times. Then take your pick from the replies.

"You see, Johnny, that's playing it safe. Considering you know Black Flemish are rare in town, don't you want to play safe?"

"I sure do!" declared the youngster.

The Ad-Taker explained Want Ad strategy which in many situations is best for readers to use. If you are doubtful of finding locally exactly what you want, use a Want Ad which will draw second-best as well as first-best replies. Then, "Take your pick."

C. G. E. Won from Mercantiles - Junior Game This Evening

C.G.E. TOO MUCH FOR MERCANTILE

Electricians Outhit But Managed to Defeat the All Stars By a Score of 9 to 3.

The C.G.E. Intermediates defeated the Mercantile All Stars by a score of 9 to 3 in a wierd game last evening. "Scotty' Galbraith started on the mound for the Electricians and ran into hard luck right away. While pitching to the second man to face him he threw his arm out and as a result of the injury will be out of the game for the remainder of the season. The Mercantiles out hit their opponents but could not connect when hits were needed most. Both teams made four errors but the Mercatile misplays all came at the wrong time and as a result the C.G.E. nine piled up a rather one sided score.

T. Cairns did the heaving for the Mercantiles and showed streaks of wildness. Though he fanned twelve, he walked four and hit two. The C.G.E. team crammed three of its four hits into the fourth frame, one wallop being a two bagger by Frost with the bases loaded which coupled with walks, errors, wild pitches and just plain boners sent five runs across the scoring pan.

Larmar provided the fielding sensation of the day with a great stop at third which he promptly turned into an unassisted double play.

The players were:

C.G.E.— Jackson rf; McCarney, cf Rose 3b, lf; Ross c; Dugan 1b; Wolfe, lf; Primeau, 3b; Ranger. ss; Barrie, 2b; Galbraith p; Frost, p; Webb rf; Griffin, rf.

Mercantiles—Cairns, p; McClarty. lf; Cobb rc; Black, 1b; Grose, ss; Lundy 2b; Thorndyke, cf; Nichols, rf; Larmar 3b; Austin, rf.

Score by innings:

HAVERS YOUNGEST OF GOLF CHAMPS

Captured World's Golf Title When But 25 Years of Age—Qualified When But 16.

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Perss Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, July 11.—(United Press)—Arthur Havers, who beat the best that United States had to offer and won the British open golf championships—which is just about the same as the world championship these days—is only 25 years old.

Havers, it develops, is the youngest competitor to hold the honored distinction in the last thirty years. He won it by outplaying Walter Hagen and five other leading golf stars from the United States in the recent Troon struggle.

Havers is a plodder. For a long time he has been recognized in England as one of the most promising of younger players. In 1914, when he was 16 years old, he qualified for the open. Then, in 1912, he finished fourth. He represented Great Britain against America in the matches of 1921, but drew no particular attention or comment.

His triumph returned to England a title which has been sojourning in the United States for two years. His brilliance now is hailed throughout the empire. He plays hard, sound golf, takes few chances and his style more resembles that of some of the older heads than the younger generation.

BOXING EXPERTS FAVOR WILLARD

Giant Kansan Has Shown Wonderful Form in Training and Is Now Conceded a Chance to Win.

NEW YORK, July 11.—(Canadian Press).—Completing their training programs and with but light exercise needed during the next two days to keep them on edge Jess Willard, former heavyweight champion and Luis Angel Firpo, South American slugger were declared last night by their handlers to be in the proverbial "pink of condition" for the battle at Boyle's Thirty Acres, Thursday night.

The end of the conditioning grind brought with it a marked swing in sentiment among boxing experts toward Willard, the big Kansan, who is attempting one of the most unusual comebacks in prize ring history. When the match first was made after Willard had knocked out Floyd Johnson and Firpo eliminated Jack McAuliffe II., at the Milk Fund show two months ago critics established Firpo as an odds-on favorite.

But the increasingly good form the giant ex-titleholder has shown in his workouts at Yonkers, N.Y., and his unbounded confidence, have altered opinions. Firpo rugged and sensational as a hitter, has yet to oppose a fighter of Willard's acknowledged stamnia and attacking power critics point out and as a result it is probable little choice will be accorded either boxer as they enter the ring.

Ticket sales continued to-day to exceed all expectations sending the advance "gate" beyond $300,000.

It is likely the record attendance of a little over 90.000 for the Dempsey-Carpentier fight two years ago, will be broken. Rickard places the arena seating capacity at 92,000, but several thousand others can be accommodatel with standing room.

In his final ring workout yesterday, Willard went eight rounds, boxing three with Chief Metoqua his Indian sparring partner, and then shadow-boxing punching the bag and handling the medicine ball for fove more.

Firpo did no ring work, but Jimmy Deforest. his trainer spent an hour perfecting the big fellow's left jab.

ROMMEL'S FAILURE A BLOW TO CONNIE

Had Mack's Ace of 1922 Come Through Athletics Might Now Be in the Lead.

"If Ed Rommell had shown the form this year that he did last season the Athletics would just about be out in front," opined Connie Mack. "Rommel was the one pitcher on my staff that I banked on at the start, yet he has been the least consistent performer. Naylor, who recently suffered a setback because of a wrenched knee, had supplanted Rommel as my ace for the time being at least. A return to winning form by Rommell is necessary if we are to stay up in the race."

The disappointing showing of Rommel this season is all the more unusual because of the big years he had in 1922. Last year Rommel won 27 games with a seventh place club. The Athletics won only 65 games, so that Rommel was practically 50 per cent of the pitching staff. At one stage of the race he turned in nine straight wins.

Rommel is far from an impressive pitcher to watch. His best bet is a knuckle or finger-nail ball, which seems to stagger through the air on the way to the plate. This delivery is invariably a ball if waited out. His fast ball is hittable speed.

Canadians Are Going Strong at Bisley Shoot.

BISLEY CAMP, July 11.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—His Majesty the King's Medal competition, open to one hundred selected competitors, fifty from the Regular Army and Militia, and fifty from the Territorial Army, who are serving in a unit stationed at home, produced some fine shooting at Bisley to-day, Sergt. C. Mapp, of the Small Arms School, Hythe, being the winner with a score of 151. He won the Army championship last year. After his win last night, Sergt. Mapp was chaired from the range, a band attending.

Competitors yesterday found the "fire-with-movement" practice hard going on account of the rough ground and the close atmosphere. The Halford Memorial Challenge Cup competition, shot at 1,000 and 1,100 yards, fifteen shots at each distance, was won by C. J. Woodrow, of the English Eight Club, with a score of 144. During this competition a heavy rain fell, accompanied by thunder.

In the Birmingham Small Army competition, open to tyros, four men are tied for first place.

The Canadian are going strong in the practice events.

SOCCER NOTES.

A meeting of the Canadian Woollens Football Club will be held in the Chamber of Commerce Rooms to-night at 8 o'clock.

Game Protested When Ball Hit Flagpole.

BROOKLYN, July 11.—(Canadian Press) — The Boston National League club has protested the second game of the doubleheader with Brooklyn at Ebbet's Field, on July 4, it was announced yesterday, on the ground the Umpire Hart erred in allowing Fournier, Dodger first base man a home run when his drive hit a flagpole on the right field wall and bounced back into the field. The Brooklyn Club, however, claims that the flagpole is four inches beyond the limits of the field, a fact which it asserts sustains the arbiter's judgment. The score of the game was 9 to 5 in Brooklyn's favor.

Decision is in the hands of John A. Heydler, President of the National League.

NEW YORK WON IN PITCHING DUEL

Chicago Nosed Out in a Close Game—Cleveland Defeated Philadelphia By One Run.

CHICAGO, July 11 (Canadian Press). — New York yesterday defeated Chicago, 3 to 2, in a pitching duel between Cvengros and Jones. Cvengros was largely responsible for his own defeat, as he intercepted a throw to the plate which permitted Ward to score from first on Smith's double, and after a twenty-minute rain th little Chicago southpaw lost control, one of his passes in the seventh inning paving the way for the winning run. Score:

New York ..... 000101100—3 7 1
Chicago ..... 010100000—2 6 2

Jones and Hofmann; Cvengros and Schalk.

St. Louis 9, Washington 1.

ST. LOUIS, July 11 (Canadian Press).—Urban Shocker held Washington to four hits yesterday, and St. Louis defeated the Senators, 9 to 1. It was Shocker's thirteenth victory of the season. The Browns pounded Zahniser for 13 hits. Goslin, Williams, and Severeid smashed out circuit drives, the latter's coming with the bases filled in the fourth inning. Score:

Washington ..... 000100000—1 4 2
St. Louis ..... 20041200x—9 13 0

Zahniser and Ruel; Shocker and Severeid.

Cleveland 4, Philadelphia 3.

CLEVELAND, O., July 11 (Canadian Press). — Cleveland took the first game of the series from Philasecond place, Uhle outpitching Heimach. Umpire Tommy Connolly was called to his home in Natick, Mass., in the eighth inning, receiving a wire that his sister had died. Score:

CANADIAN GOLFER IN THIRD PLACE

Dave Spittal, Only Canadian Entry for U.S. Title, Has Made a Good Showing So Far.

INWOOD, N.Y., July 11—(Canadian Press).—Dave Spittal, Toronto the only Canadian entrant in the United States open golf championship tournament turned in a card of 155 for the thirty six holes in yesterday's qualifying round and easily qualified. His score landed him in third place among the eighteen golfers who came through the round successful. Spittal took a 78 in the morning round and came through in the afternoon with a 77.

Leading the list of those who qualified to-day was Joe Kirkwood, former Australian champion with a score of 144. In the morning he was around in 70. two under par. He was ten strokes better than any of the others who finished within the limit of 159 to qualify.

Dan Williams, Westfield, N.J., turned in the next lowest score. His 75 in the morning round and 79 in the afternoon, giving him a total of 154. Tied with Spittal for third place were Francis Ouimet, Boston, W. E. Ward Woodbury, N.J., and Tom Stevens, Minneapolis.

TORONTO DROPPED TWO TO READING

Baltimore Again in the Lead-Rochester Trimmed By Jersey City.

TORONTO, July 11. Canadian Press. — Reading took both ends of yesterday's double bill, by scores of 6 to 2 and 3 to 2. Hughes baffled the Leafs in the first game, while Glazer was hit hard. In the second game Fulerton pitched good ball allowing only two hits, but errors behind him allowed 3 runs which won the game for Reading:

A Wild Auto Pursuit to Catch a Suicide.

LONDON, July 11. — Canadian Press. — Learning that Angus Patrick Bowes Lyon, cousin of the Duchess of York, had obtained a shotgun and was motoring into the country with the apparent intention of committing suicide, his brother began a wild auto pursuit. He lost the trail in a triffic jam in Hyde Park. Later on Tuesday, Bowes wearing his evening clothes and hat, was found shot dead sitting at the wheel of his auto in a quiet country lane, a shot gun between his feet. The police declare the evidence shows undoubted suicide. Motive is not known.

ONE GOAL EACH IN SEMI-FINAL GAME

Quakers and Woollens on Even Terms in Phelan Charity Cup-Tie.

A good crowd of spectators watched the Quakers and Woollens draw, one goal each, last evening in the semi-final of the Phelan Charity Cup tie. The Woollens played with ten men while the Quakers were at full strength.

Woollens won the toss and decided to play with the sun on their backs. They went straight for Griffin, who made made two beautiful saves of shots from the foot of J. Shaw. The Quakers then came into the game through good work of Mayette on the right for a fruitless corner. On another visit to Chambers, Logan ran in on the goal but to his own surprise lifted over the bar. A few minutes later, Logan again missed an open goal with only Chambers to beat. Both teams were working hard to get a goal but were very erratic in their shooting. Nice combination by the Woollen's four forwards was spoiled by offsides. Play was fast and keen until half time, neither team having made a tally.

On the second half, the sun was down and made ideal football conditions. Reid and Cridland were sending the ball into goal where Griffin had to clear difficult shots. Twice in succession the post saved the Quakers' goal from long distance shots. At the other end, the Quakers peppered Chambers but they could not find the goal. An individual effort by Montgomery drew out the full-backs, then placed the ball to foot of Craig who was over anxious in trying to score. Sayers cleared to Gaskill who beat up the field, centered into goal, all the forwards had a try at goal which ultimately went to Monkman. He shot quick and fast to beat Griffin with an unsavable shot. This goal made the teams settle down to fast football and each goal was visited in rotation. At last, Mayette went down the line and at first chance lifted the ball into goal where Craig tapped the ball past Chambers to even the score up, only five minutes before the final whistle blew. Quakers 1, Woollens 1.

Goal scorers—Monkman, Woollens, and Craig, Quakers.

Quakers—Griffin, goal; R. Willshaw and Croft, backs; Hepburn, Craig and Logan, half-backs; Meyette, Montgomery, Logan, Pillow, Foster, forwards.

Woollens—Chambers, goal; Reid and Cridland, backs; Monkman and Sayers, half-backs; Mitchell, Shaw, Gaskill, Roberts and Downes, forwards.

Referee—J. Russell.

SPOTTER CAUGHT LINDSAY DOCTOR

Fined $1,000 and Banned From Practice For Six Months.

LINDSAY July 11.—(Special).—Great indignation is being expressed by all classes of the citizens as a result of the action of the Ontario Medical Council in disqualifying one of the town's leading physicians from practising his profession for a period of six months as a result of an infraction of the Temperance Act.

Last fall two spotters, who were in the employ of the Attorney-General's Department visited Lindsay and called on a number of physicians They stated they were members of a theatrical party and as a result of thir deception succeeded in procuring scripts. Informations were laid against three physicians and all were fined; $1,000 being imposed on the physician referred to. On Thursday he received information to the effect that because of this offence he was barred from practicising his profession until January 1924.

This announcement has called forth vigorous protests and the opinion is freely expressed that an injustice has been done the physician who stands high in the community and whose practice covers a wide territory.

It is understood that an appeal will be made to the made to the government, although it is claimed it has no jurisdiction in the matter.

OMEMEE PASTOR RECEIVES A GIFT

Methodist Congregation Expresses Appreciation of Rev. R. F. Stillman.

OMEMEE, July 11.—On Sunday evening, Rev. R. F. Stillman, of the Methodist church, preached his farewell sermon to a large congregation. Mr. Stillman and his estimatable wife and family have been citizens of our village for the past four years and during that time have proved to be real friends in time of sorrow and trial. Following the Sunday evening sermon, the following address was read by Mr. David Weir and a substantial purse was presented by Mr. R. Poast:

"Dear Friends,—As you have completed the four years of your pastoral term and are about to sever your connection with this field of labor, we, the members and adherents of the church you have so faithfully and efficiently served, desire to express our appreciation of your consistent life and Christian character and the sincere efforts you have both made to promote the spiritual and social welfare of the church and community. You have won the esteem of young and old, and have been untiring in everything that makes for the betterment of both church and people. Under your leadership the national campaign was a magnificent success and in the last year of your ministry you have done much to bring it to completion. The beautiful and commodious church shed which may well be said to be a memorial of the joint efforts of yourself and people.

In Mrs. Stillman, you have a worthy and self sacrificing helpmate, who, as member and officer of the Ladies' Aid, W.M.S. and Sunday school, has labored faithfully to build up and strengthen the cause of Methodism in this community. In the order of God's Providence, you have been called to a wider field of labor, and usefulness, and our prayer is, that you both may be spared to serve the new charge as efficiently as you have done here.

On behalf of the congregation, we ask your acceptance of this purse as a public expression of your good will and esteem.

Signed on behalf of the congregation—

David Weir,
Recording Secretary.

Mr. Stillman, although almost overcome by emotion, thanked his friends on behalf of Mrs. Stillman and himself, not only for their gift, but for the many kindnesses extended to them during their happy four years in Omemee.

Receive New Pastor.

A congregational reception for the new pastor of the Methodist church, Rev. E. Rolland, of Brooklyn, will be held in the church on Friday evening.

IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

MILLBROOK, July 11. — One hundred members of the Orange Order attended divine worship in the Methodist church on Sunday evening, the Millbrook band, under Mr. G. A. Duncan, heading the parade to and from the Lodge room. The entire service was of a marked inspirational character, the opening hymn, "Faith of Our Fathers," which was sung with sincerity, seeming to bring a realizing sense of the presence and power of God in the hearts of the large congregation, as did also the petitions of the opening prayer by Rev. S. C. Moore, B.A., B.D., of Bowmanville, who was unexpectedly present.

The choir had augmented its number for the occasion, the selections given being an anthem, "Lift, Lift, Ye Gates," Mrs. G. W. Sayles taking the solo, and Mrs. Sayles, Messrs. Byam and Alcorn, the trio part, while the quartette, "I've Found Such a Wonderful Saviour," was sung by Mrs. I. Hatherly, Mrs. Sayles, and Messrs. Duncan and Byam. In the concluding number, "The Day is Over," Mrs. Hatherly took the leading solo, the full choir joining in the chorus.

Rev. S. T. Tucker read the lesson from the 4th chapter of Joshua, taking his text from the 6th verse, "What mean ye by these stones?" This was a crucial period in the history of Israel, the crossing of the Jordan into the Promised Land marking a turning point in their national life—an event worthy of remembering. The speaker went on to show that every nation has events in its history which are milestones in its' national progress, showing whither it is tending, and which should be kept green in memory in some form or other. Magna Charta, the coming of William of Orange to England, the French Revolution, the Italian Revolution under Garibaldi, and the American Revolution are outstanding instances, while the event recorded in the chapter read meant to the Hebrew people that they were at last to be established in their own country, and become an independent nation.

What did these memorial stones stand for? The supremacy of Jehovah over the gods of Egypt, His guidance, protection and wonderful provision during the wilderness journey, with the implication that the recipients give recognition and homage to His Holy Name. One condition by which Israel should maintain their rights in their new home was that they obey the commands of Jehovah, and the foundation principle of Orangeism is that Jehovah is supreme, the Order being pledged to assist in the struggle for freedom until God's great ideal of democracy shall have been worked out. They commemorated, too, the emancipation of God's people from the Oriental tyranny of Pharaoh, the transition from a dark experience to something brighter, from slavery to the rights of citizenship. The new type of government which God had planned for Israel was similar in its ideals to that which we are trying to work out in the British Empire. It demanded freedom from foreign interference, history showing the latter to be one of the greatest curses that can befall a nation.

The coming into Canaan meant also emancipation from the doctrine of the Divine right of kings; William of Orange came to England for the very purpose of crushing this principle. The story of Naboth and Ahab shows what God thinks of violating the sacred right of the individual to his inheritance and his birthright.

In a few concluding remarks, especially to the visiting brethren, the speaker stated that what the memorial stones were to Israel, so Orangeism is to the British Empire, conserving the liberty we now have, and stirring up the best type of loyalty and patriotism. Only by perpetual vigilance, and a strict adherence to the great principle of obedience to the laws of God, can the Order continue to exist, or successfully carry out their aim that "very man worship under his own vine, and fig-tree, none daring lawfully to molest,or make afraid."

Black Bass Fry Were Placed in Pigeon Lake.

LINDSAY, July 11.—Tourists and campers who sojourn on the banks of Pigeon Lake will be interested to know that ten thousand black bass have been deposited in the waters during the last few days. With a view to keeping these lakes stocked with fish it is planned to deposit quantity of fry each year. Parent fish may also be brought from the northern lakes, where they are so plentiful and where they do not grow to full size, owing to lack of food. Back in 1910 black bass were brought from Clear Lake and deposited in Ketchecomma Lake, and today they are plentiful. Previous to this there were only lake trout in these waters.

Cormorant, or fishing bird, rarely misses its quarry.

ENGLAND CHILLY SAY U.S. GOLFERS

Visitors Seemed to Think British Attitude Was As Cold as the Weather.

NEW YORK, July 10.—(United Press).—The air was damp and chilly at Troon when the British open golf championships were held recently.

A cold rain poured down over the grass course and the Americans stood shivering while they made comment on British hospitality.

It seems they thought the British attitude toward them wasn't any better than the weaher. On every hand they met obstacles that are not usually placed in the way of visitors.

A few hours before the qualifying round started, the Americans were relieved of their best club, the corrugated mashie, by edict of the governing board. They had been practicing with that club continuously. They could see no reason why the British let them practice with it up to the eve of the match and then took it away from them. They needed it badly on the wet course.

Everywhere they went, they say, they were neglected and, in some instances derided. Several said before they left that they would never again return to England to play golf.

Gerald Patterson, who won the Wimbledon tennis championship last year, declared, after the tournament, that he would never go gack, because of the treatment he said he suffered.

There must be some good reason for the change of sentiment. It is certainly not in retaliation for treatment of British athletes visiting the United States, though the number of these is small.

Some believe it may be prompted by resentment against the increasingly frequent successful invasion of England by American stars. Jock Hutchinson and Walter Hagen captured the open title two years. Before that, it was considered exclusively British. Americans won the Walker cup again this year.

At any rate the team from United States cannot be accused of making these statements because of its comparatively poor showing. The thing reached such a stage that London sport writers are commenting upon it.

More and more Olympic material is bobbing up all the time. Boots Lever, star sprinter of Pennslyvania ran 60 yards in 6.4-5 seconds and then stepped 70 yards in 7.5-10 second for a new world record in both.

In Chicago, Walter Brookins ran the 220 low hurdles in 23 6-10 seconds for a new world's mark. D. Hubbard jumped 25 feet and 2 inches—just an inch less than the record.

Bob Shawkey is being hailed as the most valuable pitcher the New York Yankees ever had. He came to them in 1915, and in nine seasons since that time has won 124 games, losing only 88. The Yanks got him for a waiver price.

The annual invasion of western tennis stars begins this month, and eastern sport writers are speculating on the possibilities of Miss Helen Wills, 18-year-old school girl from Berkeley, Cal., winning the nations singles championships. She ranked third in the standing last season.

If Miss Wills should take the title there will be renewed calls for her to meet Suzanne Lenglen in an attempt to regain the world title for the United States.

Track followers say young Frank Hussey, the new schoolboy sprinting star, who is credited with an unofficial 9.3-5 for the hundred, runs with the least physical exertion of any sprinter in the last thirty years.

Hussey has lost only three school races in the last three years. He never ran a race of any sort until he entered Stuyvesant high school, Brooklyn, in 1921. His timings for the 100 yards this season 9.3-5 to 10.2-5 seconds. He ran 9.4-5 in the Yale meet.

The 18-year-old sprinter has never had any professional coach and he doesn't want any. He weighs 148 pounds and has a stride of about eight feet.

Facilities for training at Columbia University have been placed as his disposal, and he is working out there.

NOBODY LOVES THE POOR UMPIRE

Officials Are Being Panned by Newspapers of Central Loop.

Sharp comment regarding umpires is going the rounds of the C.O.B.L. loop, a typical paragraph being the following from the Kingston Standard:

"The Cobourg incident and the experience of the locals at Peterborough brings to the fore the whole question of umpiring in the C.O.B.L. Every team, and hundreds of spectators, have been 'kicking' at some time or other during the first division over the work of some of the umpires, and there must be some reason for it. Local fans who have seen most of them in action agree that it is time that some of them were 'jacked up' by the executive and that others of them were fired from the staff. Much of the success of the league in the immediate future depends on what action is taken by President Dedman and the rest of the executive in the matter of umpires for the balance of the season. Spectators, that is the best of them, will not continue to attend games and see teams robbed of their just right by umpires who are not competent or not fair, and there has been too much of this catering to home feeling by some of the officials."

E. P. L. GAME TO-NIGHT.

Keene and George Street East Peterborough League teams will play at the Exhibition Grounds this evening.

BELLEVILLE TEAM IS GOING NICELY

Grand Trunks Who Play Here Saturday, Expect to Win Second Half.

The visit of the Belleville team here on Saturday is rightly looked upon as one of the biggest events of the ball season. The Petes are still smarting under the sting of the defeat handed them here on June 30 by the Bay of Quinte crew and they hope to take a fall out of them on Saturday and keep out in front in the Central loop. This is the last Central League game to be played at Riverside Park for several weeks as the Petes are away from home next week, playing in Belleville and Kingston The Belleville crew are going strong and they are confident of winning the second half. The Belleville Ontario says:

"The Belleville Big Four team having won one game away from home in their quest of the championship of the second series of the rather spirited loop they are playing in this year is in a distinctly favorable position, if performances in the first series are to be taken as a criterion. Teams there and then won most of their home games, the odd one coming in Peterborough for the locals, bringing the bacon with it.

"The victory in Cobourg was one of the most clean cut in years, the team playing errorless ball, with everybody from pitcher to outer garden people doing their bit.

"American fans at the game said the Belleville team was one of the best balanced small city teams they had seen.

"The Petes, who are now out in front of the rest of the teams with no losses and two wins, are playing a Twelfth of July fixture at Cobourg where a big celebration is to take place. And the outcome there is a matter of conjecture. Cobourg is capable of defeating any team in the loop if they have a good day. A win by Cobourg on the 12th would help tie up the series in fine style."

KIWANIS WIN OVER LEADERS

Rotary Defeated in a Snappy Bantam Game of Extra Innings.

After three defeats in a row, Roy Lewis came into his own last evening when Kiwanis Bantams defeated Rotary at the Prince of Wales School Grounds by the score of 3 to 2. The score was tied at 2 to 2 at the end of the seventh In their half of the eighth, Rotary got a runner to third, Kiwanis had better luck. After but could not get him home. two were out, Lewis doubled and was hit home by Jennings.

It was snappy baseball, with McDuffy, the Kiwanian shortstop, featuring the play with a fine catch of a drive back of third. Rotary had a runner at third at the time, and McDuffy's catch made the second out Lewis then staved off the run by fanning the next batter.

Rotary made their usual good getaway, and led by 2 to 0 at the end of the fourth. In the first, after Graham had been retired, Lewis struck out the side, but Goodfellow, who got to first base when his third strike was missed by the catcher, made his way along the bases, and scored on a passed ball.

Lewis also struck out three in the second, but could not prevent a Rotary tally. Koster made first base after striking out, and scored on Guiry's hit.

Austen Nixon a newcomer to the Kiwanian rank, provided the heavy artillery that brought his team back in the race again. In the fifth, with one out, Nixon hit for two bases, sending Hutchison in with a badly-needed counter. Again in the seventh, with Marshall on base and one out, Nixon hit for three bases, sending in the tieing run.

It fell to Lewis to start things in the eighth, and his two-bagger followed by Jennings' hit, won the game for the Kiwanis.

Both Guiry and Lewis pitched in clever style, Guiry fanning thirteen and Lewis whiffing fourteen baters.

An encouraging feature of the game was the increased attendance of spectators, who were liberal in their applause when good plays were made.

The teams:

Rotary—Graham, 3b; Goodfellow, 2b; Sowden, 1b; LeBarr, ss; Gillespie, cf; Koster rf ;Archambault, lf; Widdess, lf; Guiry, p; Carroll, c.

Kiwanis—McDuffy, ss; Lewis, p; Jennings, 3b; Marshall, 1b; Hutchison, c; Nixon, lf; Holland, rf; W. Wolff, cf; Dick, 2b.

Score by innings:

Rotary	11000000—2
Kiwanis	00001011—3

THRILL IN CAREER FOR WOMAN WORKER

Woman Is Real Materialist and Man Is Idealist.

NEW YORK, July . —11"Women are the materialists, and men the idealists of the world," says Muriel Draper, interior decorator, in discussing business women and their relation to marriage.

"This explains," she continues, "why their instinct for possession often smothers happiness in their home life. A woman wants everything to be hers

'Woman's materialism has led her to use the word 'sacrifice' all these years, and made her really believe that there was virtue in what she has considered sacrifice.

"However, she is beginning to realize this is an empty, over-used word, cowardly but conventional, implying a self-imposed martyrdom."

Man's Achievements

That men are idealists is easily proved, she believes, by their contributions to civilization, by their power of constructive imagination, enabling them to transmute an abstract idea into a tangible, thrilling fact.

"I believe men have a greater instinct for fidelity in the marriage relation than women," she goes on, "because they have this greater imagination and a greater vision. Women are essentially executives, with a natural ability for carrying out details.

"Although women seem to be advancing beyond the belief that marriage is the end of things for them, I find they too often take up a profession with the idea of increasing their personal assets rather than from the fundamental desire to earn a living."

Children Inspire

When asked if she considered children an impediment to a business career, she replied:

"I get so tired of hearing this. A child is never an obstacle to any creative work one really wants to do. My own children are my greatest inspiration.

"Woman nowadays doesn't have to sit by the fire to make a child realize it has a home. Just because a woman becomes a mother, she is not necessarily tied to the actual facts of making clothes, cooking food and teaching the A B C's to her children. After all, there are people actually trained to do this.

"I have found a business career thrilling in more ways than one. Is there a greater thrill than receiving for your work a few pieces of silver and some strips of green paper, then turning that about into a steak or chop to help sustain the human beings for whom you are responsible? If there is, I have yet to find it."

ANNUAL SOCIAL AT SACRED HEART

About Seven Hundred Persons Were on Hand For Supper.

The annual social and supper of the Sacred Heart parish, held last evening, was a decided success. About seven hundred people attended for supper and almost as many more were on hand in the evening.

The location of the tables was changed this year. They were placed within a wired space, near the north end. The garage held small tables, loaded with cakes of all varieties, and, against the north wall was a tarpaulin-covered enclosure, whose tables groaned under the combined weight of massed pastries and salads. Several wood stoves, placed end to end, were briskly boiling the water for tea and coffee, and energetic workers were preparing the food and dishes for the hungry patrons of the long white tables, covered with snowy linen and decorated with flowers.

The long lines of electric lamps which are yearly a feature of the south end social, were again in evidence, providing fine illumination for the evening activities. Crowds lingered about the band stand, where the Melody Concert bandsmen played some splendid music, or patronized the various booths, or listened to the silver-voiced auctioneers, who had a good time all evening in the midst of fancy work and useful articles of apparel.

At this booth were excellent prizes, including several electric desk lamps, canoe paddles, cut glass pieces and many dainty samples of fancy work. Pennants in bright colors, the white and gold of the Papal ensigns, streamers of vari-colored paper, made bright spots of the two booths where ice cream, tobacco and soft drinks were sold, and bowls of daisies and brown-eyed Susans added to the attraction of the many dainty wares in the fancy work booth. The fish pond, with its enormous name-sign above, was a popular centre for children and adults alike.

Enormous colored balloons in red, white and blue stripes, launched at intervals during the evening, were sources of pleasure and amusement, the crowd craning its collective neck to watch the airy things float out of sight.

The list of prize winners in connection with this social will be available later.

Preparing For Canada's Part in Empire Exhibition

TORONTO, July 11, Canadian Press. — J. S. McKinnon, director of industrial exhibits for Canada at the British Empire Exhibition to be held in Wembley Park, London, next year, left Toronto last night on a tour of the western provinces in the interests of the Exhibition from a Canadain point of view. Mr. McKinnon will visit the chief centres in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia, and will take in as many of the exhibitions in the west as he can.

Mr. McKinnon was appointed by the Dominion government the first of June to take charge of Canada's display at the British Empire exhibition. His western tour is for the purpose of arranging for the industrial features of the Canadian exhibits at Wembley Park.

Mr. McKinnon is an ex-president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and a director of the Canadian National Exhibition.

WRITER OF THRILLERS AUCTIONS HIS GOODS

Gets $1,000 to Retire to Poorhouse--Well Known to Eminent Men.

CASSTOWN, O., July 11.—Before a pitifully small collection of worldly goods stood a village auctioneer, importuning a handful of country people to part with their dollars — thus starting the last chapter in the life of Thomas C. Harbaugh, as fantastic an ending probably as he ever dreamed of when he was penning vivid fiction four-score years ago.

Not very valuable looking were these real possessions of Harbaugh. They brought only $1000 but they were rich in famous names and associations of years ago.

For instance in an old autograph album which sold for $60 was a letter from Mark Twain to Governor Frank Fuller, New York, dated in 1870, at Hartford, Conn., and which said:

"My Dear Fuller: Does the whiskey mill need a new man who knows how to boss men? I know the right man in case a boss should be wanted—diligent, honest and plucky. Never drinks but can be taught."

The letter was signed "Mark."

Harbaugh, whose name was on the lips of readers of the American penny dreadfuls when they rode high in popularity, was on his way to the Miami County Infirmary to-day — the poor house as most people call it—with the $1000 which he expects will keep him there as a paying inmate for the rest of his days.

The autograph album contained scores of letters from eminent Americans, from Abraham Lincoln to Theodore Roosevelt. His correspondents also included virtually every Union and Confederate general who survived the Civil War, as well as foreign notables who acknowledged over their signature the pleasure they had found in either his thrilling stories or the sentimental poetry he wrote in reams.

THERE WILL BE NO 99 ON ENGINE

Hundreds who see "The Ninety and Nine", the stirring melodrama which will be presented at the Capitol Theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, will look for the number 99 on the front of the locomotive as it goes thundering through the forest fire on its mission of mercy. They will look in vain because the engine has an entirely different number.

The famous stage success by Ramsay Morris takes its name from the parable of the lost sheep. The locomotive had nothing to do with it when the title was selected. The locomotive made a great hit when the play was produced on the stage, just as it plays an important part in the screen version by Vitagraph. But the stage locomotive was not numbered 99 and neither is the screen locomotive, but 99 is its number in the mind's eye of all who see the picture.

The added features will include round four of the new series of "The Leather Pushers", and "Golf" shown in regular and slow motion pictures —as played by Gene Sarazen—showing the champion demonstrating his famous shots.

FLOWING GOLD

By REX BEACH

COPYRIGHT 1923 BY REX BEACH

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Calvin Gray arrives in Dallas and declares himself the enemy of Colonel Henry Nelson, banker. Gray meets Gus Brizkow, who strikes oil, and becomes friendly with the Brizkow family. Allie, the daughter, loves Gray, who is in love with Barbara Parker. Bud Brizkow falls into the hands of an adventuress and Gray follows to send the boy home. Bud and Gray have a fight and the boy is knocked unconscious. The son of Bud's lady friend is brought to Bud's hotel and the adventuress and Bud part company. Gray befriends the girl and starts her in the restaurant business.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY

"I thought you were like all the others here—absorbed only in the game."

"I was, at first. I had reason to be; a very great reason, I assure you. Then I saw something far more desirable than fortune, far more absorbing than—than the motive that brought me here. Some days, like today, I think I'm going to win it, then again I grow faint-hearted."

Never had he felt "Bob" to be so close to him as on this day, and in consequence he made of it a festival. He played the lover with a respectful ardor, doubly thrilling by reason of its restraint, and that night it was not Henry Nelson's face that lingered last in his memory. He wondered, before he fell asleep, if he had acted wisely in letting slip his hour. Opportunity has a fickle way of jilting those who ignore her, and yet—how could he speak with honor to himself?

It must not be inferred that Henry Nelson endured with patience the blows that were rained upon him. On the contrary, he fought back with every weapon he could lay hands upon, and there were many. In this he was aided by Old Bell, for father and son were much alike and their friction had been only such as results from the rubbing of two hard bodies of identical composition; now that they were put under heavy pressure, they adhered and functioned without heat.

How they managed it at all baffled Gray, and worried him, too, for he knew that if ever they turned the corner they would be safe from him, and his vengeance would fall to the ground. One big well would set them up, and there was always that danger, for scarcely a week went by without news of some gigantic gusher. Knowing all there was to know about their field activities, he set himself to the task of learning more about the bank itself and about their method of operating it. This was a task, indeed, and he spent much time at it—time he could ill afford, by the way, for he, too, had about exhausted his last resource.

He was surprised one day to receive from Roswell, the banker who had first backed him, an almost peremptory summons to Dallas. Gray had made much money for Roswell and his crowd; they were still heavily interested with him, and he was counting upon their further support. The tone of this letter, therefore, gave him a disagreeable shock. On the whole, however, he was glad of an excuse to go, for the Brizkows had returned and had bought a home in Dallas, and he was eager for a sight of them.

Mr. Roswell's greeting was quite as cool as his letter; but he betrayed a keen interest in the progress of their joint affairs and asked a good many searching questions. Gray answered frankly.

"You surprise me," the banker announced, finally, "for you confirm something I did not wish to believe. I have just learned that you are using us to further a private grudge and to ruin a reputable man. I couldn't credit such a statement without—"

"It is quite true, except that I haven't 'used' you. Not, at least, in the sense you imply."

"You have used our money. It is the same thing."

"Oh, not at all. I have handled a number of speculations—investments is a better word—for you and your group and I've made a lot of money for you. That's the most you expected, that's all I promised."

"Legitimate competition is one thing; malice, double-dealing, is—"

"Yes, I bear malice toward Henry Nelson and I shall continue to bear him malice long after I have put him in his grave." Roswell's startled eyes leaped to the speaker's face. "Exactly! I propose to put him in his grave, and he knows it."

"Nonsense! That's wild talk and you'll regret it. What has he done to you?"

The object of this inquiry shrugged. "A private matter, purely. As to double-dealing—is it double-dealing to go to an enemy and tell him frankly that you intend to down him and how you propose to do it?"

"Did you do that?"

"I did. What is more, I offered to fight fair and he agreed. But, of course, he broke that, as he feels free to break any agreement when it becomes onerous or unprofitable. He began by trying to assassinate me."

"What are you saying!" Roswell cried. "This is incredible."

Gray's cigar had gone out; he lighted it with steady and deliberate fingers before he said: "I am giving you facts. The fighting has not been all on my side. For instance, I haven't hired men to drop tools in his wells or run crooked holes, and that sort of thing, as he has."

"Amazing!" The banker was at a loss for words. After a moment, he inquired: "What about Bell Nelson?"

"A harsh, headstrong, ruthless old man whose history will not bear careful reading. His sins shall be visited upon him through his offspring. He will have to go, too."

"You will fail now. And you deserve to fail."

"Indeed? Why?"

"Because you're doing an outrageous thing; because— See here, Gray, I know why you hate Nelson."

There ensued a moment of silence. "He told you that?" The younger man's face had slowly whitened; he spoke with difficulty.

"He told me everything. He told me that you were dishonorably discharged from the army—cashiered, we used to call it—and that you blame him. I don't mind saying it was a shock—worst I've had in years. In time of war, too! The army doesn't do that unless—without ample— Well, Gray, it's damned nasty!"

"Quite the nastiest thing that can happen to a man," the other agreed in a thin, flat voice.

"I couldn't, wouldn't believe it."

"There is nothing to say."

"What? My God, man! You don't mean— See here, you're not a coward, or a thief, or an incompetent. What's your side of the story? What's the explanation?"

"Explanations are hateful. The man who makes them deceives either himself or the other fellow—usually both. It is easy to be plausible. Would a mere statement from me, unsupported by proof, convince you where it failed to convince a court martial? Of course not."

"Hm-mi It is an embarrassing situation for me."

"Indeed?"

"Nelson has sold a large block of his bank stock to one of our directors."

"Tell him to get out from under, quick," Gray said, sharply, "for I'll break Henry Nelson or—I'll kill him!"

"Tut, tut! You're excited. You mustn't talk like that. I give you credit for an honest hatred, but—I can't sympathize with it. Neither can I believe so ill of Henry Nelson. Remember, I've known him and Bell for years." With a complete finality the banker concluded, "You'll have to give it up, Gray."

"I beg pardon?"

"I say we sha'n't permit you to go on with this murderous feud. We can't be parties to it. What you've told me warrants us in withdrawing our support instantly."

"I need your money and your support now more than ever," the other man gravely confessed. "I need it at once; today. Nevertheless, I sha'n't quit."

"You must!" Roswell cried, impatiently. "You can't defy us."

"The devil I can't!" It was Gray's turn to blaze. "That's exactly what I'm doing. I defy you to get your money out. I defy you to interfere with me in the slightest or to wring a particle of mercy out of me. I knew this would come, sooner or later, and I planned accordingly. What d'you think I am, eh? I tell you I've got him! Otherwise I'd never squeal about this—army matter. Now then, tell your crowd to try and pull out! That's not a threat, sir, for they have played fair with me, and I sha'n't sacrifice a penny of their money—unless they force me to do so. But—I'm in control. I'm sitting pretty. They can't unseat me, and I warn them not to try."

The speaker rose. He hesitated, before leaving, to say: "Your son served with honor, Mr. Roswell. I know how you must feel about this —other matter, therefore I shall spare you the embarrassment of declining my hand."

The financier's face reddened; rather stiffly he said, "You know whether you have a right to offer it."

Instantly the departing visitor extended his palm, and Roswell realized that he had seldom seen a man more deeply moved. "Thanks! I— It is a blow to lose your support, but—nothing can swerve me. Meanwhile, I'm glad that we do not part as enemies."

When he had gone, when he had passed out with head up and shoulders square, the banker shivered slightly. Audibly he murmured: "God, what a man! What a hatred!"

The Brizkows had just moved into their new home, and the place was still in some confusion when Gray mounted the steps. Pa answered the bell in his shirt sleeves and with a claw hammer in his hand, for he had been hanging pictures. He favored his visitor with a wide smile of welcome and a hearty greeting—quite a feat, inasmuch as his mouth was full of nails —then, having rid it of its contents, he explained:

OBITUARY

EMMA BEAUREGARD

Miss Beauregard died on Tuesday, July 10th, 1923, at her late residence, 187 Sherbrooke street. Miss Beauregard was well known on the city. She was born and lived all her life in Peterboro. She leaves to mourn her loss four sisters, Mrs. Frederick Barrette Park street, Mrs. Arthur Conlin, Sherbrooke street, Mrs. Sam Hoolihan, Donegal street and Alphonsine at home also two brothers Louis of Toronto and Joseph at home and her mother.

The funeral will be held on Friday morning, July 13th.

W. S. GRAHAM

An aged and respected resident of Emily township, near Omemee, passed away on Tuesday evening, in the person of the late W. S. Graham.

The deceased was born in Manvers township, near Bethany, and has been a resident of Emily for the past fifty years. He was in his eighty-third year.

Throughout the years, he has won the respect of every person by his upright noble life. He has been an inspiration and a constant help in the Mount Pleasant Methodist church, where he was for nearly thirty years Superintendent of the Sunday School

He has always been deeply interested in municipal affairs, serving both as councillor and deputy reeve His love of reading coupled with his wonderful memory made him a speaker of more than ordinary ability and a brilliant conversationalist.

He was predeceased by his wife, two sons and one daughter, the late Mrs. C. H. Shield of Peterobro. Left to mourn his loss are his two sons, Thomas G., at home and Richard C.. of Mount Pleasant, and two daughters Mrs. Mark Shield, Gilbert Plains, Manitoba, and Mrs. Garnet Shield, Mount Pleasant.

The funeral service will be held at the Mount Pleasant Methodist Church on Friday at 2.30 p.m. Interment at Shield's Cemetery.

A NEAR DROWNING.
What might have proved a drowning fatality was narrowly averted last night at Inverlea Park, when a young girl, a resident on Brock Street, was pulled out of the river in the nick of time by Mr. Leo Gandy and another unnamed swimmer.

CARS COLLIDED.
Jack Smith, 292 Aylmer street, had his car slightly dented when it was struck at the corner of Charlotte and Aylmer streets. Smith was driving west on Charlotte and turned north on Aylmer, when the other car apparently struck his, bending the right rear fender. The second did not stop nor was it identified.

ST. ANDREW'S W.M.S. HOLD MONTHLY MEETING

The monthly meeting of St. Andrew's W.M.S. was held in the church on Tuesday, 10th July, Mrs. John, president, in the chair.

This month the meeting was in charge of Circle Five. Hymns 419, 321, and 506 were sung, Mrs. Weir acting as pianist. Mrs. Kerr offered prayer. Mrs. Barnes gave a pleasing missionary story, which was very entertaining, at the same time bringing out the many benefits we should be grateful for, but seldom appreciate.

Mrs. Weir's talk on Immigration was very enlightening, drawing attention to conditions that few of us realise existed on our Continent, and pointing out that while we did not have the same opportunity to work as they have in the West, still a kind word or deed given to the few foreigners we do come in contact with would do much toward Canadianising them.

The meeting closed by all repeating the Lord's Prayer, after which a dainty tea was served on the church lawn.

The next meeting will be held on the third Tuesday in September, in charge of Circle Six.

The ladies of the Peterborough Health Association Executive acted as hostesses yesterday afternoon for the doctors of the city and their wives, at tea hour at the Summer Camp at Jackson Park. The visitors spent some time and much congratulatory comment over an inspection of the children's quarters at the Park, having a cup of tea and light refreshments later under the pines.

Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Ward, of New York city, who have been in the city for the past two weeks, motored home this morning. Last evening a number of their Peterborough friends called to say good-bye at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Clancy, Rubidge street, where Dr. and Mrs. Ward have been guests during their stay in the city. Although suffering from a bad cold, Mrs. Ward kindly sang for her friends a number of the old and new songs in a most thoroughly delightful manner. Mrs. Ward was formerly Miss Lavina Hallihan of this city, for many years the premier song-bird of Peterborough, whose vocal work in the production of "The Geisha" brought Earl Grey, then Governor-General of Canada, here, for a special performance. Dr. and Mrs. Ward have many friends in the city, who will look forward to another visit from them next summer.

UNITED FARM WOMEN REPORT

WINNIPEG, July 11— (Canadian Press).—Rural Education, in relation to the general question of education, now being investigated by the Murray Commission, will be seen through the eyes of the United Farm Women of Manitoba when their report is presented to the Commission by Miss J. Strang, of Dauphin, Man. The executive of the U. F. W. M. at a redcent meeting approved the proposed boycott on sugar, meanwhile urging women to use only the amount of sugar absolutely necessary.

The executive decided to investigate the advisability of urging the Dominion Government to take action for the labeling of woollen and wool and cotton mixtures in order to assist the buying public.

Another executive meeting of interest to women on farms was that of the Women's Section of the Canadian Council of Agriculture. It drafted work for numerous committees appointed recently. Among these were the following: Marketing, under the convenorship of Mrs. James Elliott, provincial president of the U. F. W. M., its duties being to make a study of poultry and bee products; Social Welfare, Miss Amy J. Roe, convenor, to make a study of mental sub-normals, detention of delinquent children, crime and punishment, the drug habit and liquor legislation; Public Health Committee, Mrs. M. L. Sears, Alberta, to study the scope of the Federal and provincial health organizations, infant mortality and maternal care, Red Cross work, social diseases and the pure food laws; Young People's Committee, Mrs. J. F. Amos of Ontario, convenor, to study Canada's needs regarding immigration, existing regulations governing immigration, settlement of unattached women and children, maintenance of strictly selective policy, especially as regards mental and physical fitness, encouragement of plans for assimilating non-English immigrants with special study of the mistakes of the past, work of various other colonization schemes and of other organizations engaged in immigration, government and other measures which will help people already on the land to stay.

The meeting also decided that in the event of an Imperial conference of premiers being called, the resolutions passed at the annual meeting of the Canadian Council of Agriculture, regarding the naturalisation of married women, would be sent to the conference.

NURSING ASSOCIATION ANNUAL CONVENTION

TORONTO, July 11— (Canadian Press).—The Canadian Association of Nursing Education in their annual convention recommended that a survey be taken, through the public health and private duty section of the provincial organizations, to discover the extent of the need in Canadian homes, disorganized through illness, of a subsidiary nursehousekeeper. This, in Saskatchewan, is proving a boon; it embraces a year's training in simple nursing and house keeping. It was suggested that the service should be fully organized, controlled and supervised and that the provincial health nurses should exercise a judicial function over the subsidiary nursing. It was recommended in the report of the committee on nursing education appoited by the Rockefeller Foundation, presented by Miss E. I. Johns, of Vancouver, that the subsidiary group of nurses might be trained in the large general hospital, provided that the course be conducted in separate distinct wards from that for the regular student nurses.

The Canadian National Association of Trained Nurses is asked to create a section for the "Nursing Education Association," which would mean amalgamation, with Miss Jean Gunn of Toronto, as the Education representative.

Canadian Stock Exchange — And Mines = New York Stock Exchange — And Curb Prices

To-Day's Quotations and Opinions and Reviews of the Markets.

...New York, July 11. — Opening prices on the stock exchange to-day were lower with trading more active; the changes were in...ely fractional. There were ½ point declines in initial trades in steel common and American Can; overnight development were largely favorable, including the report of record car loadings in the last week in June; some good quarterly reports and an increased dividend by a motor company. A cut of 10c in Corning Crude should really have been part of other reductions in eastern crudes made Tuesday. While nothing official developed that in any way could be termed as clearing the reparations snarl, it was noteworthy that all foreign exchanges were highre, sterling being up 1 and 5-16. Resistance was shown to the selling as the market advanced in its session and offerings were well absorbed; by the end of the first hour most of the leading issues had recovered and were at approximately the closing levels of Tuesday. The volume of dealings slackened after the first half hour and by 11 a.m. the market was extremely dull. Steel common got above 90 after selling at 89½ but still was a fraction under the previous close. Burns Bros. issues were lower the A being off 2 at 116½; official quarters state that rumors of a contemplated cut in dividends are unfounded, the capital assets being sufficient to pay this year's dividends on the A and B shares at the present annual rates of ten dollars and two dollars a share respectively, earnings concurrently are at the annual rate of twenty dollars a share on the A and ten to twelve on the B stock. The regular dividends were declared yesterday.

The break in wheat late on Tuesday affected Harvester which was off 1 3-4 at 77. Opening prices included American Telephone 121 3-4, off 1-8; American Can 87½, Baldwin 117 off ½, North American 20 off ¼; Anaconda 39 5-8 off 1-4, American Loco., 65 3-4 off ½; Baltimore and Ohio 45 off 5-8; Studebaker 101 1-8 off 3-8; Calpet 21 off 1-8; N Y C 97 off ¼; Pan Pet. Are Good Standard Stocks Worth Buying

That question is in many persons' minds just now, and the opinion of RELIABLE Brokers is that stocks are really CHEAP, judging from the condition of industrial business. However financial markets have been heavy and traders are discouraged. Is not this the time to buy? Certainly good DIVIDEND PAYERS are remarkably cheap. Phone us or call and we will discuss the many questions with you to our mutual benefit.

Dominion Fuel Head Warns of Anthracite Strike Risks.

OTTAWA, July 11. — To lay in coal now for use next fall and winter is the midsummer advice of Chas. A. Magrath, the he... of the government Advisory Committee on fuel. The anthracite miners in the states are demanding a 20 per cent. increase in wages and August will determine whether or not there is to be a strike. If one occurs the market may become panicky and the supply will be affected if the trouble extends over a few weeks.

A hopeful factor however is that the anthracite production is very heavy exceeding 2,000,000 tons a week

Nothing is known here of the reported purchases of large quantities of Mexican coal by Canadian dealers although quotations have been received from time to time by the agents of this product.

A considerale quantity of Welsh coal, aout 20,000 tons a month, is coming in, and the market established for it during last year's stringency seems likely to be maintained. The Nova Scotia coal supply is affected by the latest outbreak of recurrent trouble and if it keeps up production will be below normal, while the rate quoted by the railways $9 a ton in summer is not low enough to encourage imports to the east from Alberta. Sir Henry Thornton is to have a further conference with the Western operators on the 16th inst at Edmonton. Mr. Magrath does not forecast any decrease in the price of anthracite this year. Possibly there may be an increase depending upon whether the miners get the new scale that they are after.

THE SUN HAS RISEN.

I dreamed the plowman told me:
"Grow your bread
And tend your fields alone; I plow no more."
The weaver bade me spin the clothes I wore:
The mason quit the wall above my head.

Deserted so by all who warmed and fed
And sheltered me, my heart was sad and sore,
For seek what path I would, I heard the roar
Of fallen lions; and the sky was lead.

My eyes fell open, and I saw the sun.
I heard a hundred hammers beat as one,
The plowboy whistle, and the builder call;
And then I knew my happiness—and then
I felt my endless debt to other men.

And since that morning I have loved them all.

THE DRY FLEET CAPTURE RUNNER

A Few Cases of Liquor Found on Board One of Captives.

NEW YORK, July 12.—A launch and a dory, captured by the revenue cutter Seminole, which with three other cutters and eight speed boats, is endeavouring to enforce an armed blockade against rum runners were brought into port yesterday, with the members of their crews, who described the escape of an alleged rum runner at which the Seminole fired several shots on Sunday evening, off Atlantic Highlands

The captive craft were the 40-foot launch Genevieve and a 40-foot grey dory, bearing the number 4083 The launch also was designated by numerals, 4058.

The Genevieve, according to James Acton of Ambrose Court, Rockaway, and James Downey, 65 Boulevard, Rockaway, who were aboard the launch when it was seized is the property of James Duffy of Bruce Place, Rockaway.

They said they were out on a fishing expedition, and exhibited a collection of fishing tackle and other equipment as proof.

Acton and Downey were not held by Customs Solicitor Edward Barnes, who said that the evidence was insufficient.

The launch carried no cargo. It was picked up by the Seminole, which reported that it had found the Genevieve lying alongside the French auxiliary schooner Gerbervillier. The two men aboard the launch maintained that they had drawn up alongside the French vessel to make engine repairs after trouble developed on their fishing expedition.

Five cases of champagne and two cases of whisky were found aboard the dory, according to the report of the Seminole. On board the dory were two men who said they were William Bush and Harold Eldridge, both of Atlantic Highlands, N.J.

They said they were not transporting liquor ashore, but were simply transferring cases from the Gerbervillier to another schooner, the Thorndyke, anchored not far from the French schooner. The case of Bush and Eldridge will be referred to the United States District Attorney by the Customs authorities.

The four men and the two vessels were brought into port by the customs boat Lexington. While waiting to be questioned by Solicitor Barnes, Bush, one of the men on the dory, was asked if he had heard the shots fired by the Seminole at the rum runner which escaped.

"I heard that the Seminole fired seventeen shots, or the President's salute, after a rum runner," said Bush, "but she was so speedy she got away." Bush said it was reported in the liquor fleet outside the three-mile limit that when the rum-runner was warned to stop one of its crew signalled back by semaphore, 'Come and get us.'"

It is understood that the crew of the Seminole knows the identity of the boat that escaped.

Assistant United States Attorney Sanford H. Cohen and United States Marshal William C. Hecht armed with a recent order signed by Judge Learned Hand of the Federal Court, yesterday placed padlocks upon the doors of the Moulin Rouge, 88 Washington Place, adjudged a public nuisance for repeated violations of the Volstead Act and the Eighteenth Amendment. The establishment will be closed for one year.

WEDDING BELLS

McDONALD—McCORMACK.

A quiet wedding took place at eight o'clock on Tuesday morning at St. Peter's Cathedral, when the marriage was solemnised of Mary A. McCormack, daughter of Mrs. J. McCormack, Victoria Avenue, and S. McDonald, of St. Mary's, Ontario. Rev. P. Costello periormed the ceremony.

The bride, who was dressed in sand-coloured crepe, with hat to match, and bouquet of roses, was attended by Mrs. W. H. McCormack, of Toronto. Her brother, W. H. McCormack, supported the bridegroom. Miss L. Hurley played the music for the wedding Mass, and Miss Ernestine McManus sang in beautiful voice, Gounod's "Ava Maria." The bride's small niece, Mary McCormack, also sang two hymns.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, Mr. and Mrs. McDonald leaving later for a honeymoon in Niagara Falls, N.Y. They will reside in St. Mary's.

OBITUARY

MRS. MARY ROBINSON

The death took place on Wednesday afternoon at the family residence Monaghan Road, of Mary Anne Chamberlen, widow of the late Isaac Robinson. Mrs. Robinson was probably one of the oldest residents of the city. She was born in the town of Peterboro in 1840, a daughter af the late Edmund Chamberlen, who was one of the earliest settlers here.

There are left to mourn her loss loss, on son, A. H. Robinson, 497 Gilmour street, two sisters, Miss J. Chamberlen and Mrs. H. C. Winch and one neice, Mrs. H. B. Rye.

The funeral will take place privately to-morrow afternoon from the family residence at 3.30 p.m. Interment in Little Lake Cemetery.

JANE DAVIS

The death occurred in the city yesterday of Mrs. Jane Davis, widow of the late John Henry Davis of Montreal. Mrs. Davis had resided in Peterborough about three years. Her husband predeceased her about seven years ago.

There are left to mourn her loss one daughter, Mrs. A. E. Todd, 182 Lock street with whom she resided.

The deceased was a faithful member of St. James' Methodist church.

The funeral will take place on Thursday at 2 p.m. from the residence of her daughter to Little Lake cemetery. Rev. W. E. Morrow will officiate in the absence of Rev. J. F. Chapman.

JAMES GATES HAS BEEN ILL FOR COUPLE WEEKS.

Mr. James Gates, caretaker at Inverlea Park, has been on the sick list for a couple of weeks and will return to duty to-morrow. It is expected that when Mr. Gates gets back on the job there will be fewer near drownings, and citizens who patronize the bathing beach will enjoy a greater degree of safety. A feature of Mr. Gates' service at Inverlea Park is the swimming classes which he conducts each morning.

POINTED PANELS.

Pointed sides or panels of different lengths are noticed on the new fur capes being made up for winter wear.

Canadian Stock Exchange — And Mines — | New York Stock Exchange — And Curb Prices —

To-Day's Quotations and Opinions and Reviews of the Markets.

NEW YORK, July 12.— (Special.)—Trading was more active at the opening of the stock market today, with prices slightly lower in a number of stocks and a firmer tone apparent.

The foreign exchanges were higher, a favorable development owing to proximity of an important speech concerning the British position in the matter of reparations.

Canadian Pacific, in an internal stock, was up 1 1-3. The oils were fractionally higher on the weekly production report showing a decrease in domestic output.

The market developed activity in the first hour in a number of issues.

Leading stocks advanced above the opening. Steel Common 1-2, Baldwin and American Locomotive a point and the entire tone of the market indicates the expectation of favorable developments to arise from the statement of British reparations statement to-day.

Sentiment for the better was helped not a little by the increase of 147,000 shares in the amount of Steel Common held by investors during April, May and June months, when the market was selling down. Brokers' holdings decreased by the same amount in that period.

This visibly brings out the situation which is reported as existing in many leading stocks. People are paying up their debt balances and taking up their certificates. In time this means the absorption of the available supplyof such stocks and only indicates the intention of the investors to hold stocks, but also explains the apparent unwillingness of the bears to exert selling pressure in the recent dull periods.

Oils continued to improve with Pan American a half above the opening. Cosden reached 38 5-8, nearly a point up, while Sinclair was better at 24.

Buying in both these stocks was reported as being good. Opening prices: United States Steel 89 7-8; Baldwin 116, off 1-2; American Locomotive 65 3-8, (— 1-2; Pan Petroleum B 55 5-8, up 3-8; Pan Petroleum 59 1-2, up 3-8; Consolidated Gas 59, up 1-2; Bethlehem Steel 44 3-4, up 3-4; American Can 87, off 1-8; Union Pacific 128 1-4, off 1-2; Canadian Pacific 146 1-2, up 1 3-8; Studebaker 101 1-4, up 3-8; General Motors 13 3-8, up 1-8; Utah 57 5-8, off 1 1-8.

ORANGEMEN CELEBRATE BATTLE OF THE BOYNE

GAY COLORS IN CHINA

A meal eaten out of doors is not only delightfully pleasant in warm weather, but is of great benefit to the health and spirits. Those fortunate people who possess little gardens, porches or even balconies should realize what an ideal setting for a meal, a garden, porch or balcony is and use it as much as possible.

A dainty breakfast served on the porch in the cool of the morning, puts one in a congenial mood and frame of mind for the day's work.

Summer meals should be light, cooling and nourishing with plenty of fruit, fruit juices and salads. Summer is a decidedly healthful season, despite the discomforts of the heat—healthful because more water is used externally and internally, more vegetables and fruits eaten and less heavy food, and most important of all, more time spent out-of-doors.

China patterned in brilliant colors, also the luster ware which comes in beautiful blues, yellows, greens and lavenders, look particularly appetizing on the out-of-door table.

Reed or wicker furniture is the ideal kind for the garden or porch, as it is good looking, comfortable and is not harmed by rain or sun. A tea wagon saves many steps. Very attractive color schemes may be carried out in the cushions and pillows, also in painting the furniture itself.

As much thought and planning should be given to the out-of-door furniture as to that used in the house. It is a great mistake to relegate cast off chairs and tables, too shabby for use in the house, to the porch—unless one transforms them first, with enamel paint in well chosen colors.

If a porch is to be used exclusively as a dining room, it is well to purchase an unstained table with drop sides and unstained kitchen chairs (the ladder-back design is good) and an inexpensive tea wagon. These are durable and make charming porch furniture when painted apple green, violet or delft blue and decorated with thin lines of black and brilliant clusters of flowers.

Are Good Standard Stocks Worth Buying

That question is in many persons' minds just now, and the opinion of RELIABLE Brokers is that stocks are really CHEAP, judging from the condition of industrial business. However financial markets have been heavy and traders are discouraged. Is not this the time to buy? Certainly good DIVIDEND PAYERS are remarkably cheap. Phone us or call and we 'll discuss the many questions with you to our mutual benefit.

WILDE LOST AS A CHAMP SHOULD

Game Little Englishman Went Down Fighting a Great Fight — Kilbane Was Easy.

NEW YORK, July 12.—The passing of the championship title from Jimmy Wilde and Johnny Kilbane was in decided contrast. Both title holders lost via the knockout route but the finish was decidely different.

Kilbane, in losing to Criqui, passed out of the fistic picture without suffering any undue punishment. His end came in a most business-like manner. Starting the bout with much confidence he early lost his carefree manner. He must have quickly realized that Criqui was too strong for him. The punch that knocked him out was a stinging blow, but Kilbane took the count when it seemed that he would surely be on his feet before the fatal ten. Perhaps he realized that it would be useless and took the easiest way out.

Wilde, on the other hand, was badly punished. It was a shame that the referee and his seconds permitted him to be so roughly handled. Wilde was too game to stay down when he saw that he hadn't the slightest chance against the fighting Filipino. He finally was knocked unconscious. It was 10 minutes before he was revived. It was a spectacle that in no way helped the boxing game. Wilde, when asked to concede defeat, replied:

"I am a champion. I must go down fighting like a champion."

The finish of the Wilde-Villa bout was a most dramatic one. Wilde went down like a champion, knocked out, while the huge crowd begged the referee to save him that humiliation, when it was apparent that he had no chance.

Newark Worked a Snappy Triple Play.

SYRACUSE, N.Y., July 12—(Canadian Press.)— Newark pulled a triple play on Syracuse in the fourth inning of the first game in yesterday's double-header and nipped a Syracuse rally in the bud. McCarty scratched an infield hit but Makin and McKee both singled to right. McCarty scoring on the latter hit and Makin taking third. Peden grounded to Sheridan, who tossed to Brainard, forcing out McKee. Brainard threw to Miller, tossing out Peden. Makin held his base at third until he saw that Brainard was going to throw to first and then dashed for the plate. Miller's throw to Greenae was perfect and Makin was touched out as he slid for the plate.

GOOD SCORES ARE MADE AT BISLEY

Canadians Won Several Prizes in Sweepstakes and Made Several Possible Scores.

BISLEY CAMP, England, July 12.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—Weather conditions improved considerably at Bisley yesterday, and although the marksmen found the temperature of 142 degrees in the sun somewhat trying, nevertheless much good shooting was evidenced, the Public school boys especially obtaining excellent practice in the Gale and Polden competition.

The Aldershot Cup competition, a naval match open to teams of eight from certain naval units and Royal Marine divisions, was won by the Royal Marine Light Infantry, of Portsmouth, with a score of 1,058. H.M.S. Excellent was second with a score of 1,044.

The Hamilton Leigh Challenge Cup competition, open to teams of four present members of His Majesty's forces from any one unit, was shot yesterday and won by the Rifle Depot, Winchester, Lord Cottesloe, with a score of 72, won the Wimbledon Cup, a match rifle competition, fifteen shots at 1,100 yards. The Albert match rifle competition open to all comers, shot at 900, 1,000 and 1,100 yards, fifteen shots at each distance, was won by Maurice Blood of the Stock Exchange Rifle Club, with a score of 211.

The Canadans obtained more practice during the day in the sweepstakes, winning several prizes. The following made possible: Major R. M. Blair, 72nd Seaforth Highlanders, Vancouver; Sergt.-Major W. A. Hawkins, 48th Highlanders, Toronto; Sergt. J. A. MacDonald, P.P.C. L.I., Calgary; Lt.-Col. W. O. Morris, R.O., Toronto; Staff Sergeant A. E. Paddock, Royal Hamilton Regiment, Hamilton; Sergt.-Major W. Pugh, R. F.H.A., Kingston; Pte. H. J. White, Royal Grenadiers, Toronto.

Sergt. Kelsey, of Uppingham school, won the Daily Graphic Gold Medal, a rapid fire competition open to Public school boys. He had a score of 46. Charterhouse school won the Daily Graphic Challenge Trophy.

Argentina "Het Up" Over Willard Fight.

BUENOS AIRES, July 12.—(Canadian Press).—In a veritable fervor of expectation and patriotic enthusiasm Argentina is awaiting the outcome of the boxing match between Luis Angel Firpo and Jess Willard at Jersey City, N. J., to-morrow night.

The bout is almost the sole topic of conversation of all classes. The betting in Buenos Aires is two to one in favor of Firpo and foreigners are readily accepting the odds.

ALLAN REFUSED CHANCE TO PLAY

Lindsay - Toronto Hurler, Now Located at Port Hope, Wanted By Cobourg.

President Dedman of the Central Baseball League, was in Toronto Thursday night in the interests of the Cobourg Baseball Club, along with members of the Cobourg Club, asking permission of the O.B.A.A. to allow "Chuck" Allan to play the second half of the season with the Cobourg Club. Allan is at present summering at Port Hope where he has charge of a dance pavilion. The Ontario Association, however, refused to give the permit. It must be apparent to the Ontario Baseball Association that the Port Hope Baseball Club had nothing whatever to do with Allan locating in Port Hope. In fact the local club had withdrawn from the league before Allan had been engaged by the Parks Comission to take charge of the pavilion. Allan is an amateur in good standing and should not be deprived of the privilege of playing ball. Issuing a certificate to Dainty of Oshawa and turning down "Chuck" Allan will require some explanation from the Ontario Baseball Association.—Port Hope Guide.

BEAN BALL IS BEING REVIVED

Many Major League Pitchers Are Using Ball Which Carries Element of Danger.

NEW YORK, July 12.—Is the "bean ball" habit, once so prevalent among major league pitchers, undergoing a revival?

When Ray Chapman was killed by a pitched ball delivered by Carl Mays, the "beans ball" was almost universally discarded. While the killing of Chapman was purely accidental, still at the time a number of pitchers in both major leagues resorted to its use to intimidate opposing batters.

In the language of baseball, the "bean ball" is a ball, so pitched with great speed that it will come as close as possible to the batsman's head without hitting him. The purpose of such a delivery is to throw fear into the batter, drive him away from the plate and increase the effectiveness of the curve ball, because of the far away stance usually taken by the batsmen after a narrow escape from a "beaner."

While such a delivery has no place in baseball, it probably will always continue to be a part of the game. There are pitchers of certain temperament who think nothing of its use, regardless of the danger involved every time such a ball is pitched.

In one of the big leagues it is said that the entire staff of a certain team is instructed to resort to the beaner as a method of intimidation. It is said that with two strikes and no balls on the batter, pitchers are liable to a fine unless the next pitch is in the region of the head.

In both major leagues the players are complaining of the practice. Batters insist the honie-run habit has caused many of the pitchers to resort to the bean ball, in an effort to prevent the batsmen from hugging the plate and assuming a stance that makes for long hitting.

It is a despicable practice that has no place in baseball.

UNRULY SPECTATORS MAR TENNIS MATCHES IN PARIS

PARIS, July 12 (Associated Press).—The French have still much to learn in the matter of proper behavior at tennis matches. The recent international hard court contests here showed the spectators as unruly, boisterous and nervous. They did not restrain their emotions, and applauded and shouted while rallies were still in progress. They resembled the assemblies of howling baseball fans in America or shrieking bull fight enthusiasts in Spain, rather than the orderly gatherings of Forest Hills and Wimbledon.

French crowds are also very partial. "Their champion right or wrong, first, last and all the time," appears to be their motto. They applauded the lucky shots of Lacoste when he managed to drop the ball on the other side of the net for a point which should have gone against him, with as much gusto as they cheered the double faults of "Little Bill" Johnston which gave a point to a countryman.

LEADER IN SPORTS IN INDIAN RIVER

U. F. Y. P. O. Club Regret Departure of Popular Secretary.

INDIAN RIVER, July 12 — On Thursday, 28th June, a pleasing event took place at Forsythe's School, when Mr. Bruce Dawson, secretary of the Indian River U.F. Y.P.O. Club was presented with a handsome dressing companion.

The presentation was made by Mr. Alex. Carlow, and th following address was read by Miss Lulu Bell, on behalf of the members.

Dear Mr. Dawson.

We, the members of the Indian River Young People's Club, fearing that we might not have you with us next year, yet hoping you may decide to return, desire you to know that we appreciated your untiring efforts as our secretary, and we always felt we had someone who could and would help us out in any part we tried to take, where we felt our limited education almost an impossibility.

In the county debates you were a very valuable debater and judge. We trust that you have received some benefit from our meetings to repay you for your work and assistance.

Again you have been a help in our outdoor sports, and indeed we looked to you as a leader, and were not disappointed.

We would ask you to accept this little gift as a reminder of our happy times together, and hoping that you may decide to return and be with us again.

Mr. Dawson, although taken by surprise, thanked the members for their beautiful gift.

HAREM LIFE SHOWN IN "OMAR THE TENTMAKER."

The intimate life of the Persian harem is depicted in a vivid manner in "Omar the Tentmaker," a First National attraction starring Guy Bates Post, which is now playing at the Royal Theatre. James Young directed this Richard Walton Tully production.

A thread of the interesting story leads into the harem of the Shah of Persia, where dozens of beautiful girls are held prisoners until such time as they lose their beauty and fall from grace. Of old the Persian shahs were the most despotic and powerful of all rulers, and they were able to commandeer any maiden they desired for their harems.

In "Omar the Tentmaker," Shireen, the beloved of Omar Khayyam, is "drafted" in such a manner, but the girl proves obstinate and is thrown into the dungeon, where she spends many years before she is released. Then she is sold as a slave, and goes through torturous adventures before she is reunited with her lover.

Virginia Brown Faire is cast as Shireen, and she has given the role a powerful interpretation.

ENGINEER PARSONS GIVEN SOME IDEAS

Street Oil is Smelly, Sticky, Too Thick, Too Wide, Too Streaky and Too Late.

Last night a group of half a dozen men gathered on Aylmer street discussing the oiling of the street which was begun yesterday morning and completed in the afternoon.

"It's about time they got to the centre of the city," said one. "My wife is worked off her feet keeping the dust off the furniture. It came in clouds."

"It's awful smelling oil they're using this year," another said. "My wife has had a headache all day from it."

"Yeh—and look at the streaks through it," said number three, "hey put it on so thick that they had to throw sand over it, and now the cars are carrying it all away."

"Why did they want to do all the street at once" demanded a fourth member of the party. "They didn't do that anywhere but Aylmer street On other streets they give a man a chance to go one way without tracking oil into the house."

"Oh I guess that's so it'll all be finished at once", said lenient number five. "But I don't see why they couldn't have done it when they were fixing the street and it was closed any way. The roller could have rolled it in."

"If it hadn't got stuck" said the last "It's the stickiest mess I ever pushed a wheel through."

FLOWING GOLD

COPYRIGHT 1922 BY REX BEACH PRINTED BY ARRANGEMENT WITH METROPOLITAN NEWSPAPER SERVICE, NEW YORK

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Calvin Gray is the enemy of Colonel Henry Nelson, a banker. Gus Briskow strikes oil and meets Gray, who proves a friend in need to the Briskow family. Allie, the daughter, falls in love with Gray, but he loves Barbara Parker. Bud Briskow, son of Gus, falls into the hands of an adventuress from whom Gray rescues him. Briskow buys a beautiful home and Gray visits him there. Gray hires Mallow and two associates to keep close watch of Nelson's activities in the oil fields. Gray tells the president of the largest bank in Dallas of his hate for Nelson.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY

"We got a slave that tends the door, but I ain't got gentled up to bells an' things yet. Allie's away an' Ma's layin' down, so—"

"Ma isn't ill, I hope?"

"N-no. Just ailin'."

"You were in luck to find a house in such a smart neighborhood, Gus. Now show me around, quickly, for I'm dying to see it."

"Lord, I'm dyin' to show it to somebody! You're the first one that's dropped in an' we been here 'most two weeks. Say, you'll stay an' eat supper, won't you?"

"Of course I will, and breakfast, too, if you can take care of me."

"Pshaw! Didn't we take keer of you when you come to the ranch? We got three niggers now, just doin' the housework. I'd of bought a bigger house if they'd of let me, but—"

"It is large enough. Anything more would merely add to your cares."

"Allie and Ma picked out the furniture. Swell, ain't it?"

"Beautiful!" Gray exclaimed. Inwardly he groaned, for, although the contents of the home appeared to be expensive, almost ostentatious, they nevertheless betrayed a conspicuous lack of taste both in character and in arrangement. Here and there were color combinations so atrocious that they positively hurt the caller. On the whole, however, the place looked better than he had expected, and such indications of harmony and restraint as he detected he attributed to Allie. It was a nice enough home, and with a little change, a little rearrangement, it could be made attractive even to one of elegant tastes. Those changes, of course, Gray determined to make.

"Allie's gone out to the old farm to get some stuff for Ma," the father explained in due time. "Some pitchers of her an' Buddy when they was little, an' a rockin'-chair, an' Ma's favorite bedspread, an' some other things she likes."

Gray remembered the portraits, executed by a St. Louis "enlargement" concern. They had wide gilt frames, and were protected from ravaging flies by mosquito netting. He hoped that Ma would not hang them in the hall or the living-room. And that rocker, for which she yearned, was probably the one with the creaking coiled springs—the one that had leaped after him and clashed its jaws like an alligator.

"By the way, how does Buddy like the new home?" the latter inquired.

"He 'ain't seen it yet. Says he's too busy to leave the job. What you done to that boy, anyhow?"

"I'm making a real man out of him—and an oil man, too. He knew how to dress tools when I got him, but he's a pretty good driller now. Before long he'll be able to take charge of your property and run it on practical lines.

"Tell me, Gus, how much money have you got?"

"I dunno. Figgers over a thousand dollars don't mean much to me."

Gray searched the speaker's face with a speculative gaze. "It's mostly liquid, I presume." There was a pause. "I mean it's in cash or the equivalent?"

"Oh, sure! These bonds an' stocks an' things—" Briskow shook his head disapprovingly. "Land ain't any too safe, either. It's rainin' now, an' it'll keep on rainin' till the farmers is all drowned out. Next year it'll be droughty an' fry 'em to a crisp. No, I'm skeered of land. I'm skeered of everything!" This last was said plaintively

"You're the only man I ever knowed that I'd bank my life on. An' you're smart. You wouldn't take Buddy, but mebbe you'd kinda—take me; take all of us. I tell you I'm skeered!"

"Just how much confidence do I inspire in you?" Gray's expression was peculiar, for amazement, doubt, eagerness were equally blended.

"This much: I'd turn the hull

GRAY PLAYED BUTLER WITH CORRECTNESS AND POISE.

works over to you, if you'd look out for us."

For quite a while the caller sat with head bowed, with his gaze fixed upon the flames; when he looked up his face was red, his eyes were brighter than usual.

"You don't know how much I'd like to say yes, but I fought Buddy to prevent him from making a mistake, and I sha'n't allow you to make this one."

"Hm-m! Will you keep me from makin' other mistakes?"

"I will, if I can."

"Mebbe that's enough. Anyhow, I'll sleep better tonight for seein' you."

"I think I hear Ma stirring," said Gray, as he rose. "I brought her a few little presents, and I'd like to take them up to her." As he left the room there was the same queer light in his eyes; nevertheless, he moved slowly, like a man tired.

CHAPTER XXV

A Lesson in Deportment

GRAY was shocked at the change in Ma Briskow. She had failed surprisingly. Pleasure lit up her face, and she fell into a brief flutter of delight at seeing him; but as soon as their first greeting was over he led her to her lounge and insisted upon making her comfortable. He had tricks with cushions and pillows, so he declared; they became his obedient servants, and there was a knack in arranging them—the same knack that a robin uses in building its nest. This he demonstrated quite conclusively.

It was nice to have a great, masterful man like this take charge of one, and Ma sighed gratefully as she lay back. "It does kinda feel like a bird's nest," she declared. "And you kinda look like a robin, too; you're allus dressed so neat."

"Exactly," he chuckled. "Robins are the very neatest dressers of all the birds. But look! Like a real robin. I've brought spring with me." He opened a huge box of long-stemmed roses and held their cool, dewy buds against Mr. Briskow's withered face, then, laughing and chatting, he arranged them in vases where she could see them. Next, he drew down the shades, shutting out the dreary afternoon, after which he lit the gas log, and soon the room, whether by reason of his glowing personality or his deft rearrangement of its contents, or both, became a warm and cheerful place.

He had brought other gifts than flowers, too; thoughtful, expensive things that fairly took Ma's breath. No one had ever given her presents; to be remembered, therefore, with useless, delightful little luxuries filled her gentle soul with a guilty rapture.

But these were not gifts in the ordinary sense; they were offerings from the Duke of Dallas, and his manner of presenting them invested every article with ducal dignity.

Gray was seated on the side of her couch with her cold hand between his warm palms, and he was telling her about the princess of Wichita Falls when the summons to dinner interrupted them.

Ma was not hungry, and she had expected to have a bite in her own room; but her caller was so vigorous in his objections to this plan that she finally agreed to come downstairs.

The Briskow household was poorly organized as yet, and it was only natural that it should function imperfectly; nevertheless, Gray was annoyed at the clumsy manner in which the dinner was served.

"See here, Ma!" Gray threw down his napkin. "You have a beautiful home, and you want it to be perfect, don't you?"

"Why, of course. We bought everything we could buy—"

"Everything except skillful servants, and they are hard to find. You are capable of training your cook and teaching your upstairs girl to sweep and make beds; but the test of a well-run house is a well-served meal. Now then, you're not eating a bite, anyhow, and Gus won't mind waiting awhile for his dinner. With your permission, I'd like to take things in hand and add a hundred per cent to your future comfort?"

In some bewilderment Ma agreed that she would do anything her guest suggested, whereupon he rose energetically and called the three domestics into the dining room.

"We are going to start this dinner all over again," he announced, "and we are going to begin by swapping places. I am going to serve it as a dinner should be served, and you are going to eat it as— Well, I dare say nature will have to take its course. Mr. and Mrs. Briskow are going to look on. After we have finished you are going to serve us exactly as I served you."

Naturally, this proposition amazed the "help"; in fact, its absurdity convulsed them. The man laughed loudly; the cook buried her ebony face in her apron; the second girl bent double with mirth. But the gentleman was not joking. On the contrary, he brought this levity to an abrupt end, then, gravely, ceremoniously, he seated the trio.

Gray played butler with a correctness and a poise deeply impressive to his round-eyed audience.

It was an uncomfortable experience for all except Gray himself—he actually enjoyed it—and when the last dish had been removed, and he had given instructions to serve the meal over again exactly as he had served it, the three negroes were glad to obey.

"You see what a meddlesome busybody I am," the guest laughed. "I don't know how to mind my own business, and the one luxury I enjoy most of all is regulating other people's affairs." He was still talking, still lecturing his hearers upon the obligations prosperity had put upon them, when he was summoned to the telephone by long-distance call. He returned in some agitation to announce: "Well, at last I have business of my own to attend."

Leafs Won Double-Header — Rochester Dropped Back Again — Newark Has New Manager.

TORONTO, July 12 (Canadian Press). — Toronto reversed things with Reading yesterday, defeating the Keys in both ends of the double-header. With Jessie Doyle pitching grand ball, they won the first game 2 to 1, and Bill Taylor hurled them to a 3 to 2 victory in the second. Three of the four hits made off Taylor came in the first innings. The fielding of Frank O'Rourke was sensational. Scores:

First Game—

Reading	000010000	1	5 0
Toronto	10010000x	2	6 2

Mamaux and Lynn, Clarke; Doyle and Vincent.

Second Game—

Reading	2000000	2	4 2
Toronto	100110x	3	8 1

(Seven innings by agreement.)
Carts and Clarke; Taylor and Vincent.

Rochester Dropped One.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., July 12 (Canadian Press).— Rochester dropped to a game and a half behind the leading Baltimore Orioles yesterday when the homesters split a double-header with Jersey City, as the Birds defeated Buffalo. Rochester scored three in the ninth to win, 3 to 2, in the first game, while Jersey City played consistently in the second to win by 4 to 3. Scores:

First Game—

Jersey City	020000000	2	6 0
Rochester	000000003	3	8 3

Lucey and Freitag; Moore and McAvoy.

Second Game—

Jersey City	0101110	4	9 1
Rochester	0210000	3	6 2

Hanson and McCrea; Miljus and McAvoy.

Baltimore 9, Buffalo 2.

BUFFALO, July 12 (Canadian Press). — There was no struggle over yesterday's game, Baltimore winning from Buffalo 9 to 2. Webb and Bishop hit home runs. Score:

Baltimore	002010114	9	16 0
Buffalo	000000020	2	7 3

Ogden and Styles; Mohart, Gordy and Urban.

Split Double Bill.

SYRACUSE, N.Y., July 12 (Canadian Press). — Fred Brainard, second baseman of the Newark Club, was appointed permanent manager of the Newark team yesterday, replacing Andy Anderson, and under his regime the club split a double header with Syracuse, the visitors winning the first game 11 to 6, and the home club the second 5 to 1.

The Newark Club played the snappiest baseball game of the season, and in addition to making a triple play in the first game, completed four double plays in the first four innings of the second game.

Manager Brainard was easily the star of the game getting a home run in each game and playing a remarkable gme in the field. Scores:

First Game—

Newark	311011103	11	13 1
Syracuse	001100130	6	13 5

Ellis and Grenae; Parks and McKee.

Second Game—

Newark	0010000	1	6 0
Syracuse	110021x	5	9 0

GAME THIS EVENING.

The Mercantile League game between the Lock Works and Bankers originally scheduled for last evening will be played this evening. These two teams are battling on even terms for the honors of the second half of the schedule. The Lock Works went through the first half without a defeat and have kept up the good work so far in the second. The Bankers sustained but one defeat in the first section and so far have come out on top in every game they have played in the second half. The meeting tonight will in all probability decide the winner of the second section.

Junior Teams Will Play Again To-Morrow.

The third of the Adanacs-Lakeviews games to decide a Junior City champion will be played tomorrow evening. So far the record of the two games played stands with a victory for the Lakeviews and a tie game. Another win for the Lakeviews will give them the city title while a victory for Eddie Wright's gang will mean another game before a decision can be reached.

In spite of their defeat of last evening the Adanacs have been playing a great brand of ball while the Lakeviews have been showing championship form all season. The result should be a game tomorrow that will be worth watching. Either one of these teams will be a worthy representative for Peterboro in the battle for provincial honors.

KEENE CHAMPS WELL AWAY IN E.P. LOOP RACE

George Street Failed to Break Long String of Victories.

SCORE WAS 7 TO 2.

Keene won a 7 to 2 victory over George Street, in an East Peterborough League game at King Edward school grounds last evening, and are now well away towards first honors in the second half of the league race. The Keene team won the first half without meeting a defeat at home or abroad.

The Methodists had a great chance to get some runs early in the game, but erratic work on the runways caused singles and extra base hits to be wasted. Keene, on the other hand, made their hits count and scored three runs in the first. O'Dette, first up, drew a pass and stole second. C. Robertson was thrown out at first and O'Dette, who had made third, scored on a passed ball. Hawkins and I. Fletcher singled, and after Nelson had skied to left, A. Fletcher sent the runners home with his double. The pitcher fanned.

Elliott started for George street with a triple to right. He went out trying to make the plate. R. Miller singled and Bates was safe when O'Dette juggled his grounder. R. Miller singled to left and R. Miller was thrown out at third. Ash ended the frame by fouling to Hawkins.

After two had been caught by a double play in the second, O'Dette singled and stole, scoring on Baird's error. The visitors added three more in the third on a comedy of hits and errors, but were held scoreless for the remainder of the game.

George street scored their first tally in the fourth, which Ash opened with a triple down first. McColl hit the runner home, and then went out trying to make second. The next two batters fanned. The second and last counter came in the fifth, Elliott hitting for three bases and scoring on R. Miller's infield out. Bates singled but went out trying to steal second. In their last chance to come from behind, C. Miller lined out to first, Thornton batting for Ash, also went out at first and McCall fanned.

LAKEVIEWS IN LEAD FOR THE CITY HONORS

Lou LeBarr's Crew Out in Front As a Result of Last Evening's Victory Over the Adanacs.

SCORE WAS 6 TO 1.

The Lakeviews jumped on Lefty Turner for four runs in the first inning of last evening's game and sewed the game up right there. Three hits mixed up with two walks and a sacrifice accounted for all the tallies and though the game was a real battle from then on the Adanacs were unable to solve Whitehouse's delivery and the final count was 6 to 1. It looked until the last frame as if Whitehouse was to register another shut out. But Lefty Turner, the first man up in the seventh cracked the first ball pitched to him for two bases and Hip Hardill later came across with the necessary hit to score him.

Whitehouse dominated the situation all the way. He fanned seven and walked one The Adanacs swung freely on his offerings but for the most part were only able to send up easy pop flies or weak grounders that were promptly scooped up for an out. The Adanacs obtained but one hit in the first five frames. They got one hit in the sixth and managed to bunch their other two in the seventh for their one and only counter.

Whitehouse was given air tight support, the one error checked against his team mates coming at a time when it did no damage.

Lefty Turner went the whole way for the Adanacs and the poor support he received went a long way toward helping the Lakeviews to win. His team mates contributed five misplays while he showed streaks of wildness himself walking three and hitting one. He fanned six. In the first inning after two hits and a walk had filled the bases he walked the next man forcing in a run. After the first frame he pitched good ball allowing five hits but keeping them well scattered. Several of the hits were of a decidedly scratchy variety and might have been cut off by a little faster fielding.

LeBarr was the only batter to get more than one hit while Turner was the only one to hit for more than one base. There were no really sensational fielding stunts though Moore pulled of a couple of nice catches at second.

Last evening's victory puts the Lakeviews in the lead for the Junior City League honors. This game was the second of the three game series to decide a winner. The first game played on Monday evening resulted in a scoreless tie. The third game will be played on Friday evening at Riverside Park. If the Lakeviews win it will be the final contest. If the Adanacs win another game will be necessary before a winner can be declared.

An exceptionally good crowd was out for the game and with the crucial battle scheduled for Friday night an even bigger turnout is expected.

Commissioner Landis Investigating Charges.

CHICAGO, July 12.—(Canadian Press).—Mike Kelley, manager of the St. Paul Club of the American Association, yesterday was ordered to appear before Commissioner Landis next Friday to explain his charges that President Hickey of the American Association suspended four St. Paul players for the purpose of aiding the Kansas City Club in the pennant race.

Commissioner Landis summoned President Hickey, John W. Norton president of the St. Paul Club, and George Muehlbach, president of the Kansas City Club to appear with Kelley. The St. Paul manager in the meantime is under indefinite suspension, pending the proving of his charges.

BOSTON RED SOX SOLD TO WESTERN COMPANY

BOSTON, July 12. — (Canadian Press). — The Boston American League Baseball Club yesterday was sold to a syndicate of Columbus, Ohio, men by Harry H. Frazee, owner of the club, since 1916. The completion of the sale and the signing of the contract, which has been periodically reported and denied for several months was announced by Robert J. Quinn former business manager of the St. Louis American League Club representing the Ohio Syndicate.

Mr. Quinn announced that the sale contract had been signed after a long conference at the office at Pillsburg, Dana and Young, attorneys. President Ban Johnson of the American League, was present, as were Edward M. Schonborn and Palmer K. Winslow, of Columbus, members of the purchasing syndicate, and others.

It was also announced that legal steps in connection with the contract would not be completed until August 1. Mr. Quinn refused to make public the price, but said it was "over $1,000,000." He said that Robert Quinn would be president and treasurer of the company to be formed as owners, and that Palmer K. Winslow, of Cincinnati would be vice-president. It was said that a board of five directors would be formed, two of whom are expected to be Edward M. Shoenborn and Dr. Robert Drury of Columbus.

BELLEVILLE HIT KINGSTON FREELY

Ponies Defeated 7 to 1 — Oulette Pitched Splendid Game.

BELLEVILLE, July 12 (Special to The Examiner). — Many Bellevillians went picnicking here on the half-holiday, and the Grand Trunk ball team also had a picnic nine innings long, with Harry Batstone's Kingston Ponies, for they defeated them 7 runs to 1, in a game which, though not listless, was never in doubt from the outset.

Trunks outhit and outfielded the visitors, and Jack Oulette, speed ball tosser for the locals, outpitched Ted Gallagher, the Kingston southpaw, in every stage of the game.

Gallagher held no terror for the support given him, possibly saved him from the showers.

Oulette pitched a lovely game, having nine strike-outs to Gallagher's three, and passing but two men, and hitting one.

Gallagher issued no complimentaries, and hit one batter.

In the second frame, with two down, "Jakie" Williams pounded the cleanest home run hit on this diamond this season, for the first run.

In the fourth, Weir was hit, and Casey's double sent him home for number two. In the fifth, three clean singles meant a run, and in the sixth, a two-bagger by Weir, a single by Jakie Williams, and a gift of two errors netted the locals three runs.

In the seventh, a hit and another error on a hit by Batstone sent him over the pan.

Ross got two singles and a double off Gallagher, Weir two singles, Williams a homer and a single, Casey a double, and Brownscombe a single.

Hagerman, relief catch for Peenie Mills, played a fine game, and while Batstone, third sacker for the visitors, was smooth in the field, he was as helpless as his brothers at the willow.

J. K. Williams and Weir worked smoothly and had accurate pegs to first.

The line-ups:

Trunks — Ross, cf; Meagher, 2b; Brownscombe, lf; Weir, ss; H. Mills, 1b; J. K. Williams, 3b; Casey rf; Hagerman, c; Oulette, p.

BRIGHTON WON IN PITCHING EXHIBIT

Dan Shannon Excelled in Brighton - Warkworth Game—Score 2-0.

Brighton, July 12. (Special.) — In the best pitching exhibition ever seen in Brighton, Don Shannon, the locals' star twirler, won a 2-0 decision over Archie Zufelt, Warkworth's crack southpaw. Shannon yielded four hits and Zufelt three, and each had three strike outs. Zufelt was also the big noise at the bat pounding out a triple and a single. Mulhall, Poole, Hare, Archer, and McKee were the others to secure the rare hits. Haliday again starred at second and in the first inning Walt made the best catch that local fans have seen in several seasons. Both shortstops had an off-day but otherwise the fielding was classy.

It is estimated that there were 350 in attendance.

WILLARD AND FIRPO TO BATTLE TODAY

An Irresistable Force Will Meet An Immovable Object When Two Heavies Clash This Evening.

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, July 12.—When Luis Angel Firpo climbs into the ring in the great wooden saucer in Jersey City with Jess Willard this evening, it will be decided once and for all just exactly what happens when an irresistable force meets an immovable object.

Firpo, the Argentine madman, ferocious and bull-like when he is aroused, is listed in the fight records as an irresistable force.

Willard, cool, stubborn giant, is the immovable object. He always has been with the exception of one day out in Toledo when he met Jack Dempsey and his foot slipped. He is trying to prove today that only his foot slipped and that he really is worthy of another match for the championship.

Great crowds of New Yorkers and fight fans from all over the world migrated via ferry and subway under the Hudson River and beseiged the great stadium where 90,000 persons two years ago saw Jack Dempsey knock out Georges Carpentier.

Interest in the match is high and betting free. The fans who have been interested since the milk fund bouts at the Polo Grounds when Willard knocked out Floyd Johnson a few minutes after Firpo had finished polishing off young "Jack MacAuliffe II."

Tex Rickard, the premier of promoters, as soon as Willard had passed the final blow, waxed enthusiastic over the prospects of a match, and it was concluded quickly.

Firpo will enter the ring around 219 pounds, while Willard fights his best around 240, the mark he has been trying to reach.

The Argentinian has the advantage in age. He is only 26. Willard confessed to the New Jersey State Boxing Commission that he was 38, but investigations indicated he is about 42. He is in excellent condition though, well preserved and strong, even if he is not as spry as when he knocked out Jack Johnson down in Havana for the heavyweight championship eight years ago.

The record books have him exactly 40, born in Pottawatomie County, Kansas, in December, 1883.

Firpo was raised in South America, where he never ran into any good heavyweight. Willard is the first real tough man that he has met. He has been fighting about four years, while Willard can be credited with crafty experience of twelve years in the ring.

But the analysis of the fighters narrows down to the question of whether Firpo can use his rushing, bull-like tactics against his rival giant successfully, and whether Willard can withstand the heavy, youthful punching of a man at least 14 years younger than he is and nearly as strong.

Firpo is going into the fight to end it in the first few rounds, his manager, Jimmy De Forrest, says. Firpo believes his best chance is to do to Willard just what Dempsey did to him at Toledo.

Willard never gets warmed up to a fight in the early rounds. He likes to push along in a passive manner and the only time he ever showed any aggression was in the match with Floyd Johnson. His game is to stick it out until about the seventh or eighth round and then begin real work in earnest. The big man likes to have an opponent lead into him and push the fight along. That is just what Firpo is going to do, but Firpo intends to push it so hard that Willard can't stand it.

Firpo is taller than Willard. He measures 6 feet 2½ inches, while Willard is 6 feet 1 inch. Willard has the longer reach, 84 inches to Firpo's 79.

War never pays. War is hell. Therefore, raising hell never pays.

BETHANY NOW LEADS LEAGUE

Defeated Janetville 14 to 5 in Hard-Hitting Game.

BETHANY, July 12. — Bethany defeated Janetville by 14 to 5 in a fast game yesterday evening in Janetville. This was the first game of the play-off for the leadership of Section A of the East Durham League.

The game was featured by heavy hitting, Bethany knocking them far and wide for several doubles. The Bethany pitcher had airtight support, which contributed greatly to the win.

The batting order was:

Bethany — Bruce Riley, 1b; C. McCartney, 2b; R. Staples, 3b; C. Siston, ss; C. Staples, p; S. Staples, c; F. Arnott, rf; W. Price, cf; F. Lang, lf.

BELLEVILLE AT THE PETES HEELS

Victory Yesterday Means Solomon Crew Will Have to Win Here Saturday to Keep in Front.

Belleville won easily from Kingston in the Central Ontario League fixture played at Belleville yesterday, which means that the Grand Trunks are right at the Petes' heels and that if the Solomon crew fail to register a win over Cobourg today at the Lakeshore town, they will be tied with Belleville for the leadership. In any event the game here on Saturday will have a whole lot to say about the winner of the second half of the race. If Belleville succeeds in putting over a victory their chances of winning the second half and grabbing the pennant without a play-off will be very bright. They will try hard to turn the trick and the homesters will have to play airtight ball to win the decision over the Bay of Quinte crew. With so much at stake, and with such keen rivalry between the two clubs, Saturday's game should surpass in interest and excitement any Central League game seen here this season, and an unusually large number of out-of-town fans will be in Peterborough for the fixture, regarding it as one of the crucial games in the pennant race.

Saturday's engagement is called for 3 o'clock. The standing of the Central League second half is as follows:

	Won.	Lost.
Peterborough	2	0
Belleville	2	1
Kingston	1	2
Cobourg	0	2

NEW YORK MADE IT TWO STRAIGHT

Pittsburgh Went Under Again — Cincinnati Now in Second Place—Umpire Quigley Injured.

NEW YORK, July 12 (Canadian Press). — New York made it two straight from Pittsburgh by winning yesterday's game 6 to 1. Watson, who came to the Giants recently from the Braves, was in excellent form. He did not allow a Pirate to reach third base until the ninth, when Bigbee scored the visitors' only run. Score:

Pittsburgh	000000001	1	7 1
New York	20003100x	6	10 1

Hamilton, Kunz, Boehler and Gooch, Mattox; Watson and Gowdy.

Chicago 2, Brooklyn 0.

BROOKLYN, July 11 (Canadian Press). — Grover Alexander, the veteran right-hander, outpitched Dutch Ruether yesterday, and Chicago defeated Brooklyn, 2 to 0. The Cubs scored their first run in the third on hits by Statz and Hollocher, a wild throw by Fournier, and Grantham's sacrifice fly. Their second, in the ninth, was the result of O'Farrell's single, Friberg's sacrifice, passes to Miller and Vogel, and Hartnett's sacrifice fly. Score:

Chicago	001000001	2	12 0
Brooklyn	000000000	0	6 2

Alexander and O'Farrell; Ruether and Taylor.

Cincinnati Won Two.

PHILADELPHIA, July 12 (Canadian Press). — Cincinnati took both games of a double-header from Philadelphia yesterday, and moved into second place, five games behind the Giants. The scores were 6 to 2 and 9 to 6.

Umpire Quigley was hit on the head with a foul tip in the first game and rendered unconscious. He was taken to a local hospital, where it is feared he has concussion of the brain. Scores:

First Game—

Cincinnati	020211000	6	11 1
Philadelphia	002000000	2	8 3

Rixey and Wingo; Glazner and Henline.

Second Game—

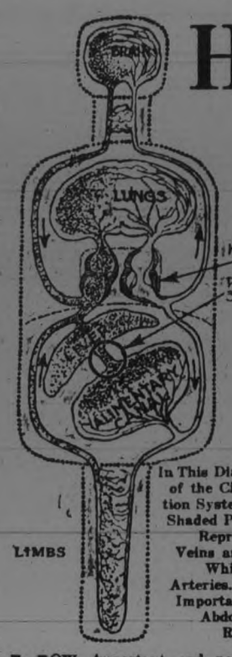
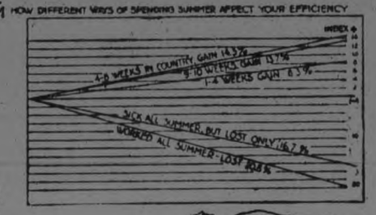
New and Interesting Facts from Science and Life

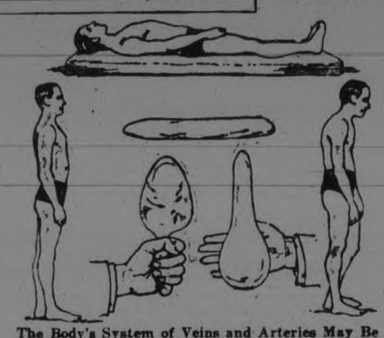
How Science Shows the Sort of a Vacation You Need Most



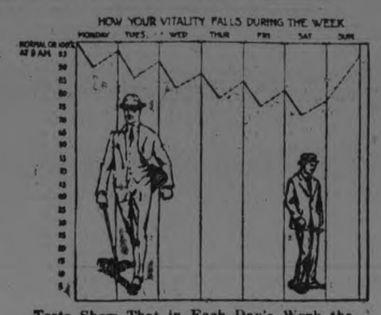
In This Diagram of the Circulation System the Shaded Portion Represents Veins and the White the Arteries. Note Importance of Abdominal Region.



The History of the Ups and Downs of Human Vitality During Spring and Summer Is Revealed in the Chart at the Left.



The Body's System of Veins and Arteries May Be Compared to a Sack of Blood. When You Recline the Blood Is Equally Distributed Throughout the Body Without Effort. When You Stand, if You Are in Fine Health, Your Nervous System and Muscles, Like the Closing Fingers Around the Sack at the Left, Force Your Abdominal Veins to Contract, Preventing the Blood from Draining Away from the Head by Gravity. If Your System Is Poisoned by Fatigue, the Veins Are Allowed to Relax, as Illustrated by the Open Hand at Right, Allowing the Blood to Drain Into the Abdominal Reservoir. This Fatigue Is Accompanied by a General Sagging of the Body.



Tests Show That in Each Day's Work the Average Man May Expend from 9 to 10 Per Cent. of His Physical Energy, While a Night's Sleep May Restore Only About 7 Per Cent. Thus Each Day His Vitality Is 2 or 3 Per Cent. Lower Than It Was the Day Before.

To the Right and Below the Circle Showing Location of the Portal Vein Is the "Splanchnic Mechanism," Upon the Working of Which Depends the Blood Pressure in the Brain, on the Maintenance of Which, in Turn, Depends Not Only Consciousness, but the Working of Every Function of the Body and Even Life Itself.

HOW A VACATION "WINDS YOU UP"

The Chart Above, Showing How Various Ways of Spending the Summer Affect Vitality, Was Compiled from Actual Tests.

HOW important and necessary a summer vacation is in maintaining normal vitality and how to choose the one most beneficial to you is strikingly revealed by a series of tests recently perfected by Dr. C. Ward Crampton of New York City. By using this newly discovered method of measuring fatigue and determining your physical condition at the moment, your physician can now accurately tell why you are "run down," just how badly you need a vacation, why you need it and how long a one you should take to secure a full measure of benefit.

These tests developed by Dr. Crampton, which Wilfred S. Ogden describes in Popular Science Monthly, consist of measuring the resistance of your bodily gravity's downward pull on your blood while you are standing on your feet. These tests are revealing new facts about the energy of the brain and muscles and the effects of fatigue, that are of great importance to employers, educational experts, athletes, physical trainers—and, in fact, to every person who toils with brain or hands.

Dr. Crampton's tests have demonstrated, contrary to general belief, that eight hours of sleep do not always restore completely the vitality and energy you expend in accomplishing each day's work. Between nine o'clock and the closing hour at five in the afternoon, it has been found that the average worker loses as much as 10 per cent. of his physical energy, and that during the night he recovers, on an average, only 7 per cent. Thus he begins the new day with an impaired vitality, two or three per cent. below the point where he stood yesterday morning. As the week goes by, his vitality and force steadily drop, until he starts work on Saturday with far less energy than he possessed when he quit work on Monday night.

Obviously this cumulative fatigue, increasing from day to day in spite of what may be considered adequate rest, will soon result in a physical breakdown if allowed to continue unchecked.

If sleep alone does not give sufficient rest, what does? The answer is: Your vacation and the recreation at the week end.

Fatigue depends upon so many factors of strength, such as pulse, height and weight, and the like, that, until Dr. Crampton worked out a table by which all these conflicting elements can be reduced to a common numerical value, physicians were unable to do more than guess at the actual condition of your health and vitality at any particular moment, or to determine accurately the effect of working overtime or staying up until 3 A. M.

These facts Dr. Crampton determines by using blood pressure as a barometer of human energy. His method is to measure "blood ptosis." He measures vitality by giving the body a certain fixed amount of work to do, and then measuring the amount of energy expended in performing it. The system might be compared with weight lifting. If you can lift a 50-pound weight with one finger, you are in excellent condition. If later in the day you need both hands to lift the same weight, it is evident your vitality has been reduced.

Irrespective of your weight and height, the work you do in rising from a prone to a standing position is constant. Its amount, Dr. Crampton has found, can be measured by taking the pulse rate and the blood pressure while you are lying down and again after you are standing, then comparing the two. In a vigorous man, the blood pressure should rise from eight to ten millimeters of mercury as he rises to his feet. In a person exhausted by disease, overwork, or unhygienic living, the blood pressure may fail to rise, or even fall as much as 50 millimeters. The pulse rate acts in exactly the opposite fashion, increasing in proportion to weakness up to 45 beats a minute, but almost never falling. These two measurements mask each other to some extent, as a high heart rate may serve to raise blood pressure. Hence Dr. Crampton's table of measurements takes both factors into account. By comparing the two he records vitality in percentages.

The theory at the basis of this test is that the tone and vitality of the walls of veins and arteries reflect the vitality of the entire system. As you rise, hydrostatic pressure causes the blood to drain away from your head, but this tendency is checked by a constriction of the veins, particularly the large splanchnic or abdominal veins of the portal system, which act as the blood reservoir of the entire body.

If you are healthy these veins contract as you rise to a standing position and squeeze the blood back into the head, so that the blood pressure actually increases. But if you are tired, long before any signs are visible, the contraction and tone in the walls of the veins are reduced.

The poisons produced by fatigue have the effect of paralyzing centres in the sympathetic nervous system that controls the splanchnic veins, and a large amount of blood that should be in other parts of the body drains into these veins because of their relaxed state. Blood pressure falls, and the heart must beat more rapidly to prevent you from fainting whenever you stand up.

This breaking down, under fatigue, of resistance to the pressure of gravity extends to the muscles and bones as well. A general drooping, slouching posture of the body, caused by downward displacement or depression of various bodily members, is almost certain evidence of low vitality. And this posture, in turn, tends to aggravate low vitality, thus establishing a vicious circle.

Downward displacement of the bones reveals itself in the drooping of the head, exaggeration of the normal curves of the spine, and the falling in and down of the chest. It is caused by weak tone and relaxation of the muscles that hold the body erect. In other words, it is the natural adjustment of the body to fatigue.

Relaxation of veins, and sagging of muscles, bones, organs, and spirits, all are related effects of a common cause—lowered vitality. As a rule, they occur together. Resulting from overwork, loss of sleep, or illness, "bad posture," Dr. Crampton declares, may be traced to "disharmonies" in the evolution of man through the ages.

"Evolution," he says, "has brought the body from a posture of locomotion on all fours with the trunk horizontal, up through gradual stages to the posture with the trunk erect. The body has not yet sufficiently adapted itself to the change. The head, instead of being on the long axis of the body, has rotated 90 degrees to this axis. It is kept erect by muscular force only, and tends to go forward and downward if muscles are weak.

"In the original horizontal position of the trunk, the internal organs hung from their attachments to the spinal column with sufficient room and with proper interrelationship. In the erect position, they hang from the side rather than from the top of the abdominal cavity. The intestines are heaped down in the bottom of the abdominal chamber. The contents of the chest rest upon the diaphragm, which in turn presses down upon the intestines. The abdominal wall tends to relax, allowing the whole body contents to sag down upon the pelvis, causing the abdomen to protrude. The best that can be done to relieve this condition is to keep the chest raised, to keep the intestines from crowding down by means of strengthening lower abdominal muscle and to conserve the nutrition of the nervous system.

"Anything that causes lower vitality, anything that works against health, or anything that works against happiness, increases the tendency toward bad posture. Bad posture is not so much a cause of low vitality as it is a sign or expression of past or present physical or mental depression."

Dr. Crampton's vitality test is made by placing a sphygmomanometer—a beltlike instrument for measuring tension of blood in an artery—around the upper arm, and inflating the band with an air-bulb until it is tight enough to stop the circulation in the artery of the arm. When the physician, with his stethoscope, can no longer hear the pulse beat, he notes the blood pressure. At the same time he has found the average pulse rate. The same test is repeated while the patient stands.

Applied successively to the same individual, this test is extraordinarily accurate. It is employed by track coaches in determining which sprinters are in the best condition. It will reveal plainly the effect of losing an hour's sleep the night before; of smoking too many cigarettes, or of working in a poorly ventilated room. It has verified many theories about fatigue that physicians have long held.

For example, since a day's work destroys more than a night's rest can repair, it is obvious that every person should get as much sleep as possible. But does this mean it is always a mistake to go to a party and dance half the night? Should a man who wants to be healthy and work at the highest pitch of efficiency stay home seven nights a week?

Not necessarily. Play is almost as important as rest. The Crampton tests show that a feeling of pleasure counteracts fatigue. The effect of dancing and other violent exercises is a loss of energy, but the loss is not nearly so great as one might believe. Fatigue depends upon what you do, as well as upon how much of it you do and how well you like to do it.

Here may be found the scientific explanation of your success in the kind of work you like. You do not get tired. When you say "you could play baseball all day," you are merely overstating a scientific fact. You have wondered why a kid brother is tired out when he is asked to rake the leaves from the front lawn, and then will go out with the gang and play football all the afternoon without complaining of fatigue. The new tests indicate that his naive explanation is really the truth—work tires him and play does not.

Although these newly discovered medical facts need not change the manner in which you rest, they do seem to prove that no person is strong enough to work steadily and constantly, without a Sunday off each week, or an annual vacation. In tests made on teachers in New York City, a group who worked all summer lost more vitality than those ill during the entire vacation.

The average loss of vitality after a week's work is about nine per cent. of the Monday morning level, and may be as much as 20 per cent. in the most exhausting occupations. Fortunately, the rate of recuperation depends upon the degree of fatigue, and the tests reveal that most people nearly make up the week's loss over Sunday. Individual records show great variation. One Sunday in the open air may make you gain 20 per cent. On the next you may lose almost as much. Opportunities for recreation vary, and so does the fatigue after a week's work, but on the whole the balance is steadily against you.

How VACCINATION Was Discovered 2000 YEARS AGO

VACCINATION is an outgrowth of man's effort to protect himself from pestilence by using nature's methods of defence," says Dr. G. W. McCoy, director of the Hygienic Laboratory of the U. S. Public Health Service, in The Forecast. "Primitive man noticed that recovery from a first attack by most diseases gave immunity against other attacks, and some 2000 years ago he began to inoculate his fellows with smallpox when conditions seemed propitious instead of waiting for nature to do it at some time when conditions might be very unpropitious.

"Inoculations against smallpox were made in India and in China as early as 300 B. C. Later, when the disease reached Europe, inoculation went with it, supplemented by a new method called 'selling smallpox'—exposing a well person to contact with one ill with the disease so that if he survived he would be proof against it.

"Inoculation differs somewhat from vaccination as devised by Jenner, but the principle is the same. Moreover, long before Jenner's day it was known that an attack of cowpox gave immunity from smallpox; and records show that men who had recovered from cowpox had themselves inoculated with smallpox to make the proof conclusive. Jenner, however, as he himself says, 'placed vaccination on a rock' where he knew it would be immovable.

"Before the days of vaccination, conservative estimates show that one-third of all persons had smallpox and one-tenth of all deaths were due to it. Today smallpox is rare; many physicians have never seen a case; and, where vaccination is consistently practised no deaths from it occur. Formerly smallpox was considered a children's disease; and it still is a child's disease—where infantile and school vaccination is neglected. Witness the Philippines, where four or five years ago, after years of neglect of vaccination, an epidemic swept away nearly 50,000 persons, a large percentage of whom were children under ten years of age.

"In the United States, well-vaccinated communities show low smallpox rates—Maryland with one-tenth case per thousand population; New York with one-fortieth per thousand, and the District of Columbia with 0.14 per thousand. Poorly-vaccinated states tell another story: Oregon with 1.45, Washington with 1.7, and Kansas with 2.0 per thousand population.

"Some communities wait till an epidemic breaks out and then rush to vaccinate. These stop the disease—after it has caused many deaths and has 'branded' many survivors. A short time ago an epidemic of smallpox began in one city, yielding 350 cases and 123 deaths; and a few months later another started in another city and yielding 950 cases and 288 deaths. Such epidemics always end the opposition to vaccination in the community—for a time."

The RIGHT AGE at Which to MARRY

THE age at which one should marry presents a problem with so many sides that any simple solution of it is out of the question. But it is a question on which every one holds a definite opinion; so the Umschau, a German weekly devoted to popular science, is likely to find many contestants for prizes aggregating 40,000 marks, which it offers for the best brief essay on the subject. It desires that the question be considered from the points of view of genetics, hygiene, psychology and psychiatry, either collectively or singly. Judges of the contributions are Max von Gruber, professor of hygiene in the University of Munich, and one of the leaders of the eugenics movement in Germany; Valentin Haecker, a well-known geneticist at the University of Halle, and H. Bechhold, of Frankfort am Maine, editor of the Umschau.

From France, at the same time, comes a partial attempt to answer the question, in a paper by Dr. Paul Godin, which occupies the leading position in the second number for 1922 of Eugenique, the organ of the French Eugenics Society. Dr. Godin's study, entitled "Eugenique et Puberte," leads to the conclusion that on the average, a woman is physiologically ready for marriage at eighteen and a half years, a man two years later. The data on which these conclusions are based are far from conclusive, however.

How Light and Smell Aid Sense of Taste

WITH the sense of taste alone it is only possible to detect four flavors, which are sweet, sour, bitter and salt. All the more delicate flavors are discerned with the aid of the sense of smell. This is easily proved by holding the nostrils when eating any kind of jam, for instance. In such conditions it is quite impossible to detect the special flavor of the fruit.

A yet more curious point is to be found in the fact that the ability to taste is to an extent, at any rate, dependent upon sight. There are many persons who cannot tell tea from coffee if they shut their eyes when drinking.

Most of the men blinded during the war lost all pleasure in smoking; they said the tobacco had no flavor to them. In many cases by using a stronger tobacco the lost pleasure in smoking has been regained. An interesting test for ordinary people, suggests a Scientific American authority, is to close the eyes while smoking a pipe or a cigarette. It is amazing the difference that is made, proving beyond all doubt that seeing the curling smoke has a great deal to do with appreciating the aroma of the tobacco.

PAPER CLOTHES to Protect TREES from FROST

THE problem of protecting orange and lemon orchards against frost is one that has exercised the minds of growers in California for many years past. A new idea—paper dresses for the trees—seems to have solved it.

Oil pots, heaters scattered through the orchard, and other such devices have helped a good deal, but they have not been entirely satisfactory, most of the heat being wasted because the hot air quickly rises so high that it does no good.

A cloudy sky serves as a blanket, interfering with rapid radiation of heat from the earth. It is on clear nights that, in frosty weather, there is danger. Hence the value of the "smudge" smoke from oil pots, which spreads an artificial cloud. But the smudge is a nuisance, and may deposit an injurious coat of soot upon the blossoms.

It has long been realized that if the artificial heat could be swept by fans horizontally through the orchard, or carried to the individual trees through flues, it would be more effective.

The new idea is to cover the trees with paper hoods, which serve as so many localized clouds—one for each tree—obstructing the radiation of heat from the soil beneath. This heat of course is natural, furnished by the rays of the sun. It is in effect free fuel, and the object of the paper hoods is to conserve and utilize it.

How the Radio Proves that Flowers Actually Feel Pain When Plucked

FLOWERS actually feel pain when plucked or torn, according to Dr. Albert Abrams, of San Francisco, who announces this discovery as a result of a series of experiments with a super-radio set.

The radio used by Dr. Abrams is attached to what he calls a reflexophone, which catches from the air the vibrations and records them by means of delicate tuning methods.

The boxes of the reflexophone are placed on a table with their dialed covers. Wires connect the reflexophone to tiny instruments arranged on a board whereon three lighted bulbs glow warmly and from which rises an amplifying horn. The radio is equipped with an antennae, a delicate looking rod attached to the set by a black cord.

This delicate machine, Dr. Abrams believes, will some day be perfected to the point where it will stand on street corners and in stores so that those who care to may drop a coin in the slot and ascertain what ails them.

The first test Dr. Abrams made was to record the vibrations of cancer. The moment the antenna rod approached a bottle containing a cancer in alcohol, the horn gurgled audibly. When the bottle was removed and the rod adjusted, the horn sounded again, but after a magnet had been passed over the spot the radio failed to respond.

The radio recorded the message broadcast by the cancer, Dr. Abrams explained. "The cancer communicated a portion of its energy to the spot where the bottle had stood, hence the same reaction. The magnet 'sterilized' the spot, hence the reaction."

The horn responded to the leaf of a nasturtium, Dr. Abrams then cut the leaf and there was no reaction. Another leaf held over the mouth of a chloroform bottle was similarly torn and cut but without the radio recording the reaction.

"Plants broadcast waves of radio activity," Dr. Abrams explained. "Tearing hurts the leaf, cutting is painless. When the plant is influenced by chloroform it has no pain."

THE GIANT SNAIL

SOME snail! That is what visitors to the Bronx zoo in New York City exclaim when they see that rare visitor from East Africa, a species of giant snail that is eight inches long and lays eggs that equal in size those of a sparrow. Perhaps you would like to import a dozen or so of these big fellows for your garden?

This Monster Snail from East Africa Is Nearly Eight Inches Long, and Lays Eggs as Large as Those of a Sparrow.

The snail family includes an enormous number of species from all parts of the earth, but none is more remarkable than the giant East African variety. Snails live in all kinds of climates and places; in dense forests, on the top of grassy downs, in valleys, fields, lanes, in deserts and even at altitudes of ten thousand feet.

ROMANTIC NOVEL IN SHABBY COAT

By JAMES W. DEAN

NEW YORK, July 12.—How fragrant is a hand? Does the fragrance of hands vary like the fragrance of flowers? I wonder.

Several times in "The Autocrat," Pear. Doles Bell's new novel, the hero kisses the beautiful girl's hand and the fragrance of it lingers in his nostrils so that he will never forget it.

Now if it had been a fragrant ham, that would have been a different matter. Hams are frequently fragrant, hands only so for a short period after ablution in toilet water and such fragrance is evanescent.

And on three occasions in the first three chapters of "The Autocrat" the beautiful girl's eyelashes lay like fringed shadows on her cheeks. Of course, a figure of speech as fanciful as that bears repeating, but a third helping is rather stuffing.

On another occasion the beautiful girl contrives a remark to call forth a poetical outburst from the hero. She is disappointed when he doesn't "compare her with a lacy cobweb, the most exquisitely patterned thing in the world," or respond with "a tender something about moonglow and the sparkling sheen of dew spun together with a veil of silver and gold that some way would be made to typify the shimmering personality" of the girl.

Young men, no matter how deeply entrenched in romance, no matter how maudlin they become under a bright moon, simply do not talk that way. When they become that bad off, they aren't able to talk about much except the weather.

* * *

These defects in "The Autocrat" are only in surface things, but they give the author's work a shabby exterior. If the author had bothered less with her own little fancies and paid more attention to the affairs of her characters she would have achieved a first-rate book. She has drawn a faithful portrait of a selfish, arrogant girl who finally realizes the meaning of life.

The author accomplishes that moment of revelation with brutal frankness and achieves as dramatic a passage as any recent novel has contained. Her selfish motives frustrated, the futility of her ambitions exposed to her, the arrogant girl cries out, "I'm bad. Shallow. Empty. My mother—she brought me into the world, but she gave me no soul. She didn't want me. And all the time I lay within her, close to her half-mad heart, she was denying my right to be there—fiercely resenting my prenatal demands upon her. I interfered with her pursuit of pleasure. I was an unwelcome burden that could not be left with servants but must needs be carried about obscenely beneath her smart French frocks."

In her madness the girl has attributed to her mother her own attitude toward her own approaching maternity. At this point the story is headed toward a dire climax, but love conquers all in the stereotyped way and the story ends with everybody living happily ever after.

A book that will appeal to romantic women. Men, pass it.

Quoting from "July 8, 1822," a chapter in Christopher Morley's "Powder of Sympathy," I find the text to guide me in reviewing that volume.

The quotation: As a general rule it is wise to avoid writers whose works amuse or delight you.

That is only the half of it, but it suffices. Had I avoided "Powder of Sympathy," I might have covered more ground in reviewing books this week.

This new volume by Morley contains much that is familiar to readers of his column, but in this instance familiarity does not breed contempt. The more you read of the book, the more you want to read of it. And that was more than I could say of his "Where the Blue Begins," which, despite flowery tributes of other reviewers, seemed exceedingly dull.

Dr. Joseph Collins, in a paragraph in his chapter on D. H. Lawrence in "A Doctor Looks on Literature," refers to "Jurgen" along with books written by Lawrence. In reviewing that chapter I referred to Lawrence as the author of "Jurgen." Of course, James Branch Cabell is The author of "Jur gen." wasn't ignorant of the fact of authorship. I simply just didn't recognize the fact at the moment. The embarrassment of the situation lies in not knowing to whom to apologize. Who suffered the greater injury, Cabel or Lawrence?

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

SHORT CLOTHES.

Most of us have samples of our early baby clothes; very, very long, much betucked and beruffled garments that took hours to iron and must have weighed on the baby like the castiron corsets weighed on the adults of a former generation. The baby of to-day has everything his own way—no rhyme intended, I assure you—and not only does he have the simplest possible garments, but they are cut so short that from the time he has the least desire to wiggle his toes and kick his legs, he has ample opportunity to do so.

The first dresses nowadays are seldom to exceed 22 or 23 inches in length; in addition to being plenty long enough for first dresses they make desirable short ones without the altering of a stitch.

There was a very nice theory expounded by a doctor recently who pointed out that the reason babies walk so much earlier now than they did in our grandmother's day as due solely to this way of dressing the baby so that his legs have a splendid chance for exercise almost from birth. While no baby should be encouraged, or rather urged, to walk until he is ready to, the average baby is usually struggling very hard to get to his feet by the time he is about ten months old, and many babies walk before they are a year.

Whether there are any statistics to prove that modern babies walk earlier than those of a past generation, at least it is a most interesting theory, and we do know babies are in every way much better off than they used to be.

Reasons Why the Modern Mother Is Not Always a Successful Nurse.

One of the things which never seems easily explainable to the modern mother is the reason why she cannot nurse her baby as successfully as her mother. The reason is simple. Her mother knew nothing else to do, and therefore she did not allow her mind to dwell upon the fact that she had too little or too rich milk. She simply continued to nurse until nature righted itself and the baby began to gain. We know that most mothers of past years were willing to admit that their babies, especially their first ones, cried a great deal. But they bore it philosophically, they walked the babies at night, they ate heartily, worked hard and inevitably whatever was wrong with the milk righted itself, and the baby ceased to have colic (which may have just as often been hunger in that day and age as now).

When the baby is not perfect in two weeks' time—and not so many of them are after the nurse leaves—the mother begins to worry about her breast milk. Has she enough? Isn't the baby starving to death? Between a nervous mother and too frequent feedings very likely the baby will develop colic, if he hadn't it before.

If the baby has ceased to gain regularly, there is one thing to do. Give him complemental feedings (with a cup and spoon, preferably); continue to nurse him regularly every three or every four hours and await the inevitable good results. The farmer knows that if a cow is milked regularly and stripped at each milking that she will continue to produce an abundance of milk. The same facts hold true of the milk producing mother. Her ability to nurse her baby can be ruined by irregular feeding in which the baby takes a little milk, just enough to satisfy him for an hour or two and then goes to sleep. The breasts should be drained. When this happens the mother will find that nature is sending in more and more milk to supply the demand, while if she holds off for one nursing, thinking that the next nursing there will be more milk, she will find that nature will reabsorb the milk which is not used and next time will send a lessened supply.

Use a cup and spoon to give the baby his extra rations if he needs them. Feed him regularly and if he isn't hungry enough to drain the breasts every three hours, let him nurse only every four hours. And cease to worry about him.

Chronic Constipation
Relieved Without the Use of Laxatives

Nujol is a lubricant—not a medicine or laxative—so cannot gripe. When you are constipated, not enough of Nature's lubricating liquid is produced in the bowel to keep the food waste soft and moving. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural lubricant and thus secures regular bowel movements by Nature's own method—lubrication. Try it today.

Montreal Business Man Says Tanlac Has No Equal

Thomas C. Lyte, 309 Notre Dame Street, sales manager for the Montreal Towel Supply Company, is another widely known Montreal business man to praise Tanlac, the medicine which has proved so beneficial to him.

"Tanlac proved to be just what I needed," said Mr. Lyte, "and today I'm as healthy as a lumberjack. When I got Tanlac I was so thin I was only a shadow of my former self. I had such pains in my back I couldn't stoop over to lace my shoes, my kidneys bothered me and I got so bad off I thought I would have to resign my position.

"But I've picked up so much weight now my friends all comment on my improvement. My kidneys never bother me, I sleep like a log and have a good appetite. Tanlac hasn't an equal."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

Tanlac Vegetable Pills are Nature's own remedy for constipation. For sale everywhere.

QUEBEC AND ITS RESORTS.

The opportunities offered by the Province of Quebec for a vacation are set forth in a beautifully illustrated and well-written folder entitled 'Resorts in Quebec' published by the Canadian Pacific Railway and distributed by its Agents.

Montreal can be reached overnight from Peterboro and one has a choice of night train or day train. From Montreal, it is but a few hours' ride to many resorts, including the Laurentian Mountains with their many beauty spots, or to the old world City of Quebec with its traditions dating back to 1535.

A visitor to Quebec, especially to its rural section, will find many reminders of the old regime and be charmed with the old world manners of the inhabitants.

Ask the nearest Canadian Pacific Agent to mail you the 'Resorts in Quebec' folder—you will be surprised at the wealth of information it contains and you will be better acquainted with your neighbor Province after reading it.

WOMEN'S SOCIETY MITE BOX MEETING

Bethany Missionary Society Had Instructive and Entertaining Afternoon

Bethany July 12. — A very enjoyable and interesting afternoon was spent at the home of Miss Sarah McMullen on Tuesday, by the members of the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist church. It was their annual mite box meeting. Several interesting experiences were related by some of the members regarding their mite boxes. The Scripture reading was on the subject of the widow's mite. The leaflet, "The Tragedy of Mis-directed Souls," was read by Miss Maud Rodwell. A reading entitled "The Mite Box Mission, or the Mission of a Mite Box," was read by Mrs. Monk. The quiz corner was of interest, led by Mrs. Ryley (in the absence of Mrs. F. Tompson) and answered by the different members. After a season of prayer that the contribution through the mite box may prove a great blessing the hymn "I Can Hear My Saviour Calling," was sung.

Miss McMullen then invited the ladies to partake of afternoon tea and a dainty lunch was served by Mrs. Arnott and Mrs. Will Rowan, Jr.

The August meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. T. G. Ryley.

Master Frank Pitts of Millbrook is visiting his uncle, Mr. Lou Staples.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Martin and son, Donald, motored from Detroit, and are visiting with friends in the community.

Mr. Herb Vance of Peterboro was in the village on Monday.

Rev. J. E. Beckel, wife and children motored to Oshawa on Monday Mrs. Beckel's mother, Mrs E. Shemuet, returned with them on Tuesday and intends going on to Castleton on Wednesday.

Mr. Harold Monk of Detroit, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Monk.

Mrs. Walter Jakeman returned home on Monday evening after a two weeks visit with friends at Toronto, Dundalk and other places.

Mr. Alfred Ryley, of Winnipeg, spent a few days with his brother, Mr. H. H Ryley

On Scalp, Arms and Limbs. Lost Rest. Cuticura Heals.

"Eczema broke out in a rash on my scalp, arms and limbs. The itching and burning were terrific. My hair became lifeless and dry and fell out in handfuls. My clothing aggravated the breaking out, and I could not rest at night on account of the irritation.

"The trouble lasted about nine years. My mother tried many different remedies but they did no good. We began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment which completely healed me." (Signed) Miss Beatrice M. Closson, No. Sedgwick, Maine, Feb. 20, 1922.

JUST WHAT SHE NEEDED

Mrs. M. Steed tells of wonderful benefits her daughter received from one bottle of Dreco.

A story of motherly love triumphant by the aid of Dreco is told by Mrs. M. Steed of 43 Lindiner Street, West Toronto.

"My daughter Beatrice has been in a general rundown condition for several months," says Mrs. Steed. She had no appetite, poor circulation, pains all through the body and severe headaches; also spells of indigestion. She was very nervous and couldn't sleep well. She tried various remedies but none of them seemed to give her any result.

"Reading of so many people getting good results from Dreco I decided that she had better try it. One week ago I purchased a bottle. Already there is a marked improvement. She is beginning to get a good appetite, rests better, has no more headaches and in fact her condition in general has improved greatly.

"It was just what she needed and I do not hesitate in praising the merits of this great remedy. I will never lose an opportunity of telling my friends about Dreco."

Statements like this from responsible people right in Toronto should do much to convince people of the true merits of Dreco. This remedy does not contain mercury, potash or habit forming drugs but it is composed entirely of the juices of roots, herbs, bark and leaves that act on the vital organs and puts them in good working order.

Dreco is being specially introduced in Peterboro by Bond's Drug Store. It is also sold in Lakefield by E. H. Northey, and by a good druggist everywhere.

PRESENTATION TO MISS IDA DAWSON

Social Held Yesterday at Home of Mr. Welford Dawson.

A large gathering of friends took place yesterday evening at the home of Mr. Welford Dawson, South Monaghan, for the purpose of giving a shower to Miss Ida Dawson of the Domestic Science Branch of the Ottawa Collegiate Staff, who is shortly to be married to another member of the staff. The lawn was beautifully decorated for the occasion, and after a short programme, consisting of solo selections by Barbara Dawson, Mrs. Nichols and Rev Mr. Patterson, a violin solo by Master Stewart Dawson, a reading by Mrs. George Hambidge, and an address by Mr. Josepl. Wearing, a presentation on behalf of the friends present of the many beautiful gifts which had been brought, was made to Miss Dawson by Mrs. Elizabeth Storey of Peterborough, who expressed the esteem in which Miss Dawson is held in the following words:

"Your host of friends in this district, where indeed everybody is your friend, because your winsome nature has won you everybody's liking, have learned with interest of your approaching marriage and have felt that there should be some opportunity of expressing the feelings of the community to you.

We are glad therefore to have caught you, and in this shower — fortunately a shower of the kind in which an umbrella is not wanted—because it gives us a chance to tell you, if you don't already known it, that the Bailieboro folks have one and all the most kindly regard for you and consider that the individual who is to travel in double harness with you is one of the luckiest of men.

We need not wish him happiness—that is inevitable with you as a bride—but because it is customary we express to both of you the best wishes of this community for a long and happy life.

We feel that it will be a new experience for you inasmuch as having been in charge of a large class in Domestic Science at Ottawa for five years your instruction in Domestic Science will now be confined to a class of one. But then you can keep him in every night.

Your friends here wish you every joy and happiness.

Miss Dawson replied by stating her appreciation of all that had been said and giving a cordial invitation to all her friends to visit her later in Ottawa. Following the presentation a dainty lunch was served by the ladies present, and after some community singing the gathering broke up with many good wishes to the coming brideg.

FRECKLES

Don't Hide Them With a Veil; Remove Them With Othine—Double Strength.

This preparation for the treatment of freckles is usually so successful in removing freckles and giving a clear, beautiful complexion that it is sold under guarantee to refund the money if it fails.

Don't hide your freckles under a veil; get an ounce of Othine and remove them. Even the first few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the lighter freckles vanishing entirely.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength Othine; it is this that is sold on the money-back guarantee.

PARSON SAYS GIRL TOOK NO OFFENSE

BOSTON, July 12. — Rev. Geo. Lyman Paine executive secretary of the Greater Boston Federation of Churches, yesterday sent a letter of apology and explanation to Mrs. Priscilla Redgrave Hague, bride of Lieut. Wesley McLaren Hague, U.S.N., in connection with the incident which culminated on Monday in a hand-to-hand encounter between Hague and Paine in the latter's office.

Lieut. Hague has said his anger was aroused when the clergyman admitted kissing his bride, and that he went to the clergyman's office with the intention of administering a thrashing.

The letter of apology in part says: "I am gentleman enough to begin by apologising to you as a lady, humbly and sincerely, for having, as it seems, given you any slightest cause for annoyance That was the last thing in the world that was in my mind. Certainly at the time you took no offence, and I would have stopped playfully tickling you with a grass stalk the moment you asked it.

"I don't think Mr Hague a man in letting me extend by hand for a friendly hand-shake, and while saying to him, 'I'm glad to see you again, 'striking me with full force in the face and following it up with further blows while I was dazed and trembling."

Proud of Husband.

In a postscript the clergyman added:

"I can't help adding that I think you owe me an apology for acting as you did."

The episode referred to in the letter was alleged to have occurred when Mr. Paine took Mrs. Hague for an automobile ride to Belmont, and later for a walk.

SUCCESS OF SUMMER BAZAAR

Bazaars and fairs are more apt to blossom forth in the summer than at any other time of the year. One reason is that such picturesque settings are possible when held out-doors, then, too, many women have more leisure in the summer.

The ideal place to hold a bazaar or fair is a spacious lawn. Whether it is to be a large affair or a small one, it should be carefully planned as a unit, not as a lot of little tables gathered together in a haphazard manner heaped with junk. It is important that the prospective buyer should receive a general effect of unity, order and beauty upon entering the bazaar. Many a purchaser has fled in haste upon viewing an untidy, confused jumble of articles gathered together under the name of "bazaar."

This effect of unity and beauty is gained by using the same attractive color in covering all of the tables, booths and chairs and the same "motifs" in decorating them. Cambric or crepe paper may be used for this purpose and lavender is a good color, or yellow or a brilliant blue.

After covering the booths and tables, the design "motifs" are pinned onto the sides. Cut from smooth manila paper, several dozen circles of four different sizes; four, six, eight and ten inches. Make the first ones with a compass and use these as a pattern for the others. On these paper circles, copy the designs found on the balloons in the sketch and color them with show card colors. These come in beautiful, brilliant hues and may be purchased at any paint store in small quantities.

The decorated booths arranged either in a long double row or in a circle, make a gorgeously beautiful spectacle. The vision of Japanese lanterns of brilliant color glowing among the dark trees and gay booths puts visitors in the proper frame of mind for buying generously. Several attractive posters should be displayed in conspicuous places around the town a week before the fair.

Useful articles always sell and, if possible, it is wise to forestall donations of silly little gim-cracks that always find their way into fairs and bazaars.

It is better to sell everything at a reasonable price than to sell only a few things at a high price.

A children's grab bag presided over by a picturesque gypsy will be a great centre of attraction.

Booths suggested are: Candy, doll, book and magazine, baby, household, ice cream, and a folly booth with false faces, toys, balloons, etc.

Those who assist at the booths should wear gay fantastic costumes of colors similar to those used in the decorations of the booths.

A TWENTY DOLLAR FINE FOR SMOKE

Case Heard Yesterday in County Police Court

Yesterday, in the County Police Court before Magistrate O. A. Langley, William Smoke, a member of the Alderville band of Indians, was fined twenty dollars and costs, on a charge of assault with bodily harm preferred against him by Mrs. Nellie Taylor, an Indian woman, who alleged that Smoke had knocked her down and caused injuries to her eye and nose.

The offence occurred on July 3rd. On the following morning, Smoke appeared at the Court House, and came up for trial yesterday. Mr. G. W. Hatton acted for the Crown, Mr. V. J. McElderry for the defense, and W. F. Huycke was retained as private prosecutor by the plaintiff. Orangemen to-day. "The Twelfth" is Ulster's national festival, and this year the celebrations are intensified owing to Ulster's political separation from Catholic Southern Ireland.

The principal festivities were in and around Belfast, where the members of the Orange Lodges mustered in force and marched in miles-long procession through the city and the suburbs. Colonel Robert Hugh Wallace, grand master of the Orange lodges, was in supreme command, but the principal speakers at mass-meetings were Premier Sir James Craig, the Marquis of Londonderry, and other members of the Cabinet, while the Duke of Abercorn, governor general of Northern Ireland, also participated.

While the Orange celebrations are official and practically universal as far as Ulster is concerned troops and police had to be held in readiness to deal with possible disorders in the Catholic—Sinn Fein or Free State — districts, for the Protestant Ulsterman is not very considerate with regard to other folks' religious feelings when celebrating the Twelfth.

Several provocative processions planned for the Catholic quarters of Belfast, Londonderry and other centres, were banned by the police.

HON LLOYD GEORGE PRESIDES AT DINNER

LONDON, July 9 (By Mail to The Canadian Press).—As briefly announced by cable, Right Hon. David Lloyd George presided at a dinner in honor of W. L. Griffith, who has retired after occupying for twenty years the post of permanent secretary to the Canadian High Commissioner's Department in London. Attending the dinner, which was held in the Hotel Cecil, was a company of about 250 gentlemen, representative of all parts of the United Kingdom, the Overseas Dominions, and the United States of America. Sir Robert Borden cabled from Ottawa a tribute to the guest's long and honorable service.

Proposing "Our Guest," Mr. Lloyd George said that Mr. Griffith, who had a genius for friendship, had rendered great service, not merely to Canada but to the Empire. Mr. Griffith left Wales for Canada when he was 17, and was one of the first farmers to export Canadian wheat to this country, and for that reason, among other things, a deep debt of gratitude was owed to him. He realized the great possibilities of that enormous country for his fellow-countrymen who were living at home in very crowded conditions, and he determined to come over to Wales in order systematically to inculcate the advantages for Welshmen in settling in Canada. Owing to his arduous propaganda thousands of Welshmen had gone West and had not come back; they went West for their own advantage, and they were prospering there. One of his greatest achievements had been to persuade a section of the Welsh colonists in the Argentine to settle on the prairies in Canada. Mr. Griffith was one of the pioneers, so far as Wales was concerned, of the movement of the population to settle under the British flag. Before that the disposition in Wales had been to settle in the United States, the Argentine, and elsewhere. That was one of his real services to the Empire. In the years to come, Mr. Lloyd George hoped that there would be a constant stream of settlers from a country which was overcrowded pouring towards Canada. It was to the interest of the population of this country that they should turn their eyes to the rich fertile lands under the British flag, with a climate that grew about the best corn and about the best men—hardy corn and hardy men. One of the great problems of the hour was how we were to get these millions of square miles of fertile land throughout the Empire peopled by men of our own race, our own kith and kin, our own spirit, and our own traditions. What the Empire needed was a few more W. L. Griffiths to persuade settlers to go to these lands.

Sir Robert Horne, M. P., who proposed "Canada," said that he was not going to allow Mr. Lloyd George to claim Canada for Wales, for Canada was Scotland's second home. Two out of every three men in Canada were Scotsmen, and they had carried to that great country those characteristics which had made countries great and Scotsmen rich. When he first went to Canada he felt as much at home as in Edinburgh, and much more than he had felt in some English cities. Concluding, Sir Robert Horne handed to Mr. Lloyd George an invitation from the Canadian ladies of Montreal to address them when he visited the Dominion in the autumn. After he (Sir Robert) had addressed them a committee had been appointed to find him a wife. They would give Mr. Lloyd George a great welcome and he would enjoy his visit.

BRAVERY May Often Be Lying Dormant in YOUTH Which Will Demonstrate Bold Feats of HEROISM

COURAGE—That quality of mind which enables one to encounter danger and difficulties with firmness, or without fear, or fainting of heart; valor; resolution.

HEROISM—The qualities characteristic of a hero, as courage, bravery, fortitude, unselfishness, etc.; the display of such qualities.

SELF-SACRIFICE!

Doesn't that really explain all bravery? All heroism?

The tightening that comes to the heartstrings with the realization some human being is in danger, in pain; is suffering?

Philosophers say the brave today draw their inspiration from the Heroic Age, that indefinite period from sometime in the 13th century to sometime in the 12th century, B. C. It is an imaginary period, in the history of nations, linking the mythical and the historic ages.

We know little or nothing about it. Names like Perseus, Hercules, Theseus, the Argonauts and the heroes of the siege of Troy, are handed down. But whether they lived, whether they are creatures of the imagination or were flesh and blood, their deeds have served ever since to the youth of all lands as guiding posts leading toward the City of Heroic Exploits.

Bravery, heroism—really they are comparative. A bird protecting its young displays heroism that is light compared with the heroism of a human being who really realizes the dangers of death.

But—when you think of it—the bravest deed of the bravest man or woman is puny alongside the intrepidity of this old Mother Earth hurtling hundreds of miles a second through space already well dotted with other solid bodies.

Heroism recognizes no age limits. Young or old may, and do show it. In an adult it is to be expected—not always obtained—but expected at least. In a child it is the mystery of mysteries.

Fire, railroads, water, electricity—all still are adding their victims, though at the same time adding names of new young heroes to the ever-swelling list.

The following instances of unusual bravery, culled at random from many sections of the world, are continued to youthful exploits of altruistic daring.

They typify that Youth, as well as Age, is ever eager to offer itself in pure oblation that another might be spared.

Greater love hath no man than he who is willing to lay down his life for his brother.

Electricity

ROBERT SCOTT.

PLAINWELL, Mich.—Electricity is the greatest force known to man. Yet Robert Scott, a Boy Scout of 13, showed his contempt for it.

Robert's younger brother, Herman, stepped on an electrically charged third rail a few miles from his home here recently.

The shock knocked Herman unconscious. Robert carried him to safety after donning electricity-proof gloves. Then he bore the little limp form to a nearby stream. There he submerged the badly burned body and restored respiration by artificial means.

Only his action saved Herman.

Water

HELEN PEIGHTAL.

HUNTINGDON, Pa.—Saving lives seems to have become a habit with this pretty 18-year-old girl. She is Helen Peightal.

A year ago she leaped into the Juaniata River and rescued a drowning man many pounds heavier than she. It was her third rescue within a few months.

How does she do it? How do so many other heroes who have gained fame by rescuing persons from drowning?

"Why," she exclaimed at the time, "you don't think of yourself. You only know someone needs you!"

Railroad

HOWARD MOTTOR.

HOBART, Mich.—The railroads have produced many heroes, but none more deserving than Howard Mottor.

Howard was 14 when he discovered a broken rail on the track near his home. Like a boy, he knew each train and its exact time of arrival.

The express was due. It would come whizzing down the track in a few minutes, he knew. How could he save it? He had no red flag.

Then he thought of the red ribbon on his mother's hat. Ripping that off, he ran down the track, and saved the train.

It was his wit against the lives of the passengers.

Lions

ALFRED GARCIA.

LONDON.—Heroism is not a patent held by any one country.

England, too, has its numerous instances of youthful bravery. Consider Alfred Garcia, 15.

Alfred's sister was a cripple. She needed an operation. But they had no money. The boy was moodily watching some lions in a cage one day when a spectator jokingly offered him 50 pounds if he would go into the cage. Alfred, thinking of his sister, did not hesitate.

And when the surgeon heard of it, he refused to take a fee for operating. The lad's pluck overwhelmed him.

Drowning

DON KING

BETHANY, Mo.—The thought of becoming famous, and of providing for his future education, did not occur to Don King, 13, when he dived into Big Creek, near here, to rescue Elizabeth Zimmerlee. But that's what happened, as a result of the dive.

He is one of a family of nine children. When news of his heroic act reached the ears of citizens, they decided that something substantial should be done for the boy. A fund was started, and still is growing. It will provide for his future education.

The girl he saved fell into 20 feet of water, and was going down for the second time. Don dived from a high cliff and reached her just in time.

War

HELENE JACQUEMIN.

PARIS.—When Helene Jacquemin was 10, she earned a French war cross with palms.

Helene lived in a little village near here. The invading Germans captured the town, and it so happened that she possessed information of extreme value to the enemy. She refused to disclose it.

With all the pomp of a court martial, she was taken before a German military judge. And to try to get the little tot to talk, a big infantryman slapped her. Still she refused—despite the threat of death. Finally she turned her back on the judge.

He was so surprised and so filled with admiration for her bravery, that h her free.

Flames

RUSSELL DENNIS.

KANSAS CITY.—Bravery is its own reward, it is true.

But it has other rewards for Russell Dennos, Boy Scout. When President Harding reached here the other day en route to Alaska, he presented several heroism medals to scout, among them Russell.

In March, 1919, young Dennis saw fire flash up and envelope Margaret Clark, a little girl who lived nearby. She had been playing with matches. Having nothing to throw about her, and ou out the blaze with his bare hands. He suffered severe burns. The girl died three days later, but the scout was no less a hero. He had done all he could.

EMPIRE SETTLEMENT ACT, HOW IT OPERATES

OTTAWA, July 9 (Canadian Press)—What is the Empire Settlement Act, and how does it operate? During discussions of immigration both in the Dominion Parliament and elsewhere, there have been frequent references to the Act and its scheme for assisting British subjects in the Mother Country to settle in the Overseas Dominions. What are its ms?

Under th ire Settlement Act, 1922, of Ge in, it is pointed out here, provi made for assisted passage to subjects from the Mother Coun settling in any Oversea Dominion, but this Act becomes applicable only when a similar measure of assistance is provided by the Oversea Dominion concerned. The sum of $600,000 was recently voted by the Dominion Parliament to be expended on passage loans for those desirous of coming to Canada and an agreement has been entered into between the British Government and the Canadian Government for the application of the loan.

Any British subject resident in Canada may nominate for passage loan any British subject resident in Great Britain or Northern Ireland who is coming to Canada to settle on the land and engage in farming. The arrangement will include a man's wife and family if he is already farming in Canada or if he is coming with his family to settle on the land.

Any British subject resident in Canada who desires to bring from Great Britain or from Northern Ireland a relative, friend or acquaintance, to be employed here as a houseworker, may make application direct to the Secretary of the Department of Immigration at Ottawa and if the application is approved a loan will be issued through the London, England, branch of this Department as in the case of those nominated through the banks. This arrangement, however, will apply only where the applicant in Canada is acquainted directly or indirectly with the person who is to be brought out to Canada and is willing to assume responsibility for the refund of the passage loan within a reasonable time.

The Assisted Passage Scheme does not offer assistance to any other classes than those coming to settle on the land or engage in housework, nor is it possible to offer passage assistance to others than British subjects from Great Britain and Northern Ireland, these being the only persons for whom passage loans are possible under the Empire Settlement Act.

O. S. U. FELLOWSHIPS

COLUMBUS, O., July 12 (United Press).—Ohio State University has awarded graduate students 29 fellowships and scholarships which will carry awards of $11,650 for the year 1923-24. Three of the fellowships are maintained by funds from private sources. The other fellowships and scholarships are established by the university as an aid to promising students desirous of going into advanced work.

COOLING PICTURE FOR MOVIE FANS.

Filmed in a Canadian Blizzard Picture is Warm in Human Interest.

By JACK JUNGMEYER

HOLLYWOOD, July 12. — The "Master of Woman" will apply a grateful ice pack to the fevered brow of summer screen audiences.

Filmed under the lash of blizzard and the frost-bite of Canadian winter, this lavishly done melodrama of the trading posts is dignified by majestic setting in the sub-arctic solitudes. Exhibitors may safely cut down on the ice order for pre-cooling while the picture is shown.

No danger of chilblains, however, for Renee Adoree's piquant personality and fervid acting bring intermittant thaws. She brings to the leading feminine role the vitality, versatility and characterization which not only lift the production out of the rut of northland plays but seem to put stardom within her reach.

* * *

Without Miss Adoree, indeed, "The Master of Woman" would probably not have been made. Reginald Barker, who produced it as a Metro release for Louis B. Mayer, told me he had virtually given up finding the girl who in type and temperament could do justice to "Andree Grange," after a canvass of available stars, and that he was ready to abandon the picture because it depended so vitally upon the handling of that part. A last moment test of Miss Adoree, only a year in pictures, fully met Barker's demands.

Her colorful portrayal of the wilderness coquet's volatile moods, together with the interesting performance of Pat O'Malley as the swaggering gallant of the Royal Mounted, prove a happy combination. The work of Earle Williams as O'Malley's comrade and superior officer, is decidedly mediocre. Wallace Beery does justice to the role of a lecherous fur trader, whose murder by Barbara La Marr, as the backwoods adventuress, is charged to "Andree," complicating dramatic entanglements begun with a kiss lightly taken from the little French madcap by the beau of the Mounted.

* * *

The story, based on G. B. Lancaster's "Law Bringers," traces the metamorphosis of the two policemen and the girl they love, bringing out in each the dominant nature, under the lash of elemental forces. Their triangular predicament carries them over long snow trails, to an ice-locked whaler in the arctic, to an isolated patrol camp, through roaring rapids in canoes and a dozen thrilling adventures in which Director Barker shows a canny feeling for suspense.

There's a fight between O'Malley and Anders Randolph, as the whaler captain with whom "Andre" takes refuge, that'll tense your muscles. A 125-foot leap from a cliff into a boiling river that will take your breath. And canoe riding through savage rapids which, quite aside from its integration in the plot, quickens the pulse.

This sequence was filmed in Seymour canyon, cost the company 30 canoes before it was achieved, and had been termed impossible by the Canadian Indians of the district.

* * *

In selecting his imposing natural background, Barker not only filmed some of the most beautiful scenery on the continent, but managed to jibe the scenes so with the human action as to augment the varying moods of the picture. He makes scenery symbolic, like paintings done with a purpose.

Despite the fact that the plot hovers rather close to the trite situations featuring the Northwest Mounted Police, these other elements lift it above the ordinary and seem to assure audience popularity.

FEMINISM IN THE BARNYARD

COFFEYVILLE, Kas., July 7.—This is not a barnyard fable, but an actual demonstration of the results of chicken feminism. This Buff Orpington rooster, the property of Mrs. W. J. McDermitt, here, brooded and hatched six chicks.

While the hens of his barnyard strut independently around him, he nurses his chicks, clucking at them like a mother, yet not forgetting to crow at proper hours.

The rooster was hatched eleven months ago from an incubator. He still manifests some masculine independence, refusing to accept more than 15 chicks at one time.

NEUROLOGIST AND CRITIC HOLDS CLINIC ON MODERN PSYCHOLOGICAL NOVELS

By JAMES W. DEAN

NEW YORK, July 12.—Changes in the human manner of living, in universal and national customs, always have been rather generally forecast by literature. Or rather, such changes are first indicated by literature.

Thus one reading between the lines of recent books senses that a new cycle of thought, of human behavior is upon us.

The flapper has let her hair and her skirt grow longer. Her elders, forced out of the picture by her vitality until they aped her startling ways and sought artificial rejuvenation, have resumed their dignified poise. The world is in an anticipatory attitude. What next? Literature of the next six or 12 months will tell.

The age that just past has been largely an era of pretense. Worship of false gods and mocking worship of true gods have been reflected in the literature of the day. For that reason little has been built that will endure.

Much of the contemporary American fiction has given a true picture of our times and customs, but it has only reflected the surface. It has not penetrated to the point where it reveals the heart of life. It has lacked psychological and pathological depth.

Thus we find that the contributions to literature of the past few years that will endure after this generation are non-fiction works. Such, for instance, as "The Outline of History," "The Mind in the Making" and "The Story of Mankind."

* * *

Probably the most comprehensive clinic on contemporary literature that has been published is "The Doctor Looks at Literature," by Dr. Joseph Collins. He is a neurologist of wide reputation. He also bears a considerable reputation as a literary critic.

Thus he approaches his subject with a double-barreled weapon. He brings down what he fires at, but my quarrel with him is that he has hunted out only the extraordinary species. Sinclair Lewis is the only American who seems worthy of his attention. That is natural since Dr. Collins is a neurologist and seeks the odd tangents of life for his exploration. Americans haven't run off on as many odd tangents as the peoples of older countries.

* * *

The most complete picture that Dr. Collins draws is that of D. H. Lawrence, author of the "Women in Love," "Phychoanalysis and the Unconscious," the prohibited "Jurgen" and others. The doctor has made a clinical chart of Lawrence's mind. He tells us just why he writes what he does.

Of "Women in Love," Dr. Collins says, "A large portion of the book ist in my judgment, obscene, deliberately, studiously, incessantly obscene. Obscenity, like everything else, has its gradations, its intensities, its variations, and the author of this book knows how to ring the changes upon obscenity in a way that would make Aretino green with envy."

Of the author he says, "I maintain that, both from the artistic and the psychological standpoint, Mr. Lawrence's performances are those of a neophyte and a duffer. He can make words roar and sing and murmur, and by so doing he can make moral, poised, God-fearing, sentiment-valuing man creep and shudder; indeed, almost welcome the obscurity of the grave, so that he will not have to meet his fellow again in the flesh. He libels and he bears false witness against man.

"There are persons in the world such as Mr. Lawrence describes. So are there lepers and lunatics. We do not talk about them as if the whole world were made up of them; and we do not look for world reformers or world orderers among them. * * * He has debased an unusual talent and devoted his splendid endowment of artistry to spoking the wheel of evolutionary progress, even to spinning it in a reverse direction."

* * *

Dr. Collings believes that "Main Street" was a complete work, but that Sinclair Lewis' psychology was faulty or incomplete in "Babbitt."

Of the former, he says, "Mental life in the broadest sense is behavior, instinctive, and intelligent. Few have shown themselves more competent to observe, estimate and describe such behavior than the author of "Main Street." That novel was a study of temperament, a portrayal of environment, and an attempt to estimate their interaction and to state the result.

"It was recognized by those who had encountered or experienced the temperament and who had lived, voluntarily or compulsorily, in the environment, to be a true cross-section of life focused beneath a microscopic lens, and anyone who examined it had before him an accurate representation of the conscious experiences of at least two individuals, and a suggestion of their unconscious experiences as well. This permitted the reader, even suggested to him, to compare them to his own sensations and ideas.

"Thus it was that emotions, sentiments, and judgments were engendered which, given expression, constituted something akin to public opinion. The result was a beneficence to American literature, for the purpose of the writer was known, and it was obvious to the knowing that he had accomplished it."

Referring to the later book, Dr. Collins writes, "When Mr. Babbitt wallows in the trough of the waves of emotion because he doesn't get the affection and recognition from his children which is his due, he alienates our sympathy and Mr. Lewis reveals the vulnerable tendon of his own phychology. Mr. Lewis' phythough would have struck a truer note if he had differentiated more clearly between the universal parent tragedy and Babbitt's own failure as a parent."

Dr. Collins says that "Babbitt" may be construed as the American intelligence of Lewis' generation turning on its task master. He believes that Lewis got the Babbitt iron in his soil when he worked as an advertising-copy writer and that he meant to turn Babbitt inside out and hold him up to scorn, but that as he developed the character he felt sorry for him and pitied Babbitt in his sense of frustration by social environment and circumstance and admired him for telling his son not to let himself be similarly frustrated.

* * *

Space does not permit extended consideration of other authors with whom Dr. Collins deals, but if one is contemplating a reading of Feodor Dostoievsky, the epileptic; James Joyce, Ireland's literary antinomian; Marcel Proust, psychological novelist of France, or the works of Katherine Mansfield, Rebecca West Stella Benson, Virginia Woolf or others who interpret life as it has directly touched them, it would be very profitable first to turn to "A Doctor Looks at Literature." It will remove many obstacles to a full understanding of those contributions to psychological and psy choanalytical literature.

LET'S—YOU AND I.

Let's sing!
What if again we fail to find
Our treasures at the rainbow's end?
There's more of life to spend in quest!
Who knows what lies around the bend?
What matters sorrow after all?

Let's laugh!
If we forget and try once more,
Life's just a restless, troubled sea,
And we'll pull bravely for the shore!

Let's smile!
And in that smile no bitterness!
Let's sing, and in that song no tears!
Let's laugh, and in that laugh forget the things
That always come to all with passing years!

DO YOU HAVE A REAL INTEREST IN YOUR WORK?

Every time the boss asks you a question about something concerning the business and you cannot give an intelligent answer, you have dropped a notch in your standing with him.

Your boss wants men in his employ who are really interested in the business and he has a right to expect you to study and become familiar with everything in your department at least.

You may think you are sliding through easily with expenditure of little brain power, and you may continue to do so for a time, but there is bound to come a choice in favor of the better-informed man.

You have an opportunity in holding your job which should bring out a feeling of real interest on your part.

If you are not a success in the position you hold you have a greater loss than the man who employs you, although you may think that your lack of interest is the other fellow's loss.

The state of mind in which you hold yourself in your indifference to what is good for your firm is bound to react on your ability to do.

Besides, your employer can discharge you, and all you will have to sell when you apply for another job is what you know and what you can do.

TRIBUTE BY U.S. TO DR. F. BANTING

Secretary of State May Represent Republic at Science Year of National Exhibition.

TORONTO, Ont., July 12.—(Canadian Press)—United States may be officially represented at "International Science Year, of Canadian National Exhibition." Charles Evans Hughes, Secretary of State, and former candidate for the Presidency, is mentioned as a likely official representative. Should Secretary Hughes attend, his visit will be of personal as well as an official nature, and will be in the nature of a tribute to Dr. F. G. Banting, who will open the Exhibition this year. A member of his family has recovered health as a result of insulin treatment, which she received in Toronto, and Mr. Hughes has often expressed his appreciation of the work of the Canadain physician.

VESSELS STRANDED IN SOUTHERN GALE

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, July 12.—(Canadian Press).—Four large steamers and scores of small craft are wreck still lashed by furious tropical storms sweeping Chile, Argentine and Uruguay.

Hundreds of houses here are roofless tremendous property damage has been occasioned while the harbor is a tangled mass of confused shipping River Plata overflowed its banks, causing considerable damage. Four vessels are aground driven high on the rocks by the terrific storm that whipped up and down the coast for three days without cessation.

The Tuscany out of Liverpool one of the stranded vessels, finally disappeared altogether in the storm her crew believed safe.

Three hundred and nine passengers from the German steamer Rugia were landed with the aid of life boats near Santa Rosa. A French steamer The Debonier and another The Montferland are aground their crews working desperately to save what they can before the vessels break up. A fifth steamer is reported in serious trouble but not ashore.

The British steamer Trefusia out of Blaica, bound for Europe sent out "S.O.S." calls during the night of the storm giving her latiture as 37 south, longitude 54.10 west.

Still another steamer the Mont Cenis was damaged in the harbor here.

Telegraph communications were disrupted but have been re-established. Scores of houses had their roofs whirled from them. Gas service here was seriously interfered with, and many parts of the city still are in darkness at night.

Damage to property will run well towards $1,000,000.

BURNBRAE CHURCH SCENE OF LECTURE

BURNBRAE, July 12.—Rev. Godfrey, representing the work of the Bible Society, gave an illustrated lecture on India at the Tabernacle Church, English Line. Rev. J. E. Glover, president, called the meeting to order, and asked Rev. J. J. Black to engage in prayer.

The new executive was then appointed for the coming year. Harold Rutherford, of Stanwood, was appointed president, and Mr. Fred. Barnum, of Rylstone, secretary-treasurer.

The Menie Girls will hold their baseball practice on Friday evening in the field opposite the new cheese factory.

Mr. George Pound, of Kingston, will speak at Burnbrae Church Sunday morning, representing the work that is being done among the sailors in our inland waters.

Mr. Cole, of Toronto, spent the week-end at the home of Mr. R. Ketchison Menie.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Grisewood, of Toronto, were guests at the Burnbrae Manse this week.

Miss Rose Hamilton, of Toronto, was visiting her sister, Mrs. William Wallace, over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stephens, of Minneapolis, and Mr. and Mrs. John Clarke, of Campbellford, spent Sunday at Seymour East and attended service at Burnbrae Church.

Good Sermon.

Rev. J. E. Glover, B.A., of the Seymour Methodist Circuit, took the service in St. Andrew's Church, Burnbrae, on Sunday morning. He preached a very helpful and inspiring sermon from the text, John x., 10: "I am come that ye might have life, and that ye might have it more abundantly."

Miss Annie Hume, B.A., of Wallkerville, Ont., is spending her holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Hume.

Mrs. Bissonette and Miss Hume, of Stirling, are visiting her sister, Mrs. William Rannie.

Old Navajo Paintings Are Made Safe For Posterity.

GALLUP, N. M.—The famous sand paintings of the Navajos have been preserved for posterity, and the old Indian prophesy of "The Holy Ones," that when all the sand paintings are forgotten and all religious chants die out, the end of the world will come, can be laid aside in the minds of those who believe in it, for the time being, at least.

For the sand paintings have been transferred by artists to the walls of the Hotel El Navajo, recently dedicated here. In placing the paintings on the walls the artists were particular not to depart in the slightest degree from the original paintings made by "White Singer" and other eminent chiefs.

Arts Indivisible.

In the art of the Navajos, painting, music, the dance, poetry and the drama are indivisible and all are the expression of religion. The medicine man is high priest, physician, singer, dancer and sets the stage for no mean drama. He depends upon his memory for every detail and teaches the cult in turn to his followers. The legend reads that when "The Holy One" gave the ceremonies to man, the priests were enjoined to memorize them and destroy the originals. This was done, not only to avoid their falling into sacriligeous hands, but principally to write them on the hearts of living men.

They were therefore made in colored sand and destroyed the same day they were made. Thus both paintings and charts passed on from generation to generation, changing gradually and many of them fading from the memory of even the oldest priests.

Pictures Identified.

Thus the many Indian medicine men were called upon to assist in furnishing the true paintings that remained in their memories, and these were checked by Sam Day, Jr., of St. Michaels, an authority on Navajo customs who contributed the originals of the paintings and superintended the work so that no detail was overlooked. These paintings, all of the Sacred Rituals of the Navajo, are not intended to be pictorial, but every figure every line and every dot is a symbol. By the use of symbols only their painter priests appealed to the imagination and the heart.

One of the most prized paintings adorning the walls of El Navajo is that of "Nayenezgani, The Man Who Killed Fear." It is a sand painting of peculiar sacredness to the Navajo and has been made but rarely. Second in religious importance is the picture of the "Ascension of Dinae-di-ginin" or "Young Holy One."

Among the other sand pictures, now painted on the walls of the hotel are those symbolizing "The Clouds" "The Arrow Ceremony," "The Eagle Ceremony," "The Sky Man," "The Earth Mother," "The Bear," "The Pollon Boy" and "The Harvest Beetle."

When the Navajo tribe heard that the sand pictures were to be transferred and perpetuated, they insisted on dedicating the hotel with the ritual of their race and performed the ritual of "The Blessing of the House."

Initial Chant.

In a previous ceremony, the evil spirits had been thrown out and the ritual contained no words of any evil or unlucky thing or spirit. Instead all that is good and beautiful was invited to take possession of the dwelling and its occupants and leave no room for evil spirits to return. The initial chant, sung during the procession of the Medicine Men, was an invocation to the "Unnamed God." He was petitioned to bless not only the house, but all its occupants and all that pertained to it so far as the mountains on the four sides of it.

The paintings were blessed with a special ceremony, the procession going from picture to picture, stopping for the leaders to sprinkle each picture with the sacred corn pollon.

After these particular blessings were invoked, a number of other chants were sung and the medicine men sprinkled the meal from the sand pictures over the building and the spectators and to "the four corners of the Earth." The remainder of the sand was placed in buckskin bags and couriers rode forth to places remote from the gatherings of men, where they could hear "The Echo" and there buried the bags.

SMALLEST CHURCH

Only Three People May Worship at Once.

ABOVE IS THE ALTAR IN THE LITTLE CHURCH ON MONTE CASINO, NEAR CINCINNATI. BELOW: THE SMALLEST CHURCH IN THE WORLD.

CINCINNATI, O., July 10.—Five hundred thousand persons live almost within sight of the smallest church in the world, but few of them ever have visited it. Comparatively few even know of its existence.

The chapel, resting on the summit of a high hill across the river from Cincinnati and back of Covington, Ky., is scarcely large enough for three persons to enter. From the hilltop a magnificent panorama of Cincinnati and its skyscrapers on one side and the verdant Kentucky hills and Latonia race track on the other can be viewed.

Built Years Ago.

The chapel, dedicated to the Sorrowful Mother, was built many years ago by the Benedictine monks, who established a monastery and vineyard at Monte Casino, where they own 100 acres. Isolated from the nearby Kentucky cities by virtue of its hilltop location, Monte Casino is known by few other than the Catholic clergy of surrounding towns.

It still supplies churches all over the country with sacramental wine, though the monks have abandoned it as a permanent place of abode. They come from Covington to tend the vineyard and the little chapel is used now only infrequently.

Private Worship.

The "smallest church" was constructed primarily as a place of private devotion and meditation. On its altar is a statue of the Mother of Christ, holding the dead form of her Son in her arms following the crucifixion.

The chapel is 10 feet long and 6 feet wide. It has a tiny steeple, rising about 20 feet from the ground. Small stained-glass windows pierce its vine-covered stone walls.

The chapel was built decades ago by Father Otto, one of the early monks, who was a stone mason. Special permission had to be obtained from the Pope to construct it.

The attached farm, cared for by a family on shares, is the only bonded winery remaining in Kentucky. Its terraces, vines and cellars still produce wine of the finest quality, but only for sacramental use.

BEAUTIFUL ETHEL BARRYMORE'S WOE.

Tells of Blackened Eyes in Petition For Divorce.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 12.—Black eyes, beefsteaks and nightgowns. These were the three features upon which Ethel Barrymore, the actress, was granted a divorce from her husband, Russell G. Colt, wealthy son of the late Col. Samuel P. Colt, of the United States Rubber Co.

The black eyes, Miss Barrymore said in her deposition, were inflicted on her by her husband on several occasions, the beefsteaks were used to reduce the swellings on her face and remove the discoloring and the nightgown the only thing in which she was clothed when her husband, in a fit of rage, ejected her from their suite in a New York hotel, forcing her to appear before the hotel clerk in that garb and ask for another room.

The Black Eyes

The black eyes, the first of which she received in 1914 and the other in 1920, were told of in two depositions by Miss Barrymore and her maid, Anna Patterson.

According to Miss Barrymore's deposition, her husband arrived late one night at the New York hotel at which they were stopping in 1914 and when she questioned him as to his tardiness he replied by hitting her several times, discoloring her eye and forcing her to remain off the stage for a few days.

Witnesses say Miss Barrymore appeared in the lobby of the hotel the next morning and when questioned about her discolored eye, replied, "That's a present from Russell."

She also said she suffered a nervous shock as a result of the attack and required the attention of a physician.

Miss Patterson declared in her deposition that she was summoned to Miss Barrymore's room late one night in 1920 and found her mistress bleeding from the lips and with a discolored eye and suffering greatly from shock.

Many Separations

As a result of this attack, to which Miss Barrymore said she was subjected, the actress found it necessary to leave Mr. Colt.

Testifying as to the eviction incident, Miss Barrymore said:

"We got into an argument one night over some persons we both knew and I made a particularly unfortunate remark about one of them.

"Mr. Colt flew into a rage, struck me and pushed me out into the corridor, locking the door, although I was attired only in a nightgown.

"I was forced to appeal to the clerk and obtain another room in which to spend the remainder of the night."

The Colts were separated and reunited many times, Miss Barrymore said, and nearly every reconciliation ended with black eyes for the actress.

The court gives the custody of the three children to the actress but the interlocutory decree probably will fix a time at which the father may have them for certain periods.

TRUE KINDNESS.

A little more kindness,
A little more creed,
A little more giving
A little less greed,
A little less frown,
A little less kicking
A man when he's down.
A little more "we"
A little less "I"
On the pathway of life,
And fewer on graves,
Which mark the end of the strife.

The thing that counts most is the adding machine.

HOT WAVE IN SOUTH ENGLAND

LONDON, July 12.—(Special.)—A terrific heat wave, gripping Southern England, hase taken a toll of 16 lives here up to midnight last night, at which time the temperature was at an unprecedented height of 90 degrees.

Throngs, unaccustomed to such temperatures, even at noon to-day sought vainly for relief on the house tops and along the banks of the Thames. Severe storms of tropical intensity the past week have failed to relieve the situation.

HEAT WAVE CAUSE OF A NUMBER OF DEATHS

DUSSELDORF, July 12.— (United Press.)—Fifty Germans, driven by a stifling heat wave, to bathe in the Rhine, have been drowned since Saturday.

PARIS, July 12.—(United Press.)—Ten deaths were reported here today as a result of the unprecedented heat wave gripping Paris and environs. Because of the heat the government has ordered the military paarde scheduled for July 14, France's "Jour De Gloir" abandoned.

PUTS HEALTH AND VIM INTO WOMEN

So Says Mrs. MacPherson of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Brantford, Ont.—"I was always tired and the least exertion would put me out for a day or two. I had a pressing pain on the top of my head, pain in the nape of my neck, and when I stooped over I could not get up without help, because of pain in my back. I did not sleep well and was nervous at the least noise. I keep house, but I was such a wreck that I could not sweep the floor nor wash the dishes without lying down afterwards. A friend living near me told me what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for her so I began to take it. With the first bottle I felt brighter and got so I could wash dishes and sweep without having to lie down. Later I became regular again in my monthly terms. I have taken ten bottles all told and am now all better. I can truly say that your wonderful medicine cannot be beaten for putting health and vim into a woman."—Mrs. JAMES H. MACPHERSON, 309 Greenwich St., Brantford, Ont.

AMERICAN BABY DEVELOPS FAST

Short Dresses and Simple Garments Ensure Growth and Health.

(By MARIAN HALE)

NEW YORK, July 12.—The modern American baby has scored again!

He walks sooner, has stronger muscles and is a finer specimen physically than the baby of 50 years ago.

So says Dr J. L. Blumenthal, director of baby hygiene of the New York department of health.

"This is because he has a sensible mother, who dresses him more comfortably than a baby was ever dressed before in the history of the race," says the doctor.

"Long dresses, swaddling clothes, and too many garments retard the normal growth, and keep the baby from the development of which he is capable."

America First

In a recent health and fashion show for babies, held in New York, foreign born mothers representing Arabia, Turkey, Italy, China, Syria brought their babies in national costume to act as tiny mannequins and show how the babies of different races are clothed—and how superior the American method is.

Though the foreign children's costumes are very picturesque, Dr. Blumenthal points out that from the point of comfort and health, the American baby's is infinitely superior.

"For summer weather," he states, "the baby's outfit should consist of a band, soft shirt, short dress and hand knit socks and bootees.

"Knit coverings for the feet are approved because nothing heavy or stiff should be put on a baby's feet until he can walk, but the feet should be protected to keep the body temperature even. On hot days the socks and bootees are easily slipped off until the temperature lowers.

Knitted Wool Best

"A soft knitted wool jacket is advisable for wear on cool mornings and evenings. Such a garment give a baby adequate protection, but does not bind him anywhere and keeps his arms free so he may exercise them at will.

"After mothers come to us once or twice for advice or how to care for babies, we rarely have any difficulty convincing them of the healthfulness of such attire.

"Fancy clothes are entirely out of place in a baby's wardrobe and the sensible, modern mother knows it."

NEW MILESTONE IN WORLD DEMOCRACY

Representative Workmen Will Assemble At Old Palace in Viena.

(By HARRY B. HUNT)

WASHINGTON, July 12.—A new milestone in world democracy will be reached August 14, when representative working women of the world will assemble in the old Schoenbrunn palace in Vienna, where emperors of the old order in Europe held sway, to map plans for furthering international trades unions organization among women.

American working women will be represented by nine delegates. The conference, which will be the third biennial congress of the International Federation of Working Women, will include representatives from some 20 nations.

The program provides for consideration of measures "to unite organized working women in order that they may resolve upon the means by which the standard of life of women workers throughout the world may be raised."

Plan of Action

Among the specific steps by which it is proposed this be approached will be:

1. Promotion of trade union organization among women.

2. Development of an international policy giving special attention to the needs of women and children.

3. Examination of all projects for legislation proposed by the International Labor Conference.

4. The appointment of women in all organizations and committees dealing with questions affecting the welfare of workers.

American Delegates

The American delegation will be headed by Mrs. Raymond Robins of Chicago, international president of the federation. Worker delegates will include Elizabeth Christman and Agnes Nestor of Chicago, glove-workers; Agnes Johnson, Chicago, shoeworker; Maud Swartz, New York, printer; Rose Scheidermann New York Cape maker; Freida Miller and Pauline Newman of Philadelphia, and Mary Dreier, New York, waistmakers.

The conference was originally arranged for Bruhl Castle, Cologne, Germany, which has been transformed into a labor college. When a chance, however, came to hold the sessions in the old imperial summer palace of the Austrian capital, where Franz Joseph so long reigned supreme, the appeal could not be resisted.

Psychologically, it was felt, the convening of a democratic international working women's conference in the precincts where autocratic power so recently held sway, would in itself give helpful stimulus and inspiration to the proceedings.

Among the women of other countries who will be present are Dr. Marion Phillips and Mrs. Harrison Bell, Great Britain; Mlle. Helene Burniaux, Belgium; Mrs. Kathleen Derry, Canada; Mme. Laura De Kayas Bazan, Cuba; Mlle. Bozena Kubickova, Cxechoslovakia; Mlle. Heanne Bouvier, France; Signora Casartelli Gabrini, Italy; Frau Betsy Kjelsberg, Norway; Mlle. Sophie Dobrzanska, Poland; Mrs. Mary Fitz Gerald, South Africa; Mlle. Angele Monnier, Switzerland.

BETTER CONDITIONS ON SHIPS FOR THE SAILOR

LONDON, July 12.—(Special).—Following the arrival of the Leviath an in British waters the London Daily Herald, Labor organ, has started a campaign to improve the living conditions of seaman on British lines.

The paper states that no blame should be placed on men for deserting British ships to join the Leviathan.

MONEY DOWN LIVING SOARS

Many Are Idle in Hungary and Business is at a Standstill These Days.

BUDAPEST, July 12.—For their own good, the powers of Europe had better hasten to the rescue of Hungary.

The money is going down, the price of living is going up, business is at a standstill, the national budget's deficit is growing, public confidence is dwindling, unemployment is a menace and unrest is rising—all because of one thing: The uncertainty about reparations.

A vicious downward spiral is grinding this country to perdition.

"With a foreign loan Hungary can pull herself together without other assistance than that," Count Stephen Bethlen, the Hungarian premier, told me today.

"Ouce the question of reparations is settled, not only will the government be able to bring about much needed reforms but private industry can get sufficient capital to get it on its feet, too.

"At present no capital is coming our way because a financier doesn't care to invest in an enterprise which tomorrow may be taxed out of existence to meet a possible reparations demand.

Need Farm Stock

"Our agricultural sections, too, need to be restocked and built up before they can produce to their maximum. The war took from us over 20,000,000 domestic animals and arms became very much run down. Capital for this work is lacking.

"As neither our agriculture nor manufacturing industry is producing as it can when reorganized, our imports are abnormal and our exports subnormal. This is causing a steady drop in the crown and until reparations is settled and we can obtain a loan I can see only a continually depreciating national currency."

Minister of Finance Kallay joins in the appeal.

"The financial world must find a way to come to our assistance," he said. "It is the only way out. Our situation is the most unfavorable of any nation from the point of view of national debt.

"We are doing our best to trim expenses. We realise that precisely in the measure that foreign assistance is delayed in coming to us, we must fight to stave off that which menaces us."

Cost Is Sought

Premier Bethlen declares Hungary can survive the loss of two-thirds her territory which left her just the core of the empire she once was if given time and loaned the money to make the necessary adjustments, reducing her imports and increasing her exports until they somewhere near balance.

Hungary is employing 55,100 "extras"—Hungarians from outside the present boundaries—who otherwise would be destitute. Her regular payroll, including state railways and employees of all categories, carries 159,000 names. Among the "extras" or "unqualified" state employes as they are called here, there are 15,000 professors and school teachers.

Pay, however, is very low, even for the highest officials. A cabinet member receives a salary of only $21.50 a month at the present rate of exchange, or about 100,000 paper crowns.

Pay is Meager

A mason receives from 12,000 to 13,700 crowns a week, or the equivalent to the pay of an under secretary of state, an official of the fourth rank in the Hungarian system.

Government clerks, stenographers, etc., receive 17,313 crowns a month which amounts to about $4. A machinist gets from 30,000 to 45,000 crowns a month; coal miners about thet same; shop clerks ditto, and day laborers from 17,000 to 23,000 crowns.

My distinct impression is that unless Hungary is given a chance now, and permitted to get on her feet, she, in her great pride and resentment will fight for it later on—just as soon as she is able.

Want Ad Tips by John T. Bartlett

CASH AND CARRY SELLING.
(By John T. Bartlett)

Whether you are one of them or not, you know this: how enthusiastically a great many people patronize the cash and carry stores. Paying cash, contributing their time, there is sound economic reason why such buyers can buy for less. "Cash and carry," applied to various businesses, in practice has lived up to its promise. The world knows this. That is why the expression, "Cash and Carry" interests and appeals to many people.

There is a special reason why "cash and carry" plans are especially fruitful in the Want Ad section. Thrifty people read the Want Ads—people keen to save money, even though they must furnish their own delivery as a part of the bargain. Want Ad readers have ready money. Show them you'll sell for a lower price in return for their cash and their automobile mileage or legwork, and they are quick to respond.

A laundry in a city where all laundries have granted cash discounts for called-for work for years, adopted the name, "Cash and carry," and ran Want ads using it. The laundry is still running Want Ads, extremely productive. "Cash and carry" were the magic words.

A great deal of Want Ad selling is regularly on a cash and carry basis. A flower grower sells flowers at his gardens. If he will advertise in Want Ads his "Cash and carry" plan, quoting prices, there'll be added pull to his advertising. The same holds for the beekeeper, who sells honey direct, and for numerous other farm product sellers.

"Cash and carry" expresses in a nutshell, very forcefully, the merits of certain selling methods. If you use these methods, why not use the words, too?

THE TURKS FIND NEW DIFFICULTY IN EAST

LAUSANNE, July 12.— (Canadian Press.)—Turks have dampened the rejoicings of the Near East Conference by raising new difficulties. They want all British warships withdrawn from the Straits simultaneously with the troops, but the British yesterday insisted on their right to keep two cruisers pending ratification of the Straits convention. The British say they are ready to move all warships when the Angora ratifies the treaty.

BLACK AND SILVER.

INTRODUCE Ovaltine at your Summer Camp or cottage and you will soon regard it as indispensable. It is prepared in a moment and makes a delicious beverage which everyone enjoys and it provides the sustaining food elements so often lacking in the summer diet. One cup of Ovaltine gives more nourishment than three eggs, seven cups of cocoa or twelve cups of beef extract.

The daily use of Ovaltine adds a new zest to canoeing, swimming, yachting and other summer pastimes, because it creates surplus energy which prevents the exhaustion so often succeeding strenuous exercise.

ERROR LOST THE ASTEROID AURORA.

Missing Twelve Years Was Recently Rediscovered.

BERKELEY, Calif., July 12. — (Associated Press). — Dr. A. O. Leuschner, professor of astronomy at the University of California here, Dr. H. Thiele, an assistant astronomer of Lick Observatory, and a number of advanced students have started a computation on the tiny asteroid "Aurora," which was lost to the scientific world for 12 years. An effort is being made by the University of California to solve the motion of Aurora.

The little body, one of the several hundred minor planets which revolve about the sun between Mars and Jupiter, has given astronomers much trouble since its discovery a quarter-century ago. Although a considerable amount of computing has been done on the asteroid's orbit, errors were made many years ago which resulted in the asteroid's becoming "lost" for 12 years.

Several years ago it was rediscovered at some distance from the point where calculations predicted it should be. Working with data resulting from observations of Aurora since her rediscovery, University of California astronomers have been able to detect important errors made by German astronomers years ago.

The problem, local astronomers state, is one of considerable difficulty because of the nearness of the asteroid to Jupiter and Saturn, two mighty bodies which are continually pulling Aurora out of the path laid down for it by the sun. It is to the calculations of the effect of these disturbers that the work is now being directed by Professor Leuschner, and months of mathematical work will be required before the problem of Aurora's motion is solved, the professor states.

Is Your Corn Crop Infested?

The European Corn Borer leaves no question of doubt as to its presence in a field of corn. Guard carefully against the infestation of your crop.

Beware of These Signs

The first easily observed sign of the infestation is the breaking over of the corn tassels.

Later the feeding of the "worms" begins to show on the stalks, which, being greatly weakened, break over.

Finally the cobs and shanks become infested and the entire stalk collapses to the ground.

The borer then seals itself for the winter in corn stubble or corn stalks, which must either be burnt up or ploughed under before June 1st of the year following.

NORTH MONAGHAN COUNCIL MEETING

Asked to Pave Streets Which Council Cannot Find — Grant to Cochrane.

The Council of the township of North Monaghan held its regular monthly meeting at the Court House on Monday, all the members being present.

A letter was read from G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., in reply to the township communication in regard to extension of the mail-carrier system. A third communication was also read, from the Canadian Red Cross Society, again pressing their claim for a grant in fighting the typhoid fever epidemic in the town of Cochrane. A motion was passed that the Council of the township of North Monaghan grant $50 to the Red Cross Society for this purpose, the said $50 to be paid out of the funds received from Red Cross money handed over to the township by members of the said society from the farming community.

The Clerk was instructed to write Mr. G. N. Gordon, to say that although it may be perfectly legal for the township to construct sidewalks on the streets which he has indicated, it would be morally wrong and would not be tolerated by the ratepayers of North Monaghan. There are at the present time in North Monaghan about twenty sidewalks constructed on various streets, and the property owners whose property abuts thereon have paid and are paying the frontage tax on these walks. It would be a gross injustice to ask these people to also pay for the walks in other portions of the township where there are no residences, and not likely to be any petitions for walks.

The following are some of the streets which Mr. Gordon has suggested for provision of cinder paths or sidewalks:

St. Mary's street. This street has only one or two houses.

Mervin road. No houses at all.

Forester street and Howden street. Not known to the Council in this district. Howden avenue is down near the river on Park street.

May street. This is another street also unknown to the Council.

Chamberlain street, between High street and Western avenue. In regard to this section of Chamberlain street, it already has a sidewalk as far as the street has been built on.

Western avenue. This has considerable buildings and residences, but the Council, although petitioned, is unable to give the most thickly-populated portion of the said Western avenue access by even a roadway, let alone a sidewalk. The Hurley estate, who owns and has subdivided this property, have done their best in co-operating with the Council of North Monaghan to have a public road opened from High street to Ford avenue, between the property formerly owned by the Sandstone Brick Company and the estate of the late Frank Brown, but their efforts, up to the present, have been unavailing.

The Monaghan Council expressed itself as wishing to assure Mr. Gordon of its willingness to co-operate with him in every reasonable way, but that they do not consider a mail-carrier service system is required upon the streets where practically no one lives. They do think, however, that if the mail-carrier service system is extended to the township, that the most thickly-populated portions, not only of Brownton but of other districts in the township, should have this service, where good sidewalks are already provided.

The following bills were passed and ordered to be paid: J. W. Fitzgerald, description and time re Braidwood avenue survey for the Brinton Carpet Company, $17.40; Canada Ingot Iron Company, road drag, $18.81; A. Patterson, delivering charity wood, $4.50; His Honor Judge E. C. S. Huycke, Chairman of the Election Board for Peterborough County, township share for revision of the voters' list, $106.87; L. Minicolo, groceries, charity, $24.09.

The meeting then adjourned, to meet again at the Court House on Monday, August 13th, at 2 o'clock.

With the aid of a delatone paste, it is an easy matter for any woman to remove every trace of hair or fuzz from face, neck and arms. Enough of the powdered delatone and water is mixed into a thick paste and spread on the hairy surface for about 2 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed. This completely removes the hair, but to avoid disappointment get the delatone in an original package and mix fresh.

CROP REPORTS

The following is a summary of returns made by the Agricultural Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

Haying is general all over the Province. Frequent rains during the week have affected both the cutting and the quality of the cut. Many farmers also have been caught by lack of help.

Fall wheat is coloring rapidly, and will soon be ready for harvesting. Complaints of the presence of Hessian fly come from several counties.

York: Alfalfa is averaging from one and a half to two tons per acre; red clover one to one and a half tons per acre. Old meadows are running a little light, but a good average crop. Sweet clover is somewhat late this year, but considered an average crop, considerable being ensiled.

Victoria: In a number of cases sweet clover is again proving a nuisance in grain crops, particularly where last year's seed was ploughed under. Most of the sweet clover is killed in this way, but even a few stalks left make the grain fields not only unsightly, but extremely bulky and hard to handle.

Peterborough: There is more red clover in this county this year than there has been for ten years. Considerable has been cut early to allow for second crop for seed.

Prince Edward: Sweet clover and alfalfa are progressing favorably, and an occasional farmer is ensiling sweet clover. Alfalfa and red clover are generally heavy crops. Those who have fields of Grimm alfalfa are leaving all or some of the first crop for seed. Some who cut the fields early are taking a chance on obtaining seed with the second crop. A good many growers commenced harvesting peas for the canneries and the yields are reported good. Many fields were injured or suffered from rains early in the season, and occasional fields from the blight or root rot.

Prescott & Russell: Large fields of clover have been cut these last two weeks by farmers who are intending to make seed out of the second growth. In some instances, farmers intend to use as high as 25 acres for red clover seed production. This is especially due to the placing of clover hullers in this district this spring.

Frant: The canning factories are busy handling the pea crop. The crop appears to be very good this year except in some sections where the drought lessend the yield.

Halton: This county states that many heavy cattle will be shipped to Great Britain this year.

North Simcoe: Drovers report very few hogs in the country, but expecting a good run in the fall. Hogs and beef cattle are now about the same price, a very unusual condition.

Peterborough: Live stock marketed this week consisted of a heavy run of calves, some pigs, lambs and a few steers. The following prices were received by the farmer: Hogs, $8 a cwt.; calves, $7 to $8; lambs, $10 to $13; cattle, $5 to $7.

Prince Edward: There have been very few sales of cattle except locally. Hogs are selling around 8 cents. There is an increase in the number of sheep breeders marketing their wool co-operatively. A combing mill at Trenton offers to purchase wool outright or to take it on consignment and have it graded and make settlement later.

The Napanee Creamery reports a make of 13,000 to 14,000 lbs. of butter per week. The Farmers' Dairy receive daily around 120,000 lbs. of milk. The prices for June are $1.35 per cwt. for milk testing 3.3 per cent.

Peterborough: The milk flow is still pretty heavy. This week cheese brought 17c on the Peterborough Cheese Board, butter fat 31c a lb., and farmers who are selling whole milk for city delivery are receiving about 5½ cents a quart.

Carleton: Dairy cows are selling well. At a recent auction sale good grades sold for as high as $200 and pure-breds as high as $250.

Victoria: Some farmers are right up against it for labor as there is none to be had. These are the men who decided they would get through with the spring work themselves and depend on short time help for the haying and harvest.

MRS. B. WATTS WAS HONORED

Retiring President of Rebekahs of Ontario Received Jewel and Other Tokens.

At the 33rd annual session of the Rebekah Assembly held in Toronto recently, the following members of the local lodge were present: Mrs. F. Read, Mrs. P. Fuller, Mrs. W. Hartly, Mrs. R. Murduff, Mrs. H. Sisson, Mrs. McLean, Mrs. J. Londerville and Miss R. Cranfield. A reception was held Monday night in the Oddfellows' Temple, College street, for the representative officers and visitors and Patriarchs Militant. Mayor Maguire extended a civi welcome, paying tribute to the ideal of the organization and to the type of womanhood which it attracted and developed, and then presented them with the freedom of the city, through the chairman, Mr. A. M. Sorsolili.

Miss Maud Marron, D.D.P. read and address of welcome from the Rebekahs of Toronto and presented the president, Mrs. B. Watts, of Peterboro, with a beautiful basket of flowers, to which Mrs. Watts replied on behalf of the 24,000 Rebekahs of Ontario. Presentations of flowers were also made to Mrs. Ryan, Mrs. Esterbrook, Mrs. Mann, Mrs. Dodson and Miss Pearce, as well as the artists who contributed to the musical part of the evening.

The sessions were held Tuesday and Wednesday and were spoken of as the most successful for sometime, much business being transacted, the attendance being between 400 and 500. A feature of the sessions being an honored visit from twenty-five Grand Lodge officers in a body, including Judge Eastin of Missouri, Grand Sire and Mr. Sharp, Grand Master of Ontario, as well as distinguished visits at intervals. Mrs. McPherson, Past President of Saskatchewan visited throughout the sessions and enjoyed them very much. The president received expressions of co-operation by being presented with a beautiful boquet of red roses from Grand Lodge and pink carnations from the Patriarchs Militant.

Increase in Members.

The Rebekah Branch boasts of a large increase in membership and nine new lodges throughout the year, they have a membership in Ontario of well on to 25,000; they contribute largely to the Oddfellow's Home in Toronto. A fruit shower during the last year resulted in preserved fruit being sent that was valued by the Home Board at $1,203.60.

Presentations.

At the close of the session, the retiring president, Mrs. Watts, was presented with a handsome jewel by the Assembly, beautiful table linen by her Home Lodge and Degree Staff, beaded hand bag by Havelock Lodge and a huge bouquet from Amethyst Lodge, Port Arthur, and received many congratulations for the manner in which the Assembly was conducted. Mrs. Esterbrook, the new president; Miss Pearce, secretary; Mrs. Mann, vice-president and Mrs. Dodson, Assembly Warden, all received handsome gifts and well wishes for their success. The next sessions will be held in Toronto, June, 1924.

MRS. BUZZI TAKEN TO DEATH SECTION

Time For Execution in Electric Chair May Never Come For Condemned Woman.

NEW YORK, July 12.—Mrs. Anna Buzzi who was condemned to die in the electric chair during the first week of August for the murder of Frederick Schneider, a [illegible] building contractor, was taken under guard to Auburn Prison, where she will remain until it is time for her to go to the death house at Sing Sing That time may never come, for an appeal will stay execution of the sentence for a year or thereabouts, and even if she should lose the appeal, her sentence might be commuted by the Governor.

Mrs. Buzzi, who was found guilty of having shot Schneider to death in his automobile on Sound View Road near Clason Point, on February 26, last, remained stolid as she heard herself condemned to death, even as she had when she heard the jury pronounce the verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree, with no recommendation for clemency. Later, as she was taken out of the court room by her guards to start the journey to Auburn, she smiled.

"I have been convicted of a crime I know nothing about," she said when she received permission to make a statement in court. "I have been convicted on false and perjured testimony. The greatest sin I ever committed was to live with Frederick Schneider, and I trust in God to bring me back and prove to the world that I am innocent."

Mrs. Buzzi made her statement just before the sentence was pronounced. She betrayed no emotion in her words or manner. She spoke slowly, clearly, lifelessly, in a studied way that indicated she had rehearsed the little speech carefully in her cell. The blank expression on her stolid countenance did not change while she spoke but afterpicture she smiled and urged them to take a picture of her smiling.

Dressed Entirely in Black

She was dressed in black from head to foot as she was all during the long hot days when she sat in the witness chair or at the counsel table during the trial. Everything was black—her gloves, her purse, even her ornaments—long earrings and a necklace.

It was the first time that Justice O'Malley ever had pronounced the death sentence upon any one. He prepared the sentence carefully, delaying its pronouncemnt some time while he rewrote it.

"No more disagreeable duty was ever imposed on a trial justice than that in this case," Justice O'Malley said.

"There is only one sentence demanded by law for first degree murder—that within ten days after this session of court the Sheriff of Bronx County will deliver you to Auburn Prison, where you will be kept in solitary confinement until a convenient time prior to Aug. 6, 1923, when the superintendent will turn you over to the warden of Sing Sing Prison, who is charged to execute the death penalty upon you, Anna Buzzi, any day in the week beginning Sunday, August 5th 1923."

Only men were in the courtroom when sentence was pronounced. Fearing a demonstration by hysterical women Justice O'Malley had ordered that women be kept out of the room. A crowd, chiefly composed of women, began to gather at the doors of the court house as early as 9 o'clock yesterday morning, two hours before sentence was scheduled to be pronounced. Nearly one hundred women were turned back by court attendants when they tried to enter the courtroom. They congregated in the corridor and made such a thick crowd and so much noise that the police finally made them go down to the floor below.

The women objected strenuously to leaving the courtroom floor.

Smartly dressed young women and girls hurled sarcastic remarks at the police who ordered them away.

BARONESS'S CHARGE FALSE, SAYS CURRAN

Can't Provide Kaiser's Suite at Ellis Island For Immigrants, Is His Reply

NEW YORK, July 12.—Charges made by the Russian Baroness, Mara de Lilier Steinhill, to the effect that conditions in detention quarters at Ellis Island are worse in many respects than the Bolshevik prisons in which she was forced to spend several months, were indignantly denied here by Immigration Commissioner Henry H. Curran.

"It is to be regretted," said Commissioner, "that we can't provide a kaiser's suite for each immigrant. That's rather difficult when you have 15,000 coming into port in one week. But we do provide the greatest degree of cleanliness and courtesy.

"I don't want to roast a woman. But the Baroness has roasted us pretty hard, and I do want to give the facts. The reason Baroness Steinhill was detained at Ellis Island for three days was because we were advised by the American Consul General in London that the Baroness had been forewarned that she might be disqualified for admission if she came here, under the provisions of the Contract Labor law.

"Knowing this in advance she took a chance and arrived here aboard the Albania on July 2. As she had been told of conditions before leaving London, there was nothing for us to do but to hold her for examination before a Board of Inquiry. Her case was held despite all the rush of last week on July 6, and the board in its discreitno admitted her."

VOTERS NEED INSTRUCTIONS.

The recount in North Brant showed so many ballots marked with crosses on the back of the paper that Mr. Roebuck, one of the counsel engaged, made the suggestion, jokingly, that in future elections ballots should be printed with the names on both sides of the paper.

A similar condition of affairs has been found in other constituencies where recounts have been held, ballots marked on the wrong side of the paper, ballots with the voter's name written upon them, ballots with the name of one candidate obliterated, ballots with "yes" written opposite the name of a candidate.

These mistakes may be accounted for in a measure by the fact that many women voters have not yet learned the technique of proper voting, but it must be remembered that there were similar errors before the women had the franchise.

It is evident that many voters are ignorant of the proper methods, and this is a feature that should be recognized in future campaigns.

Political speakers at the risk of insulting the intelligence of some of their hearers might well use a few minutes of their time at campaign meetings to explain just how a voter should use the ballot paper that is given him.

The need of such instruction has been revealed by the recounts.

SANE ORGANIZED LABOR.

There is a similarity between the dockers' strike in London and the strike in the Cape Breton area that is significant, says the Montreal Star. In both cases the highest officials of the controlling union have repudiated the action of the strikers. It is an encouraging sign of the times. The unions have done a great deal for the betterment of working conditions and the removal of injustices and inequalities as well as in the development and maintenance of a better spirit between employers and employed. In the years immediately following the Armistice there seemed to be an element of lawlessness in organized labor and an enlargement of that group within its ranks that preferred the methods of direct action to development along constitutional lines. That element still exists within the unions and reveals itself in Sydney and in London by defiance of the elected leaders and the threats and menaces to strike and to damage property regardless of the counsel of the wiser and more experienced heads.

Organized labor only gains by its reproof of unsanctioned strikes and its condemnation of acts of violence. There are extremists within the ranks of labor who inflame those who come under the spell of their oratory to acts of violence. It is reassuring to know that the hotheads are to be found only among the junior officers and a minority of the men. The bulk of the rank and file stand by the colonel and the staff and by their efforts the mutiny will soon be quelled.

UP TO HON. MR. FERGUSON.

The leaders of the U. F. O. declare that the farmers' political movement has not been killed by the result of the recent election, and that it will come back stronger than ever.

That depends, as the Examiner sees it, largely upon the kind of Government that Hon. G. Howard Ferguson and his associates give Ontario during the next three or four years.

If the new administration is efficient, honest and reasonably economical there is no doubt that the two-party system will remain triumphant, and that there will be little chance for a successful revival of the Agrarian movement as a dominating factor in the political situation.

Hon. Mr. Ferguson can drive the group system out of existence in this Province if he gives Ontario what the people are looking to him to give—a stable, responsible, straight-forward administration of Provincial affairs.

Ontario is inclined, judging by the newspapers of all shades of politics, to give the new Government a fair chance to make good.

The personnel of the new Cabinet has been greeted with general approval and with a minimum of criticism. Mr. Ferguson has a majority large enough to make him independent of mal-contents in the ranks of his own party, and he takes over the responsibilities of office under most favourable auspices.

If he and his Government do not succeed the Province will know just where to lay the blame.

MORE LEGAL TALENT.

One gratifying feature about the Ferguson Cabinet is that, in addition to the Premier, there are three experienced lawyers in the Ministry, an amount of legal ability that should result in a considerable saving to the people of Ontario.

It is not difficult to recall that in their campaign of 1919 the United Farmers made a great deal of capital about the number of lawyers in politics, and attacks upon the legal fraternity were a feature of every U. F. O. meeting.

But when the unexpected developments of the election threw the responsibility of government upon the new party they found themselves singularly embarrassed by the absence of legal knowledge.

They had to enlist the services of Mr. Raney as Attorney-General, and upon his shoulders fell the bulk of the legal work of the Cabinet.

In addition, of course, it was necessary to frequently engage lawyers, and the amount paid by the U. F. O. Government for legal services made their pre-election assaults upon the profession seem ridiculous.

The presence in the new Cabinet of such well-known lawyers as W. F. Nickle, W. H. Price and Chas. McCrea, in addition to Mr. Ferguson, gives the administration which takes office on Monday a big start over the late Ministry, and the Province should be a gainer to a considerable extent as a result of the change.

The legal profession has contributed some of Canada's greatest statesmen, and the experience of the Farmers' Government with one solitary lawyer to guide them will perhaps protect the lawyers in future political campaigns.

"REFORMING" THE SENATE.

The demand of the local branch of the G.W.V.A. for "reformation" of the Senate, as well as similar demands from various organizations and individuals in all parts of the country, indicate that the real trouble in relation to the upper chamber has not been diagnosed.

"Reforming" the Senate would be unnecessary if the political parties had adopted the only logical method within their jurisdiction.

Had the upper house been made up from its beginning of men chosen solely because they were regarded as capable, efficient and far-minded enough to carry out their duties with the welfare of Canada alone in their mind, there would be no need of demanding changes.

Both the political parties have looked upon the Senate as a refuge for party politicians whose usefulness in the Commons has been outlived, or as offering a chance to reward those who in some way or another have contributed to the success of their party.

And so when a Conservative Government is in power the vacancies in the Senate are filled up with Conservative party hacks.

And then when the pendulum swings and a Liberal administration takes office a procession of Liberal Senators makes its appearance.

The old game has been going on for many years, and the end is not in sight.

There is a Conservative majority in the upper chamber now, and likely by the time ill-fortune falls upon the present administration and they are dismissed at the polls, it will be found that the Liberals have gained the ascendancy in the Senate.

Then, of course, the new Government will complain that the upper chamber is blocking all its progressive legislation.

The political parties all the time had the reformation of the Senate in their own hands, and they have signally failed to rise to their opportunity.

AN UNRECKONED POWER.

In the bitterness of disappointment because of the failure of the professional diplomats to bring order out of the chaos of the Great War, among those who fought that the better day might come there is a strong urge to cry out: "The sacrifice of blood and treasure was in vain."

To look at the dark side of the picture is to almost establish the conviction that the sacrifice was in vain—the hatred and mistrust typified by the situation in the Ruhr Valley, the wrangling at Lausanne, the malignant cesspool of Russia, the incipient revolutions and international quarrels among the smaller nations of the Old World, the million of British ex-soldiers out of work; and, in general, the germs which caused the world disease of war in 1914, still present and intensified an hundred fold.

But, on the brighter side, one distinct and lasting gain stands out—a gain which can be developed into a complete counterbalance to all the threatening problems of the day—the gain of a better understanding and a desire for closer co-operation between the peoples of the British Empire and the United States. Acting as a united force, and in support of the principles to which both nations subscribe, these great sections of the English-speaking race have it within their power to bring to the world the peace which the masses so earnestly desire.

A Government is not always the channel by which the deeper feelings of a people are made known to the world. In proof of this assertion the writer points to the expressions of comradeship, backed with action, which have passed between the ex-service men's organizations of the two nations. The kind offices of the American Legion have aided many Canadian veterans during the past two years when they have sought a living in the Republic. The G.W.V.A. has always endeavored to reciprocate with Legion comrades who seek to make their homes in Canada.

During the British Legion Conference in London recently, Col. Hanford McNider, past National Commander of the American Legion, carried the greetings of the United States ex-service men. Part of his message read:

"We were comrades in war; let us be comrades in peace. If spites and animosities have hitherto beset us, may we not now lay them aside? Let painful memories yield to the healing of forgiveness. Let us strive to prevent the tyranny of groups and classes, and to promote the general good. Let us discharge the obligations of citizenship and dwell together as nations in such honorable concord and bonds of unity that those who would invade the rights of the least must reckon with the rights of all, and consider in the reckoning that patriots are willing to dedicate their lives to the perpetuation of free institutions as one of the noblest ends of war."

With the fostering of such noble sentiments among all people of the two nations, the time would not be far distant when the "spites and animosities" which have been created by the "groups and classes," (such as the desire for armament supremacy), would become petty and inconsequental. The capacity for understanding and concord between English-speaking peoples would set an example to other nations which they could not afford to disregard.—The Veteran.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Now that the line-up of the Cabinet has been announced, Ontario is wanting to hear the name of the controller of finance.

Election recounts do not make much change in the results, but they show that some deputy-returning officers and many voters need some education as to their respective duties.

Dominion statistics indicate that Ontario is leading the Dominion in breaches of the liquor laws. You can place your own interpretation on that statement.

Western reports are to the effect that crop conditions are far above the average, and many districts claim the best ever. That is cheerful intelligence.

A drowning at a municipal swimming beach in London indicates the necessity of precautions against such accidents. The Examiner is not at all satisfied that the local civic swimming places are efficiently protected.

Attorney-General Nickle is receiving so many bouquets from the press of Ontario that he has taken the limelight away from his leader.

TORONTO MARKETS.

TORONTO, July 12.—There was a fair steady market yesterday for anything of decent quality in the butcher class. There seems no trouble with the demand, providing the quality is good enough. Any weakness in the market is due to the presence of too many green half finished cattle. These clear slowly and are not wanted in the local butcher trade. Shippers cannot be too cautious in shipping this class of cattle, as they are liable to sharp price cuts any day. Handy weight well finished butcher cattle are wanted and are selling firm at $7.75 to $8.00, and choice heavy steers at $8.00 to $8.25. Choice baby beeves selling from $8.00 to $9.50. Fair medium butcher, $7.00 to $7.50. Common stuff declines sharply over a wide range from $6.50 down to $5.50.

Cows steady, $5.25 to $5.75, tops.

Calves steady, $9.00 to $10.00, tops.

Lambs steady, 16c to 16½c.

Hogs steady, packers' quotations, $7.75 f.o.b. and $8.35 fed and watered.

Dunn & Levack quote: Choice calves, $10; medium do, $8 to $9; common do, $5 to $6; choice sheep, $7; medium do, $6 to $6.50; heavy do., $4; lambs, $15.50 to $16.

CHICAGO CATTLE.

CHICAGO, July 12.—(Canadian Press).—Cattle, receipts 10,000; fairly active; beef steers and yearlings steady to strong with Tuesday's close; spots shade higher on yearlings; top matured steers $11.50, weight 1,258 pounds; several loads handyweight and heavy steers $11.00 and $11.40; bulk matured steers $9.50 and $10.75; best yearlings $11.25; she stock and bulls active, largely 15 to 25 higher; choice beef heifers $10.35; several lots $10 and $10.25; bulk beef steers $8.50 and $10.00; vealers closing 25c to 50c lower; stockers and feeders scarce, firm, bulk desirable bologna bulls $5.25 and $5.65; bulk desirable veal calves to packers $11.50 and $12.50.

Hogs, receipts 26,000; fairly active on better grades around 10c higher, others slow steady; closing dull, bulk best 160 to 250 pound $7.45 to $7.60; top $7.65; desirable 260 to 350 pound packers mostly $7.25 and $7.40; bulk throwout sows $6.10 and $6.40; few 120 to 130 pound pigs, $6.50 and $7.00; estimated holdover 22,000.

Sheep receipts 14,000; good and choice western fat lambs strong to 15c higher; native, closing steady bulk desirable fat lambs $14.00 and $15.00; top $15.10; culls and sheep steady; native culls $7.50 and $8.50 practically no yearlings or aged wethers offered; bulk fat ewes $5.00 and $6.50; extreme heavies downward to $3.50.

CHICAGO WHEAT.

Chicago, July 12. Canadian Press. —Dollar marks were virtually discarded to-day in quoting the price of wheat. Both the July delivery and September fell below $1 a bushel, and all deliveries touched a new low record price for the present season as well as the lowest record in any July since 1914. The momentum from Tuesday's collapse of values had much to do with yesterday's setback. The market closed unsettled at ¼ to 7-8c net decline, with September 99 5-8 to 99 3-4c, and December $1.02½ to $1.02 5-8.

Corn finished a shade lower to 3-4c advance; oats at 1-8c off to 3-8c gain, and provisions from 10 to seven cents up.

WINNIPEG CATTLE.

WINNIPEG, July 12. Canadian Press. — Receipts were 955 cattle and calves, 875 hogs and 155 sheep.

The few good handy weight butchers on offer met with a ready sale at steady prices while the common in-between grades sold slow at weak prices. Top butcher steers ranged from $6.75 to $7.50; butcher heifers $5 to $7; good calves $6 to $8; feeder steers $4 to $5.

The hog market held in line with Tuesday's close, thick smooths weighing up at $8.35.

The sheep and lamb market was unchanged.

EGG MARKET.

Ottawa, July 12. Canadian Press. —As was anticipated the Chicago market has declined 1½c to 3c since Tuesday chiefly as a result of the publication of the stocks of eggs in storage July 1 which amounted to 10,213,000 as compared with 9,763,000 cases for the same date last year.

Toronto unchanged.

Montreal carton extras 31 to 32, extras 29, firsts 25, seconds 22. Frozen poultry in good demand; prices unchanged.

Manitoba and Saskatchewan unchanged.

Alberta situation unsatisfactory — quality poor and receipts light. Alberta dealers quoting firsts 17c and seconds 12c delivered.

British Columbia markets easy and unchanged at 21 country points.

CASH GRAIN.

Montreal, July 12. Canadian Press —There was no further change in the condition of the spot market for oats, prices being steady. A moderate business was reported in flour. The millfeed market was unchanged. Trade in rolled oats was quiet. A firmer feeling developed in the baled hay market. The local egg market was without any new feature. The potato market was featureless. Business in butter and in cheese was quiet.

RAISED WOODWORK.

OTTAWA, July 12.—(Canadian Press).—President Harding, who will visit Vancouver on his way back from Alaska, will be the guest of the Dominion government while in Canada it was announced yesterday. He is expected in Vancouver on July 26. An address of welcome will be presented to him by Hon. J. H. King Minister of Public Works.

Alberta Will Require 10,000 to 12,000 Harvesters

CALGARY, July 12 (Canadian Press). — From 10,000 to 12,000 harvest hands will be required to handle Alberta's estimated bumper crop this fall, according to an announcement made by Walter Smitten, the Commissioner of Labour, yesterday.

He has fully investigated the situation, and every effort would be made to meet the requirements.

A complete survey made by the Government shows that the acreage in the Medicine Hat and Drumheller districts would be slightly less than in 1920, while the acreage in the Calgary, Lethbridge, and Edmonton districts was considerably larger.

YUCATAN WOMEN HAVE VERY ADVANCED IDEAS

MEXICO CITY, July 12.—(Associated Press).—Yucatan's delegation of women to the recent convention of the Pan-American League of Women, in this city, created something of an uproar. Yucatan is socialistic and very advanced, and while some of the women delegates from other states call themselves progressives, they were geared considerably lower than their sisters from the peninsula.

The Yutatecas discussed birth control with great frankness, in spite of the alarmed protests of the other delegates, and then expounded the facile wedding and divorce methods of their state.

Their arguments, however, failed to induce the convention to adopt other than the customary resolutions for the enfranchisement of women.

PAPERS FROM INQUEST WERE NOT PRODUCED

Forty-Two Pages of Evidence Given By Delorme at the Inquest Was Ruled Out—Detective Lajoie on the Stand.

RAOUL'S WILL.

MONTREAL, July 12. Canadian Press. — At the afternoon hearing yesterday of the trial of Rev. Father Delorme, charged with the murder of his half brother, Raoul, Detective Lajoie confirmed conversations that had taken place at the Delorme home at 190 St. Hubert street, in the week following the discovery of the victim's body. Lajoie declared that he had heard Lily Delorme say she had gone out in the afternoon of January 6, the day of the murder, about 4 o'clock, and had returned for supper. He further testified that the abbe had stated that the revolver he had was one that came from his father. When the detective found out on January 14 that the revolver had been bought by the abbe from Haynes, the local gunsmith, his suspicions were directed against the accused. In the course of further conversation with the priest witness said Delorme had stated that Raoul had made a will and that he thought it was in Ottawa. The following day he said the will was in the office of Notary Belanger, "and I hope my brother Raoul has not forgotten me for I was so good to him."

Questions as to the will had been put to the accused by two local reporters and he, the witness, listened to the priest's replies. In further direct conversation with the accused, the abbe had asked Lajoie what opinion he had formed as to his brother's death. He had replied that he thought it was a case of suicide. "What-" exclaimed the abbe, "Suicide, with six bullets in his head-"

"Yes," he had answered.

"I have once saved a man's life after he had fired four bullets into his head." That was a case of suicide. He stated that the abbe had made a movement of the shoulders, and the matter had dropped.

Coroner McMahon was called to the stand. He had held the inquest into the death of Raoul Delorme. On examination of the depositions before the court it was found that there were no depositions taken in hand by the clerk of the coroner's court nor could the crown counsel find the inventory to ascertain whether or not there was a deposition of the abbe's taken in that manner.

This led to long arguments by the Crown, the defence and the court as to whether evidence before the coroner's court which had not been put in in the Court of King's bench was now admissable. Prior to the argument the evidence of the abbe at the coroner's court, covering 42 typewritten pages, was specially signed by Coroner McMahon and Clovis Pauze, the official stenographer of the coroner's court. Crown Prosecutor Calder then held that introduction of the abbe's evidence before the coroner was admissable whilst Alleyn Taschereau, for the defence, argued at length against its admissability. After lengthy quotations from ponderous law volumes, Mr. Taschereau said he would not insist beyond measure against the using of such evidence but he pointed out that if it were admitted it would render necessary an enquiry by the defence which would last perhaps three or four weeks.

Crown Prosecutor Calder argued against the points raised by Mr. Taschereau. The court then proceeded to sum up both sides, and concluded that the evidence could not be admitted and that the objection of the defence was sustained.

Before the court adjourned it was arranged that the whole court, the accused, the jury, officials, lawyers and chief justice Sir Francis Lemieux, should visit by automobile this afternoon all the scenes and locations referred to in the trial.

Insurance and Grants For Civic Employees.

OTTAWA, July 12 (Canadian Press). — Group insurance, a pension and retiring allowance scheme for civic employees, and grants to the dependents of civic employees who have died since 1st January, 1921, were discussed at a joint meeting of the Board of Control and the Civic Insurance Committee of the City Council yesterday afternoon.

All appeared favourable to the three propositions, but no definite action was decided on, pending more information as to those who would benefit and the operation of suggested plans.

great boom in the mining industry. I have had many years experience in practical mining, both in Cobalt and Porcupine, and have a wide connection there. I am therefore in a position to get early and reliable information in both camps. I have made a profit for every one of my clients up to date, and shall be pleased to advise any one interested. There will be a strong market this summer and now is the time to get in.

Forty Thousand Laborers Needed.

TORONTO, July 12— (Canadian Press)— Forty thousand farm laborers are needed to harvest the western crop this year, according to newspaper advertisements. Will they be secured from the East. They may and they may not be had. Acting Superintendent Hamilton, of the Government Employment Service, stated yesterday.

"Although we are sending 25 men a day to the farms, we are unable to supply the demand from Ontario farmers for labor," he said. "There is little experienced farm labor to be had in Toronto. Of course, it should be borne in mind that not many from Toronto have taken the western trip in past years."

ENGLAND HAS FASTEST TRAIN

Travels at Over 61 Miles An Hour—World Record.

LONDON, July 12—(Associated Press).—The fastest train in the world is now running between London and Swindon, a distance of 77¼ miles, which it covers in 75 minutes, travelling at the rate of 61.8 miles an hour.

This is one of five trains announced in the summer schedules of the English railroads, that will make better than a mile a minute on regular runs. The longest run is between London and Bath, 106 7-8 miles, which is made at the rate of 61.1 miles an hour.

Another feature of the summer train schedules is that daily nonstop trains are run between London and all the important cities and summer resorts in England, which are designed to allow the worker to live at the seaside and continue to work in London.

AIR ARMAMENTS TO BE REDUCED

Plans Under Way to Bring About Conference of Two Great Powers.

LONDON, July 12. — (Canadian Press.) — It was disclosed in the House of Lords last night that the Government thinks the present moment inopportune to initiate an international conference on the limitations of air armaments. The House was debating a motion aimed at having Britain join with the United States' government for such a conference.

The debate ranged over the whole question of land, sea and air defence.

Marquis of Salisbury, Lord President of the Council, said that the Prime Minister had already set forth the Government's desire to co-operate to the utmost with other nations on the lines of the Washington agreements for limitation of air armaments, but while the situation in Europe was so strained any steps in that direction now would be wholly fruitless, and there would be almost a certainty to be misunderstood.

There was more open talk in the course of the debate of possibilities of danger of war than has been heard in the Upper House for a long time.

The Government's new air policy was generally acquiesced in, even by Grey and Haldane, but they did not conceal their apprehension at the starting of new armaments competition.

Viscount Grey strongly urged the utilizing of the League of Nations to counteract armaments competition, recognizing the government's viewpoint with regard to a naval base at Singapore. He doubted whether it was an essential expenditure. Nobody dreamed it was aimed against the United States, but he thought it better frankly to admit that there was a contingency, however remote, of a war with Japan.

OBITUARY

ANNIE MABEL HUTCHINSON.

The death occurred last evening at the family residence, concession 15, lot 21, of Mabel Annie Hutchinson, following an extended illness. The funeral will take place on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, from the late residence of the deceased to the Little Lake cemetery.

BOARD OF ARBITRATORS

Montreal, July 12. Canadian Press. — Papers were sworn out here last night by representatives of the employees of the Montreal Light, Heat and Power Consolidated calling upon the government to appoint a board of arbitration to settle the present differences between men and employers. The men are asking a return to the wage conditions as obtained in 1920.

ELEVATORS DID NOT LIVE UP TO PROMISES MADE

Southern Alberta Farmers Were Promised Premium If They Would Ship Wheat Via Vancouver.

WAS NOT PAID.

CLARESHOLM Alta., July 12.—(Canadian Press).—Promises by elevator companies that southern Alberta farmers shipping grain to Vancouver would be paid a premium were not always lived up to, according to witnesses who testified before the Royal Grain Enquiry in session here this morning.

F. T. Gibbie, a farmer, told the commission that he was promised a premium if he would ship to Vancouver but that after shipping to the coast the Alberta Pacific Grain Company refused to pay. Another farmer said he could not obtain a premium on his wheat from the United Grain Growers, Limited while a neighbor obtained five cents a bushel on wheat sent to ancouver.

A reduction on freight rates between here and the coast was urged by several witnesses. The high rates it was stated often stood in the way of the farmer succeeding. Different views were expressed as to the grading system protects everybody except the producer, while another said the present grading plan could not be improved upon.

LIKE BEGETS LIKE.

When a man becomes bitter and sour and begins to think and feel that everyone is against him, he will inevitably begin to treat them in such a manner so that they will be. If he thinks and acts as though everyone is a friend, unconsciously he will so conduct himself that all will be his friends. If we put into our relations with our fellow men a full and overflowing measure of cheer and good will, we may rest assured that even so will it be returned to us.

Sincerity is the very foundation stone of true friendliness. It is also a human trait that is hard to counterfeit, as the sincere friendly impulse comes from the soul of a man and not from the calculating mind. Think kindly and friendly thoughts. If you have a heart and a soul, why be ashamed of them? Bring them into the shop, the office and your daily life.

The hand may be cunning, and the head may contain the brain that can conceive the most brilliant thoughts but every good and worthy impulse comes from the heart. Strengthen your faith in men, think kindly of them, believe that they are your friends, and in the long run they will be.

BRAZIL'S FUEL IMPORTS INCREASE

RIO DE JANEIRO, July 12. — (Associated Press)—Although the greater part of Brazil lies within the tropics, one of the greatest problems involved in the country's economic expansion is that of fuel supply. In 1922, according to official figures published here, Brazil spent approximately $27,000,000 on imported fuels.

The principal difficulty in the way of developing known sources of fuel in Brazil at present is the lack of transportation facilities. Coal mined in Brazil now costs more on this market than that imported from England or the United States.

HEAVIEST RAIN SINCE 1914.

MOOSE JAW, July 12 (Canadian Press). — The rain in Saskatchewan in June was the heaviest since 1914, according to the records of the Dominion Meteorological agent, J. K. Stevenson, of this city, who compiles the records for Saskatchewan.

The heaviest rainfall was at Arcola, where 9.37 inches is recorded. Aneroid received 9.33 inches and Pennant 9.01 inches. Leader had 7.37, Gull Lake 8.53. In the city of Moose Jaw, the record shows 5.03 inches.

Among the places which received a normal or less than normal precipitation were Whitewood with 3.87, Nashlyn 3.49, and Caron, 22 miles from Moose Jaw, only received 2.76.

STRIKERS PROTEST USE OF TROOPS AND ARREST OF THE UNION OFFICIALS

Hon. James Murdock Suggests Return to Work as Proof of Claims That the Troops Are Unnecessary.

NO WAGE ISSUE.

SYDNEY, N. S., July 12— (By Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.)—A. S. McIntyre, vice-president of the District 26, of the United Mine Workers of America, gave to the Canadian Press last evening the following telegram which passed between himself on behalf of the striking Nova Scotia coal miners and International President John L. Lewis, and himself and Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor.

The telegram to President Lewis sent yesterday was in reply to that of several days ago, in which the International head requested the District 26 executive to instruct their men to return to work.

The telegrams were sent and received as dated:

July 11, 1923.

John L. Lewis,
Atlantic City.

District board considered your telegram and state that this strike has no connection whatever with contract with corporation or wage demands. The only issue is to prevent use of armed force against workers in every industrial dispute in this province and for release of our president and secretary.

"The membership has unanimously pledged itself not to return to work until troops are removed and our officials released. For any district officers to advocate return to work would be quite useless in face of the determination of men to stay on strike. We have repeatedly guaranteed immediate resumption of work if troops are withdrawn and officers released.

"This struggle is supported by trade unions of Canada and is a political struggle of Canadian workers against an evil from which we have suffered for years. Our international union must understand that its jurisdiction does not give it authority to prohbit workers in Canada waging a political struggle against use of armed forces which are being used to smash our labor movement.

(Signed) "A. S. McIntyre."
Ottawa, Ont., July 9, 1923.

"A. S. McIntyre,
Dist. 26 Vice-President U.M.W.

"I understand miners' executive committee will meet to-morrow to take into consideration message which has been received from President Lewis exposing the view that the present strike of coal miners is illegal from point of view of organization, that the strike is moreover contrary to the practice and principle of the organization since the men on strike are under working agreement which is effective until January 14 next.

"I trust your committee will give careful attention to Mr. Lewis' message and will do all possible on their part to maintain the present trades union principles with respect to the carrying out of signed agreements.

"Action taken by the executive committee which will permit the immediate resumption of work any point in dispute to be adjusted by negotiations, would in my opinion go far towards permitting the speedy withdrawal of troops and return to peaceful industrial conditions.

(Signed) "James Murdock."

Sydney, N.S., July 10, 1923.

"Hon. James Murdock,
Minister of Labor, Ottawa.

"Your wires received. Executive board will consider your suggestions to-morrow. You seem to be confused on the issue here.

"This strike has no reference to contract or wages but is against the policy of using armed force against workers in every industrial dispute in this province. I can guarantee the miners will return to work if troops and police are withdrawn and officers of this union released.

"What guarantee can you give that they will be withdrawn?

"Reply for information of board to-morrow.

(Signed) "A. S. McIntyre."
Ottawa, July 10, 1923.

"A. S. McIntyre,
Sydney, N.S.

"Wire of the tenth received. We have for past two days earnestly pressed local authorities that troops be withdrawn promptly as possible and shall continue to so insist in the belief that you and the men you represent are generally law-abiding. The situation now is that the troops were requisitioned under the law. Local authorities or officer in command seems loath to concede that there is no danger to men or property while strike continues.

"You would help much to relieve situation and to insure withdrawal of troops if those you represent would promptly return to work, under existing agreement so that there might be no excuse on the part of the local authorities for continuing the troops at Sydney.

"You will understand that we are unable to suggest that anything but an orderly process of the law should determine action to be taken, and the result in the cases of the president and secretary of your union.

"My advice is that you resume work and thus prove lack of reason or necessity for calling of Canadian troops to Cape Breton.

(Signed) "James Murdock."

SYDNEY, July 12.— (Canadian Press)—Though there was no apparent yielding of ground yesterday by parties to the Cape Breton coal and steel strike, an exchange of telegrams, made public last night by Alex. McIntyre, vice-president of U. M.W. District 26, offer to many observes the opening of a road which may lead with some settlement. Executive of District 26 advised International President John Lewis that: "We have repeatedly guaranteed immediate resumption of work if troops are withdrawn and our officers released."

Ernest Curtis, Canadian vice-president of the Steel Works' International organization, on his return here after consulting Premier Armstrong at Halifax, said he believed a settlement would be reached.

ADVERTISING PAYS SAYS WARD FIRM

William Ward and Sons, Limited, of London, manufacturers of Sir Haig and Cosmos cigars, are firm believers in the power of advertising. The one big reason for this belief is of course the fact that advertising has created a wonderful amount of business for them. For nearly three years now this firm has been a consistent advertiser, every week in the year, in this paper and also other papers throughout Canada. Their business has had a phenomenal growth. Millions of Sir Haig cigars are sold throughout Canada, annually, and business had increased so rapidly that it has been necessary to establish a branch factory for this firm in Brantford.

Brantford was selected because it was found after an extensive survey that the necessary labor could be secured there and the new plant employing between forty and fifty skilled hands will be started at once. It will be under the management of one of the members of the Ward family and the output will be used to supply some of the many unfilled orders of the firm.

Mr. McMurray to Be Solicitor-General.

TORONTO, July 12—(Canadian Press.)—A despatch to-day from Ottawa says: "It is likely that Mr. E. J. McMurray, K.C., M.P., Liberal member for North Winnipeg, will shortly be appointed to the position of Solicitor-General, rendered vacant by the elevation of Hon. D. D. McKenzie to the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia. Mr. McMurray will be given a seat in the Cabinet as the position of Solicitor General does not usually carry Cabinet rank, though this custom has not been followed very often except in the cases of Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Hon. Arthur Meighen and Hon. D. D. McKenzie."

FRANCE MAKES GIFT OF LAND FOR MONUMENT

Agreement Made Last Year Was Unanimously Adopted Yetserday By Chamber of Deputies.

ON VIMY RIDGE.

PARIS, July 12.—Canadian Press Cable — The Chamber of Deputies yesterday unanimously adopted the bill approving of Franco-Canadian agreement with regard to France's gift of the site for the Canadian memorial monument at Vimy Ridge.

Announcement of the French Government's gift to Canada of 250 acres of Vimy Ridge for the purpose of a site for the proposed monument was made last year in connection with the visit to France of Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, speaker of Canadian House of Commons, who conducted the negotiations with France on behalf of the Dominion. Hon. Mr. Lemieux is a member of the Canadian battlefields memorial commission, under whose auspices the monument is being erected, the memorial having been designed by the Toronto sculptor, Walter S. Allward who is superintending its erection on Vimy Ridge. The only condition imposed by the French government on Canada in connection with the gift is that the site shall be used in perpetuity as a park.

France's splendid gift was formally acknowledged by the Canadian House of Commons on February 9, last in a fitting resolution moved by Premier Mackenzie King and supported in cordial and appreciative terms by the leaders of the different parties in the house.

The text of the bill approving of the French government's agreement with Canada relative to the grant of the site was published last December, and the Government of France has since been engaged in expropriating the necessary property.

Plans to Develop Northern Queensland.

BRISBANE, Queensland, July 12 (Canadian Press Cable). — His Excellency the Right Hon. Sir Matthew Nathan Governor-General of Queensland, at the opening of Parliament yesterday, stated that since last Parliament he had visited the northern and western sections of Queensland, and was satisfied that a white population could live and flourish there. He had no doubt, he said, that northern and western Queensland had a great future.

His Excellency stated that Queensland had suffered severely as a result of the drought and unremunerative prices, but the outlook was by no means discouraging.

He added that loans aggregating £25,000,000 would mature within the next two years, and that arrangements would be made shortly for the conversion of that amount.

The proposals listed for the coming session of Parliament include Bills providing for the encouragement of oil properties and the ade-

MANITOBA SLAUGHTERS A BEER AND WINE BILL AT POLLS YESTERDAY

Majority Against the Proposal to Sell Beer and Wine in Hotels is 32,000 With the Returns Incomplete.

WINNIPEG AGAINST.

WINNIPEG, July 12—(Canadian Press.)— After adopting, less than three weeks ago, by a majority of 40,000, a bill for the sale of intoxicating liquors by the government, the people of Manitoba yesterday slaughtered a second bill which sought to make legal the sale by licensed hotels of beer and wine with meals in their dining rooms. The majority against beer and wine is 32,000 with returns incomplete.

The "dry" vote stood practically as in the June referendum, but many thousands of those who supported the Moderation bill stayed at home. Winnipeg gave a majority against the bill of more than 7,000, compared with the Moderation majority of 20,000.

RAILWAY EARNINGS

Montreal, July 12. Canadian Press —The gross earnings of the Canadian National Railways for the week ending July 7 were $4,747,906, being an increase of $297,351, or 7 per cent as compared with the coresponding period of 1922.

The gross earnings of the Canadian National Railways from January 1, 1923 to July 7, have been $121,304,068, being an increase of $14,460,507.62, as compared with the corresponding period of 1922.

ORANGEMEN START TREK TO COBOURG

Canadian National Trains Carried a Large Contingent From Peterborough.

All roads led to the Canadian National Station this morning, where a special train, consisting of seven or eight coaches, took aboard hundreds of Orangemen for the annual Twelfth of July parade at Cobourg.

At an early hour the lodges began to muster at their rooms, and preliminary toots on bugles, fifes, and pipes gave warning of the opening of "The Day" in the Orangemen's year.

Many lodges from the surrounding district met in Peterborough to travel by the special train, and others went by the local.

Bus lines ran special services to the scene of the parade, and many Orangemen and their families went by car.

The day opened with beautiful weather, and all who left this morning looked forward to a good time.

There will be a parade in Peterborough to-night on the Orangemen's return.

LIBERAL LADIES AT CHEMONG PARK

Mrs. C. Perry Threw Open Her Summer Cottage For Entertainment of Visitors.

Just as happily as if they had been victorious in the recent Provincial election, the Ladies' Liberal Association of Peterborough had a glorious time at their picnic in Chemong Park yesterday.

The president, Mrs. C. Perry, threw open her summer cottage in the Park to the ladies, where they enjoyed a musical programme, ran races, and had a sit-down supper in the large screened verandah.

There were nearly a hundred people present, including the lady workers in the last three campaigns, and several members of the Men's Committee.

The ladies served the supper, which was a sumptuous repast, the tables being literally loaded with the platters of cold meat, salads of every description, cake, ice-cream, and strawberries.

Music during the afternoon and evening was much enjoyed. Vocal solos were given by Mrs. George H. King, Mrs. F. Whitehouse, Mrs. R. Bugg, Mrs. F. Rathbone, Mrs. S. Bugg, Miss Minnie Allen and little Lorraine Bugg, who gave several cunning little pieces.

Instrumental music was rendered by Mrs. R. Bugg, Mrs. Whitehouse, and Misses Margaret Doris and Katherine Whitehouse.

Sports Programme.

Winners in the races were as follows:

Married ladies' race—1, Mrs. J. Brady, teapot; 2, Mrs. B. F. Mcneely, bon-bon dish.

Ladies' race—1, Mrs. S. Bugg, basket; 2, Mrs. P. J. Doris, vase.

Single ladies' race—1, Miss Margaret Doris, box writing paper; 2, Miss K. Whitehouse, cup and saucer.

Men's race—1, G. N. Gordon, smoking set; 2, A. H. Fielder, playing cards.

Three-legged race—1, Miss M. Perry, silver spoon; 2, Mr. Melhuish, smoking set.

Before breaking up for the evening, hearty votes of thanks were tendered to Mrs. C. Perry for her generous hospitality, by the men and women present, Mrs. McNeeley voicing the gratitude of the ladies, which met with enthusiastic accord, and the singing of "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow."

Mr. J. J. Duffus, seconded by Mr. W. Scollard, moved the vote for the men, which was presented by Mr. J. J. Hartley.

Brief addresses of encouragement to the ladies in their work were given by Messrs. Hartley, Duffus, and Scollard.

A Presentation

KING'S WHARF, July 12.—Yesterday afternoon, the King's Wharf Schoolhouse was filled with the pupils of the school, who have been attending classes during the past three years, as well as many young people from the community, who gathered to bid farewell to their teacher, Miss Ella Foley, who has been in charge for the last three years of S.S. No. 15, Emily, King's Wharf School.

After an entertaining programme by the pupils, who have been trained in this branch as well as in school matters, Rev. P. J. Galvin spoke to the pupils on the work and record of their beloved teacher, and Mr. James O'Leary also addressed the audience briefly, commenting on the genial manner, the pleasant, lovable spirit of the young teacher, in school and in all community matters, and expressing the sorrow of her friends at her departure from their midst.

The following address was read by Helen O'Neill, the presentation made by Thecla O'Neill and Marguerite Ransom:

Dear Teacher,—We, your pupils of S. S. No. 15, Emily, having heard with regret of your departure from amongst us, cannot let the occasion pass without tendering you some slight token of our love and esteem.

The three years you have labored amongst us have been to us at least a time of untold pleasure and profit.

We thank you sincerely for the kindness and sympathy extended to us in our difficulties, also for the painstaking yet pleasant manner in which you have conducted our daily studies; for the patience and good judgment you manifested in correcting our many faults, which must have caused you much annoyance, and for which we humbly ask your pardon. You have always endeavored to instill in our hearts your nobleness of character and purity of mind which we hope we shall ever remember.

We pray that God will bless you and guide you in all your undertakings, and that we may again have the happiness of being your devoted pupils.

We beg of you to accept the gift, not for its intrinsic value, but to show in only a very slight degree our sincere appreciation of your unselfish efforts to improve our lives by precept and example. In conclusion, we all join in wishing you every success in your different callings in life.

Signed on behalf of Pupils,
Helen O'Neill.
Thecla O'Neill.
Marguerite Ranson.

The gift presented was a beautiful party box.

Miss Foley will be greatly missed throughout the different sources of amusements and elsewhere. Her many friends deeply regret her departure from the community.

SCOTTISH UNION FOLLOWS CANADIAN

TORONTO, July 12.—According to reports just received by the Presbyterian Church Union Movement Committee from overseas, the progress of the proposed union of the Established Church and the United Free Church reads very much like reports of the church union situation in Canada, and it would seem that Canada was marching in step with Scotland in the church union movement. A news dispatch received from Glasgow reads in part as follows:

"This year's assemblies have brought the union negotiations so far that the end should be reached within another year or two. There will be an enormous amount of work to do after the churches are officially united, for a special commission of some kind will have to be set up for the arrangement of the disposal of the temporalities, and there will have to be considered also the big question of reducing the number of churches. There are far too many church, especially in small towns and country places. There are frequently three where there is hardly a congregation for one. In the large towns and cities the duplication of churches is not noticed so much, but in some of these the number could be reduced with advantage, especially in the central parts from which the population has moved to the suburbs within recent years. It is estimated by men who have gone into the matter that union would make possible the ultimate abolition of two or three hundred churches, and that in each case better work would be done by one church than can ever be done by two."

Complexities in Scotland.

Theer is one difference, however, between the church union situation in the two countries. In Canada the problem of settlement is much less complicated, for there is only one minority to contend with, while there are two minorities in Scotland. The despatch above referred to, in discussing the situation, says:

"What will the minorities in both churches do? Will they decline to fall in with the union and form themselves into one or more independent bodies? If they do they will have no legal claim on the property of any kind, for the two Assemblies, having learned the lesson of the union of the Free Church and the United Presbyterians, have taken the precaution of getting an Act of Parliament approving union, so that no claims for property can be made afterwards by minorities."

Great Britain Demands the End of the Ruhr Occupation

GREAT BRITAIN TAKES STEPS TO BRING OPERA-BOUFFE OF RUHR TO AN END IN INTEREST OF PEACE

Allies Propose to Unite in Fixing a Fair Amount for Reparations and Asking Germany to Pay It-Germany is Approaching Economic Chaos.

THIS MAY BE BRITAIN'S LAST WARNING

LONDON, July 12.—(United Press).—Great Britain, through Premier Baldwin in the Commons and Marquis Curzon in the House of Lords, today demanded that the occupation of the Ruhr come to an end, and that the Allies unite in fixing a fair amount for reparations and asking Germany to pay it.

This was the gist of a long awaited statement of the British policy towards the reparations problem.

Stanley Baldwin was cheered to the echo as he pleaded for Allied co-operation as the end of the Ruhr venture. A break with France is considered averted if the French Government returns a favorable answer.

The essential factors of settlement of Europe's ills, Baldwin told a crowded House, are:

1.—PAYMENT OF REPARATIONS.
2.—SETTLEMENT OF INTER-ALLIED DEBTS.
3.—SECURITY OF EUROPE.

Italy, the Prime Minister said, is understood to be in agreement with Britain on all points.

Referring to the last German reparations offer, Baldwin said that whether the late enemy's offer was adequate or not it should not be ignored, but should be examined to discvoer if there were any possibility of progress.

"Our proposals have no other aim than pacification of Europe and the recovery of an exhausted world," Baldwin declared while the Commons cheered.

A British reply to the latest German note, he said, is to be forwarded forwith. It will be first submitted to the Allies, however, in the hope of securing joint action. This will be the chance for France and Belgium to renew the bonds of the Entente.

Unity of action, co-operation by the Allies, is a vital necessity, Baldwin declared.

Germany, he said, is rapidly approaching economic chaos, which may well be succeeded by social and industrial ruin. In the meanwhile, genuine apprehension exists as to food shortage conditions, which are causing serious harm to Great Britain.

LONDON, July 12.—(United Press).—International co-operation is necessary to clear up the chaos in Europe. This is the text of two brief fifteen-minute speeches delivered simultaneously in the Commons and Lords by Premier Baldwin and Marquis Curzon.

It is Britain's warning to the Entente—possibly the last.

"Let us get together now, or Great Britain will have to act alone," is in brief the warning couched in friendly terms. Stress is to be laid upon this country's friendship for France and the advantages of all acting together, but the British statement is understood to point out, the time has come for action other than that now being carried out by French and Belgians in the Ruhr.

Co-operation with Britain will involve other methods of securing reparations.

The day, so fraught with importance for the Entente, started with a rush for admission to the Commons to hear Stanley Baldwin's speech. Many American tourists were in the throng that almost literally stormed the doors of the Houses of Parliament.

It was learned, as the Cabinet met this morning and put a final "OK" on the statement, that the delivery would not consume more than fifteen minutes. At the same time the Foreign Minister, Curzon, will be reading the statement to the Lords.

Announcement to this effect was made by Premier Baldwin in the House of Commons this afternoon on Britain's reparation policy.

The British Government, he said, invites the sympathy of the Allies and all interested parties for a proposal, which aims solely at pacification of Europe and the recovery of an exhausted world. The Premier failed to state what proposals of the government will be in the note it intends framing, nor did he say anything in regard to an international commission to examine Germany's capacity to pay. Replying to questions by Ramsay Macdonald, Opposition leader, Premier Baldwin said the reply to Germany would be proceeded with, forthwith.

He would say to-morrow whether the reply was being communicated to the United States.

STAGE IS ALL SET FOR THE MAULERS

JERSEY CITY, N.J., July 12. — Fair weather was predicted to-day for the Firpo-Willard heavyweight match to-night in Boyle's Thirty Acres. Cooler temperature promised ideal conditions in the big pine bowl. Early this morning a thin line of fans had gathered at the entrance to the general admission section, seats in which will go on sale at five o'clock at $1 and $2. By noon the crowd had increased to more than 500.

REFUSED MONEY DELORME TRIAL

Crown is Willing to Bear Expense of Defense Witnesses.

MONTREAL, July 12. Canadian Press. — The Attorney General of Quebec has refused loan money required to secure expert witnesses on behalf of Abbe Delorme now on trial on a murder charge.

This announcement was made at the trial this morning by Crown Prosecutor Calder.

Mr. Calder added however that the Crown was wiling to bear the expense of summoning and bringing to court witneses for the defence.

The defense lawyers then made an application to the court for an order to the Crown for fees of expert witnesses and this was refused. Alleyn Taschereau, K.C., defence lawyer, then remarked: "We will give the names of witnesses needed and if they are not assigned the defence will be obliged to say, we abandon the trial. Can the court ask the jury to render a verdict in a case like this. The court's only reply was to refuse the order for experts' fees and the case resumed.

This afternoon the Crown concluded its case with a visit by all concerned in the case to the Delorme home and the scene of the finding of the body. The defence to-morrow will call witnesses, it is understood, in an endeavor to show that Raoul left his home on the day of the murder to go to Assistance Publique, of which institution the accused abbe was chaplain.

Frank Whitehouse, Jr. Saved a Summer Guest

The third, in a series of near-drowning accidents, occurred at Inverlea Park yesterday, when a young lady visitor in the city, a Miss Turpell of Buffalo, venturing into water beyond her depth, got into difficulty and was pulled out of the river in the nick of time by Frank Whitehouse, son of Frank Whitehouse Water street, Mr. J. Abraham assisted in the task of reviving the girl and Mr. O. M. Steer did good service with first aid measures until Dr. Yelland, who had been summoned, arrived. Miss Turpell was reported in good condition this morning.

Residents near the park are of the opinion that inexperienced bathers take too many chances with the deep water beyond the breakwater in the river. This is the third accident of the sort to take place this week, and every day, young, amateur swimmers are tempting Fate in the way they venture beyond their depth at this point. A little girl of about twelve years of age, who said she had just learned to swim the day before, was seen recently, jumping off the breakwater into the deep river and boasting of her ability to her small, emulative companions.

WILL OBSERVE TWELFTH JULY MANY CENTRES

Toronto Orange Units Were Out Early and on the March—Big Day in Cobourg.

NEW FEATURES

TORONTO, July 12.—(Canadian Press).—Early to-day Toronto was astir with music of the fife and drum and the gathering of Orange units at central meeting points for the celebration of the "Glorious Twelfth," and what was taking place in Toronto on a large scale was also taking place in a smaller way in numerous other cities and towns in Ontario. The anniversary day of the Battle of the Boyne was attended by beautiful weather throughout the Province, and it was stated that the biggest Orange demonstrations in the history of Ontario would be witnessed to-day.

It was estimated that Toronto's turnout reached ten thousand members of the Order. The parade was from Queen's Park to the Exhibition Grounds, where a huge throng was addressed by prominent Orangemen from various parts of the Empire and Province of Ontario, including Rev. David Ness, of Glasgow, Scotland, president of the Imperial Council of the World, and Mayor A. J. Maguire.

A splendid sports programme was thoroughly enjoyed during the afternoon.

A new feature of the local celebraton was a review of the parade in front of the City Hall, where, from the stand, Grand Master Hon. W. D. McPherson, Rev. Mr. Ness and Mayor Maguire took the salute.

Among the larger celebrations were those at Ottawa, Chatham, Stratford, Erin, Galt, Wingham, Port Burwell, Hamilton, Flesherton, Sturgeon Falls and Cobourg.

SMITH STREET YOUTH HAD NARROW ESCAPE

The large touring car belonging to Mr. Harry Wolff, of Chemong Park, driven by Mr. Richard Desbecker, was proceeding north on Reid Street, about five o'clock last evening, when Fred. Carraveggio, small son of Chas. Carraveggio, 338 Smith Street, ran across the street near the Smith and Reid corner. The driver, who had blown his horn before approaching the corner, applied the brakes, turning into the ditch to avoid the child, who stopped and then ran ahead. The car struck the boy and knocked him down. Policemen were summoned, and Dr. M. Yelland arrived on the scene. After an examination, the child was pronounced not seriously injured, sustaining only a scraping of the flesh of his left shoulder, side and ankle. Spectators said the car was travelling at a moderate rate of speed.

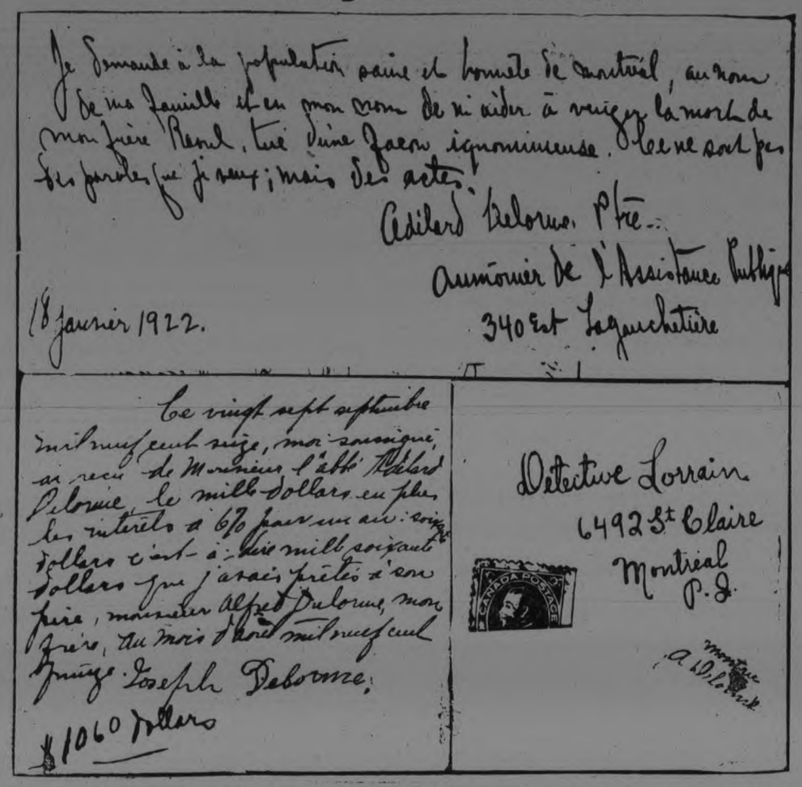
Handwriting Exhibits in Court



HANDWRITI : EXHIBITS IN THE TRIAL OF FATHER DELORME. — At the top is "The Appeal to the Public," written by Abe Delorme in the presence of Fernand Roby, then assistant cit. editor of La Patrie. It reads: "In the name of my family and of myself I ask the sane and honest population of Montreal to aid me in avenging the death of my brother Raoud, killed in an ignominious fashion. It is not words I want but acts. Adelard Delorme, priest, almoner of the Public Assistance, 340 Lagauchetiere East, January 18, 1922." Bottom left is a receipt, the body of which is admitted by the defense to have been written by Abbe Delorme. It is signed by Joseph Delorme, uncle of the prisoner. The second word in the document "vingt" (twentieth), was used particularly by crown handwriting experts. Bottom right is shown the writing on the paper wrapper that carried the Delorme watch to D. D. Lorrain, chief of the p. vincial police. Two handwriting experts say the writing is that of the person who wrote the "Appeal to the Public." A third gave that as his conclusion, but modified it because of the small quantity of writing on the wrapper, known to the crown as "the suspected writing."

WHY POPULATION IS ON THE DOWNGRADE

Other Cities in the Province Show a Substantial Increase—Value of Canadian Farm Products

Why is the population of Peterborough not increasing?

Why is it that the population of Peterborough, according to the Assessor's returns was 20,653 in 1915 and his returns this year show a decrease?

Why is it that other cities in the Province of Ontario show substantial increase in population while this city is marking time?

According to the Dominion census, that was taken in 1921, the following cities show the following percentage of increase in population over that of 1911:

Windsor increased	115%
St. Catharines increased	59%
Sarnia increased	49%
Kitchener increased	43%
Sault Ste. Marie increased	41%
Hamilton increased	39%
Toronto increased	38%
Port Arthur increased	32%
London increased	31%
Galt increased	28%
Brantford increased	27%
Fort William increased	24%
Ottawa increased	23%
Belleville increased	23%
Chatham increased	23%
Guelph increased	19%
Kingston increased	15%
Peterborough increased	14%

Peterborough, therefore, stands at the foot of the list.

Even among the small towns, Sandwich shows an increase of 91%, Oshawa an increase of 60%, Niagara Falls 59%, Trenton 48% and Orillia 28. Peterborough's growth is lagging behind her neighboring towns, Oshawa, Orillia and Trenton.

Peterborough, in 1911, showed an increase in her population of 42% over the census of 1901. During that time Peterborough was being supplied with cheap electric power which did attract manufacturers to Peterborough.

The growth of the cities and towns in Canada shows that during this last ten years they have participated in Canadian development.

The actual value of Canadian farm products, minerals, fishing and forest production for the year just closed reached the enormous total of $1,516,373,200. The grain crop exceeded that of 1921 by 100,000,000 bushels. Northern Ontario alone produced more mineral worth last year than any year's output of California or Alaska. This country with roughly 1% of the world's population, produced 90 per cent. of the world's cobalt, 88 per cent. of the world's asbestos, 85 per cent. of the world's nickel, 32 per cent. of the world's pulpwood, 20% of the world's lumber, 20% of the world's cured fish, 18% of the world's oats, 15 per cent. of the world's potatoes, 12 per cent. of the world's silver, 11½ per cent. of the world's wheat, 11 per cent. of the world's barley, 4% of the world's gold, and 4% of the world's copper.

There has been, and is, an enormous influx of American capital into Canada, and new industries have been established, and are being established in other cities and towns.

The Canadian industrial army is growing steadily, and increased production is finding outlets in overseas territories, where Canada's export trade has nearly trebled in dollars within the past ten years. Great as has been her progress, yet greater things are in store for her people.

What is wrong with this city, that during this last ten years she has simply stood still and has simply marked time? What can be done to again place this city in the forward march of progress?

POLICE AFTER 19 DESERTERS

Southampton Police and Sailors Play Tag at the Docks.

SOUTHAMPTON, England, July 12.—(United Press).—Nineteen sailors from the U.S. S. Leviathan continued to-day a merry game of tag in which the Southampton police, armed with summons, are always "it."

The men are dodging and hiding to escape service of the summons which charge them with desertion from British vessels in New York. Three of the twenty-two for which the police started out yesterday were caught. The officials of the Leviathan say they will not worry if any of the crew is taken into custody as the deficiency can be made up easily from a waiting list of 300.

LARGEST CRUISER UP TRENT CANAL

Had a Crew of Five and Eight Passengers on Board.

The largest cruiser to arrive in Peterborough via the Trent Waterway came in on Tuesday from Philadelphia, and is now on its way through the upper lakes to Orillia. The cruiser, "Elbaroda," a twin screw, 86 footer, is specially constructed for cruising in Florida, and this is the first trip through the waterway, having just been through the Rideau Navigation System. Mr. Luddington, vice-president of the Curtis Publishing Co., Philadelphia, on being welcomed at George Street Wharf by Mayor W. H. Taylor, Ald. M. J. Maher and Mr. G. K. Fraser, president of the Trent Waterway Development Association, stated that he was exceedingly pleased with his trip so far, and stated that as far as Peterborough the route already excelled in attractiveness that of the Rideau System. Mr. Luddington returns via the St. Lawrence to the Richelieu River, Lake Champlain and the Hudson River to Philadelphia, arriving there on July 29. He informed those present that he received the necessary information deciding him to make the trip from those attending the exhibit at the New York Motor Boat Show in February.

There was a crew of five on board and eight passengers. Six hundred gallons of gasoline were required to supply the necessary fuel.

GOODV'ILL IS LACKING IN DISPUTE WITH THE COAL MINERS IN EAST

Chief Awaits Call From Local Woman

There are many queer things that come up in the daily round of the police constable. Tragedy and comedy stalk hand in hand through courts of law and of administration of municipal justice. The vagaries of human nature have their innings now and again, on the path that leads to an interview with the Chief. Just the other day, a young woman resident on Bethune street, for some unknown and as yet unexplained reason, presumably however, in a fit of uncontrolled temper, seized a little boy of six years old by the hair and succeeded in depriving him of a considerable patch of hirsute adornment, in other words she tore a portion of his hair out by the roots. The police were summoned, and the doctor. The latter declared that the victim was in serious danger of losing the remainder of his hair, in consequence, and the former notified the young lady to appear before Chief Newhall at a specified time. This has not yet been done, and the Chief, is waiting a little longer for her appearance before issuing a charge of assault.

Canadian Press Representative Reveals Some of the Reasons for Present Temper of the Men.

LACK OF CONFIDENCE

HALIFAX, July 12.—(Canadian Press).—The most striking impression one received upon being swept into a maelsrom of strike conflict is the vehemence with which miners believe that everybody's hand is against them," writes Andrew Merdle, Atlantic superintendent of Canadian Press, who went from here to Cape Breton, in an endeavor to reach an appraisment of the situation in steel and coal strike, scrupulously fair to both the company and men.

"This belief on part of miners," he continues, "is fundamental. One mentions newspapers —"to hell with newspapers," Minister of Labor—"to hell with Murdock," their own international leader—"to hell with Lewis."

"The deeply underlying reason for this state of mind I found to be persistent spreading, day in and day out, of "false tales" to the discomfit of the men. The coal pile at Dominion No. 2 is reported to be in imminent danger of destruction, investigation shows it to be in no abnormal danger of destruction. Five thousand miners heard their leaders speak and next day they find that words have been put into mouths of these leaders which they know were never uttered. This sort of thing happens every day."

"If attitude adopted towards me, by F. W. Gray, assistant to vice-president of the British Empire Steel Corporation with whom newspapermen are called upon to deal, is attitude adopted towards their employees by officials of British Empire Steel Corporation. I can quite understand the present temper of men," Mr. Merkel writes, in describing his interviews with Mr. Gray.

Mr. Merkel concludes that labor troubles in Cape Breton can only be permanently settled by goodwill and mutual confidence as between company and men. That relation is now conspicuously lacking

Meeting To-day

Premier E. H. Armstrong arrived in Sydney this morning and will probably meet representatives of the striking steel workers as soon as arrangements can be made.

J. B. MacLachlan, District Secretary of United Mine Workers, also arrived from Halifax.

Between three and four hundred men were waiting quietly on platform for his arrival. He was taken by car to Dominion Number Four, where he was to address a mass meeting. A number of cars followed from Sydney.

WANTS A FAIR SHARE LIQUOR

Lasker Hopes Congress Will Change the Present Liquor Laws.

LONDON, July 12 (United Press). — Speaking before the Pilgrims' Sociey on Wednesday evening, ex-Chairman Lasker, of the United States Shipping Board expressed the hope that the forthcoming Congress "may find occasion to change the laws and enable foreign ships to bring liquor to our shores."

"What we wish to do with our ships is our business," he said, "but what foreign companies do with theirs is their business."

Declaring that the United States was determined to have a fair share of the world's ocean-going commerce he insisted that the Supreme Court's ship liquor decision was harmful to the American Merchant Marine, as it encouraged reprisals on the part of foreign Governments.

Lasker indicated that out of deference to President Harding, the Shipping Board ships would remain dry.

He reminded Britishers that the United States had created a Mercantile Marine in response to Lloyd-George's war time plea—ships, ships, and more ships—and urged Anglo-American co-operation in shipping.

"I hope the Leviathan is as cordially welcomed here as your ships are welcomed in the United States," he said.

The Pilgrims' Society, an Anglo-American organisation, gave the banquet to our American guests who had arrived on the maiden voyage of the Leviathan.

Among the speakers were Senator Smoot, Secretary of the Treasury Melton, and Representatives Sutherland, Longworth, and Madden

All urged Anglo-American friendship and co-operation as the main hope of reconstructing the world and maintaining peace.

Senator Smoot jestingly said, "We feel that the British ought to have a fair share of the ocean-going traffic."

SEVERAL MINERS WERE KILLED IN AN ACCIDENT

BIRMINGHAM, Alabama, July 12.—(Canadian Press). — Reports reached this morning that several miners were killed in an accident in an ore mine near Bessemer, Ala. All available ambulances were called from Bessemer. First reports said a trip car had run wild into a crowd of miners, most of whom were negros. These reports said that accident was in an ore mine of Sloss-Sheffield Iron Company.

TURKEY REFUSES SIGNATURE AT LAST MOMENT

Delegates Walked From Meeting of Conference When Everything Ready For Peace.

NEW DEADLOCK

LAUSANNE, July 13. — (United Press).—The whole Near East business is in the air again, the Turkish representatives having gone back on agreements understood to have been reached.

A new "deadlock" exists and the signing of the peace treaty apparently has been definitely postponed.

The British delegation's chairman declared to-day it is useless to continue along the lines permitted by Turkish intransigeance.

Ismet Pasha now wishes a different agreement regarding foreign courts for foreigners on Turkey and also disputing on other points in the treaty.

Just when everything seemed to be fixed for the signature of the treaty the Turkish delegates walked out of a meeting late last night, declaring they disagreed on certain points and that it was necessary to consult the Government at Angora.

Conference Suspended.

The Near East Conference is temporarily suspended over fights on concessions which the Unjted States is playing an important role through her desire to protect the principle of the open door, and her protest against concession rights which are alleged to be monopolized. Nobody knows when the conference will be resumed because the Allies, who declare that the situation is serious, must again refer to their governments for instructions.

The Allied delegates, after yesterday's fruitless struggle with Ismet Pasha, said that the Turks had gone back on the agreement reached on Monday on three different points, and they intimated that the Turks were banking too much on the weakness of the Allies. The United States had protested that the agreement Monday gave monopolistic privileges to British and French companies.

THE YOUNG WOMAN WAS WELL RESCUED

Bernard Graham Also Shared in the Honors at Inverlea Park.

In the account of a near-drowning accident which occurred at Inverlea Park, Wednesday, when Miss Turpell of Buffalo, a summer visitor to the city, went out beyond her depth in the water at Inverlea Park, the name of Bernard Graham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Graham, Aylmer street, was inadvertently omitted.

The youths made a plucky rescue of the young lady. When she was seen to be in difficulty, both lads, Bernard Graham and Frank Whitehouse who had been sitting on the bank, plunged in with their clothes on, and made their way to the young lady. They had some trouble with the girl, who hampered their efforts, and were becoming exhausted, when Mr. J. Abraham, who had been in the water, went to their assistance and the three succeeded in bringing their charge to shore. Mr. Abraham who is supervisor at the Central School playgrounds, had taken the boys under his charge to Inverlea Park, as is the custom of the Playgrounds supervisors, for a swim, and was in the water with them. He and Mr. O. M. Steer a resident of the neighborhood, rendered first aid measures until the arrival of Dr. Yelland.

Bernard Graham is the same youth who was instrumental in helping to get Harry Cheu out of the water on Sunday last, when the canoe from which the two youths were fishing upset in the Otonabee river, about three miles below the city.

PRESS COMMENT ON REPARATION

LONDON, July 13. — (Canadian Press.)—From earliest available editorials in London newspapers it is clear that Premier Baldwin's announcement in the Commons on British reparations policy has made a favorable impression both in government and anti-government quarters. There are criticisms, of course, but these are not strongly emphasized.

The Morning Post says the Premier's statement seems to be the first installment of a definite foreign policy for which the country will be grateful.

The Daily Telegraph thinks that the Government's announced intention is in the interests of the Allies as a whole.

Anti-Government Daily News goes so far as to say that Premier Baldwin's speech is the best and wisest statement of policy made since the armistice, and it is not likely that it will be openly challenged either at home or abroad.

Warmth of its reception in the House of Commons, it declares, was proof that Baldwin has his own countrymen with him without distinction of party.

The Westminster Gazette, also anti-Government, says that the period of benevolent impotence is at end, and that Britain is preparing to take the lead in a belated but determined effort to prevent the ruin of Europe.

The Daily Mail, however, finds the speech colorless and disappointing, while the Daily Herald, Labor organ, is surprised that the Premier said so much as he did against the French policy.

HARVEST OPENS IN THREE DAYS

Monday Will See Western Binders Busy With the Grain Market Away Down.

MOOSE JAW, July 13. — With harvesting to begin in many sections next week, the farmers are in a panic over the continued low levels of the grain market. Just what the price will drop to in ten days, when the first of the new crop will be rolling toward Fort William, is the problem that is puzzling the whole West.

Eighty-two cents at Fort William, with the cost of marketing deducted, means an average of 65 cents to the producers. They cannot do it anywhere on the Prairies at a cost of less than 85c to $1.00.

With the biggest crop in sight in the West's history estimated at half a billion bushels and the lowest price recorded since 1914, certain to further decline with the volume of grain that must be marketed in a few more days, the grain industry generally is in a state of uneasiness.

Talk of the proposed pool is rampant, but nothing can be done to make it function in time to save the situation this fall. The farmers are in no condition to hold their wheat, for the slogan of H. W. Wood proclaimed last fall did not prove profitable to the average farmer, though some made money.

The average farmer outside of Manitoba is in no position to hold off because of low prices, and there are still some twenty-five million bushels of old wheat in farmers' hands all around Moose Jaw and from here to the border.

All along the line the grain is yellow, and three days of hot weather will start the binders.

CITY FATHERS LOSE TEMPER

TORONTO, July 13 (Canadian Press). — There was excitement in the City Hall to-day when Ald. Risk, following a meeting of the City Council, made some comment on the speech of Controller Foster, former M.P.

The latter struck the Alderman in the face, knocking him down.

Ald. Risk proceeded to the Police Station, stating he would prosecute the Controller for assault.

CROWN RESTS ITS CASE IN MURDER TRIAL

Chief Lepage on Stand This Morning — Denies Forming Unfounded Opinions.

DEFENSE OPENED

MONTREAL, July 13.—(Canadian Press). — Chief of Detectives Le Page was called to witness stand when trial on charges of murder was re-opened this morning. He was examined by R. L. Calder, K. C. Crown Prosecutor, who asked him what he had understood Lillie Delorme to have said about her movement in afternoon of January 6, 1922 supposed day of murder. Chief said Miss Delorme told him and several other detectives on January 10th, she went out on January 6th in afternoon and came back for supper. He thought she said she went out about four.

Miss Delorme has denied she ever made any such statement to officers with regard to January 6th, as she did not go out in the afternoon.

Mr. Calder asked chief, if, same day he had an interview with Abbe and witness said he had. He had not warned him as was customary with people under arrest because at that time he had no suspicions against priest.

Alleyn Taschereau, K.C. for defence, asked chief whether, as result of reporter telling him on January 7th, he had seen McLaughlin or Packard car, bearing corpse at 4 in morning, he (the Chief), had not formed an opinion about the Abbe.

Witness replied, "Not, only do I not recall that incident, but I never told the reporter nor any one else—I never gave my opinion."

Mr. Calder announced that case for the crown was closed. Mr. Taschereau called as first defence witness, Miss Marie Morach, directress of Assistance Publicque. She said the Abbe sang mass there on the morning of January 6th, and returned in the afternoon around 3. for service. He left immediately after service around 3.20 and returned next morning for mass between 7 and 7.15. The Abbe mentioned that morning that he had fallen on the ice and showed her his thumb.

Ernest Bastien, formerly reporter on French language morning newspaper, "Le Canada," said on morning of January 7, 1922, he had left work and was walking past corner of St. Catharine and St. Denis streets, about 2.45. He saw an automobile go by at a good pace. It was a blue touring car and he thought of McLaughlin make. In back seat there appeared to be dead person. His head, shoulders, and arms were above frame of car and head appeared to be enveloped in an automobile rug of greyish color and to be covered by coat with a grey lining. Arms were hanging outside car.

FRENCH OCCUPY TWO MORE TOWNS

BERLIN, July 13. — (United Press).—Just as Germany was trying to figure out the advantages to this country forecast in the statement of British policy outlined by Premier Baldwin, news was received here today that French troops had advanced in West Phalia and occupied Barmen.

This city an important industrial centre of nearly 200,000 inhabitants is one of the most important in the Rhineland and it's seizure is a blow to Germany. It had been hoped here that France would desist from further advances in view of the British statement. Later it was announced that Elberfeld had been occupied.

FRENCH CABINET DISCUSSED SPEECH

PARIS, July 13.—(United Press) —Premier Baldwin's speech on the Ruhr was discussed by the French cabinet to-day but members were extremely reticent and refused to make comment for publication. Officials here believe that the door to conversations still is open and the French Ambassador in London is expected to confer again with Lord Curzon.

France, observers believe, will continue her policy of watchful waiting.

WIDE COMMENT WAS PROVOKED BY STATEMENT

Baldwin's Policy Favorably Received in Britain, --Less Severe Than French Expected.

NOTE TO GERMANY

LONDON, July 13. — (United Press).—Relief that Premier Baldwin had not definitely forced a break with France and Belgium over reparations was mingled to-day, on the part of those Allies, with curiosity over the terms of the British note to Germany.

This note is to be sent to France, Belgium and Italy, and probably to the United States, before delivery. It will contain Britain's views on the reparations situation, something Baldwin and Curzon in the House of Lords rendering the long awaited statement of the British policy, only hinted at yesterday. The statement made it clear that Britain considers the time has come for an end to the Ruhr venture and a reasonable reparations settlement, but gave no inkling of the contents of the forthcoming note.

The statement was favorably received in this country, although the Liberal press thinks it was a little over considerate of France's feelings.

The Daily Mail and other papers formerly controlled by Lord Northcliffe regard the Government policy, as outlined by the Premier and the Foreign Minister, as negative, since there is no indication of readiness to bring pressure on Germany for payments.

A majority of the press, however, regards the speech as strong as possible, setting forth the British view without rupturing the Entente.

As for France, she is laying stress on that portion of Baldwin's speech which spoke of the necessity for cooperation among the Allies, ignoring the call for the end of the Ruhr venture. There is a note of disappointment, barely concealed in Paris newspapers' comment to-day, because Baldwin urged the withdrawal from the Ruhr without condemning Germany's passive resistance, a particularly sore subject in France.

The Petit Parisien says: "Premier Baldwin errs in encouraging Germany to resist in the occupied areas. The proposal to negotiate plays into the hands, not only of the German Government but of the German industrialists."

The Matin says: "The failure to condemn train wrecking weakens the hope of reconciliation of the French and British viewpoints."

The Figaro: "Premier Baldwin's statement is too vague. It tries to put in simple form the most complicated problems."

Le Journal: "What will happen in the event that France declines Britain's invitation — to get out of the Ruhr and join with Britain in a reasonable settlement? It is certain France is bound to refuse any discussion until Germany recognizes the fact that she has been defeated."

BELGIANS AWAIT NOTE.

BRUSSELS, July 13.—Belgian Governmental circles are refraining from any official comment with regard to the speech of Prime Minister Baldwin in London yesterday, pending receipt of the official text. The feeling was reflected, however, that the ideas expressed by the British Premier marked a forward step toward an accord. His expressions, it is thought, warrant the belief that diplomatic conversations in progress between France, Belgium and Great Britain, instead of being discontinued, will receive an added impetus.

FRENCH LIKE WARNING.

PARIS, July 13.—It is indicated among unauthorized Frenchmen here last evening that the first impression in general of Premier Baldwin's speech in the House of Commons yesterday, was distinctly pleasing, especially since the statement was apparently less severe than the French had been led to expect.

The French take as a good sign the British Premier's gentle but firm warning to Germany not to over-emphasize the importance of minor differences among the Allies.

POSSIBLE UNDERSTANDING.

PARIS, July 13.—Prime Minister Baldwin's reparation statement was generally commented upon in French official circles to-day as a carefully worded document, which might lead to an agreement, this being dependent upon the nature of the note it announced as forthcoming for the French Government's perusal and assent.

Both in foreign affair circles at the conclusion of the meeting of the Cabinet Council, and at the Ministry of the Interior, the general tone was optimistic. It is expected that Premier Poincare will issue a statement as to how the statement of the British position affects the French policy. There is a feeling that the way is open for an understanding between the two countries, although there is an immense gulf between their policies.

The Ulster Border Troops Stage Fight

LONDON, July 13.—(United Press.)— The Twelfth of July was marked by an hour's stiff battle along the Ulster border.

While demonstrations of Orange loyalty were held throughout the North, Free State and Ulster troops fought at Strabane.

The battle broke the peace which has lasted fourteen months.

STEEL WORKERS IN CONFERENCE

Strict Secrecy Maintained Regarding Progress—Believed Settlement Not Difficult.

SYDNEY, July 13.— (Canadian Press.)—Yesterday saw the first of the conferences here looking toward a settlement of the steel strike, but the strictest secrecy has been maintained by the participants and it is impossible to say what progress was made. Premier Armstrong met Ernest Curtis, Canadian Vice-President of Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, and the executive of the local branch of the union, together with Rev. Dr. Clarence Mackinnon, principal of Pine Hill Theological College, Halifax, who has been mediator in some previous industrial troubles in Cape Breton. The conference lasted for some four hours.

In the evening Premier Armstrong was in lengthy conference with D. H. McDougall, vice-president of the British Empire Steel Corporation, in charge of operations. F. W. Gray, assistant to Vice-President McDougall, and W. H. Bischoff, the general suprintendent of the steel plant. Dr. MacKinnon also took part in the conference. None of the parties to the conference made a statement, but there is a popular feeling that settlement of the steel workers' strike may not be difficult of achievement. Vice-President Curtis is known to be favorable to settlement and a large number of strikers are unquestionably desirous of an end of trouble.

The measure of effect which a settlement of the steel workers' strike would have in clearing up the trouble in the coal fields is not certain.

A BAND CONCERT SUNDAY EVENING

HABEAS CORPUS ACT EXPLAINED KIWANIS TODAY

Kiwanian J. Wearing Told the Kiwanians One Way of Keeping Out of Gaol.

BRITISH LIBERTY

Kiwanian J. Wearing was the speaker at to-day's Kiwanis Club luncheon. President J. A. McKone presided. The members were particularly jubilant over the fact that the Kiwanis baseball team turned in another win. The score was 15-13 with Mackey's team taking the small end. Arrangements are being made to give the Jackson Park youngsters another automobile ride on Monday next, and later on a picnic will be held at Chemong Park.

Taking the Habeas Corpus Act as the subject of his address, Kiwanian Wearing gave the members an interesting exposition of this bulwark of British liberty, and also referred to three other important Acts, namely, the Petition of Rights, the bill of Rights and the Magna Charta. The last-named had its origin in 1215, when tyranical King John was forced by the people of England and his Barons to afix his signature to a forty-four clause document that in the main represented the civil rights of the people that had been infringed upon.

The Magna Charta.

The Magna Charta has been called the keystone of British liberty. Clauses 30 and 40 of the Magna Charta read as follows:

"No free man shall be taken or imprisoned or disseised or outlawed or exiled or anyways destroyed; nor will we go upon him nor will we send upon him unless by the lawful judgment of his peers or by by the law of the land.

"To none will we sell to none will we deny or delay right or justice."

Of these two clauses, Sir James MacIntosh once said:

"In these clauses of the Charter are clearly contained the Habeas Corpus and trial by jury the most effectual securities against oppression which the wisdom of man has hitherto been able to devise."

Personal Liberty.

Personal liberty, said Mr. Wearing, is a priceless treasure. As matters have stood now for several years, a person cannot be imprisoned without a just cause. The speaker referred to the case of Art O'Brien, who a short time ago was deported by the Home Secretary from England upon the grounds that he was an Irish agitator. O'Brien, through his lawyer, and by virtue of the Habeas Corpus Act, applied for his return to England. Several judges heard the appeal, and the authorities were forced to return O'Brien to England to set him free. Later it was necessary for Parliament to pass an indemnity bill to protect the Home Secretary from heavy personal damages which O'Brien sought for wrongful deportation. O'Brien was liberated that the law of England might be upheld.

When Charles I. infringed on the Magna Charta the Petition of Rights Bill was passed, and was followed by the Habeas Corpus Act and the Bill of Rights. The latter enactments were necessary to close up minor loopholes in the Magna Charta which King Charles I. and II. used to evade the Act and ignore the rights of the people.

FARMERS' PARTY DROPPING PILOT

TORONTO, July 13 (Canadian Press).—After a reign of four years over the destiny of the Province, the Drury Cabinet assembled at noon to-day for the purpose of bidding each other farewell.

Col. Dougal Carmichael tendered his resignation as chairman of the Soldiers' Aid Commission, in addition to resigning as the Government member on the Provincial Hydro-Electric Commission.

The Hon. Mr. Biggs also resigned from the Toronto-Hamilton Highway Commission.

It is stated at Parliament Buildings that Premier-designate Hon. G. H. Ferguson will be in town to-morrow for an informal meeting of the incoming Conservative Cabinet, but no confirmation could be obtained.

The new Cabinet will be sworn in at Government House on Monday at three o'clock in the afternoon.

Third Reading For Lady Astor's Bill

LONDON, July 13.— (Canadian Press.)—Lady Astor's bill restraining the sale of intoxicating liquors to persons under eighteen years of age, passed its third and final reading in the House of Commons to-day by a vote of 257 to 10.

A few die-hards led a bitter attack on the measure, characterising it as the entering wedge of a Bill for general prohibition.

MOTOR DIVERTS LAKE BUSINESS

Disappearance of Steamers From Local Service Sends Rice Lake Trade to Cobourg.

Many of the farmers along the south shore of Rice Lake who used to make Peterborough their market town, are now going to Cobourg, both to buy and sell, according to the observation of a man who lives in the northern fringe of Northumberland county.

"The automobile did it," he said to the Examiner. "Nearly every farmer has a motor car these days, and instead of going to Peterborough on Saturdays by the boats as they always did before they were motoring in. This was particularly true of farmers in Otonabee and the lower part of Monaghan who used to be regular passengers. When they dropped off one by one it became more unprofitable for the owners of the boats and now there is no boat service between Peterborough and Rice Lake. The "Stoney Lake" brings down excursions, but I understand there is no regular market trip on Saturdays this summer.

The "Geneva" was sold to some business men at Barrie and disappeared from these waters about the middle of June. Transportation of passengers and freight had dwindled steadily, under the competition of the motor cars, and to-day if you want to make a trip to any place on the river or the lake you have to drive there.

As a result of this change the farmers who used to be picked up by the boats on Saturday morning on both shores of Rice Lake are now independent of navigation. They motor wherever they wish to go. Those on the Peterborough county side drive to Peterborough and so do some who live around Bewdley, but, from what I can learn, a lot are motoring to Cobourg because they distance is shorter. They prefer to go to Peterborough because the prices in the stores are less than in Cobourg. This is particularly true during the summer months, and is largely due to the summer trade in Cobourg, which is boosted by so many visitors and tourists."

The loss to Peterborough merchants from this displacement of an ancient means of transportation may be inappreciable to the local merchants. They perhaps have not noticed any effect since the cancellation of the Saturday boats trips. The automobile may be compensating by bringing Peterborough within easy reach of other communities which in the horse and buggy days were considered remote.

And the people of Peterborough have apparently completed their orientation to the new conditions. Perhaps they miss the old daily trips to Rice Lake. Many of them do at any rate, women and men too used to delight in the restful sail down the river and across the lake. The invasion of the motor car into this field of river transportation is another of the changes that mark the new era of "gas" and speed and nervous disorders.

G.W.V.A. PARADE ON SUNDAY NEXT

Graves in St. Peter's Cemetery Will Be Decorated

The G.W.V.A. parade for the purpose of decorating the graves of former war veterans in St. Peter's Cemetery will be held on Sunday afternoon at the same time as last Sunday's. The members of the G.W.V.A. and all other returned men of the city who can do so will fall in in front of the G.W.V.A. Hall at 2 o'clock, and will march off at 2.30. The 57th Rangers Band will be in attendance. An exceptionally large number, representing all creeds, turned out last Sunday to honor the dead who lie in Little Lake Cemetery, and an equally large turnout is expected to honor the former comrades who have their last resting place in St. Peter's.

HAPPY SMILES SIGN OF CAMP YOUNG PEOPLE

Peterboro Health Association's Camp in Jackson Park is Bright With Laughter.

EXUBERANT SPIRITS

"Good-bye, Nurse." That's the latest audible comment on Peterboro streets around the hours of five and five-thirty these sunny summer days And it isn't slang, either, like the "Good-night, Nurse," that used to be so common. It's just the youngsters from the Peterboro Health Association's Camp at Jackson Park, saying farewell until another day to their popular nurse, when they get off the auto truck that brings them to their several homes. We don't know what the children in the other trucks say to the equally popular housekeeper at the camp, Mrs. F. Millett, who goes along in the other vehicle that takes the southern route, because we happened to choose the northern trail, the one that led along McDonnel street and up Aylmer, over to Ashburnham, via Smith street, with a particularly wild yell of glee from the youngsters as they spied the fishers and the raft in the river at Inverlea, thence to Armour Road, and a semi-circular jaunt that brought us finally back to Hunter street, and over the new bridge.

It was a wild ride, accomplished with satisfying despatch. We don't think the youngsters at the Park need any sitting up exercises after their morning and evening jaunts. There is evidently a rivalry between the occupants of these busses to see which wil get off first from the park. The children know how to pile in to their own particular vehicle. They swarm along the sides, surveying the scenery and passing items of interest from beneath the pushed up side curtains, and they sing loudly, in unison as they whirl along "I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles" and "Pack up your Troubles" seem to be the most popular selections. They break into song without any apparent reason, all at once, and stop just as suddenly, and they have a loud, all-together, concerted "Ah-h-h-" that they use with equally startling effect. The south-bound bus stopped for a full minute at the corner of Park and McDonnel streets, so that its companion, departing via McDonnel might indulge in a practice of this popular cry, by way of leave-taking.

There are three little crippled things at the park and on the homeward bound vehicles, but no one would ever know it, except by the careful helping of the older boys, when these little things, two of them small girls, get off. With the peculiar optimism of childhood, that disregards mistfortune in the light of the cheerful present moment, their little legs may be spindly and crooked but their faces wear the universal smile, that along with nice white teeth, seems to be the sign-manual of the park's children. The use of the tooth-brush is part of the daily ritual.

Walter gets off first, and lifts with care the small figure that goes off with sidelong gait. A man watches her with pitying eyes, but the little girl is cheerful enough. She likes the camp and goes up every summer. The other children are good to her, and take constant care of her pipestem little legs. Another pet is the four-year-old Bertha, hale and hearty, and fond of playing. Bertha likes the afternoon siesta in the pleasant rest room and sleeps for long hours, her chubby cheeks growing fuller and rounder, every day. "Take care of Bertha," calls the nurse as the children swarm out of the truck, and they turn for the small, fair-haired little thing, who has slept on her sister's lap through the jolting trip, while hilarious

UNCLE SAM MAY SOON BE SORTING MAIL AUTOMATICALLY WITH NEW DEVICE.

THE NEW GEHRING AUTOMATIC MAIL-SORTING MACHINE

AKRON, O., July 13. —A decade's labor finally has crystallized itself into a machine that promises to revolutionize mail sorting in post offices throughout the world.

Approximately three-quarters of a million dollars were expended before the device, now on trial in the city post office in Washington, was perfected.

Casemir Gehring, former employe of the B. F. Goodrich Company, conceived the idea in 1913. John Ganmeter, now vice-president of the Goodrich company, to whom he confided his secret, offered to help him.

They worked together several years. Then Ganmeter withdrew in favor of Charles C. Cadden, another Goodrich inventor. A section of the Goodrich tire plant became their laboratory.

A machine, crude compared with the perfected model, was tried out on the Chicago post office for a year. Meanwhile, Gehring and Cadden found much room for improvement. They started work again and after six years evolved the sorter now in use.

If the Washington trials prove successful, the machine probably will be placed in all the larger offices. Gehring now makes his headquarters in Newark, N.J.

Sorting is done by hand at present. But antiquated methods must go in the post office as well as in other business and industry.

Five clerks work on one machine. The operators may sit down while on duty. Each has a separate keyboard, similar to that of a linotype, before him. He presses a certain key and the letter is on its way to a compartment.

The machine, if it survives the tests, probably will be adopted by foreign governments, too.

HAVELOCK FOLKS HAD PLEASANT GATHERING

Ladies Spent the Afternoon at Round Lake, Guests at the Haig Summer Cottage.

A most enjoyable afternoon was spent at Round Lake, in Belmont Township, on Wednesday of this week, when the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church and their many friends accepted the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Firman Haig, of Havelock, to hold their monthly social meeting at the Haig summer cottage.

"Hagerville," the name of this summer retreat, is situate on the eastern shore of Round Lake, and is most picturesque and inviting. The commodious cottage is built a pleasant distance from the shore, under the friendly shade of spruce and cedar, and commands a wide view of the lake, which is noted for its fine fishing grounds, that will compare favorably with the best. The record for this week was a six-pound small-mouthed black bass and a fourteen-pound maskinonge.

Arriving at the camp, the visitors were much pleased to find tables all set, a silent reminder of the good things to be served to satisfy the needs of the tired and hungry, and no doubt gave an added zest to the swimming, boating and fishing largely participated in by the visitors.

Adjacent to the cottage grounds is a sandy beach splendidly adapted for swimming, and it was not long before all who wished to enjoy a cool dip were seen desporting themselves in the waves raised by a gentle south-westerly breeze. Others took charge of the row-boats and motor launches, loading them to their capacity several times so that all who wished could enjoy a sail across the lake. The motor launches were taken charge of by the disciples of Isaac Walton, and the success of their efforts was evidenced by the four or five fine maskinonge, ranging from seven to ten pounds, which were proudly exhibited to the admiring visitors by the very much pleased fishermen upon their return to camp.

At the hour of 5.30 p.m. the call for dinner was sounded, and resulted in a sitting of somewhat over one hundred and thirty at the tables. It is no exaggeration to say that, though anticipation of the good things ran high, it did not exceed the pleasure afforded in partaking of the very fine fish dinner served by the ladies. A great deal of the credit for this was due the hostess, who is noted for her successful efforts as a dietetian, for it was intimated to the visitors, that the hostess was altogether responsible for the four hundred generous-sized pieces of fresh fish served. The members of the Ladies' Aid are to be congratulated on the success of the undertaking, and all there were pleased to learn that they were planning to hold another such gathering at the newly erected summer home of Mr. and Mrs. James Barlow at Belmont Lake, in the early part of August.

The visitors will be pleased to learn that the officials of the Ladies' Aid are well content with the financial returns attending the undertaking. They have in view the raising of sufficient money for the purpose of renovating the church and installing a new heating system.

THE MAN WHO SIGNS.

A responsible man puts his name to a piece of paper and it becomes a check—the equivalent of money.

He signs his name on the back of another piece of paper and it becomes an endorsed note—good for money.

He writes a letter and it becomes a binding contract.

The adding of the name makes these things solemn and legal obligations.

The man who signs is responsible.

Just so with an advertisement—the moment a man signs his name to it he has made a pledge to the public.

He is bound by his word as much as is he signed a check or a note. He must do what he promised on the terms he promised.

If he does not, he courts business disaster. The man who advertises a lie publicly proclaims himself a liar. Such men are seldom in busines but frequently in asylums.

It is safer to buy advertised articles than nondescript ones. It is safer to deal with merchants who advertise than with those who do not.

An advertisement is a signed pledge of good faith to the public.

FACTS REGARDING THE SYDNEY MINE STRIKE FORCIBLY PRESENTED

Provincial Secretary D. A. Cameron Tells of Circumstances Which Have Made Presence of Troops Necessary.

VIOLATION OF RULES.

HALIFAX, N.S., July 13.—(Canadian Press.)— Shown a Canadian Press despatch from Ottawa in which Hon. James Murdock, Federal Minister of Labor, as quoted as stating in a telegram to A. S. McIntyre, that his department for several days had been endeavoring to induce the provincial authorities to withdraw troops from the strike area, Hon. D. A. Cameron, Provincial Secretary of Nova Scotia, said:

"If Hon. Mr. Murdock really did make this statement he should know that the Provincial government under the Dominion Militia Act, has nothing whatever to do with calling out the troops or withdrawing them after they have been called out.

"The troops were called out, as the Minister of Labor must know, on requisition made by His Honor, Duncan Finlayson, judge of the county court, the resident judge in that portion of the strike area where soldiers are now quartered. The judge can act only upon evidence which satisfies him of the necessity for troops and will only act in the matter of withdrawing them upon similar evidence. If the minister is in doubt upon this latter point it would be well to consult the department of justice at Ottawa."

PAYS DIVIDEND AFTER 5 YEARS

Dominion Permanent Loan Company Pays First Dividend of 7 Per Cent.

TORONTO, July 13.—(Canadian Press.)—An announcement by G. T. Clarkson yesterday that, after more than five years, Dominion Permanent Loan Company, which closed its doors in February, 1918, had paid its first dividend, was a welcome one to hundreds of investors all over Canada, who had thought they had lost their all in the failure. Dividend is for 7 per cent. and Mr. Clarkson promises another dividend cheque within the next few months. Decision of the company to close its doors created some comment, but no great excitement, in the financial district.

The company was one of numerous enterprises organized in the "90's" to take advantage of development in Canadian west.

Simple Way to Get Rid of Blackheads

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads, that is to dissolve them. To do this, get two ounces of peroxine powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions that form in the pores of the skin. The peroxine powder and the water dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition.

Shareholders Have Demanded a Meeting

MONTREAL, July 13 (Canadian Press). — Over twenty-five per cent. of the shareholders of the Montreal Tramways and Power Company will to-day present a requisition to the administration of the company demanding that a meeting be called as required under the provisions of the Companies Act, and in conformity with the stipulations of the articles of association.

This means that such action must be taken within 21 days of this notice. Failing action by the directors, it will then be the privilege of the shareholders to name a time for the meeting, the place having already been set by the shareholders at the recent special general meeting.

STEEL INVESTORS TO DECIDE FATE

Information Regarding Business of L. R. Steel Stores to Be Given.

TORONTO, July 13.—(Canadian Press.)—Thousands of Canadian investors in the L. R. Steel enterprises who have been urged to put money into a re-organization plan, will soon know about the business done in the L. R. Steel stores in Canada.

Information is to be given to a meeting of creditors. G. T. Clarkson, trustee, said yesterday he intended calling the creditors together at once and giving them the result of three months' trial operation of stores under the best possible business conditions. Mr. Clarkson has worked to avoid waste and overlapping and to co-ordinate the store service. Upon the decision of the meeting will depend the future of the Canadian L. R. Steel Stores.

LAST SESSION OF ONTARIO CABINET

Premier Drury Presided New Bosses For the Civil Service.

TORONTO, July 13. — Premier Drury presided over the last Cabinet Council meeting of his Government at the Parliament Buildings to-day. Most of the Ministers packed up and said their last good-byes yesterday. It is said in the Civil Service that there has not been a Minister of the departing Government who has not got along splendidly with his staff.

On Monday the whole Civil Service will come to work with new bosses all around. Many of the incoming Ministers are, of course, personally known as members of the respective departments over which they will preside, but in four or five cases the men who will take over the departments are totally new to Queen's Park and public life.

Premier Drury will remain at the Parliament Buildings right up until Saturday noon.

Australian Miners Settled Coal Strike.

SYDNEY, N.S.W., July 13—(Canadian Press Cable).—The coalminers' strike in the northern part of the state has been settled and it is expected that work will be resumed in all the mines in about two weeks. The settlement removes the danger of a strike throughout Australia. Hon. Charles William Oakes the acting premier, largely assisted in effecting the settlement of the strike.

It is understood that the owners of the mines yielded regarding their determination not to employ certain men who had caused trouble and agreed that before any miner was refused employment a specific charge should be made against him and an enquiry in his case held.

Crop Conditions Are the Best in Years.

MOOSE JAW, Sask., July 13. — (Canadian Press).—Crop conditions are uniformly good, and were never more so in his experience, in the opinion of Grant Hall, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, eastern lines, who arrived here yesterday with a party of railway official and business men after having made a tour of the southern portion of Saskatchewan and through Alberta.

"Beyond local damage by hail, we saw no evidence of any condition which would interfere with a wonderful harvest," Mr. Hall said.

W. A. Black, managing director of the Ogilvie Flour Mills, of Montreal, is a member of the party, stated that he had never seen conditions better at this time of the year.

Use of Lord's Prayer at Hanging Protested.

MONTREAL, July 13.—(Canadian Press).—The abrupt termination of the recital of the Lord's Prayer by the act of the hangman in pulling the lever that releases the trap-door at executions, was strongly denounced here yesterday by Robert Bickerdyke, former M.P., at a meeting of the Canadian Prisoners' Welfare Association.

"The Lord's Prayer is actually used to assist legalized murder," said Mr. Bickerdyke, "and I cannot understand how any pastor can dare to use this prayer on such an unChritian occasion."

TRADES LABOR CONGRESS ASKS INVESTIGATION

Would Have Premier King Appoint a Royal Commission to Enquire Into Difficulties at Cape Breton.

NEED OF MILITARY.

OTTAWA, July 13 (Canadian Press). — The text of the letter sent bythe executive committee of the Trades and Labour Congress to Premier King yesterday is as follows:

Hon. W. L. Mackenzie-King,
Premier of Canada, Ottawa.

"Dear sir,—We desire to extend our appreciation for the immediate attention which you have given to our letter of 10th July relative to the unsatisfactory conditions at present existing in the Cape Breton coal and steel areas.

"Answering our request for the appointment of a Royal Commission you state:

"'That the circumstances and conditions connected with and leading up to the calling out of the military forces and their presence in Cape Breton at this time do not appear to be in any way, matters requiring investigation such as a Royal Commission might be intended to serve. All the essential facts are, I think, only too apparent, and a return of the correspondence relative thereto, such as Parliament will no doubt desire to have, should disclose every step in the procedure.'

"It would seem from this statement that we had not made our request for a Commission quite clear to you. It was never the intention of the executive council of the Trades and Labour Congress that any investigation held should be so narrow in scope as to deal only with the official correspondence connected with the request for and calling out of troops on this particular occasion.

"As you will know, troops were called into that area last year without justification, according to the declarations of the mayors of the municipalities concerned, and also according to the statements of many members of Parliament during last session when that subject came up for discussion. More recently the Provincial Government organised a strong protective force and had them stationed in the area for some time just prior to the development of the present situation. The workers of this country are convinced that there is a widespread conspiracy against labour and its legitimate rights to organise by the British Empire Steel Company, and that, by some means, they are in a position to secure, on demand, the assistance of armed forces to carry out their plans.

"Our request to you was couched in the widest possible terms in order that a commission should be appointed with adequate powers to investigate all and every condition which directly or indirectly has led up to the present situation, thereby uncovering all the essential facts, many of which we believe are not apparent, and through the force of public opinion bring about industrial peace in that part of the country.

"We are pleased to learn you agree with us that there is need for a revision of the statute respecting the calling out of the Militia in aid of the civil power and in that respect you say:

"'This, however, is a matter with which Parliament alone can deal, as only the body which has enacted the law has the right or power to alter or amend it.'

"With the above quotations we entirely agree, and it was with that in mind that the executive council of the Trades and Labour Council requested you to call a special session of Parliament in order that the right to judge of the necessity of the presence of troops in any area in Canada and consequently the responsibility of their being kept there, at such an enormous cost to the country, should be restored by Parliament to the Government of Canada as it must be apparent that the maintenance of troops in the Cape Breton district cannot be left indefinitely to the judgment of one man.

"The need for prompt action is again emphasised by the published statement of Mayor Morrison of Glace Bay, wherein he says:

"'Do not consider Militia necessary in Glace Bay. No disturbance of any kind. Local authorities are able to cope with conditions. Town will repudiate expenses incurred by Militia. Urge that you order withdrawal of troops, as their presence here is aggravating the situation.'

"We therefore again strongly reiterate the requests contained in our previous letter for the appointment of a Royal Commission and for the immediate withdrawal of the troops from the Cape Breton area, and that you, as Prime Minister, will convene a special session of Parliament if this cannot be brought about by any other means.

"Yours truly,
(Signed) Tom Moore,
"President.

PRIVY COUNCIL HAS RESERVED B. C. JUDGMENT

Judgment Regarding Payment of Liquor Dues is Expected to Go Against the Province.

CUSTOMS DUTY.

LONDON, July 13.— (Canadian Press Cable.) —Judgment was reserved by the judicial committee of the Privy Council yesterday in the appeal of the attorney-general of British Columbia vs. the attorney general of the Dominion of Canada, over the question whether liquor imported into British Columbia by the Provincial government is liable to Dominion customs duty. The Dominion was not called upon to reply to British Columbia's appeal, so it may be assumed that judgment will go against the province.

The petition stated that this was a test action to determine whether the parliament of Canada had power to impose customs duties or excise sales taxes on goods imported by the British Columbia government into that province from outside Canada. That depended primarily on certain sections of the British North America act, 1867.

In pursuance of a policy of temperance reform British Columbia recently passed an act for government control and sale of alcoholic liquors, which provided for the establishment of government liquor stores for the sale of liquor under a system of permits.

The action was tried by Justice Cassels on pleading and a written admission, and no other evidence was put in.

On July 23, 1921, the British Columbia government, through a purchasing agent, bought in Great Britain one case of "Johnnie Walker, black label whiskey." It was shipped at Glasgow and was consigned to Victoria, B.C. On its arrival it was taken possession of by the Dominion collector of customs, who demanded payment of customs duty or excise sales tax.

The British Columbia government claimed a declaration that the province was entitled to delivery of the whiskey without payment of duties or taxes. The Dominion government resisted the claim on the ground that all wines and spirits imported into Canada were liable to duty and excise tax under the customs act and the special war revenue statutes. British Columbia contended that so far as the legislation purported to impose customs duties on the provincial government it was ultra vires the Dominion parliament.

Justice Cassels dismissed the action, holding that if British Columbia imported goods to carry on a business or trade it must pay the customs dues charged by the Dominion.

This decision was affirmed on an appeal being taken to the Supreme Court of Canada, by a majority of five judges to one.

The British Columbia government in its appeal to the privy council, submitted that the whiskey in question was property belonging to the province, and therefore was exempt under the British North America Act from customs duties or from excise or sales tax.

The Dominion government offered no opposition to the appeal to the Privy Council. The province was granted by their lordships of the judicial committee special leave to appeal.

PREMIER BALDWIN HAS ANNOUNCED HIS POLICY ON THE RUHR SITUATION

Britain Will Submit to the Allies a Separate Reply to Latest German Note — Door Open For France.

FRIENDLY WARNING.

LONDON, July 13. —(Canadian Press).—The Prime Minister, Stanley Baldwin, in the House of Commons, and Marquis Curzon, in the House of Lords, to eager audiences yesterday made identic pronouncements on the Government's policy on the reparations problem.

The question on everybody's lips—how far the British Government's open disapproval of the French Ruhr policy and its holding aloof therefrom were to be converted into an active policy, separate from France—was to a great extent unanswered. Premier Baldwin certainly moved quite perceptibly away from Mr. Bonar Law's attitude of passivism inasmuch as he announced the Government's decision to submit to the Allies a separate reply to Germany's latest offer. But he did not give the slightest indication of the nature of the proposed reply.

This was the only important point in the pronouncement, which, for the remainder, was a warning couched in the most friendly language, but plainly telling France that the British Government could not much longer remain a passive spectator to a policy which threatened the economic collapse of Germany, and with it disaster to the whole of Europe.

Clearly the British policy will be developed step by step, leaving an opening to the last to France to come into line. It may be assumed that any question of calling a conference of bankers and experts to determine Germany's paying capacity will come in the proposed reply to the German offer, which made that suggestion.

There was an understanding that there should be no immediate criticism to embarrass the Government, but that a separate day should be given for any debate; hence there was no discussion on the pronounce ment in the Commons, and only a minor discussion in the House of Lords.

In the Upper House, Lord Birkenhead put his finger on what he regarded as the weak point, when he asked what was likely to happen in the almost inevitable event of France refusing to assent to the proposed reply to Germany. Rumors have been in circulation here for the last day or two of the more amenable disposition of the Poincare Government, and, whether there was any foundation for the rumors, the Prime Minister's statement evidently was designed to refrain from any language which might needlessly alarm or offend the French ally.

Viscount Grey, in the Lords, also emphasized in the strongest language the urgency of preserving the Anglo-French entente.

F. WELLINGTON HAY SAYS HE'S THROUGH

Will Leave for the Western Coast on a Holiday

TORONTO, July 13.—(Canadian Press.)— F. Wellington Hay, Provincial Liberal leader, who was defeated in North Perth in the recent Provincial elections, is off to the western coast with Mrs. Hay for a holiday.

Seen at the Parliament Buildings yesterday, he smilingly denied any knowledge of who was going to be the new Liberal leader, or what steps were being taken to select one. "I'm through," he said, as he waved good-bye.

A MULTITUDE OF WOMEN RRCOMMEND IT

The strongest recommendation possible for any medicine to have is the sound testimony borne by the vast multitudes of women who have used it. It has been proved that 98 out of every 100 women once ill ailments that caused suffering and despair have been restored to the joys of health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. This marvelous record shows its power over the ills of women, and the letters of recommendation we are continually publishing in this paper should induce every ailing woman to try it.

FIVE CANADIANS WON PRIZES AT BISLEY SHOOT

Three Toronto Men Carry Off Sweepstakes With Possible Scores — Cadet Competitions.

GOOD SHOOTING.

BISLEY, July 13. — (Canadian Press Cable.)— Major R. M. Blair, 72nd Seaforth Highlanders, Vancouver, B.C.; Sergt.-Major W. A. Hawkins, 48th Highlanders, Toronto; Sergt. N. J. McLeod, Queen's Own Rifles, Toronto; Staff-Sergt. A. E. Paddock, Royal Hamilton Regiment, Hamilton, Ont.; and Pte. H. J. White, Royal Grenadiers, Toronto, all won sweepstakes with possibles here yesterday.

Eton College won the Ashburton Challenge Shield yesterday, for the first time in twenty-two years, Eton's score being 492. Blundells College scored 484, and Wellington College, which led at the first range, scored 484. The shooting generally was wonderfully good. The boys made light of the intense heat here yesterday, though it was very trying.

The Ashburton Challenge Shield competition is open to one team of eight pupils from each of such schools as has a contingent of the junior division of the Officers' Training Corps. The shield was given in 1861 by the third Baron Ashburton. The distances in the competition are 200 and 500 yards, seven shots and one sighting shot per man at each distance, there being one target to each team.

The Spencer Cup, Public school boys' competition, single entries, squadded competition, open to one competitor from each of the teams that have just shot for the Ashburton Shield, distance 500 yards, one sighting shot and seven shots to count, was won by Lance Corporal Harris, of Wellington college, with a score of 34 out of a possible 35.

The Watts Challenge Bowl, cadet match, open to one team of four cadets over 12 and under 18 years of age from any Home cadet unit, distance 200 and 500 yards, seven shots and one sighting shot, was won by Woking school with a score of 222.

The Country Life Challenge Trophy, awarded to the team making the highest aggregate score of 500 yards, in connection with the Ashburton Challenge Shield competition, was won by Eton College, 246.

JURY CRASHED INTO THE JUDGE

Slight Mishap Marred the Trip of Court and Jury to Scenes Connected With Delorme Murder.

MONTREAL, July 13 (Canadian Press). — Only one mishap marred an otherwise perfect trip taken by the Court, counsel for the defence and prosecution, the accused, jury, witnesses, official newspapermen, etc., in a procession of automobiles yesterday afternoon to and from the scenes of the murder of Raoul Delorme ,with which the victim's half-brother, Rev. Adelard Delorme, is now on trial.

That occurred after the procession had left Father Delorme's house on St. Hubert Street, and was speeding along Dorchester Street on the way to Decarie Buolevard, where a witness, Woods, was to point out the location of a suspicious-looking automobile seen by him on the night of the murder.

The big autobus carrying the jury crashed into the limousine in which Chief Justice Sir Francois Lemieux was driving.

His Lordship was in the back seat, and as the autobus struck the back of his car he was slightly shaken up.

Some damage was done to His Lordship's car. The jury appeared to be more frightened at the mishap than the Chief Justice.

THE FRUIT WASTE.

The old story comes from the Niagara district of fruit rotting on the trees because of low prices and the inability to get pickers.

This year it is cherries, last year plums, the year before peaches.

Almost every season brings with it harrowing tales of splendid fruit being wasted by tons because it cannot be picked and marketed, or because the price is too low to make it worth while.

It is a striking commentary upon our business methods in Ontario that while there are thousands of families who could use this surplus fruit crop they are given no opportunity of doing so.

There has been a Farmers' Government in power in Ontario since 1919, but this annual problem of fruit wasted by the ton has not been solved, nor has there been sufficient attention paid to the various factors entering into the situation.

If John S. Martin, the new Minister of Agriculture, can improve the conditions of marketing and handling and can do something to ensure that the bounties of Nature shall not be thrown away, he will have accomplished much for the fruit-growers of the Niagara district, and still more for the people of the Province as a whole.

It is a problem that should challenge a Minister who is anxious to make his department one hundred per cent. efficient.

MOTOR CAR ACCIDENTS.

The toll taken by motor cars in the larger cities is shown by the report of the New York Bureau of Public Safety which shows that in New York during the first six months of this year 548 people were killed by motor vehicles.

No fewer than 200 children under 16 were killed, and 4801 wounded during the same period.

A battle in which 500 were killed and nearly 5,000 wounded would have been considered, before the World War, at least, a major operation.

Yet in one city the casualties from careless handling of motor cars or carelessness on the part of pedestrians have reached such a total in six months.

Peterborough parents may find the six most frequent causes of accidents to children, as listed by the Bureau, after a careful investigation are:

Crossing streets not at the proper crossing, failure to look both ways, playing games in the roadway instead of on the sidewalk, running off the sidewalk suddenly in front of vehicles, stealing rides on vehicles, and riding bicycles carelessly.

Peterborough is not New York, but there are plenty of reckless drivers here, and the six causes outlined are as likely to cause a fatal accident in this city as they are anywhere else.

The children cannot be too often reminded of the risk they run when they do any of the things mentioned.

THE FINANCE CONTROLLERSHIP.

The report that Sir Thomas White might become controller of finance in Ontario was one that the majority of the people would have been delighted to have had substantiated.

If the Province is to have such an official, and the Premier-designate has said so, it is difficult, off hand, to think of a more acceptable or more capable man for the position than the expert who was Canada's Finance Minister during the war, and who had to deal with financial problems on a scale larger than was ever dreamed possible before the world conflict made us think in terms of millions rather than of dollars.

Sir Thomas White has had the training and possesses the knowledge that a controller of Provincial finance should have, and there is probably no one in Ontario better qualified for the position than he is.

If the new Government could persuade him to accept the task, they would greatly strengthen their prestige and enhance their chances of a successful administration of the affairs of the Province.

Such a man should be paid a salary large enough to compensate him for leaving a lucrative private position, for it is a fact beyond argument that a financial expert could save his salary many times over each year for the benefit of the Province by reason of his intimate knowledge of the intricacies of high finance.

An official of that kind would have prevented Hon. Peter Smith from throwing away millions of dollars through injudicious and unbusinesslike methods.

MORE "PROTECTION" NEEDED.

There have been several narrow escapes from drowning recorded at the city's swimming beach at Inverlea Park this week, and the circumstances have been such as to arouse very grave doubts as to the protection accorded bathers at this popular spot.

Had it not been for timely aid rendered by spectators who went to the rescue, there might have been several fatalities.

The machinery provided by the city for the protection of bathers who might happen to get into difficulties failed to function.

That is not to be wondered at, for the life-saving crew consists of a caretaker well up in years, who is expected not only to see that those in the river keep out of danger, but at the same time to supervise the conduct of people in the park and look after the dressing-rooms, and the only equipment with which he is provided consists of a couple of life-buoys hung up on trees and not of much use in the case of an accident outside the breakwater where, of course, the chief peril lies.

That condition of affairs scarcely suggests that the Inverlea Beach is adequately protected, or, in fact, that it is protected at all.

An expert swimmer and diver should be kept on duty at all times if there is to be any real effort to make conditions safe, and, in addition, during the busiest hours of the day a boat patrol would be of great assistance.

Certainly the system of protection in force now leaves very much to be desired, and the fact that there have been no drownings is due rather to the presence of mind and heroism of volunteer rescuers than to any precautions taken by the authorities to prevent accidents.

LONDON STILL THE CENTRE.

The world's financial centre is still London, England, and not Wall street, New York. During the years of the war when United States was piling up huge credits all over the world, and when she was carrying on a ship-building program with the idea of emerging from the war period as the great sea-carrying power of the world, Britain's position was being crippled, says the London Advertiser.

When the war was over Britain had to start on another, a long uphill battle to win back her trade; to bring her pound sterling up to a point where it would once more be regarded as the standard of currency of the world.

The action of the Bank of England in increasing its discount rate from 3 per cent. to 4 per cent. is a healthy sign; it means that there must be a demand for money for legitimate trade expansion or business development.

The new York Times of July 9 pays tribute to London as the "world's financial centre." despite the fact that New York now controls half of all the monetary gold of the world, and in spite of the added fact that Britain has not yet returned to the gold standard, which was suspended during the war.

United States has found that the channels of trade are deeply worn; that London is in the geographical situation to act as the clearing house of Europe, and that her conservative and sane methods of doing business have made her a centre whose influence is not to be easily shaken.

The Times concludes:

"But the real secret of London's continued supremacy is the perfected machinery of its money market. Its marvellous discount market, its expert appraisal and knowledge of world market for goods of practically every kind, its complete and tested system of insurance, and, largely as a result of all this, its low interest rates—these are the things that have kept London's position relatively secure. These constitute a machine that cannot be built up over night. It is the result not only of the lifelong training of the individual British banker, but of the generations of training and tradition behind him."

The British may "bungle along" in some matters, but in money and shipping they have won and kept their prestige by positive and constant thoroughness.

PARLIAMENTARY VERBOSITY.

The closing scenes of the Parliamentary session were little short of a disgrace. The Senate was swamped with bills in such a way as to prohibit review; a few score sleepy Commoners stayed up all night to vote millions of dollars, and to slur over matters in a way that was a discredit to the House. It was the same old scene of confusion, of haphazard, hit-and-miss legislating which characterizes every closing, and which ordinary sense ought to stop.

The remedy is simple. It is merely that there be a conference of the Speaker, the party leaders, and the Whips, to agree upon some way of ending the interminable useless talk that is inflicted upon the House in the earlier months of the session. Why, for instance, should any member be permitted to speak for more than an hour upon any subject? Why should the debate on the Address go on for three weeks? And what sense exists in a fortnight of oratory over the Budget?

In the British House any member who spoke for an hour or longer upon any subject would never be listened to again. A speech of a quarter of an hour, even from the party leaders, is considered the ordinary thing; speeches of five and ten minutes usual from the rank and file. As a consequence the British debate on the Address never exceeds two days; the debate on the Budget seldom more than one day.

Another means of wasting time in the Canadian House is what is known as "Private members' day." It is a day set aside to enable private members to discuss their particular hobbies, and this session 600 pages of Hansard, or more than a million words, were consumed in this way. Ninety-nine times out of a hundred absolutely nothing comes of these discussions, which are purely academic; yet scores of days are lost in consequence of them.

In England the private members' day is practically a thing of the past; and whether a private member can bring a resolution before the House depends upon his luck in a system of balloting which restricts such resolutions to less than half a dozen a session.

There is no reason why some such system on a modified scale cannot be devised in Canada. Neither is there reason why rules cannot be devised to limit speeches, and why the Speaker should not have more authority to compel speakers to stick more to the heart of their subjects. Parliament is and must always be a "safety valve" for the expression of popular feeling; but Parliament should be something more than an excuse for empty verbosity.

Restriction would improve the quality of debate, compel more public interest in Parliament, save time and money, and confer more consideration upon questions that are really worth while. As it is, the spectacle that usually attends the dying days of a session indict the Parliamentary system.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Some people were more interested in the Referendum figures from Manitoba than they are in the crop reports from the same Province.

The Toronto Star wonders if the representative of the municipalities on the Hydro Commission will be Tommy Church or Mayor Maguire. One thing is certain, however. It won't be R. J. Fleming.

A contemporary suggests that the next Dempsey fight should be reported on the financial page rather than in the sports columns.

It is too bad Mr. C. A. Magrath does not include in his advice to buy the winter's coal supply now, information as to how the average family is to finance the purchase of the necessary amount at one time.

So long as Port Hope can get away with that "Prettiest Town in Canada" sign, there should be no objection to any other municipality doing some advertising along the Provincial Highway.

TORONTO CATTLE.

TORONTO, July 13.—There was but a small market yesterday. Demand was quiet, and the clean up very slow. Packers apparently were well supplied with the week's purchases, and one or two fairly choice lots of light butcher cattle found an indifferent buying market, and it looked as if some would have to be held over. Prices were fairly steady and for a few rough unfinished cattle, concessions were in order to make a clean up.

Calves and lambs just holding steady, but a slow demand.

The hog market advanced 25c higher Wednesday afternoon and yesterday was holding steady at $8.00 f.o.b. and $8.60 fed and watered.

CHICAGO WHEAT.

CHICAGO, July 13.—(Canadian Press)—Although predictions were renewed yesterday that black rust would yet cause serious damage to part of the Spring crop, wheat averaged a little lower in price yesterday, demand being of insufficient volume to absorb increased hedging sales when the market bulged. Closing quotations were unsettled, 1-8 to 3-8c net decline, September 99 3-8 to 99 1-2c and December $1.08 1-4 to $1.08 3-8. Corn finished unchanged to 3-4c lower; oats at 1-8c off to 3-8c up, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 3 cents.

WINNIPEG CATTLE.

Winnipeg, July 13. Canadian Press—Receipts 1870 cattle and calves; 900 hogs and 100 sheep and lambs.

The bulk of the cattle receipts consisted of poor grades of grass cattle which were hard to sell. The better class offerings were selling at steady prices, steers $6 to $6.75; butcher heifers $5 to $5.50; cows $3.50 to $4.50; feeder steers $4 to $5.

The hog market was unchanged at $8.50 for thick smooths and $9.35 for select bacon.

The sheep and lamb market hold firm, good lambs ranging from $12 to $12.75 and fair to good sheep from $5 to $7.

CHICAGO CATTLE.

Chicago, July 13. Canadian Press. Cattle receipts 9000, active; steers and yearlings, uneven to strong, 15c to 25c higher, mostly 10 to 15c up; top $11.50 for 1130 to 1234 pound average; few loads $11 and $11.40; choice yearlings about best $10.65 being mixed steers and heifers; bulk beef heifers and yearlings $9.95 and $10.10; decline mostly recovered, she stock unevenly higher; bulls 15c to 25c higher; veal calves closing 25c to 50c under Wednesday's low time, bulk bologna bulls $5.50 to $5.85; bulk beef heifers $9 and $10; bulk veal calves to packers $11 and $11.50 few outsiders early up to $12.50.

Hogs receipts 28,000; good kind fairly active, 10c to 15c higher, others uneven, steady to 10c higher; bulk desirable 150 to 250 pound average $7.70 to $7.80; top $7.80; bulk good and choice 260 to 350 pound butchers $7.40 to $7.65; bulk desirable throw out sows $6.40 and $6.60, best strong weight pigs $6.75 and $7.10; estimated holdover 22,000.

Sheep receipts 8,000; desirable fat lambs steady to 15c higher; bulk good and choice natives and westerns $14 and $15; top westerns to city butchers $15.25; top natives to packers $14.50; culls mostly $8 to $8.50; medium and handyweight ewes $5 to $6.25; lighter weights upward to $7; heavies $3.50 to $4.50.

EGG MARKETS.

Ottawa, July 13. Canadian Press.—There is very little change in the general situation. At some points receipts are reported to have fallen off as much as 50 per cent. The proportion of high grade eggs is smaller and the prices a little firmer.

Considerable speculation is rife as to why, in face of the large surplus over last year in storage stocks there should be an advance in November and December refrigerators. This however is probably attributable to short selling. In a few days the market will likely weaken.

Toronto, unchanged.

Montreal, July 13. Canadian Press—There continues to be a good enquiry for cash grain locally. The demand for flour was limited. The millfeed market was without change Feeling in baled hay is steady. A fair trade is passing in eggs. The market for potatoes was quiet. The prices for butter were down ½c to 3-4c per pound. Business in cheese was quiet.

LAKEFIELD SCHOOL MADE GOOD RECORD

County Prize Carried Off By Another Lakefield Scholar.

LAKEFIELD, July 13.— The result of the Entrance examinations are out and a number of anxious boys and girls are scanning the lists with eager eyes to find their own names and those of their friends. Once more a Lakefield pupil has carried off the county prize and there is a great deal of pride in the young girl who has won the distinction, viz., Yvonne Stuart, eldest daughter of Mrs. H. J. Stuart. The first prize this year was offered it was won by a Lakefield pupil, S. Trude Leggott, who, by a curious coincidence, was married on the very day the results came out this year. Mr. Leggott won the prize in 1909. Last year Gordon Porter of Lakefield, was the winner. Miss Sadie Young was another Lakefield pupil who won the distinction. Lakefield is very proud of its high percentage of pass pupils and also the highest percentage of honors of any school. Miss Duff, the teacher, is receiving congratulations from her many friends over the fact that again she has had the banner class of the county.

A REAL GIFT.

"I am afraid, doctor," said a woman to her physician, "that my husband has some terrible mental affliction. Sometimes I talk to him for hours and then discover that he literally hasn't heard a word I said."

"That isn't an affliction," was the reply "that's a divine gift."

NEWS OF WARSAW AND THE DISTRICT

Crops Are Looking Splendid Throughout the District.

WARSAW, July 13.—Sidney Turner spent Sunday with his mother.

Rev. Atkinson is moving into the manse.

Mr. and Mrs. Stark have Mr. Arthur Edward's house again this year.

Mrs. Wm. C. Lloyd and children from Australia are visiting Mrs. L. Lloyd's sister, Mrs. D. Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sinclair and children of Tilsonburg, are visiting Mr. Sinclair's mother, Mrs. John Selkirk.

Mesdames Robson and Latimer left for Fraserville on Tuesday.

Mrs. Wm. Wasson is visiting in Fraserville.

Miss Alice Wasson is home for a few days.

Miss Freena Cooper is visiting relatives in Flint, Mich.

Miss Blanche Hamilton is visiting friends in North Dummer.

Miss Millie Biddell is spending her holidays with friends in North Dummer.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Payne, Mrs. Aitkens, Vivian Jackson, Cephas Payne, Miss Biddell, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Payne, Mrs. MacMillan, Mr. and Mrs E. R. Hamblin motored to Sturgeon Lake and spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Martin Thurston.

Miss I. M. Coleman, Hamilton is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. David Miller.

The men did some repairing to the church sheds and the women cleaned and brightened the church.

Harold Darling lost four cattle in the recent storm.

A drive through the country now is a joy. Everything looks so well. The foliage is very dense and the different shades of green are wonderful.

The roadsides in many places, while perhaps a nuisance to the farmer are gay with a riot of wild flowers. All kinds of grain look well; corn fields, especially. Those planted with planter are beautiful from any angle. There is one, which is particularly fine on the corner of the sideline and boundary, on the near Lakefield road. Potatoes look well, some are showing blossom and there seems a promise of abundance of small fruit.

The regular monthly meeting of the U.F.O. was held on Wednesday evening.

Work is still continuing on the telephone lines on the boundary.

Crushed stone is on the road from Mrs. Aitken's corner to the Presbyterian church, also on the sideline from A. Edward's gate to W. Anderson's corner.

Sunday morning the Sunday schools were not quite so well attended.

Rev. F. G. Weir preached in the Methodist churches Sunday. At the morning service in the Baptist church, Pastor Chorley preached the annual sermon to the Orangemen. There was a very large Orange parade and the church was full. Misses Chorley and Lulu Bell sang a duet and Howard Kidd a solo.

Rev. Atkinson preached in the Presbyterian church.

Mr. Lackey and family were in the village last week.

PERSONAL ITEMS FROM WARKWORTH

WARKWORTH, July 13.—Miss Helen Sloggett and Gertrude Cox, who have been teaching at Rainy River, have returned home.

Born — To Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Grills, on July 8th, a daughter.

Mrs. M. A. Leonard is visiting in Chicago.

Miss Blanche Baker is visiting her sister, Mrs. H. B. Wilson, Hastings.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Whitcomb, of Webster, N. Y., have returned after spending a few days in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Condon are visiting her sister, Mrs. Jas. Reels, Syracuse, N.Y.

A GOOD REASON.

A preacher at the close of one of his sermons said, "Let all in the house who are paying their debts stand up.' Presently every man, woman and child with one exception rose to their feet.

The preacher seated them and said: "Now every man not paying his debts stand up.' The exception, a careworn, hungry-looking individual, clothed in his last summer's suit, assumed a perpendicular position.

"How is it, my friends," asked the minister, "you are the only man not able to meet his obligations?"

"I run a newspaper," he answered, "and the brethern here who stood up are my subscribers, and—

"Let us pray," exclaimed the minister.

BLAMELESS.

"How comes it . . . left Parker's boarding house?"

"Well, the first week an old cow died, and we had nothing but beef, beef, beef. The next week an old pig died and we were fed on pork, pork pork. On Monday Mr. Parker's grandfather died, so I left."—Boll Weevil.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Northumberland Regiment Band Will Play at the Toronto Exhibition.

CAMPBELLFORD, July 13.—Now that it has been proposed to send the members of the Northumberland Band to the Toronto Fair to take part in the annual musical competition held in connection with that event, stress is being laid upon the value such a step would be in Campbellford as an advertisement. The local band is sufficiently unique to furnish in itself an attraction at even the big show at Toronto. In the first place the band is one of the oldest musical organizations in Central Ontario and is the official band of one of the best known military units in Canada.

It is claimed that there is not another band in Ontario that contains so large a percentage of returned men. With regard to another claim to distinction there is not doubt—included in the membership of their band there are a greater number of men who are veterans in the military musical service. These include, Sergt. George T. Salter, M. Reynolds, John Rellis, James Y. Mitchell and J. W. Frederick.

Oddfellow at Stirling.

The following members of the local lodge of Oddfellows motored to Stirling last night to install the officers of the lodge in that place: D.D.G.W. Bro. R. Dunk, D.D.G.W. Bro. Harry Anderson, D.D.G. Marshal, Bro. George T. Salter; D.D.G. Chaplain, Bro. J. E. Dooher; D.D. G. Secretary, Bro. S. Maguire; D. D.G. secrtary, Bro. P. Sherwin; D. D.G. Guardian, Bro. H. Petherick; D.D.G., Herald, J. McEachern; D.D. G. Treasurer, Bro. R. J. Bullen.

Passed With Honors.

When Mrs. T. E. Moffatt, wife of the ex-principal of the High School here, who now holds a similar position in Tweed, was taken to the hospital recently, her place as head of the household was taken by her little daughter Alison, who is only 11 years old, and who was a pupil of Principal Haig in the Public school here. The care of the infant of the family was undertaken by the little housewife and Alison left for Ottowa with her charge to stop at the house of relatives. To be near the baby she wrote the entrance examination in that city instead of Campbellford.

A telegram received here Tuesday night announced that Alison had passed with honors and the news was welcomed here by the friends of the family and a host of admirers of the successful young student.

Principal Moffatt is putting in his vacation this year again as head of the summer school at Sharbott Lake.

LAKEFIELD KNOWN BY BUMP IN ROAD

An Old Landmark That Could Be Removed Without Loss to Community.

LAKEFIELD, July 13. — The bump that announces to the motorist that he has arrived on the county bridge at Lakefield is an old landmark which might be eliminated without being a municipal loss. Local chauffeurs approach it slowly and as far as possible avoid the effects of the jolt but each day a dozen of cars pass through who do not know of this pitfall and the results are often painful to passengers and hard on the cars.

Is this the department of the county or the village, is a question often asked. It is at the west end of the bridge and familiar, too much so, to many drivers.

Rev. C. Adams, representative of the Navy League of Canada, spent a few days in the village two weeks ago and collected $92 for this worthy cause. Since Mr. Adams visit another subscription has been handed in of $5 which makes a total of $97.

An illustrated lecture will be given in the basement of the Methodist church on Friday night in the interests of the Bible Society.

Public Library Hours.

The Public Library will be open during July and August on Tuesday evening only from 7 to 9. For the past few years it has been customary for the Library to be opened just once a week. It has proved to be satisfactory from every point and will be continued this season.

Picnic Postponed.

Owing to the death of Mrs. Robert Jory the W.A. picnic arranged for Friday afternoon of this week will be postponed.

Cadets at Camp.

The following local cadets took in the cadet camp in Barrie field last week: Instructor, Kenneth S. Madill, Cadet Major Jack Ridpath, Harry Hill, Eric Morin, Donald Kidd, Stanley Darling, Clarence McIlmoyl, Herman Branch, Ira Branch.

The boys report a delightful time at camp.

Orangemen Attend Service.

The Orangemen had their annual church parade on Sunday evening last to the Baptish church where Rev. T. L. White preached an appropriate sermon. The procession was headed by the Lakefield band.

COLBORNE AND THE DISTRICT

Strawberry Festivals and Wedding Bells Occupy the Stage at the Present Time.

COLBORNE, July 13—The young people of the Anglican church held a very enjoyable strawberry festival on the lawn of Trinity church on Friday evening. There was good music for dancing in the fire hall, after refreshments had been served, and it proved to be a pleasant social event.

The same evening a garden party was held on the church lawn at Dandonald. Strawberries were served, and there was a good programme with an address by Rev. L. H. Coles of Colborne Baptist church.

The regular meeting of the Colborne Council was held here when considerable business was dispersed of.

On Saturday Mrs. Alex. Inglis dispersed of her household furniture and effects. Mr. Arthur Quinn was auctioneer, and the sale took place at the residence of Mr. Wm. McNeill. Mrs. Inglis is leaving Colborne to reside in Rochester. Many friends regret her removal.

Festival at Smithfield.

The strawberry festival held at Smithfield was a great success, and was much enjoyed. The proceeds amounted to over $70. An orchestra gave much enjoyed musical numbers. Mr. Cobley of Trenton contributed songs, Miss A. Sweetman and Miss Morgan reading and Capt. Clarke, Trenton gave a fine address.

Rev. Mr. Delve preached his farewell sermons at Smithfield on Sunday.

Dr. and Mrs. Anderson and Mr. Ross Anderson, Wooler, are holidaying at their cottage at Otter Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Dorland, Wooler, have been bereaved by the death of their daughter, Margaret, who died on Tuesday after a long illness.

Successful Social Event.

The ice cream social and concert held at Shiloh last week in connection with the anniversary of the church was a great success. There were reading by Mr. H. Walker, solos, duetts and interesting numbers by the children of the Sunday school. Total proceeds were near the 100 mark.

Happy School Children.

There are a lot of happy school children in and about Colborne for the results of the promotion examinations were made public the past week and many passed.

Those of the entrance class are at present waiting patiently for results. Thirty-two candidates wrote here and fifteen at Castleton. Mr. E. G. Kennedy presided here and Miss Grace E. Peebles at Castleton.

Death of Mrs. Barringer.

The death took place in Cremake township on Wednesday of last week of Mrs. Barringer, wife of Mr. William A. Barringer and before her marriage, Esther Ann Claggett. A funeral service was held at her late residence near Loughbreeze on Friday afternoon. Mr. Barringer has the sincere sympathy of many friends.

Marriage Announced.

The marriage is announced to take place tomorrow quietly at St. Andrew's church, Queen street, Toronto, of Elsie Morris to Bruce Thorburn Riordan, son of Mrs. Riordan and the late Dr. Bruce Riordan of Toronto. Colborne friends offer sincere good wishes.

Mrs. Lapp was appointed delegate to the annual convention to be held in Toronto in the autumn with Mrs. Clarke and Mrs. Bedal as alternate delegates.

Rev. and Mrs. J. S. I. Wilson arrive at the parsonage at Brighton this week-end from Cobourg and Mr. Wilson will occuply the pulpit there for the first time next Sunday. At Brighton a union service of the Methodist and Presbyterian congregations was held last Sunday with Rev. A. K. McLeod in charge.

Church Service at Presque Isle

Church services at Presque Isle Point, the beautiful resort near here, began on Sunday and will continue each Sunday evening during July and August. Rev. E. W. Pickford is in charge. Although some of the cottagers are late in arriving, indications point to a very lively season at this resort.

Baseball.

Trenton leads at the present time in the Northumberland County League with nine straight wins.

Gold Pieces For Trenton Students.

The three five dollar gold pieces donated annually by Mrs. Chas. Richardson to the highest successful pupil in the entrance class at Trenton go to Helen Goina, Kenneth Heitman and Jessie Keith, who came first in their respective schools. The Trenton Public School Board also made a similar donation and this goes to Walter Carter of Mr. Stickwood's class.

Old Home-Coming Week.

The Town of Trenton is making great preparation for an Old Home Coming Week to be held from August 4 to August 8. It was decided at a meeting of the Town Council to endeavor to secure the 48th Highlanders Band for the event.

Marriage.

The marriage took place on Wednesday of last week at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Rogers, Smithfield, of their daughter, Miss Vera Maud Rogers, and Mr. W. Orville Lacklin of Murray. Rev. R. A. Delve conducted the ceremony.

Fined at Trenton.

For securing liquor irregularly and obtaining, it is stated, a script for alcohol in Shannonville and cashing it in in Trenton a Belleville man was fined $50 and costs at Trenton one day recently.

Mr. Strong of Brighton has been appointed vice-president at Dufferin street school, Trenton.

Mr. P. McFairman and family, Trenton, have gone to Round Lake near Havelock for the summer season.

Mr. Clarence G. Young, formerly proprietor of the Trenton Courier, has purchased a grocery business at Trenton.

Two Marriages.

At St. John's church, Weston, Miss Bessie Westover was married to William Patrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Patrick, Trenton. The groom is a returned man and both have sincere good wishes from a very large circle of friends.

Social and Personal.

COBOURG CELEBRATION WAS ONE OF THE BEST IN HISTORY OF TOWN

Peterboro Had One of the Largest Turnouts in the Parade — Over 1,500 Visitors From Rochester

FEATURES PARADE.

Peterborough had one of the biggest, if not the biggest, turnouts in the parade.

There were upwards of 1,500 visitors from Rochester.

In the parade there were 45 banners, representing as many lodges, 23 fife and drum bands, 5 brass bands, 2 pipe bands and 1 bugle band.

Vimy Ridge, Peterboro's Ladies Lodge, received ovations at several points along the route.

The Bowmanville drummer had the supreme joy that comes to a successful drummer only on the Twelfth. He succeeded in driving his drumstick through his drum-head.

One of the proudest men in the celebration was 90 years of age, and he was taking part in his seventh-sixth Orange walk.

(By a Staff Reporter.)

COBOURG, July 13. — Cobourg was in gala attire for the Orange celebration yesterday, and as Mayor F. D. Boggs stated, the town had never seen so big a crowd in its previous existence. Bunting and arches gave the beautiful little town an appearance of festivity that went well with the spirit of the thousands gathered there to celebrate the famous Battle of the Boyne, and honor the illustrious memory of William of Orange. Many of the Lodges which in former years joined with this district in the celebration were diverted yesterday to other centres, but the parade was a lengthy one, comprising upwards of fifty Lodges and over thirty bands.

All morning the Orangemen were kept busy escorting incoming brethren from station and boat, and the forenoon was marked by many spontaneous parades. At 2.30 the main parade started from the lakeside park, led by the marshals, Wm. Kane and Wm. Woods, the Mayor and Council of Cobourg, and the speakers. The first flag in the procession was the Union Jack, closely followed by the Stars and Stripes. Visiting lodges from Rochester had the position of honor.

His 76th Walk.

The patriarch of the celebration, probably, was Robert Fowler of Orono, Durham county, a member of Kendall L.O.L., 915. Mr. Fowler is ninety years of age, and yesterday took part in his seventy-sixth Orange walk. There was not a more interested listener to the speeches or a more enthusiastic member of the Order in Cobourg than this erect old veteran.

William Jones of Cobourg, was also in the parade, with a record of 52 previous annual Orange walks. Mr. Jones is a member of Baltimore Lodge, and said his great desire has always been to walk in Belfast on the Twelfth of July.

The Speeches.

The speeches were marked by a spirit of tolerance, which the officials said is growing throughout the country. There was nothing of an incendiary nature, and several of the speakers were loud in their denunciation of the spirit that ignores the rights and liberties of those of other faith than members of the Orange Order.

The chairman was H. G. Spence of Cobourg, who said the Orange Order stands for the maintenance of the British Constitution, one of the greatest civilizing powers in all the world. In extending a welcome to the American representatives present we claimed common race extraction for both people. "We say we have the greatest monarchy, while they say they have the greatest Republic.

Colonel F. D. Boggs, Mayor of Cobourg, welcomed the gathering on behalf of the citizens of the town Yesterday's celebration brought to Cobourg, he said, the largest number of people the town had ever had. The object of all true Canadians should be to cultivate good-will in the country. The Empire is bound together by bonds of loyalty which have their roots in the principles of fair play and justice to all which mark the British constitution.

R. Pearson of Rochester said it was the proudest day in his life. The Orange Order is in its infancy in Rochester, but the experience gained on this his first visit to Cobourg as a representative of an Orange Lodge will enable him to do greater things in organization work. He wished the people of Rochester could see the splendid parade which took place in Canada. Mr. Pearson advocated a system whereby an Orangeman's dues to his Lodge, should be continued after his death by a system of endowment. "A little thing like death," he said, "should not be allowed to separate a man from his Orange Lodge."

Educational Problem

J. McDonald, another Rochester man and an educationalist of note, said there were forces working in the United States to undermine and destroy the public school system. The organization carrying on this destructive work boasts that its policy never changes, nor its method. "We Protestants are not militant enough," he declared. "Our militant Protestantism cannot be confined to one day a year, but must spread over all the year." The speaker advocated the union of Protestant churches as the greatest step in Protestantism since the reformation.

M. J. O'Brien, Grand Organizer for Eastern Ontario, said the parade and the arrangements for the comfort of the visiting brethren was a credit to the Orangemen of Cobourg He extended a welcome to the Rochester Lodges. The same principles are found in the Constitution of the United States for which our fathers died at the Battle of the Boyne, he said.

Stand for Liberty

There has been great misrepresentation regarding the Orange Order, not only by Roman Catholics but by Protestants who were ignorant of the truth. "We stand for civil and religious liberty, not only for Orangemen and Protestants, but for our Roman Catholic friends. We will use all our forces to see that Roman Catholics and Jews and men of every other religion have the same liberty that we as Orangemen want. We will meet the attacks so long as possible by constitutional methods, but if it becomes necessary to take up arms in defense of our own or any other religious liberty, we will do as our forefathers did." The speaker said it is not true that the Orange Order is a Conservative organization. Orangemen divide up just like any other group of men unless there is some great issue for which the Orange Order stands, when all Orangemen are united.

The Orange Order stands for a one language national school. In the last election every riding that went Conservative was a strong Orange riding. Why "For two and a half years the Orange Association has been fighting to preserve the Public School system against the attacks of the Roman hierarchy. Not only Orangeman believe in the Public system, but deep thinking Roman Catholics know it to be the only system by which the people of Canada can be raised up in harmony and peace. These people voted for the only man who could be trusted with the protection of the Public School —Hon. G. Howard Ferguson."—(applause.)

"I hope to God the day may come when we will have a national school system from coast to coast in our Dominion. The Roman Catholics are entitled by law to their separate schools, and if Toronto tried to take away one right of the Roman Catholics we as Orangemen will fight for them. I hope that it will not be long before our Roman Catholic Friends see that it will be best to close the Separate Schools and have their religion taught in the churches and homes."

Strengthen Bonds

"We as Orangemen are trying to strengthen the bonds of Empire. We want to make this country better and stronger. Is that something to condemn us for? If we are militant, is that wrong? Jesus Christ was militant. We have fought the battle on the school question since Confederation. Lately we have spent over $20,000 to preserve your public Schools in the province of Ontario. We will spend twice as much if necessary, but the public school will be protected."

The speaker cited three counties in which the Roman Catholic church had gained control of the schools, and where the Protestants were compelled to remove thier children from the schools to protect their religion. The Roman Catholic catechism was taught in school hours. Even Roman Catholics, the speaker said, removed their children because they were not getting an education, but only religious training.

"Orangemen and Protestants," urged the speaker in closing, "in the great battle you are carrying on to strengthen the bonds of empire and make this a greater country, remember the deeds of your forefathers, be militant, and go in and win."

A Durham Notable.

Major General John Hughes was introduced as the brother of Sir Sam Hughes, "the greatest Minister of Militia the country ever produced." Major Hughes said he was born in Durham and had a tender feeling towards this part of the country. He was strong in his praises of Cobourg, and officially thanked the Mayor and Council for their welcome, on behalf of the visiting brethren.

Rev. F. J. Harwood of Camborne Methodist church, said the spirit of the Orange Order is British and the spirit of Britain is fraternity. "No one has spoken to-day with his knife in a Roman Catholic," he said

The programme of speeches was brought to a close with three cheers for the King, coupled with the President of the United States.

The Lodges.

The Orange Lodges appeared in the procession in the following order: Rochester Guilding Star, 156; Unity Lodge; Unity Lodge; Lindsay 557 and ladies' lodge; Victoria 56, ladies'; Reaboro 820; Derry Lodge, Belleville; Benjamin 274, Belleville; Point Anne 2599; Wellington 457, Douro; Col. Saunderson, Otonabee, 321; Argyle 494, Keene; North Monaghan 2440; Juvenile 50, Peterborough; Young Canadians 80, Peterborough; Vimy Ridge 244, ladies', Peterborough; J. W. Bell Memorial 1175, Peterborough; Duke of Manchester 50, Peterborough; Eastern Star 525, ladies', Peterborough; Cavan senior 40; Maple Leaf 46, Fraserville; Millbrook 79; Carmel 421; Baillieboro 853; Perrytown 75; Garden Hill 385; Purple Hill 424, Elizabethville; Port Hope 1062; Janetville 64; Pontypool 82; Lotus 279; Bethany 1022; Bowmanville 2384; Enniskillen 405; Brighton 186; Baltimore 52; Roseneath 261; Coldsprings 514; Sons of William Juvenile 3, Cobourg; Princess May Girls', Cobourg; Maple Leaf 351, Cobourg; Cobourg 127.

Peterborough in Force.

There was an excellent parade from Peterborough, about 500 people making the trip. C. Petty, Distsict Master and W. H. Howard, District Director of Ceremonies, were in charge of the Peterborough contingent.

T. Porter, W.M.; H. L. Wicks, Deputy W.M., secretary of the celebration; W. Hall, chairman of committees; F. Navin and W. Woods, marshals; W. Kane, director of ceremonies, all of Cobourg, were prominent in the success of the celebration.

The Rochester Orangemen were escorted to the ferry by Cobourg Kilties Band, which played National airs of both countries until the boat left. The Alderville Indians' Band was prominent, and received many compliments. Bethany band was among the best in the parade.

A BIG PARADE CAMPBELLFORD

It is Thirteen Years Since it Has Held a Similar Celebration—The Speeches.

CAMPBELLFORD, July 13. — Previous to yesterday it is 13 years since Campbellford has held a celebration of the Battle of the Boyne, and the oldest residents of the town freely confess that the crowd that filled the streets was ont of the largest that they have ever seen here. The Orange Lodges came in autos and by train from all directions, all accompanied by their fife and drum bands, all the members arrayed in natty uniforms and resplendent in the regalia of the Order. The air from early morning until late in the evening was filled with stirring muday attire. By common consent yesday attire. By common consent ytsterday's celebration was voted one of the best ever held in this section of Ontario. The speeches, too, especially the address of J. F. B. Belford, East Northumberland's new legislative representative, were of a high order.

Sixteen lodges took part in the celebration, 12 of these being from outside the town. There were also four lodges of ladies, the members of which marched sturdily through the stifling heat, over a mile out, to the grove, where the addresses were delivered. By actual count 756 autos crossed the bridge in the rear of the marching brethren, while the sidewalks too were thronged with pedestrians.

The Lodges.

The visiting lodges, on arriving in town, left their banners in Cole's opera house, until the start of the parade. Those in attendance were: Trenton, No. 206; Hastings, 558; Warkworth, 108; Lakefield, 122; Havelock, 326; Frankford, 240; Polmont, 1369; Colborne, 903; Wooler, 620; Sentinel, 2322; Stanwood, 1338; Wellman's Corners, 17; Campbellford lodges, 36, 526, 35 and the True Blues.

The towns represented by lodges of lady members were Frankford, Hastings, Havelock and Trent River.

The marshals of the parade, all mounted on prancing and richly caparisoned white steeds, were Jas. Potts and Robert Bibby of Campbellford, and Ransom McMillan of Wooler, who is one of the veterans of the fraternity, and who if he ever missed a single celebration in his life time, is not held to account by any record to that effect.

The procession formed on the grounds of Dr. Macoun; at 1.30 the order to march was given. Mayor Meyers and Councillor R. H. Cole led the way in autos that carried the speakers. Next came the Northumberland band, under the leadership of R. T. Cowell, discoursing stirring military marches. The only other brass band in the procession was the efficient and well equipped musical organization from Lakefield.

The parade passed up Front street to Bridge, thence to Rear street, and past the skating rink to Front street again and across the bridge out to Beatty's grove on the Hastings road. Wooler lodge at the start held the place of honor at the head of the column but at the corner of Bridge street, the ladies of the Havelock lodge joined the procession, dropping into the lead.

Police Chief Duncalfe and Assistant Chief Crawford had a heavy problem on their hands to handle the traffic but so efficient were they in the discharge of their duty that there was not a single accident during the entire day.

At Beatty's Grove.

The speaking started as soon as the last Lodge in the parade had reached the grounds. Mayor Meyers presided and welcomed the visiting lodges to Campbellford in a few appropriate words. He then invited to the platform Rev. J. E. Glover, Rev. Rural Dean Clarke, Rev. C. F. McIntosh, M. E. Maybee, M.P.; J. F. B. Belford, M.L.A.; S. J. Abernethy, Reeve Hart of Murray Township, Reeve Van Volkenburg of Seymour, Councillor J. R. Wilkinson, S. J. Abernethy and the other masters of the Campbellford lodges, C. L. Owen, ex-M.P.; Mrs. Ross Hubbell of the Frankford Ladies' Lodge, Mrs. Henry Scriver of the Hastings Lodge, Mrs. Jones of the Havelock Lodge and Mrs. George Scott of Trent Bridge.

Major Belford's Address.

East Northumberland's new representative in the Legislature made the speech of the afternoon, and his remarks were followed by the closest attention. He spoke words of practical counsel to the brethren, of whom he is one, and set the aims of the Order upon a high pedestal.

Congratulating the committee upon the success of the celebration, he added that the admission of women to the fraternity was one of the best steps ever taken, and nothing would so tend to make the Order successful and popular.

"I am going to say some things to you people that you may not like," continued the speaker, "but I have it on my conscience to tell you where you get off. You are always ready enough to turn out in the parade on the Twelfth of July, but how many of you show up at the Lodge meeting in August? Orangeism is not something for the Twelfth alone but is for every day in the year. You are needed at your private Lodge meetings and should remember to pay your dues regularly. The Grand Lodge officers must have your support if they are to do the work they are supposed to do and to make this country what we want it to be."

The speaker went on to say that the population of Canada is shifting. In the early years of Orangeism in this country we had only the English, Irish and Scotch to deal with, and these were easily handled, but now aliens of all kinds are coming in. These must be made into Canadian citizens. To do this it is not necessary to steal them away from their religion, but they should be taught the English language and Canadian ways, and it is the duty of every Orangeman to see that this is done.

The work in the private lodges, the speaker regretted to say, is breaking down.

Must See Fair Play.

Another duty of the Orangemen is to secure fair play and equal rights for every man of any creed. Members of the Order must defend every religion as well as the Protestant faith. We can spoil this country if we become narrow and interfere with any creed.

No one wants the Orange Order to become a political machine, but the aim should be to make it the balance-wheel of the nation, a power that will secure equal rights for all men and creeds, an organization that will secure civil and religious liberty, freedom of thought and conscience for the entire Canadian people.

All these objects, the speaker concluded, can be attained if the work is kept up in the primary lodges.

Was Chairman 13 Years Ago.

C. L. Owen, who was chairman at the celebration 13 years ago, gave some interesting reminiscences of that occasion. A certain minister who was called on to speak first had monopolised the time, his address lasting for one and a half hours, and this was cited as a terrible example. The hint was not lost upon the speakers who followed Mr. Owen, he leading off in the oratory, and all the speeches of the afternoon were commendably brief.

Mr. Owen asked his audience to remember that the privileges which they enjoy to-day were purchased by the shedding of blood and the sacrifice of life at the Battle of the Boyne. On the fields of Flanders Catholics and Protestants fought side by side for the safety and the liberty of the world. He hoped the spirit of harmony developed there would continue and that we may be able to build up on the American continent one of the greatest nations on earth.

Proud of the Order.

Rev. Rural Dean Clarke said that the celebration of the Twelfth of July is an event of deep significance and if we ever cease to have these annual parades it will be a tragedy to the country. The Battle of the Boyne was one of the most important military engagements in history, because it established religious toleration and liberty in the British Empire.

Orangemen do not parade because they are anxious to dress up in uniform and regalia, but because they desire to call to memory the events of the past to which they owe so much.

"When you read the objects of the Orange order," concluded Mr. Clarke, "are you not proud that you belong to it?"

Canada's Motherland.

Mr. Maybee said that Great Britain is the Motherland of Canada, not France as some claim. The British Empire stands for peace on earth and goodwill to men. It has conquered many dominions, but has extended self-government to them all. If Orangemen live up to the principles of the Order, they will make the very best citizens for such an Empire.

Orangeism and the Church.

Rev J. E. Glover said that Orangeism and the Church would stand or fall together, and we know that they will not fail, as they are founded on the rock.

Other Speakers.

Brief addresses were also made by Mr. George Scott of Trent Bridge, S. J. Abernethy, who spoke on behalf of the True Blues, Reeve Van Volkenburg and Rev. Charles Adams, chaplain of the Navy League. Mr. Adams is on an official visit to Campbellford for the purpose of collecting funds for the League. He is charged with the task of collecting $85,000 between Toronto and Ottawa. After his address, the hat was passed, and liberal donations were received.

The gathering in the grove broke up with the singing of the National Anthem, led by Mr. Owen. The various lodges then marched in procession down town, where they disbanded.

Orange Order Objects to Special Privileges.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., July 13.—(Canadian Press.)—Criticism of Sir Henry Thornton, President of the Canadian National Railways, in placing a private car at the disposal of Cardinal Begin, was made in Montebello Park yesterday afternoon following a large parade of Orangemen of Lincoln, Welland and Haldiman counties and Buffalo and Niagara Falls, N.Y., by Rev. I. N. Moyer, Port Colborne.

"The Orange Order finds no fault with a man being a Roman Catholic; it is his privilege," he said. "But the Order does find fault with any church seeking special privileges." He asked all present to urge upon their county members of parliament to voice the will of the people that there should be equal rights for all and special privileges for none.

DIPLOMATS ARE WORRIED ABOUT SUMMER DRINKS

A Serious Situation For Foreign Embassies in Washington — Writer Says Corps Annoyed

BY A. L. BRADFORD

WASHINGTON, July 13 — (United Press).—A serious international situation is "brewing" here.

The foreign diplomatic corps is greatly agitated and decidedly annoyed.

It is all the result of the United States Supreme Court ruling on the prohibition laws to prohibit foreign vessels from bringing liquor inside the three-mile limit of this country.

Of course, the country knows from Washington, New York and foreign dispatches all about the official controversy over the seizure by American customs authorities of liquor supplies brought to the United States by foreign liners seeking to test the Supreme Court decision.

But the "serious international situation," with which this dispatch deals is something far more fundamental than that official controversy. It is the question of "diplomatic booze."

Diplomats Shocked

As the respective members of the different Embassies and Legations in Washington arrived at their desks sharply at 11:30 o'clock the morning the newspapers announced the arid decision of the Supreme Court, each respective member on receiving the news was astonished, absolutely shocked.

"Oh, I say, now This won't do, you know Quite quite " said a member of one well-known Embassy.

"Mon Dieu, this it is terrible Zees Americains, it will be next what? Mon Dieu " So ran the exclamations of a member of another and equally well-known Embassy.

To a man, the very serious and important diplomatic corps with deliberation removed its collective silk hat, took out its silk embroidered handkerchief, patted away the beads of perspiration from its brow, and gave vent to some very strong diplomatic statements.

For, what about this? If no ships could bring liquor inside the three-mile limit of the United States, where can we diplomats get our liquor?

So, after diplomatic emotions had been sufficiently controlled, emissaries from the different Embassies and Legations strolled down to the State Department, trying, as all diplomats successfully do, to appear unconcerned.

They Asked Hughes

They wanted to know all about it from Mr. Hughes. Mr. Hughes told the different delegations that it was all right, that diplomatic liquor would still be immune; for Mr. Hughes was probably relieved to learn that the rest of the world had not come to tell him that it had decided to push the United States out of sight into the ocean, what with all those diplomats presenting themselves at the State Department.

The corps was greatly placated, until——.

Now, the grave danger has dawned on the corps that the foreign steamship companies will not be bothered with comparatively small consignments of liquor—one says they are not so small, at that—if their vessels are to be prohibited from carrying beverages generally. So the situation is very, very serious, oh, quite.

And when the dispatches tell about liquor seizures from foreign vessels seeking to test the court ruling and then talk of protests from the powers, it may be that the situation is so serious because the diplomatic corps in Washington has visions of its afternoon teas these torrid days without the companionship of that bracing cocktail or maybe that long, cool tumbler of whiskey and soda. Anyway, the situation is very serious.

VISION

By Berton Braley)

The practical man sees a small wooden box
Strung tight with the gut of a cat
On which you can scrape with the tail of a horse;
There's nothing more to it than that;
Or so he declares, and it's perfectly true
That's all that a violin seems
Unless you have vision which leads you to see
A casket of loveliest dreams.

The practical man knows a tree is a tree.
He figures its height and its girth;
How many board feet it would yield to the saw,
And just what the boards would be worth.
And yet to the man who has vision, stands
A miracle sprung from the sod,
A green living glory that ever proclaims
The spirit and purpose of God.

The practical man sees a practical world
And runs it in practical style,
He's safe and he's sane as an everyday guide,
But still, every once in a while,
Though practical people make living run smooth
Let's yield to the magical thrall
Of dreamers whose beautiful visions supply
The reason for living at all

MOULDY SWEET CLOVER

May Cause Disease or Death to Live Stock

Symptoms of the Trouble—Cattle May Bleed to Death—Preventing the Mou'd—Good Sweet Clover Harmless

Reports of serious sickness occurring amongst the cattle being fed upon sweet clover have been received at the Veterinary College. The disease which is now frequently spoken of as "sweet clover disease," or "sweet clover poisoning," made its first appearance, as far as known during the winter of 1921-22.

The Symptoms of the Disease

The presence of large and small swellings in different parts of the body is usually the first thing which attracts attention. These swellings are generally located along the back, over the shoulder joints or between the thighs They vary much in shape and size and may form quite slowly or with marked rapidity. They are rarely painful, and when opened are found to contain either blood or a watery yellow fluid. The affected animal does not appear to be very sick and either stands or lies in the accustomed way. Food may be taken in small quantities but the appetite is not good. The outer part of the eye is very pale, so also is the lining membrance of the nose. The swellings which are so characteristic of the disease are due to an escape of blood from the vessels. The small arteries and veins have become weakened by the disease so that rupture is made easy.

In another form of the disease the blood loses its power of clotting so that animals may bleed to death after giving birth to their calves. In one instance a farmer had branded his cattle by clipping a strip of skin from the border of each ear. All of the animals would have bled to death had not the hemorrhage been stopped by ligatures.

Damaged Sweet Clover Dangerous

In all the cases investigated the sick animals had been fed sweet clover hay or ensilage which had been damaged by excessive heating or moulding. Sometimes the change produced in the hay has been so slight that the farmer has either not seen it or has thought it to be of no consequence. It is frequently difficult to make the owner believe that such slightly damaged food is responsible for the serious disease of his animals.

The Prevention of Mould

Whether the mould which is so generally found in the damaged feed is the ultimate cause of the disease is not a matter of great importance. Its presence is a danger signal which must be heeded. It can be said with certainty that if the hay shows no mould in the mow, and the ensilage no mould in the silo, that either can be fed with safety. How then can the mould be prevented? For the most satisfactory methods of cultivating and harvesting the reader is referred to Bulletin 296 of the Ontario Agricultural College. Apart from the moulding which may occur in the field due to damp weather, or in the mow due to insufficient curing, there is another way which must be considered. It is the development of mould due to the moist air rising through the ceiling of the cattle stable below and settling out on the hay in the mow. This, I feel sure, has been the cause of mouldy hay in several cases. It must be prevented by either a tight ceiling or putting a straw bottom in the mow. Common salt seems to be a real value in checking the growth of moulds in the hay mow. From fifty to one hundred pounds is required for each ton, and this must be sprinkled uniformly through the hay while it is being spread in the mow.

Good Sweet Clover Harmless

Many experiments have been conducted in the feeding of samples of good and bad sweet clover to calves and rabbits. The animals receiving the damaged food almost always became ill and died. In no case has there been any sickness in the animals fed upon good sweet clover hay or ensilage. In one experiment two calves were fed an exclusive diet of good sweet clover ensilage over a period of six weeks and both remained well. Rabbits have been fed on samples of bad sweet clover hay which were taken from the same hay mow. Those which received the good hay lived while those which received the bad died.

In Conclusion

The use of sweet clover for hay is risky, because if moulds and other organisms grow in the hay it may become a highly poisonous food.

The ten cent instrument, so frequently peddled at the country fairs, which is supposed to serve half a dozen purposes from opening tin cans to drawing a three-inch screw, rarely does more than two things well, and that is all that should be expected for the money. Sweet clover has proved to be an excellent soil-builder, a good ensilage crop, and to make valuable pasture. Why endanger the reputation of a useful plant by requiring it to accomplish that for which it was apparently not intended.—Frank W. Schofield, D. & Sc., Ont. Veterinary College, Guelph.

WHAT TO EAT IN HOT WEATHER AND WHEN TO EAT IT.

Water Essential, Meat Should Be Eaten Sparingly—Suggested Menus

NEW YORK, July 13 — (United Press).—The human body requires food to generate energy in warm weather as well as in colder temperatures, but not so much and of an entirely different character, according to a statement issued by the health department, in an effort to relieve suffering from summer heat.

Food chemists can figure accurately the amount of food necessary for persons in all various occupations. But few people know how to supply their bodies with fuel energy in the heated season. Many books on food products, it is suggested, has a table the use of which will help provide such forms for a family in all seasons, especially during the warmer weather.

Persons engaged in hard labor require meat but during the summer it should be used very sparingly. Otherwise indigestion may result.

Plenty of Water

Water is an essential and from 6 to 8 glasses of liquid should be consumed each day.

Hard foods, the chewing of which stimulates secretions, are a necessary aid to digestion. Raw fruits, fibrous vegetables, nuts, toast and crusts of bread are suggested.

Suggested menus follow:

Breakfast—Loaf bread (eschew hot bread and biscuit during heated season); cereal, package variety preferable (hot oat meal is decidedly heatening); use butter sparingly; grape fruit, orange juice, cantelope or other seasonable fruits, or stewed fruits such as rhubarb, prunes, apricots or baked apple.

The Noon Dinner

Dinner, the health department suggests, should be the mid-day meal, if possible, but if inconvenient during the week, should be made the order of Sundays and holidays. Meat during the summer should be served only at this meal. Stewed chicken, minced chicken on toast, veal chops or croquettes, and broiled mutton, hot or cold, are preferable meats. Vegetables should consist of buttered beets, mashed potatoes, string beans, rice, tomatoes, peas or spinach. Salads of romaine, lettuce, dandelions or fruits are the best.

Desserts of shortcake, currant jelly with bread, sponge cake, lady fingers, sweet crackers, ice cream or ice custards are suggested for the end of a perfect hot weather meal.

Supper may consist of creamed macaroni on toast, baked potato or stewed tomatoes and rice or iced tea or coffee or a glass of milk. Stewed fruits, iced jelly or ice cream is suggested for dessert.

TAKING REST CURE.

Mary Miles Minter, beautiful motion picture star, is in a sanitarium at Pasadena, near Los Angeles, Cal., taking a rest cure, according to her grandmother. Her whereabout became known when friends learned she had been missing a week from her home. Miss Minter, her friends say, has not been entirely well since the murder of William Desmond Taylor, movie director, slain over a year ago. The two were close friends.

Atlantic Submarine Cable

When we speak of Cyrus Field we immediately think of Atlantic Cables. Was it not by his indomitable spirit and faith and vision that put the project through? Failure after failure met him, but he tried and tried again and success came as it always does with a man of Field's characteristics.

Cables had (previous to 1857) been successfully operated across the English Channel and in the Mediterranean, but across the vast Atlantic? No. Field says it can be done. So on August 7th, 1857 the first expedition set out with 2,500 miles on board. When 335 miles from Valentia Island, Ireland, in 1950 fathoms of water and a strain of 3,000 pounds the cable broke. At this date they had very poor equipment for repairing cables, in fact, hardly any. No further attempt was made this year.

In 1858 on June 10th the second expedition to bridge the Atlantic commenced, and after several mishaps laid the cable from Valentia to Bay Bulls Arm in Trinity Bay, Newfoundland. The ships taking part in the laying being H. M. S. Agamamnon, U. S. F. Niagara, H. M. S. Valorous. The first message sent over the cable was on August 16th. The first message being from the directors in Great Britain to the directors in America, as follows, "Europe and America are united by telegraph. Glory to God in the highest; on earth peace, good will towards men." Queen Victoria's message to the president of the United States of ninety words was transmitted over the cable in 67 minutes. The same message could now be done from London to New York in two minutes. The president's reply of 143 words took two hours to send over the cable. It could be sent today from New York to London in five minutes. The cable failed on October 20th of the same year. During this period the cable carried four hundred telegrams.

In 1886 a new cable was laid (a portion of this still forming part of a cable that is working today). In 1869 the French Atlantic cable was laid from Brest to St. Pierre. In 1874 and 1875 the "Great Eastern" laid two cables for the Anglo American Telegraph Co. These two cables are now owned by the Western Union Telegraph Co., and are still going strong. In 1874 and 1875 the Direct United States Co. cable was laid. This cable was sold to the British Government in 1922, and is now being worked into Halifax.

In 1881 and 1882 the two Western Union cables (financed by J. J. Gould) were laid from Penzance, England, to Canso, N.S. These cables are also still going strong.

In 1883 and 1884 the Commercial Cable Co. laid their cables. Many more cables have since been laid by the various cable companies.

The cables played a prominent part during the late world war. The cable stations were strictly guarded by the military authorities. Four hours after England declared war on Germany she had the German Atlantic Cables cut and put out of operation. One of these since the war is being worked by the French company, the other by the British Imperial Company. Both companies also made use of the cables during the war.

This great mileage of cable has almost entirely been manufacted in England, on the banks of the River Thames.

The reason for laying the cables across the ocean at the shortest points is that the shorter the cable the faster the speedt If we double the length we quarter the speed.

The cable stations in Newfoundland are Heart's Content, Bay Roberts, Harbour Grace and St. Johns. In Nova Scotia—North Sydney, Canso and Hazel Hill and Halifax.

The staffs working the cables are all specially trained men.

The cable consists of a copper core of several strands. Over this there is a coating of gutta percha, then a coat of jute, next the armour wires of steel for protection, then the outer covering of jute and tar for further protection. Gutta percha is the best insulation found so far for cables. It does not deteriorate in water. Cable on a good muddy bottom has been found to be in as good condition practically as when first laid.

Special constructed cable ships are maintained by the cable companies for laying and repairing cables. The ships have properly trained men for this work. When a break occurs the cable station tests the cable to determine just how far out the cable is broken. The ship then proceeds to the position of the break, sometimes in mid-Atlantic, and drags for the cable with a special type grapnel. The water at places is nearly three miles deep. The two ends are brought up and repair effected.

The signalling over the cable is performed by expert cable operators. Sensitive and delicate instruments are used.

For trans-ocean communication the cable is a safe and sure method. Wireless has its part to perform as well, but over 80% of the traffic is being carried by the cables.

Two of the foremost cable companies are about to lay new cables, and by the spending of millions are proving their faith in the cable method of signalling. The Western Union Telegraph Co. instigated the present various rates, such as full rate, deferred, day letters, night letters, etc. This company does 85% of the entire telegraphic communication of the U. S. A. President Carlton of the W. U., in his yearly report to his directors, mentions further proposed cable extensions, and pleads for co operation with the wireless so that the public will be served to the fullest extent possible.

New Foundland and Nova Scotia holds a very strategic position for world-wide communication. The cable system is more secret than the wireless method.

EX-KAISER GETS LUCKY HORSESHOE

Blacksmith Who Made It Thinks William Hohenzollern the Most Needy.

ATLOONA, Pa., July 13 (Associated Press).—The former Kaiser of Germany, William Hohenzollern, in exile at Doorn, has hopes that his luck will improve soon because of a gift sent him by Charles Gorsuch, the village blacksmith at Martinsburg, Blair county.

For years Gorsuch has forged tiny good luck shorse shoes in his odd moments, and sent them to notables in all parts of the world. After forging his most recent "charm," Gorsuch reviewed the international situation in an effort to find the notable who was in need of "luck." He selected the former Kaiser and sent the shoe to Doorn.

Baron von Coern, marshal of William's household at Doorn, accepting the luck charm for his master, sent this message to Gorsuch:

"His majesty, the kaiser and king, has very gladly accepted the good luck horseshoe you sent and gratefully thanks you for same." The reply was accompanied by an autographed photograph of the former emperor.

TELLS OF CHINA'S POLITICAL MUDDLE

Present Conditions Form the Most Insoluble Puzzle of All Says Peking Editor.

NEW YORK, July 13.—The present political muddle in China is the most insoluble Chinese puzzle of all. So, at least, believes George Woodhead, editor of The Peking and Tientsin Times, who arrived in the United States en route to his home in London, after living twenty-one years in the Far East.

"Never since the establishment of the republic," said Mr. Woodhead, "has the political situation in China been graver, nor the outlook more hopeless than today. The insurodination of the Chinese student, in whose hands the destiny of his country rests, coupled with the bankrupt state of the Government, indicates years of increasing banditry, a growing contempt of central authority, and a chaotic lack of organization."

In touching upon these problems he said that, while the missionaries have been zealous in disseminating the Christian doctrine, and in establishing schools and hospitals, they have been wantonly amiss in not curbing the radical tendencies of their proteges. The result is that these Chinese youths, callow and inexperienced, embrace almost any revolutionary ideas, are an easy prey for Bolshevist propagandists, and, being the only educated element in the country, shape a disastrous public opinion which is followed by the great canaille of the nation.

Consequently the largest portion of the population is always feverishly enthused over the latest plan to preserve its republic, only to have this plan again superceded by another which is equally impracticable. Bolshevism, as an organized movement, however, will never succeed, according to Mr. Woodhead, because the vast hordes of Chinese, cherishing their own traditions and their own provincial associations, will not cohere in one definite stand. New political schemes are always listened to, but where they would succeed in one locality they would fail in another.

Selfishness of the Tuchuns

The disregard for public authority is due to the avarice and selfishness of the Tuchuns, provincial magistrates, whose instincts to grab what they can from their own precincts often interfere with the interests of the Pekingese authorities. To strengthen his position the Tuchun concentrates all of his energies in expanding the military forces under his command. In doing this he uses the greater bulk of the provincial revenues, supplementing them by such sums as can be stolen from or blackmailed out of the central Government.

The Province of Chilli, alone, maintains an army two-thirds the size of that of Great Britain (exclusive of India), from which the population derives no benefit whatsoever, and which is incapable even of protecting life and property, within the provincial boundaries. Such a vast horse of armed coolies drains the province of most of its funds, with the result that the Peking Government secures little, if any, provincial revenue.

According to statistics taken from January to September, 1922, the total remittances to Peking from the Provinces amounted to only $231,000 per month during this period. To operate the central Government at this time more than $9,000,000 per month was necessary, thus showing that running the republic of China was a gigantic losing proposition.

Banditry Problems

When questioned concerning the recent bandit uprisings in China, Mr. Woodhead said that these would never be quelled until antecedent causes for them were removed.

"At the present time China has 1,332,000 men under arms," he said. "This figure includes the total soldiery mobilized by all of the provincial Tuchuns, and represents the largest number of armed men of any country in the world. These hordes, however, are not available for, and would be utterly useless in, repelling foreign aggression, since none of them would rally around one central standard. No attempt has been made to standardize uniforms, equipment or ammunition. Each province has its own manoeuvers, and it is doubtful whether, in the event of a foreign invasion, China could depend upon more than 30,000 troops.

"The life of a provincial soldier," the editor continued, "is a very uncertain one. If his Commander in Chief, the Tuchun, can pay his forces after satisfying his own personal wants, his army remains intact. Should he fail to pay them their salaries, they desert without hesitancy and form banditti to wrest from the civilian what they have lost through trusting the provincial head. It is surprising how many of the soldiers, failing to receive their $3.50 monthly pay check, surrender allegiance to their Tuchun.

Arrogant Banditti

"The hills are full of them, and no part of China is spared. They are likely to sweep down on the unsuspecting town at any time, and when they do their extortions are enormous and carried out with a gusto, arrogance and confidence inspired only by their assurance of power."

A personal experience was then related by Mr. Woodhead to illustrate the aggressiveness of these renegade ex-soldiers:

"While visiting Tsing-tao, in the Province of Shantung, on Dec. 7 of last year, the city was suddenly besieged by swarms of bandits, who stole into the town about midnight. No one of the 67,000 inhabitants offered any resistance, every one fleeing to the neighboring hills with what they could carry with them, or conceding to any demands imposed.

"The President of the Tsing-tao Chamber of Commerce was kidnapped as he was attempting to escape from the city, and I, alone, was the only foreigner in the place. I did not know how long I would remain unmolested, and my uneasiness compelled me to appeal to some of the townsmen for protection. In the whole of Tsing-tao there was not one single responsible person from whom I could receive help. A huge blanket ransom was paid out of the city's budget before the brigands left and before peace was restored two days later."

OLEO, HERSELF!

The "Tut" girl's days are over. The "Oleo Maiden" has taken her place. Here's Ann Norman, San Francisco's first. In stage parlance, "oleo" is "long curtain." Note the length of her skirt.

Greater Shopping Opportunities in Every Department of This Store!

THIS STORE feels a great responsibility. We believe that the place we fill in the life of this city is as important as that held by the fire department or waterworks: that the needs we meet are as vital. We believe that the responsibility of practicing the virtues of square dealing, courtesy and respect of the law rests upon us as surely as the preaching of them rests on the teachers and ministers. All this, instead of giving us an exalted opinion of our own importance, fills us with a watchfulness and caution that is your best guarantee of being fine'y and fairly treated at the counters of this store.

KAWARTHA PARK NEWS ITEMS

KAWARTHA PARK, July 13.—Miss Florence Adams, of Peterboro, is spending a few days at the Adams cottage, Kawartha Park.

Sam R. Sherin of Lakefield, was a week end visitor to "The Shack."

Mr. T. H. Glover of Peterboro, has opened his cottage for the season.

Mr. H. Beal is buiding a new cottage on Big Isand near the Donnelly cottage.

The guests registered during the first week in July at the Maple Leaf Hotel are:— Mr. and Mrs. W. Giffin, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Redwood, Toronto; Mrs. W. Dixon, England; Rev. W. P. Meagher, Lakefield; Rev. Owen McGrath, Boston, Mass.; Miss M. Whitten, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Blackball, Toronto; Miss N. Snowden, Hamilton, Miss A. M. Hamilton, Hamilton; George C. Vogt, Francis Vogt. Robert Vogt, Rochester, Bruno Griess, Rochester; Louis Schbicter, Rochester; Miss M. Esten, Toronto George R. Maguer, Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wilson, Toronto; Miss E. Doean, Toronto, Norman Wattam, Toronto. Mr. and Mrs. George White, Toronto, Dr. and Mrs. Jones, Toronto; F. Riddle, Toronto; Mrs. W. A. Kirkland, Toronto, J. G. Beull, Toronto.

Rotary Camp

The Rotary Camp is in full swing and is at present occupied by a group of boys from the Y.M.C.A. at Peterboro. This camp was very successful last year and the benefit derived by the groups of boys, who enjoyed its hospitality was very great indeed. One can pay no greater tribute to the work of the Rotarians than mention the splendid work done by their camp.

One day last week the boys had a boat trip touching at various point round the lakes, included Juniper and Mount Julian.

The camp of the George Street Methodist boys at Sandy Point, is in full swing and the boys are revelling in the delights of camp life. Swimming, fishing and bathing all attractive to boys and all healthy and wholesome amusements and needless to say the Sandy Point Camp is enjoying the m to the full.

One feature last week was a hike to Burleigh cutting through the fields. These camps are a strong factor in the "Better Boy" problem.

In the evening by the camp fire the boys are told stories or read some entertaininng book.

George Street Methodist Camp on Sandy Point is in full swing and the boys are having a grand time enjoying the delights of that ideal camping ground. It would be difficult to say which camp, the boys at Rotary camp or the boys at Sandy Point, is having the best time. One might say truthfully "fifty-fifty."

Y.W.C.A. Camp

The sign of the Blue Triangle is once more hung out at Gladhalken which is a very attractive spot situated in the main channel of the steamer and the cottage possessing a real fire place and a delightful living room, where wet days can be spent. The cottage has been repainted this year and the artist painted the chimney a vivid scarlet. It is quite literally a bright spot on the landscape, but not an unsightly one, as it provides a landmark for new girls when they go out boating.

The camp was not ready for occupation till July 3rd. when three girls arrived viz. Miss Hazel Outram of Toronto, Misses Margaret McCullough and Phemie Hendry of Peterboro. Three boys from the Rotary Camp, who had kindly offered help in settling the cottage were on hand as an impromptu reception committee to welcome the girls.

Next morning the girls were up betimes as the day's programme included a dip before breakfast (an unrivalled appetizer) which was thoroughly appreciated. The girls spent a quiet morning poking about the adjacent islands and enjoying a paddle on the lake. Home letters were written conveying the happy first impressions of the camp. Another swim at Kawartha Beach (one of the best beaches on the Kawartha lakes) in the afternoon proved refreshing. The evening was spent, by invitation, at the George Street camp at Sandy Point, which is under the direction of Mr. Hagerman of the Peterboro Normal School. Two of boys acted as escort to the girls and what a pleasant ending to a pleasant day. The two camps at Clear Lake (George St. and Rotary) each had a huge bon fire and in the starlight the sight was like fairy land.

The girls reached camp in good time and after a day spent in the open, sleep came quickly, and no one will wonder that the girls slept in the next morning, consequently the morning dip was rather a hurried affair as the Board members of the Y.W.C.A., were due to arrive on the steam boat. Mrs. Wood, Miss M. Dickson, Mrs. Widdiss and Mrs. Cormack disembarked from the 'Empress" and Mrs. Neill came over from her island. The ladies remained to dinner and inspected the camp. Later Mrs. Morrison and Miss Brownscombe and Miss Littefield arrived. They had motored to Kawartha Park and rowed over. In the afternoon Dr. and Mrs. Moir and Miss Dorothy visited the camp in their motor boat and took the girls over to the beach to swim. The party at camp was augmented by the arrival of Misses Mary Dunlop and Jean King.

Mr. McNeely and a couple of boys with their motor boat took the girls out in the evening. A trip to Burleigh was the special feature of the next day.

The camp promises well for the season and the programme is very attractive as each day has besides the regular programme of swimming, boating. etc, a special feature to recommend it. For the week end there was quite an influx of girls and the reports say a delightful time "Gladhalken" has the advantage of being convenient to both Juniper and Kawartha and can share the pleasures of each.

Other girls who have registered at the camp are Misses Millie Thomson, Myrtle Lamb, Rose Puddick, Marie Louise Loesher, Flossie Pammett, Bessie Saunders, Audrey Walker and Marion Limhuner.

ELDERLY, BUT MODERN.

Mrs. Paul Warnekros' frank statement that she smoked an occasional cigaret, enjoyed "holding hands," and would appreciate a cocktail now and then—if prohibition weren't here—won her the custody of her grandchild, Eileen Box. The two are shown above. Mrs. Warnekros is 63. Her divorced daughter protested in Los Angeles courts against giving the girl to the elderly woman, but the judge said she was a "proper person" to undertake the responsibility.

WORLD STANDS STILL WHILE RUHR PROBLEM REMAINS A DEADLOCK

France Claims Victory and People Are Tranquil —Germany is Hard Hit and Wants to Do Something About it.

BRITAIN STANDS BY.

By WM. PHILIP SIMMS

The fate of Europe, and to a large extent, the world, is bound up in the Ruhr.

"How'd the Ruhr look to you?"

Wherever I went in Europe, from Berlin to Constantinople, that was the first question people asked me. Here in America it is the same thing. Folks everywhere seem to sense that world peace hinges here and that on a proper settlement depends everything.

By the Ruhr, of course, is meant the whole problem of reparations; of satisfying Britain and France with regard to Germany and with each other; of meeting the demands of Italy and Belgium and other allied powers; of making Germany pay the last red cent she can for the war she started, but at the same time not forcing her into a position where she would at once begin secret preparations for a war of revenge as soon as she could put one over.

French Claim Victory

So far as the French are concerned, the "Battle of the Ruhr" is as good as won. France has Germany down and is sitting on her head, calmly waiting for Germany to say "calf rope."

In France the people are worrying no more over the occupation of the Ruhr than you are worrying over the occupation of the Philippines. They are going about their daily occupations without strain and without worry, confident, if you mention the subject to them, that sooner or later Germany must knuckle.

In Germany, to the contrary, people are excited. They are under constant strain. It is their head France is sitting on and they want something done about it. The Cuno government is in the jaws of a big pair of pinchers. Unless it gets Germany out of the hole—and the only way to do that is to give in to the allies—it will ultimately fall. If it gives in to France, it will fall.

Germany is not united today on the Ruhr policy. It was a few months ago when Germany knew only one sentiment and that was bitterness against France. Now the people are beginning to feel the pinch. Economically, Germany is hard hit.

England is standing by, more or less on the sidelines, but by no means a disinterested party. She insists that Germany shall pay, but not so much that Germany can not trade with Britain. And by no means must Germany give up the Ruhr to France, nor in any way allow France, even commercially, to exploit the Ruhr. The Ruhr, in France's hands, would make France the dominating European power, economically, politically and militarily. Britain would never consent to that. At least, not for long.

Continent Halted

Meantime Europe is standing still while the quarrel over the Ruhr goes on. Every nation on the continent is hard hit by it and by ricochet the United Kingdom, the United States and the world—every nation which, in the ordinary course of affairs, does business with Europe.

Industry fears to undertake anything new for fear of getting hit by some crisis before fairly started. This results in unemployment and low buying power. This reduces both exports and imports and keeps international exchange bobbing up and down—mostly down—which, in turn, deals business another blow.

Europe ordinarily takes nearly 20 per cent of America's farm products off her hands. The European market today is shot to pieces. This hits the American farmer. The farmer is the backbone of American prosperity. So you and yours are hit—by this same Ruhr.

WISCONSIN ADOPTS NEW SCHOOL TRAINING PLAN

MADISON, Wis., July 13 (United Press).—Wisconsin school kids will get bodies trained, as well as minds, starting next fall.

A new law just signed by Governor J. J. Blaine requires in all public schools above kindergarten, a minimum of two and one-half hours a week of "physical education," which is defined to mean "practice in the art of physical exercise and hygiene."

Recesses don't count, so the time will have to be taken out of the class honors. The law provides that medical examination shall not be included in physical education.

All state schools training teachers for the public schools will hereafter be required to give courses in playground exercises and games, to prepare the teachers for the new work.

LIGHTEN HOUSEWORK.

During the summer months when housework should be reduced to the minimum, put away all bric-a-brac, ornaments and pieces of silver or brass you have on display, and do not burden yourself with the care of them.

DESERONTO MAYOR DIED OF APOPLEXY; TORONTO

TORONTO, Ont., July 13.—(Canadian Press.)—(Canadian Press.) — Mayor M. J. Malley, of Deseronto, died in a local hotel last night, following a stroke of apoplexy. He filled the mayoral office for a few months following the death of Mayor Dalton, who died from the same cause.

Besides his widow and the son mentioned, deceased leaves another son, A. L. Malley, who is employed in the customs offices in Belleville, and also three sisters, Mrs. Margaret Campbell, of Belleville; Mrs. Annie Reid, of Shannonville, and Miss Mary Malley, of Flint, Mich., in which State the Malleys once made their home.

He was born in Lennox and Addington Counties, sixty years ago, of Irish descent, was raised on a farm near Shannonville, and served his apprenticeship to the drug business in the village of Pakenham. Previous to the election of the late Mayor Dalton, deceased was for several years Mayor of Deseronto. Mr. Malley was an Anglican, a Mason, and a member of the Canadian Order of Foresters, and in politics a Conservative.

HINTS TO THE MOTOR CAMPER

How to Keep Your Health on the Trip — Beware Bad Water.

Most of the physical calamities visited on the motor-camper are the result of his own ignorance or carelessness. Dame Nature is kind to man—but he has to know how to take care of himself when fending for himself.

Water can do an awful lot of damage if one drinks the wrong kind. When on the road one must never drink any water that has not been pronounced O K by somebody.

Spring water is generally safe to drink, especially if it comes down a mountainside. Well water may be good and it may not. Before drinking it one should find out. Boiling is an additional precaution which can be taken. A good plan is to carry a jug of water in the car in case of emergency.

Thousands of people every year get poisoned by poison ivy. The remedy, if one becomes affected, is to wash the poisoned parts with several fresh solutions of warm water and soap. After this apply medicated alcohol. If attended to within 24 hours after touching the stuff, a cure should result.

One is apt to double up on his eating when out in the open. Consequently indigestion and biliousness make a visit and the camper gets sick. Over-eating and too many fried dishes produce illness. Stewed or boiled food is much better than fried stuff.

The outdoor life and extra exercise usually do their share to keep the camper well, however, and he need use only sense in preparing his menu. Simple remedies should be taken along like cathartics, aspirin, medicated alcohol, bicarbonate of soda and the like.

The army of bugs is out to greet the tourist in the spring and summer. Black flies, mosquitoes and all the other flying pests. Black flies are the meanest of the lot but infrequently met. They hate tar oil in any form or oil of citronella, consequently one of these will do much to scare them away. A smudge fire around the camp will aid. An excellent preparation for insect bites is a solution which any druggist can put up called "white wash." It has a little carbolic in it and some zinc and when applied to a mosquito bite, the bite loses its kick right away.

A first-aid kit is a sensible bit of equipment to include and may prove valuable on a journey.

CHINESE BANDITS RAID A GERMAN RESIDENCE

HONG KONG, July 13. —(Canadian Press.)— Chinese robbers today raided and looted the residence of a German at Tung Shang, near Canton. Foreigners of the district are in a state of consternation.

BAILIEBORO NEWS

BAILIEBORO, July 13. — A strawberry festival was held under the auspices of the Guild of Christ church, Bailieboro, on Tuesday, July 10th. Supper was served from five o'clock to nine. A booth under the guidance of a few of the members of the Guild was well patronized. There were a number of people present from Millbrook, Peterborough and Campbellcroft. The concert was the chief feature of the evening, and the basement of the church was well filled. Miss Edwina Palmer, violinist from Peterborough, rendered beautiful violin selections, while Miss Agnes Logan of Peterborough, presided at the piano and made a lasting impression on the minds of all those present by her work. A number given by eight girls carried the minds of the older people back to the pioneer days. Miss Evans was the elocutionist for the evening, while Mr. Petrie rendered several solos.

Mrs. Robt. Elliott of Toronto, and her daughter, Mrs. Walton of Indianapolis and granddaughter, are visiting friends in Bailieboro.

Miss Isabella Armstrong, nurse-in-training in Nicholls Hospital, is spending a few days at her home in Bailieboro.

Miss Francis Turner of Millbrook, has been the guest of Miss Jean Russell of Bailieboro, for the past week.

PARTY POLITICS MAY MAKE FRENCH PREMIER RESIGN

Disgusted With Intrigues of Parliamentary Leaders When Effort Should Be Toward Reparations Settlement.

PARIS, July 13 (Associated Press)—Partisan politics, which are absorbing the attention of the French parliament more and more as the elections of next year come nearer, may drive Poincare from power in the opinion of some political prophets.

The Premier is tired, physically and mentally. He has aged considerably under the tremendous load he has carried during the past eighteen months, and is thoroughly disgusted, his friends say, with the intrigues that are occupying the attention of parliamentary leaders at a time when their entire efforts ought to be centered on the solution of the reparations question and the extrication of France from her critical financial situation.

Poincare has sharply criticized deputies and senators for delaying the voting of the budget by putting forward selfish local interests against the general good of the country, demanding appropriations that had been cut out in the interest of economy. He has also let it be known to leading senators that he attributes the recent action of the senate in refusing to try the communists as a distinctly political manoeuver, intended to facilitate the coalition of the Communists with the Radicals in the elections of next year.

Parliamentary experts say that Poincare will not be voted out of power because the eligible successors to the premiership, with their personal political fortunes at stake in the elections of next spring, are not anxious to shoulder the dubious question of reparations. They prefer to leave the responsibility to Poincare until the end of the year, when they will overthrow the ministry on some question of interior politics and endeavor to form a cabinet of their liking to preside over the elections.

Meantime they make what capital they can for themselves from criticisms of the government's methods, though making a show of patriotic action in supporting the cabinet in every test vote. Poincare has said that he is tired of this support, and his friends would not be surprised if, on an early occasion, he forced the opposition to take power whether it wants to or not by resigning.

Motorized Balloon to Make Chemical Attack On the Gipsy Moth

Announcement that the U. S. army air service will use a motorized balloon to make a chemical attack upon the gipsy moth in New Hampshire, recalls the interesting pioneer experiments in fighting insects with aircraft.

Lieutenant J. A. Macready, acting chief of the flying section of the government's aviation experimental station at McCook Field, Dayton, Ohio, was the man who piloted the machine which was an epoch maker in the annals of insect warfare.

Two years ago there occurred in Ohio three full broods or crops of the caterpillars, each sufficiently numerous to defoliate completely the grove in which they appeared. Some groves put out three full crops of foliage and each in its turn was wholly consumed by the ravenous worms.

The plane used was a Curtis J N 6, equipped with a hopper for carrying and liberating the poison powder. The caterpillar grove in which the dusting was done was situated on level ground and had been planted for the growing of post and pole timber. It was a rectangular plot, 800 feet long and 325 feet wide, and contained approximately six acres. The trees, 4,815 in number, were from 25 to 30 feet tall.

The plane flew at a speed of 80 miles an hour at an altitude of from 20 to 35 feet and in a line 53 yards to the windward and parallel to the grove. The dense cloud of poison dust thrown out behind the moving plane was grasped by the wind and floated through and over the grove, covering the foliage in its passage.

MEXICO ORDERED RADIO EQUIPMENT IN GERMANY

MEXICO CITY, July 13(Associated Press).—Four modern wireless transmitting stations, to cost 400,000 pesos, have been ordered from Germany by the Mexican government, it is stated by the department of communications in announcing the imminent reorganizations of the country's radio system.

These stations, which will be of the continuous wave type, will replace the old spark type stations now in operation in Mexico City, Merida, Veracruz and Tampico, which in turn will be placed at La Paz, Lower California, Guadalajara, The Islas Marias, off the west coast, and Acapulco.

With the new stations in commission, the departments expects to be able to keep in constant communication with large stations throughout the world. At present it is possible to communicate only with points in Central America and the United States and with the Nauen and Lafayette stations in Europe.

STUDY YOUR JOB.

In every shop is found a man or two whose creed is, "Do as little as you can and get away with." Have you met him, apprentice? He is the same fellow who points to the foreman or superintendent and says: "I knew him when he was an apprentice." Everyone cannot become an executive but who will replace your superior? The next best because he knows just a little more about the work and how to handle men than others do. He did not learn as much as he did by "doing as little as he could get away with."

It is strange but true that the easier the job the harder it is to find. Every employer is looking for men who know a little more than the average. If you like your work learn all you can about it, analyze it, read about it, ask about it and above all insist on getting such work as will tax your skill and knowledge.—The Wisconsin Apprentice.

DRECO TOOK HOLD OF HIS TROUBLES

Splendid Results in the Way of Improved Health Accrue to Toronto Man, Although He Has Taken But One Bottle.

Dreco has come to the aid of another Toronto family. Here is Mrs. Lyons' story of the help it gave her husband, Mr. G. Lyons, of 100 Weston South, Toronto.

"My husband had pains all over the body and every joint would ache He had taken a good many remedies but Dreco had taken hold of his troubles and is giving him great results. His appetite was very poor and he seemed to lose all strength.

"He has taken but one bottle of Dreco but feels like a different man altogether. He has no more pains through the body and his food digests properly giving him plenty of nourishment and strength. Dizzy spells that formerly bothered him have ceased and his bowels act regularly. He can now go about his work in comfort and without that distressing, tired out feeling. He tells me that he feels like a new man.

"Mr. Lyons is continuing the treatment so that his entire system and every organ will be brough back to normal condition."

All the organs of digestion benefit from the medicinal herb, root, bark and leaf juice contained in Dreco. It opens and regulates and quickly restores them to normal functioning. Stomach, bowels, liver and kidneys may all be helped with this reliable corrective. Dreco contains no mercury, potash or habit-forming drugs.

Dreco is being specially introduced in Peterboro by Bond's Drug Store. It is also sold in Lakefield by E. H. Northey(and by a good druggist everywhere.

FAMED SPECIALISTS AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION MEET

SAN FRANCISCO, July 13 (Associated Press).—The 15 sections of the American Medical Association now in session here, opened their separate meetings on the various specialties today. In the section on medicine Dr. Walter M. Boothby of the Mayo Clinic told how the utilization of food by the body is changed when a patient has exophthalmic goiter.
